PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S

Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.

It is unnecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself.—The effects of the fluid exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.

Depot and manufactory, No. 137 Broadway, New York. Retail price 25 cents a large bottle.

Liberal discount to purchasers by the quantity, and by the principal Merchants and Druggists through the United States, and Canada, Mexico, West Indies, Great Britain, France, &c., and by Weeks & Potter, Brewers, Stevens & Cushing, and Wm. Brown, Boston. d&w6m je22*

PORTSMOUTH:
MONDAY, JULY 25, 1853.

THE NIAGARA TRAGEDY.

We have already noticed the death of three men at the Falls, one of whom, Avery, was in the peril which finally proved fatal, nearly twenty-four hours.

While he rested on some logs which had been washed in between two rocks and became fastened, a raft was made of timber, with a hogshead in the centre, and being fastened to ropes on each side, was drifted towards him, through rocks and rapids, but the rope finally got fast in the rocks, and the raft was immoveable.

Avery made out to get the rope clear, and to get on the raft, making himself fast thereto by means of ropes which had been placed there for that purpose, and those on the land commenced drawing it toward the shore.

It had approached within thirty feet of one of the small islands, toward which its course was directed, when suddenly it became stationary in the midst of the rapids, the ropes having again caught in the rocks. All endeavors to move it were found to be in vain, and much fear was entertained that the strain upon the ropes might break them and occasion the poor fellow's loss.

One man went out in a boat as far as he dared to venture, and asked him if he would fasten a rope round his body and trust to being drawn in by that. The poor fellow, however, shook his head despondingly, as though he felt that he had not strength enough remaining to make himself secure to a rope.

At length a boat was got ready—a life-boat, which had arrived from Buffalo—and was launched. Seeing the preparations, Avery unloosed his fastenings, with the intention of being ready to spring into the boat. Borne on by the rushing waters, and amid the breathless suspense of the spectators, the boat approached the raft.

A thrill ran through the crowd—the boat lived in the angry waves—it struck the raft—a shout of joy rang forth from the shores, for it was believed that he was saved—when suddenly the hope that had been raised was again destroyed, for the collision of the boat against the raft, or something else, had knocked him overboard,—he was swimming at first strongly, and gaining, but then weakly and losing, the current carried him back toward the falls, at first slowly, then rapidly!

A sickening feeling came over the spectators when, just on the brink of the precipice, the doomed man sprung up from the waters—clear from their surface—raising himself upright as a statue, with his arms flung wildly aloft, and with a piercing shriek that rang loudly above the mocking roar of the cataract, fell back again into the foaming waves, and was hurried over the brow of the fatal precipice!

THE SLAVE ESCAPE.—The Boston Times, in speaking of the recent slave case, says:

"Some of the men who boarded the Florence, were presumed to be U. S. officers; they demanded the fugitive as their prisoner, and on his being delivered over to them, he was set at liberty at the nearest point, and is said to be now luxuriating under the banner of Queen Victoria, in Canada. This matter has occasioned some remark in certain circles."

THE EMPRESS EUGENIE.—The Paris correspondent of the Courier des Etats Unis, relates the following little incident which shows that the high state of an Empress has not altogether smothered the enthusiasm of the young Spanish woman.

"It is said that the other day when the Emperor informed the Empress that M. Merime, the brilliant writer, who was one of the oldest and most intimate friends of the Duchess Montijo, and for whose nomination the Empress had been for some time solicitous, had been named for the Senate, she threw herself on her husband's neck, and gave him two great kisses before the whole Court, in her Saloon at Saint Cloud. This charming simplicity of feeling is entirely in character for this lady, who expresses very frankly her impressions, and does not hesitate to declare her preference for the scenes at gay theatres, such as the Gymnase, the Varieties, or the Palace Royal, where I have often seen her laugh till she cried."

AN APPEAL TO THE HUMANE.—Miss Wormeley, daughter of the late Rear Admiral Wormeley, well known in Boston, has addressed an appeal to her English and American friends on behalf of some southern slaves, in whom she has become particularly interested. She is anxious to secure about $3000, to emancipate parts of two families, some of whose members—the wife and children in one, and the husband in the other—being free, but liable to be enslaved again or driven from the state (Virginia) by the operation of the recent law against free blacks. The parties she knows personally, having resided in their immediate neighborhood in Virginia, and knows them as most worthy persons. The slaves can be bought for the purpose of emigrating from the State, at half their market value, and some aid will be afforded at the south. Communications may be addressed to Miss Wormeley, at Newport, R. I.—Boston Post.

SARCASTIC.—A good old minister prayed for those of his congregation who were too proud to kneel, and too lazy to stand.

ALEXANDRIAN NEGROES.

A writer from Alexandria, to the Newburyport Union, thus describes Negro life and manners as he saw them for a day or two.

We pass to the three thousand black population. Of these the best and the worst are free. Many of these accumulate property and have very respectable families, while those who are incapable of supporting themselves, and have no masters to look after them, become miserable indeed. Generally the blacks appeared happy, industrious, and well dressed. I could not help noticing that the climate, or some other cause, was working a wonderful change in their color; it was humiliating to hear men whose hair was straightened and eyes blue, and women so white that you could see the color come and go in their cheeks, say "I was raised in such a county," as though they were talking of a horse, and not of themselves—"my master or mistress will sell me for so much," as though they were potatoes or corn. They seemed to feel this degradation, too, and out of a dozen slaves whom I asked, I did not see one contented with his lot, though they were treated well, and will be, so long as they hire for as much as northern farm hands are worth, say from $100 to $150 per annum, with their board and clothes. Any of them are ready to run away with a person from Boston or New England, and they will tease you upon every occasion to purchase them.

To get a good view of this people, I attended a negro meeting, upon the Sabbath. It was a Methodist church with a white preacher, and probably belonged to the Southern division of that denomination. I judge so, (though there is a society of Northern Methodits in the city,) from the fact that the well educated and eloquent preacher was bold and manly in his denunciation of oppression, more so than I have been accustomed to hear. We should call him with us an abolitionist, of the flat-foot stamp, and there is not more than one society that would endure such preaching in Newburyport. His text was, "Love one another;" and he went on to declare with many illustrations, that the person, white or black, who had no love for his neighbor, who refused to sympatize with the distressed, and shut his ears to the cry of the oppressed, was no Christian, wherever he might be. I should have been startled by his declamations, if I had not seen that such was the prevailing feeling in the community. They tolerate more freedom of expression than we do; and out of forty men in the bar-room of the hotel, that morning, discussing the "Key to Uncle Tom's Cabin," which had just been received in town, and was as publicly advertised as any other book, but one man would justify slavery in the least degree, and they taunted him with being a Legree. "It is an evil;" said they; "a terrible curse to us, but we don't know how to get rid of it."

The church was filled, and the first thing that struck me, was the remarkable neatness and taste in the dresses of the congregation. Slaves, that one half of them were, they were better dressed than the rural congregations of New England, and showed none of that foppery and finery that negroes are accustomed to. Next I could not but notice their devotion, and earnestness of worship. All as they come into the slips, knelt in prayer; and as the preaching advanced, they warmed with the speaker. First, there was a rolling of the eyes; then an occasional groan; after, the loud amen! glory! hallelujah!!! weeping and swinging of the arms, and an occasional jumping up, as you might have seen in a camp meeting twenty years ago, till at last there was a perfect storm of voices, and some of them, though the days were cool, sweat as though they had been in a treadmill. There was an old negro sitting in front of the pulpit, probably an exhorter, a perfect specimen of an old-fashioned Methodist preacher, with his white cravat and round coat, who led in these exercises.

I saw that their piety depended somewhat upon their color, and their apparent standing. The negro is naturally devotional, but as they mix with whites they loose this characteristic. As Saxon blood enters into their composition, piety runs out. So in the shouts, the blacks commenced first, and the mulattoes and quadroons—who were numerous and some of the handsomest men and the prettiest girls I ever saw—came in after. So, too, the first affected were the lower strata. The wiping of eyes begun with coarse cottons; then the cambrics come out; and last the embroidered muslin handkerchiefs in delicate hands with fingers covered with rings

The best thing was their singing. Very few of them know how to read, and the clergyman deaconed the hymn; but there was a richness and melody of voice—a perfect music in the singing, which was done by the whole congregation, that would have brought down the house at a public performance anywhere in the world.

THE LIQUOR LAW.—The Providence Journal states that the Maine law is enforced as strickly at Newport as it is in Boston—that is, not at all. It is a fact that men who are fond of grog will fight for it with a desperation worthy of a better cause; and that those who have a pecuniary interest at stake in the matter, also contend earnestly for their rights of trade, as they deem them.

The Onondaga Gazette says it is now the general belief, that the disastrous conflagration at Oswego, was the work of incendiaries. The following anonymous letter, which had previously been received by one of the Commissioners of Excise, is published, and is supposed to indicate the sort of men who kindled the fire:—

"Doctor Hard, sir

I Wish to gev you Notis that of thar arnt cuny lisens give damb soon that thar wont be much of this Town left by next spring mind that loco matches ar plenty and the pepel arnt tu be Deprive of thar rites by A few cussed fools in a land of liberty for nothin old Robeson better not fine a nuther man or hele kech hel. one of five hundred free men."

In making prohibitory or restrictive statutes, we should never ignore the fact that certain habits sear the conscience, blant the finer sensibilities, and stimulate the baser passions.

LOCAL.

PORTSMOUTH STEAM FACTORY.

The Directors of the Portsmouth Steam Factory, have declared a dividend of nine per cent. from the earnings of the past year, besides reserving a handsome surplus.

It should be remembered that this dividend is declared on a consolidated stock, which was formerly $100 per share, but was altered to $50 by legislative permission.

This dividend, however, following as it does a semi-annual dividend of four per cent. a year ago, is evidence of good management, and must benefit the stock.

This mill, we understand, is in this respect an exception from the general rule which seems to regulate DeLaine and Lawn Mills in this country, most of which have gone to manufacturing some other goods.

The citizens of this place, where population and business have considerably increased in consequence of the erection of this factory, will rejoice to learn that the proprietors are beginning to reap substantial benefit from their investment.

GREAT FALLS AND BERWICK.

These places are to be brought back into a closer connexion with us than ever, by the construction of a railroad, nearly direct, from Great Falls, through South Berwick, to the Portsmouth, Saco and Portland road, and thus into this city. We have already mentioned that the road is under contract, to be completed by November next. This road already extends from Great Falls to Rochester and Milton, and the speedy completion of the lower end to this city, will help the extension of the upper end, until it must ultimately reach the line of the Atlantic and St. Lawrence Railroad. The Directors recently elected are Daniel G. Rollins, Ichabod G. Jordan, Micajah Burleigh, of Great Falls; George Barker John N. Goodwin, of South Berwick; Richard Jennesss and W. H. Y. Hackett, of Portsmouth.

SAILED.—The United States steamers Fulton and Princeton, and the sloop-of-war Decatur, went to sea on Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock, the Fulton towing out the Decatur. These vessels have been lying in this port a short time—the Princeton undergoing some repairs, and are bound to cruise on the fishing grounds. The firing heard while people were going to church in the afternoon, was from these vessels.

In taking the Decatur in tow, the Fulton ran into and carried away the Decatur's flying-jibboom, which did not occasion any detention, however.

☞ The body of a man was washed ashore on Trefethen's Island, on Saturday afternoon. A coroner was called, and the remains were identified as those of Robert Branscomb, of Newcastle, who was drowned by falling out of a boat, two months ago. He was carried to Newcastle and buried. His age was 54.

LAUNCH.—The ship Webster was launched from the yard of George Raynes, Esq., at about half past 1 o'clock, on Saturday. She seemed to be in haste to get into the water, and went off in double quick time, snapping a thirteen inch Manilla hauser as though it had been thread.

GEOLOGICAL LECTURES.

Dr. Boynton's course of Lectures on Geology closed on Saturday evening, with gratifying success, having kept up their interest to the last. Of the merits of his lectures we have repeatedly spoken, and in our opinion it is not easy to overestimate their value. But without detracting in the least from the success due to their merit, we ought to state that his gentlemanly agent, Dr. Colton, by his excellent business arrangements, and his constant attention to ont door matters, is a most valuable aid in securing adequate patronage to lectures so pleasant and useful.

At the conclusion of Dr. Boynton's last lecture, on Saturday evening, the attention of the audience was called by James W. Emery, Esq., to the reading of the following Resolutions, presented by Rev. Henry D. Moore:—

Resolved, That the thanks of the citizens of Portsmouth are due, and are hereby presented to Dr. Boynton, for his very popular and instructive lectures, in illustration of the Science of Geology; and that he has fully sustained his wide spread reputation as an eloquent and instructive lecturer in this important connection of scientific investigation; and that he be most cordially recommended to all communities which he may visit, as, in every respect, worthy of confidence and patronage.

Resolved, That we congratulate Dr. Boynton on the success of his lectures in this community, notwithstanding the unpropitious season; and that he be invited to repeat his lectures, if convenient, before leaving this section of the country.

Resolved, That these resolutions be published in all the papers of this city; and that a copy of them be presented to Dr. Boynton, with the signature of the chairman of this meeting.

The resolutions were unanimously adopted, after which Dr. Boynton appeared, and thanked the audience for their testimonial, and intimated the probability of his delivering another course of lectures before leaving for the south.

THE "FORGERY."

The following note from Mr. Meinerth, although it throws no new light on the subject, shows the course he has taken in the matter:

PORTSMOUTH, July 23, 1853.

Messrs. Editors:—The last issue of the Musical World & Times contains nothing yet of my reply sent in to it, to the spurious article which appeared two weeks ago over the signature of "Karl Meinerth"; and to spare editors and individuals the troubles of questions and interrogative notes, &c., I will give a short explanation of my course taken in the matter.

Immediately after having found the letter with my name in the paper, I concluded to repair to New York, with the intention to recover the manuscript; but in this I was disappointed, as the editors of the Musical World & Times regretted that they cannot assist me in this way to discover the forgery, because no manuscript is longer cared for after taken into print, especially when the writer is known and his name fully given, and it is lost in the rubbish basket. I explained to them the nature of the article, which explanation they said, will appear in the next number. But on arriving at home, I found a letter from the editor, asking me for a written reply to the article; probably because they had—in the pressure of "editorial cares," half forgotten what I told them.

(This letter from New York I have produced to the editors of the Morning Chronicle, the day after receiving it; notwithstanding, I found the Chronicle surprised, the next day after, that nothing was said in the Musical World & Times; probably because they had—in the pressure of "editorial cares"—forgotten what I told them!)*

From this cause, then, nothing appeared in the Musical World & Times on Saturday, July 16.

As soon as I could gain a little time, (this was in the night from Monday to Tuesday,) I wrote down the reply, and handed it into the post-office on Tuesday. Before this time I could not possibly. Now it may be that my letter did not arrive in time enough to be composed and printed, or they went to press before receiving it; and probably this is the reason why nothing of it is in the Musical paper of July 23, to-day.

In this my reply, which I have sent to the Musical World & Times, I have said all what I have to say and can say; and when it will appear, I beg you, Messrs. Editors, to copy it in your paper, if you find it convenient.

And now Messrs. Editors, permit me to beg you to consider this, and the reply spoken of which will follow, as the final attention which I pay to this matter of the most unpleasant nature I ever met with in my life. Innocently drawn into this malicious trap, I have thrown away money and time in the first excitement, to give if possible, evidence in facts of the forgery. Now as this is not in my power, I have my trust and confidence into the public, whose general opinion and generous sentiments I have already heard and received with a most grateful heart.

To any action commenced against me in a legal way, I will answer as a man and good citizen; but to newspaper remarks and allusions, I shall not pay the least attention. The pleasant duties of my exceedingly successful business, are so thickly heaped upon me, that I have scarcely time for meals and nights' rest; and faithful to them, I cheerfully resign every perhaps necessary recreation. Therefore I must consider it a sin against duty and family, to waste a minute more in this hideous matter. CARL MEINERTH.

*We forgot nothing of this affair. In the remarks to which Mr. M. refers, we stated that we somewhat expected the Musical Times editor would attempt to extenuate his fault of publishing the letter, after receiving the Chronicle containing Mr. Meinerth's card and our remarks accompanying it—whether Mr. M. said or wrote any thing further or not.—Eds. Chron.

In justice to the Musical Times, we state that Mr. Moses on Saturday received a letter from the publishers, who say that up to Thursday nothing had been received from Mr. Meinerth, and that having waited so long for him, there was no time for any remarks of their own till another issue.

FATAL ACCIDENT ON THE NORTHERN RAILROAD.—Saturday afternoon, 3 o'clock, Nathan Briggs of Orange, aged about 53 years, was instantly killed by the passenger train of the Northern Railroad, about a mile below the East Canaan Depot. He was walking on the road with his back to the train, and there being a curve in the road he was not seen by the engineer till within a short distance of him. The bell was rung, the whistle sounded, of which he seemed to take no notice, and the train was under such headway that it could not be stopped till the mangled body had been carried about a quarter of a mile. The fatal disaster was the result of sheer carelessness, and no blame can be attached to the engineer or conductor.—Manchester Mirror.

FLAX CULTURE IN INDIANA.—R. T. Brown of Crawfordsville, in a communication to Gov. Wright, president of the Indiana State Board of Agriculture, says :—

"I send you a few samples of 'flax cotton,' presented to me by H. L. Ellsworth, of Lafayette. Mr. Ellsworth has on hand the 'stem' grown on 120 acres last season, which he supposes will yield about 300 pounds per acre of cotton. The expense of reducing the fibre to this state, after the stem is produced, is about two cents per pound, which at the usual price for cotton, (10c.) will leave eight cents per pound or $24 per acre for the farmer who produces it. To this must be added the value of the seed, which will range from $6 to $8 per acre—giving a final result of $20 at least for each acre. This is Mr. Ellsworth's calculation; it may be too high; but if we allow for the magnifying effect of his zeal one-third, or even one-half, still flax would be as profitable a crop, in proportion to the amount of labor required to produce it, as any of the staples of the country."

EXPENSIVE.—An officer of the U. S. steam frigate Powhattan, writing from Table Bay, Cape of Good Hope, gives the following little item, which will set heavily upon the minds of those interested in the economical administration of government. We copy it from the Portsmouth (Va.) Chronicle :

"We are about two-thirds full of coal. We have spent more time in coaling at this place than at either of the other ports we coaled at ; it is American coal and out of an American ship. She has been waiting here about 70 days for us, at $60 per diem, which makes the coal up to this time the nice little sum of $40 per ton, at our usual consumption of 40 tons per 24 hours—40x40—$1600 per day ; that's what I call doing things brown."

☞ Lorenzo Hodgden of Corinth, Vt., brakeman on the Boston & Maine Railroad, while in the act of detaching a freight car at Newmarket, Friday afternoon, drew but the pin, and then attempted to step upon the car which was to remain behind. That left him, and he fell between the forward and the rear cars. The wheels of the rear car passed over him, crushing his thigh and hip, and he survived about three hours.

DEATH OF DR. KEMBLE.—The death of Dr. Albert Kemble, son of the late John C. Kemble of this city, is announced. Mr. Kemble was one of the first dentists of Southern Europe, and had a few years since, while on a visit to Turin, received the appointment of "dentist to the royal family." He declined, with characteristic modesty, to use the title publicly. He died of inflammation of the brain, on the 27th of March.—Troy Whig.

DOUBLE MURDER.—Mrs. Catharine Olds killed herself and infant child, a short time since on board a canal boat at Willow Spring, N. Y. She attempted to pour camphene from a can into a lamp by the light of a burning match, when an explosion took place, and mother and child were enveloped in flames. The latter died in fifteen minutes, but the mother lingered 18 hours.

PENAL COLONIES.—A writer in the New York Journal of Commerce proposes to dispense with the use of State Prisons and Penitentiaries in this country, and to adopt in their stead the European system of penal colonies, to work the lead and copper mines belonging to the United States government for the benefit of the national treasury. His plan also proposes that guard duty at the mines shall be performed, half by old soldiers and half by recruits, the latter from military schools of instruction to which all army recruits shall be forwarded, and remain to be made acquainted with their duties. The advantages claimed for this plan are the benefits of a military school, saving of the expense of prisons, and obviating the objections to the employment of convicts in mechanical trades, factory pursuits, &c.

MASSACHUSETTS JUDGES.—Ex-Governor George N. Briggs has been nominated Judge of the Court of Common Pleas, in place of Hon. Pliny Merrick, promoted to the Supreme Court. The Judges of the Court of Common Pleas are ex-officio Judges of the Municipal Court in Boston, which has a monthly session during the year. Not one of the seven Judges of the Court, however, has been taken from the Suffolk bar. Three of the Judges are from Berkshire county.

EMANCIPATION OF SLAVES.—J. Garvill, a wealthy lawyer, residing in Owen county, Kentucky, took seven slaves to Cincinnati on the 15th, and gave them their liberty, with ample means for sustaining them for one year.

Hon. Gerrit Smith, of Peterboro', N. Y., it is stated, is perfectly relieved of a painful disease of seventeen years standing, by a recent surgical operation. It consisted in the removal of six large hæmorrhoidal tumors by tying and cutting.

Only 500 barrels flour were sold at Albany on Thursday, and that at a decline of 6 to 12 1-2 cents on Wednesday's prices. Sales of 27,000 bu. prime Genesee wheat at $1 35 per bu.

PORTSMOUTH TO THE SHOALS.

Steamer Grace Darling,
CAPT. SAMUEL BILLINGS.

THE superior steamer Grace Darling, Capt. Billings, will leave Sheafe's Wharf, daily, (until further notice) at 10 o'clock, or on the arrival of the first morning trains on the Portsmouth & Concord and Eastern Railroads—and return from the Shoals in season to take the last trains for Concord, Boston and intermediate places.

This arrangement affords a fine opportunity for persons from abroad to visit one of the most desirable Summer resorts for the Invalid, and all others who are fond of Fishing, Bathing, and other amusements conducive to health and pleasure. The temperature is never more than 80 degrees in the shade, and seldom varies more than 10 degrees in 24 hours.

Hon. Thomas B. Laighton's Hotel on Appledore Island, designed and kept particularly for the Invalid, and also for the pleasure seeker, is one of the first class, where every convenience, both for luxury and comfort can be found.

The passage out is truly delightful—the scenery unsurpassed. As you pass down the river, view after view presents itself:—The Navy Yard, Dry Dock, Forts Washington, Sullivan, McClary and Constitution; the settlements of Kittery Point, New Castle, Rye, and many Islands and Beaches along shore, present attractions that are beautiful to behold, and render the trip one of the most beautiful and pleasing nature.

PASSAGE ON BOARD STEAMER, 50 CTS.

Tickets may be obtained on board, or at the Ticket Office of the Portsmouth & Concord Railroad.

Parties from the neighboring towns can be accommodated on reasonable terms, by application to Capt. Billings on board, or to

MARRIAGE.

Happiness and Competence.

WHY IS IT?

That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life at an age when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a condition of health, would be predominant.

Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during girlhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.

IN AFTER YEARS,

When too late to be benefitted by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the full consequences of our ignorance.

What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years! And what days and nights of anguish we might not have been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed. It is

MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING

To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for many years, from causes simple and controllable, easily remedied—or better still,—not incurred, if every

WIFE AND MOTHER

Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself

YEARS OF MISERY,

And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily devolving upon him from sickness of the wife, without giving him the opportunity of acquiring that competence which his exertions are entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.

SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS

By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands.

In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is excusable if she neglect to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—healthy bodies, with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work entitled

THE MARRIED WOMAN'S
Private Medical Companion.

BY DR. A. M. MAURICEAU,
PROFESSOR OF DISEASES OF WOMEN.

One Hundreth Edition. 18mo., pp. 250. Price 50 Cents.
[ON FINE PAPER, EXTRA BINDING, $1 00.]

First published in 1847, and it is not

SURPRIZING OR WONDERFUL,

Considering that EVERY FEMALE, WHETHER MARRIED OR NOT, can here acquire a full knowledge of the nature, character and causes of her complaints, with the various symptoms, and that nearly

should have been sold.

It is impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, as they are of a nature strictly intended for the married, or those contemplating marriage, but no female desirous of enjoying health, and that beauty, consequent upon health, which is so conducive to her own happiness, and that of her husband, but either has or will obtain it, as has or will every husband who has the love and affection of his wife at heart, or that of his own pecuniary improvement.

UPWARDS OF ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND COPIES

Have been SENT BY MAIL within the last few months.

CAUTION TO THE PUBLIC.

BE NOT DEFRAUDED!

Buy no book unless "Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, 129 Liberty Street, N. Y." is on the title page, and the entry in the Clerk's Office on the back of the title-page; and buy only of respectable and honorable dealers, or send by mail, and address to Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, as there are spurious and surreptitious infringements of copy-right.

LET EVERY WIFE AND HUSBAND PONDER!

No excuse for Ignorance, when Ignorance is Misery to those we hold near and dear, and when to dispel our Ignorance is within our reach.

To enable every one to decide upon the indispensable necessity of possessing a copy, and that no wife, or mother need remain uninformed upon the many causes, which, sooner or later, are destined to make fearful ravages upon her health, unless guarded against, and that no considerate and affectionate husband have cause to upbraid himself with neglect of the welfare of his wife—a pamphlet of thirty-six pages, containing full Title-page and Index of Contents, together with extracts from the book, will be sent free of charge to any part of the United States, by addressing, post-paid, as herein.

When Knowledge is Happiness, 'tis culpable to be ignorant.

☞ On receipt of One Dollar (for the fine Edition, extra binding,) "THE MARRIED WOMAN'S PRIVATE MEDICAL COMPANION" is sent (mailed free) to any part of the United States. All letters must be post-paid, and addressed to Dr. A. M. MAURICEAU, Box 1224, New York City. Publishing Office, No. 129 Liberty Street, New York.

A New, Delicious Temperance Beverage.

AMBROSIAL MEAD!

THIS excellent Compound is prepared from the best SPANISH SARSAPARILLA, without its dark, repulsive appearance, being beautifully transparent and entirely free from all impurities. Its qualities as a beverage, a single trial will give it a pre-eminence over all other preparations, by its freedom from noxious ingredients, agreeableness of flavor, and its exceeding cheapness, one bottle being sufficient to make thirty glasses of the beverage.
CAUTION!—The proprietors of this excellent preparation have spared no expense to bring it to perfection, and would caution purchasers to buy none without the fac simile of Wilson, Fairbank & Co. on every bottle.

PATENTS.

American and Foreign Office.
AGENCY FOR BUSINESS
With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,
No. 22 State Street, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.
Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries: besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.
R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

DR. CONINE'S

SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.

The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.
The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the Islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and
Affections of the Lungs.
But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing
DISSOLVENT POWER,
By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore
Anti-Expectorant,
And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.
It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an
APPETISER
It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom
AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.
Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.
It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.
Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

DR. HAMPTON'S

VEGETABLE TINCTURE!

The Great Restorative and Invigorator of the System.

THIS article, which has made so many wonderful cures, was discovered by DR. JESSE HAMPTON, of Louisville, Ky., now in fine health in the 79th year of his age, and is acknowledged by those who have used it to be the BEST family medicine in use, and is WARRANTED FREE FROM ALL MINERAL SUBSTANCES. By its mild action on the STOMACH, LIVER and KIDNEYS, it will cure the diseases of those organs, with all chronic complaints, as
Dyspepsy, Cough, Asthma, Bronchial & Lung Affections, Pains in the Back, Side and Breast, Consumption, Scrofula, Fits, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Fistula, Fits, Bowel Complaint, Worms, Nervous Debility,
With all Diseases arising from Impure Blood.
As a FEMALE MEDICINE it has no equal! It will change the Complexion from a pallid to a blooming one.
Wherever introduced its success is unbounded. It has certificates from Hon. Henry Clay, Hon. R. M. Johnson, Vice President of the United States; Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore; the Spanish Consul; Judge Davis; Lund Washington; from a Chaplain of the U. S. Navy; from the State Department, Washington; from the brother of the Physician to the Emperor of France, who was cured by it after all other remedies had failed; and from hundreds of others, making up an amount of Testimony never before given to any other discovery of Medicine. A trial of it will convince the most skeptical.
We invite the public to call and get Pamphlets and see certificates of Cures. Read the following certificates of undoubted testimony:

From Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore.

MAYOR'S OFFICE, Baltimore, Aug. 23, 1852.
I take great pleasure in stating, that I have examined the names of those who have signed certificates respecting Hampton's Vegetable Tincture, and among them I recognize gentlemen of the first respectability, viz: Jos. K. Stapleton, William A. Schaffer, G. Duncan, and others. I also cheerfully testify to the high standing of the house of Messrs Mortimer & Mowbray, who, for the past twenty years, have enjoyed the entire confidence and esteem both of our merchants and citizens generally.

U. S. SHIP CUMBERLAND,

Lieutenant ——, of the U. S. Navy, now on board this ship, also wishes you to send him one dozen of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," by the store ship which leaves the United States in February or March, for Spezzia.
The Tincture you sent me was received in good order, and I take pleasure in informing you that it has been used with great success by several of our officers in cases of DYSPEPSIA.
I am respectfully yours,

My son had a very severe cough, which threatened speedily to carry him off; and nothing seemed to give relief, until I tried these Lozenges, —which produced signs of relief in a few hours, and after the taking of a few boxes, wholly removed his cough. WAR—ITS COST.

"With good advice make war," are the words of a certain scripture—and it certainly is never worth while to go to war without it. In the spirit of this text, the London Times counts the cost of a war between Great Britain and Russia, in the following manner, the humor of which is admirable.

"By way of set off against the novelty, the excitement, the enterprise, the peculiarity, the popularity, and the possible glory of a war with Russia, let us sit down and count the cost. We could shut up the naval power of Russia in the Black Sea and the Baltic by costly fleets at both stations—steam always up, wind and water always having their way. We could easily enable Turkey to make a desperate fight by enormous subsidies. We could protect our commerce from Yankee privateers and other free and easy gentlemen who would take out letters of marque from Russia, by a recurrence to the old system of merchantmen sailing like wild geese in flights, with a frigate or two leading the way. We could suspend the whole foreign trade of Russia, by a process which would double the price of our corn, hemp and tallow. We could engage half the continent on our side of the quarrel, by surrendering every other question of honor, duty or interest we happen to have with each separate State. We could prolong the war indefinitely by another national debt. We could stop it at our leisure by allowing Russia to take all she wants, with a little over for demurrage. With proportionate bribes we could secure the concurrence of other nations.

On the other hand, all the nations of Europe would be bankrupt, their principal creditors being in this metropolis. Their manufactures and commerce would be ruined, to the injury of those who consume what they make, and make for them in return. We are all so bound together that it is hard to say whether in material consequences we should suffer more by victory or by defeat. It is our unhappiness to have the largest stake in peace of all nations on the face of the earth, and so long as we stick to that game we are sure to win. The most orthodox war ever fought is only an Irishman's row, a game of cracked skulls and bloody noses; very amusing to those whose clothing is of little value and whose integuments are rather hard, but far from amusing to a gentleman who has paid five guineas for his coat and whose face is susceptible of contusions.

There is not a point in which that immense glass house which we call the British Empire is not liable to damage. "A man that hath children," says Bacon, "has given pledges to fortune." We have children; we have colonies: we have dependencies; we have ships; we have investments, loans, railways, private debts, all over the world. By dint of hard peace making, we manage to keep our debtors in tolerable order. They pay, as an omnibus horse does its work, by the momentum of its misery, by being kept in its harness, well up, and continually flogged. Once give them the opportunity of war, and that general dissolution of morals is sure to ensue, and every quarter day will add to your defaulters."

The Boston Light Infantry dedicated their new quarters in Bumstead place last evening. The occasion was one of jubilation. A collation was served, followed by speeches and toasts from the prominent military gentlemen. —Bee.

Was the reporter of the Bee present? It must have been a "rare time," as the "dedication" does not take place till next week!—Journal.

The "Doctor" of the Bee is a spiritualist we must infer. We know he is fast on items, and in this case has come in full a week ahead. —Chronicle.

LETTER FROM DR. FRANKLIN.—The following letter from the philosopher Franklin, has turned up among the papers of the Maine Historical Society, and the Portland Advertiser believes that it has never before been published. The address is as follows:—

"To be forwarded by the first post."

Jonathan Williams, Esq. "16"
Merchant Boston.

PASSY, April 13, 1785.

DEAR COUSIN, I received your letter of Decem. 16 relating to Jonas Hartwell. I had before written to our Minister at Madrid, Mr. Carmichael, requesting him to apply for the release of this man. Inclosed I send his Answer, with Copies of other Papers relating to the Affair. The Simpleton will be discharged, perhaps after being a little whipt for his Folly, and that may not be amiss. We have here another New England Man, Thayer, formerly a candidate for the Ministry, who converted himself lately at Rome, and is now preparing to return home for the purpose of converting his countymen. Our Ancestors from Catholics became first Church of England Men, and then refined into Presbyterians.—To change now from Presbyterianism to Popery, seems to me Refining backwards, from white sugar to brown.

I have written to Dr. Price of London, requesting him to make a choice collection of proper Books to commence a Library for the Use of the Inhabitants of Franklin. The Books will be sent directly from thence.

Jonathan and his family are well. He expects to be with you soon. I continue very hearty and well, except my Malady of the Stone, which however is hitherto very tolerable. My love to Cousin Grace, &c., and believe me ever Your affectionate Uncle,

B. FRANKLIN.

P. S. April 14.—I send enclosed a bill drawn by Mr. W. Vernon, Jun'r on his Father for * * Livres which I request you would receive and deliver to my Sister.

JONA. WILLIAMS, ESQ.

THE $50,000 CHURCH FUND.—The whole amount received from Massachusetts up to the present time, in aid of the 50,000 for building orthodox churches at the West is fourteen thousand one hundred and eighteen dollars and twenty three cents, which is said to be about four thousand dollars more than the sum assigned to this State. An interesting fact in connection with this contribution is, that the whole expense of its collection was but fourteen dollars and three cents.

DAILY
Morning Chronicle.
PORTSMOUTH:
TUESDAY, JULY 26, 1853.

INTEMPERANCE IN NEW HAMPSHIRE.

This vice is said to be on the increase in this State. The Nashville Oasis, under the head of "Drunkenness in our midst," says:

"A faithful daguerreotype of drunkenness here would send a thrill of horror through the minds of our respectable citizens, that would galvanize them into benevolent and even authoritative action. We are sleeping over the crater of a volcano. Young men begin to stagger through our streets at mid-day. Our respectable citizens are seen to enter from genteel tippling shops. A cordial for the stomach's sake is standing upon many mahogany sideboards, in houses where the drunkard is despised, and where example is powerful. With the foul stench of drunkenness, the atmosphere in our village is reeking. And there is no help for it! Poor, pitiful, powerless community—the plague cannot be stayed—and strong men proudly indomitable in all things else, who would blow a blast of scorn and contempt at an insinuation of failure in anything, sit listlessly at ease while their sons are playing at the very gates of our village hells—and there is no help for it!

We have been counting our rum-shops. How many, respectable reader, do you suppose Nashville has? We make—it may not be all—twenty-two. And how many dry good stores? Not one. How many shops for fancy goods? Not one, to our knowledge. Is it a wonder that houses are to let, that mechanical business is gone, and real estate low? Is it a wonder that the new burial yard is filling up, and houses are becoming empty? Three new rum establishments have recently been opened—the poisonous fames steam up with double energy.

The wife of the proprietor of one of these places, as we learn, driven from her terrible home, with helpless children in her charge, by a licentious husband and his shameless paramours, sought the protection of a clergyman, in whose company she returned to witness scenes at which fiends might laugh.

Nashua has ten, and how many more, we no not. Rumor says we are to have another.—Peace-loving, orderly citizens—friends of humanity—what do you think of it?

The Concord Independent Democrat says "The above agrees too closely with what is seen in this city, and what is heard from other places. Intemperance is increasing. Nor, with the examples set by men elevated to high stations in the nation and State, is the fact, lamentable as it is, to be wondered at. If great men drink and get drunk, and are nevertheless elected to responsible offices, why should not common men do it? Why should young men be expected to turn their backs on the path that leads to political and judicial honors with some classes, and offers no obstacle in others? Will christian men and fathers think of these things?"

We must say in regard to this city also, that intemperance appears to be increasing.

And when we say this, we must remind our distant readers that this deplorable state of things is not attributable, in this State, to the Maine Law nor any other law. We have nearly free trade in liquors. We have some laws which punish poor drunkards and mortify their families—but every one knows that such laws have no terrors whatever for drunkards of a heavier purse or a higher station. We wish our community to look deliberately at the facts touching temperance and intemperance in our own city and State, and then make up their minds whether any thing ought to be done—and if any thing, what it shall be.

TEMPERANCE.—A circular has been issued from Concord, signed by James Batchelder, President, and J. D. Lyman, Secretary, of the N. H. Legislative Temperance Society, in which early and efficient action is urged upon the friends of temperance throughout this State, for the purpose of securing the adoption of a "Maine Liquor Law" by the next Legislature.

PROFITS OF THE NEW COINAGE.—A New York paper states that the Bank of the State of Missouri has recently sold all its silver coin, amounting to $250,000, to Messrs. Page & Bacon. The premium realized was upwards of 2 per cent. according to the character of the coin.

As a matter of course, this quarter of a million of silver coin is withdrawn from circulation. All the large masses of silver coin in the country must follow it. The $5,000 premium on this sale will add quite an item to the profits of the bank, and other banks will take the hint.

Part of this silver coin was probably dollars—and so far as redeeming bills was concerned, gold will answer the same purpose.—As to circulation in trade, one dollar bills and a few gold dollars will take the place of silver dollars. Another fact, we know not how much, was change; and of course includes only American halves, quarters, tens and fives, of the old coinage and full weight. To supply this vacuum we have the new bright coin, the three cent pieces, and—we know not what; a few months will show.

Messrs. May & Marble, of Portland, have issued the Prospectus of a new Paper, to be published in that city, and issued Daily, Tri-Weekly and Weekly; to be called "The State of Maine."

THE WEALTHY CALIFORNIAN.—The New York Mirror in alluding to the recent suicide of Mr. Gray, says:

The deceased was well known to all Californians as having been a gambler, and the keeper of the "El Dorado" saloon—a "gambling hell" of the worst description; and the large income referred to, is the rent of this same "hell," which is yet devoted to this purpose. We should like to spare the dead and the feelings of the living, but justice requires that we should speak at least a portion of the truth we know.

There: that takes all the romance out of the transaction.

The soil of Siberia, at the close of the summer, is found still frozen for fifty-six inches beneath the surface, and the dead that have lain in their coffins for one hundred and fifty years, have been taken up unchanged in the least.

An excellent climate this, indeed, for the preservation of the dead—but rather chilly for the living. We think we should prefer Italy or Spain for a living place,—and if any one chose to embalm our remains in Siberia, it might be well enough. But—is there any truth in the statement?

A pretty woman is like a great truth or a great happiness, and has no more right to bundle herself under a pumpkin-colored veil or any other similar abomination, than the sun has to put on spectacles.—Exchange.

"Pumpkin-colored veil!"—the man probably means "ashes of roses"—i. e., any nondescript color between a faded pink and a rusty black.

FOWLER'S MAGAZINES.—In the bustle of the 4th of July, we omitted to notice the Water Cure and the Phrenological Journal. They commenced new volumes this month—$1 a year each, and valuable books they are. The "4th of July oration," in the Phrenological, was worth the price of the number—and both magazines are always filled with judiciously selected reading, besides treating thoroughly of the sciences to which they are especially devoted. We know of no cheaper books.

WEST POINT MILITARY ACADEMY.—The board of visitors to West Point Military Academy have made their report to the Secretary of War. The board express their gratfication because of the proficiency of the cadets in their studies, and also their unanimous opinion in favor of the institution, as the best method of diffusing military science and attaining skill in the art of war. They recommend the erection of a new building for a Riding School; the enlargement of the Cadet's Hospital; new buildings for officers' quarters and other purposes. They also recommend an increse in the number of cadets to two from each State, to be recommended by the United States senators. An extension of the period of instruction to five years is recommended. The board express their opinion that the decisions of the Academy's Board, relative to the capacity, conduct and qualifications of cadets, should be final and conclusive. They recommend an increase of the cadets' pay to from $28 to $30 per month, besides an increase of salaries to several of the professors; and an appropriation to establish at West Point a Museum of Artillery.

A laughable story of some carrier pigeons is told in an Antwerp newspaper. The editor of a celebrated journal published in that city, sent a reporter to Brussels for the king's speech, and with him a couple of carrier pigeons, to take back the document. At Brussels he gave the pigeons in charge of a waiter, and called for breakfast. He was kept waiting for some time, but a very delicate fricasse atoned for the delay. After breakfast he paid his bill, and called for his carrier pigeons.—"Pigeons!" exclaimed the waiter, "why you have eaten them!"

RAILROAD SECURITY.—On the New Haven Railroad the cars come to a full stop before crossing a draw bridge. This is the only security; but as it delays the cars ten minutes, it causes an infinite grumbling among the passengers, who should rather run the risk of a repetition of the Norfolk disaster than to be so many minutes later in their arrival. The Providence Journal says:—"We hope the directors will have the firmness to maintain the regulation. There are ways enough for men who are weary of the world to break their necks, without the chance of carrying with them those who prefer to stay a little longer."

HYDROPHOBIA.—About three weeks ago a son of Mr. Luther Howe, aged 9 years, of Marlboro, Mass., while returning from school was bitten in the hand by an unknown dog. On Wednesday he appeared unwell. A physician was called, and pronounced his case to be that of hydrophobia. He wants water, but on giving it to him he cannot receive it, being taken with spasms. The wound healed and nothing appeared unusual in the boy until he was discovered laying down, complaining of his head aching. The dog was killed, supposed to be rabid at the time by some.

A BLOOMER.—A young lady, a bloomer, recently married at Criskeny, N. Y., was 'horned' by some of the village rowdies. She fired a gun over their heads, and they ran away. Being taunted by some of the villagers with the fact, they resolved to try it over. This they did the next night, and challenged the girl to shoot again, calling her a liar, &c. On this, the young woman fired once more above them; but they laughed her to scorn, and at last, goaded to indignation, she sent a charge of shot rattling about their brainless pates, and, wounded and limping, howling and cursing, they retreated in confusion.

The Otsego Universalist Association, at its recent meeting, resolved that "the use of tobacco in various ways, by people of all ages and classes and both sexes, is an alarming and rapidly increasing evil which calls upon the philanthropist and Christian to unite in arresting a habit which destroys health, is disgusting and filthy, and has a strong tendency to demoralization and intemperance."

LOCAL.

SAILING OF THE SQUADRON FOR THE FISHING GROUNDS.

On Sunday afternoon, while at the Shoals, we were startled by a heavy cannonade, in the neighborhood of Portsmouth. From the cupola of Mr. Laighton's excellent Hotel, on Appledore, with a good glass, we discovered the cause, it being a salute to the Commodore of the squadron for the fishing ground. From our commanding position we could well judge of the sailing qualities of the three vessels. The Princeton, the flag ship, took the lead, and was followed by the Fulton with the sloop-of-war Decatur in tow. The Fulton, with this dead weight after her, in the eye of the wind, held her own with the flag-ship, until the fleet got about half way to the Shoals.

When within about five miles of the Shoals, at about 5 1-2 o'clock, the fleet changed their course to the eastward, when the Decatur was cast off from the Fulton and made sail, with the wind just forward of the beam. The Fulton, now relieved from her burden, followed the Princeton, and in half an hour gained about a mile and a half on her, but on coming up with her, the Fulton stopped her machinery and allowed the Princeton to take her distance again, and in this position they remained until out of sight. The Decatur, close hauled on the wind, held her own with the steamers, for about an hour, when she was seen to back her main-topsail and lay to for nearly an hour, probably to repair the damage done to her jib-boom by the Fulton, and then went on her course.

☞ A party of about fifty went on an excursion to the Shoals, Saturday night, in the steamer Grace Darling, and returned on Monday morning, arriving home at about 6 1-2 o'clock. The weather was very pleasant, and the party enjoyed themselves highly. To-day the steamer takes down a party from Dover, and another during the week—both being got up by religious societies in that place. A trip to the Shoals in the steamer, is an exceedingly pleasant way of enjoying one's self during dog days.

MACKEREL.—The catch of mackerel at the Shoals this season, has been large, being estimated by good judges on the island, as rising 2000 barrels, generally of good quality. On Sunday last about 100 barrels were seined around the islands.

☞ Capt. Clark, under the Chronicle office, has a fine lot of new apples and pears—uncommonly good for the season. The printers received a thank-offering of the first fruits.

☞ We have been requested to call the attention of the city authorities, to the miserable condition of the sidewalks on Elm street.—Those who have occasion to pass that way often are unanimous in the opinion that something should be done immediately.

☞ The Bostonian "Sons of Portsmouth" have published a neat and well deserved card of thanks to the officers and employees of the Eastern Railroad, for their care and safe conduct on their fourth of July visit to this place.

ARRIVALS AT THE OCEAN HOUSE,
Rye Beach, July 23, 1853.

Moulton, Kingston; Miss C. Gaines, M. Noble and ladies, G. W. Towle, S. J. Coburn, J. M. Edmonds and lady, B. L. Merrill and lady, Portsmouth.

CHOOSING NEIGHBORS.—Mr. John B. Wood, of Great Falls, advertises in the Journal of that town, that "having purchased the large block of houses on Washington street, and having completely renovated the same, he is prepared to accommodate small families with large tenements at low prices. Hogs, dogs, hens and rum drinkers need not apply, as he has removed into the block himself, and does not wish such characters for neighbors."

SACO MACHINE SHOP.—We well knew that the busy little towns of Saco and Biddeford were full of enterprising men, but we were not aware that so large a business was done there in the machinery line, till we saw in the Eastern Journal the following paragraph:—

"After God's great facts—the ocean and the mountains and the forests and the fields—we know of no bigger sight in our State of Maine, than to look in upon the operations of the three hundred and fifty men connected with the shop of the Saco Water Power. The power of the machinery here in use—the completeness in detail and the beauty of finish of the machinery they are building—that earnest, intelligent, careful, mathematical precision of eye, face and movement, that the business begets in the operatives—all combine to make a visit to the machine shop, always one of interest to us."

The report that Ex-Gov. Briggs has been nominated a Judge of the Court of Common Pleas is incorrect. No such nomination has been made.—Boston Advertiser.

ECLIPSE OF MARS BY THE MOON, AUGUST 1ST.—The planet will disappear at the dark limb of the moon about three minutes past 2 o'clock A. M., and will reappear at the bright limb about 15 or 20 minutes past 3. The moon will rise at half past 1, and will consequently be in the eastern sky about half an hour above the horizon, at the commencement of the occultation. She will shoot over the planet at the rate of 2000 miles, or more, an hour. New moon August 4, at 7h. 22m. P. M.

14 DAYS LATER FROM CALIFORNIA.

ARRIVAL OF THE NORTHERN LIGHT.

NEW YORK, July 25.

The steamer Northern Light, from San Juan, arrived at 5 o'clock this morning. She brings 500 passengers and $389,000 in gold dust brought down by the Seirra Nevady.

The Northern Light was struck by lightning July 19, near Cape St. Antonio, which split her mainmast, but injured no one.—Among her passengers is Patrick O'Donohue, the Irish exile, recently escaped from Van Diemen's land.

At midnight July 9th, off Acapulco, Dr. Carroll, a passenger on the Sierra Nevada, fell overboard and was drowned.

The ship Typhoon, when leaving the harbor of San Francisco, struck on a rock and stove a hole in her bottom, returned and ran on the rocks near Rincon Point to repair.

The town of Rough and Ready was nearly destroyed by fire; only fifteen buildings were left. All the stores except one were consumed.

Reports from the mining districts in all directions represent a state of unusual prosperity.

A duel was fought at Marysville between Col. Rust, editor of the Express, and Judge Sidger of the Herald; the latter was slightly wounded.

OREGON.—General Lane has been elected delegate to Congress.

Gold has been found on the Santiam river.

LATER NEWS FROM EUROPE.

ARRIVAL OF THE ARCTIC.

NEW YORK, July 23.

The steamer Arctic, from Liverpool, Wednesday 13th, arrived this evening at 6 o'clock.

RUSSIAN AND TURKISH AFFAIRS.—Count Nesslerode had issued a new Circular, more impudent than the last, announcing that Russia occupies the principalities because the French and English fleets occupy the Turkish waters, and hints most clearly, that the Russians will refuse conciliation until the fleets are withdrawn, expressing however, Russia's willingness to evacuate the principalities when the demands are fully granted. This note had partially opened the eyes or the European public, who see the necessity of bringing matters to a settlement one way or other. Russia's object being merely to gain time and render its position impregnable, scarcely admitting possibility of avoiding war.

FRANCE.—The plot against Napoleon's life at the Opera was more serious than at first supposed. The conspiracy is unravelled and the prisoners are on trial.

The silk crop in different parts of France is viewed with anxiety, but is not suffering; other crops again promise well.

Father Beck, a Belgian, has been elected General of the Jesuits.

AUSTRIA.—Highly important if authentic.—It is asserted that M. Costa, Kossuth's emvoy, instead of a conciliatory mission to Constantinople, has made an imperative demand on Turkey for all concessions previously refused to Liningens' mission.

In a riot at Smyrna, resulting from the arrest of M. Costa, Kossuth's emisary, the Captain of the United States frigate frigate St. Louis, behaved gallantly, and demanded to have the prisoner delivered up to the protection of the United States, and would have taken possession of Costa by force had he established any claims on the United States for protection. In consequence of the row Austria demanded and received from Turkey satisfaction for the insult, and the Governor of Smyrna was discharged. The American commander's conduct excites admiration. The U. S. frigate is still at the Pireus. No further accounts of the King difficulty.

LATEST.—From the London Times, July 13.—The French Minister of War is asserted to have addressed the President of the Chamber of Commerce at Nantes, on the Turkish question, in the following strain:—

"We are not bent on making war, but if the Emperor, to whom the honor of his government is dearer than all, should think that national honor exacts war, he will certainly not recoil from necessity."

Paris Bourse was dull on Tuesday. The majority of funds declined.

Buffalo, July 22.—The steamers St. Lawrence, bound to Sandusky, and the Queen City on her way down came in collision on Lake Erie last night. The St. Lawrence was cut down to the water and filled to the bulk heads. The Queen City was not much damaged. Both boats had passengers, all of whom escaped injury.

PHILADELPHIA FUGITIVE SLAVE CASE.—On Saturday, Mr. Ingraham, the U. S. Commissioner, decided that the alleged fugitive slave before him should be remanded to his master. A habeas corpus was issued by one of the State courts, calling upon the U. S. Marshal to shew cause why he detained the slave, which process he refused to recognize, and was thereupon taken into custody himself by the Sheriff, for contempt of court.

Rev. Mr. Burns states that another colony of Protestants are about to leave Madeira for this country, on account of new persecutions under a late law forbidding the profession of any religion but the Roman Catholic. About sixty of these poor people are now on their way to Illinois.

The learned Archbishop of Dublin, whose information and candor in judging are perhaps unequaled, in a recent charge in St. Patrick's Cathedral, compared the mutual conversions from Romanism and to Protestantism, and vice versa, and decided that the balance was greatly in favor of Protestantism.

IMPROVEMENTS ON CAPE COD.—The Yarmouth Register states that an unusually large number of buildings are erecting in the several towns on the Cape, the present season. In Provincetown, the amount of building is much larger than any previous year.

Gerrit Smith has made a donation of $25,000 to the city of Oswego, N. Y., for the purpos of establishing a public library.

This arrangement affords a fine opportunity for persons from abroad to visit one of the most desirable Summer resorts for the Invalid, and all others who are fond of Fishing, Bathing, and other amusements conducive to health and pleasure. PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S
Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.
It is unnecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself.—The effects of the fluid exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.
Liberal discount to purchasers by the quantity, and by the principal Merchants and Druggists throughout the United States, and Canada, Mexico, West Indies, Great Britain, France, &c., and by Weeks & Potter, Brewers, Stevens & Cushing, and Wm. Brown, Boston. d&w6m je22*

MARRIAGE.

Happiness and Competence.

WHY IS IT?

That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life broken in health and spirits, with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life at an age when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and high recreation of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant.

Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during girlhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so slight as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.

IN AFTER YEARS,

When too late to be benefitted, by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the full consequences of our ignorance.

What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years! And what days and nights of anguish we might not have been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed. It is

MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING

To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for many years, from causes simple and controllable, easily remedied—or better still,—not incurred, if every

WIFE AND MOTHER

Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself

YEARS OF MISERY,

And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily devolving upon him from sickness of the wife, without giving him the opportunity of acquiring that competence which his exertions merited, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.

SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS

By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands.

In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is excusable if she neglect to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—healthy bodies, with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work entitled

THE MARRIED WOMAN'S
Private Medical Companion.

BY DR. A. M. MAURICEAU,
PROFESSOR OF DISEASES OF WOMEN.

One Hundreth Edition. 18mo., pp. 250. Price 50 Cents.
[ON FINE PAPER, EXTRA BINDING, $1 00.]

First published in 1847, and it is not

SURPRIZING OR WONDERFUL,

Considering that EVERY FEMALE, WHETHER MARRIED OR NOT, can here acquire a full knowledge of the nature, character and causes of her complaints, with the various symptoms, and that nearly

should have been sold.

It is impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, as the work is a course strictly intended for the married, or those contemplating marriages, but no female desirous of enjoying health, and that beauty, consequent upon health, which is so conducive to her own happiness, and that of her husband, but either has or will obtain it, as has or will every husband who has the love and affection of his wife at heart, or that of his own pecuniary improvement.

UPWARDS OF ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND COPIES

Have been SENT BY MAIL within the last few months.

CAUTION TO THE PUBLIC.

BE NOT DEFRAUDED!

Buy no book unless "Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, 129 Liberty Street, N. Y." is on the title page, and the entry in the Clerk's Office on the back of the title page; and buy only of respectable and honorable dealers, or send by mail, and address to Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, as there are spurious and surreptitious infringements of copy-right.

LET EVERY WIFE AND HUSBAND PONDER!

No excuse for Ignorance, when Ignorance is Misery to those we hold near and dear, and when to dispel our Ignorance is within our reach.

To enable every one to decide upon the indispensable necessity of possessing a copy, and that no wife, or mother need remain uninformed upon the many causes, which, sooner or later, are destined to make fearful ravages upon her health, unless guarded against, and that husband and affectionate husband have cause to upbraid himself with neglect of the welfare of his wife—a pamphlet of thirty-six pages, containing full Title-page and Index of Contents, together with extracts from the book, will be sent Free of charge to any part of the United States, by addressing, post-paid, as herein.

When Knowledge is Happiness, 'tis culpable to be Ignorant.

☞ On receipt of One Dollar (for the fine Edition, extra binding,) "THE MARRIED WOMAN'S PRIVATE MEDICAL COMPANION" is sent (mailed free) to any part of the United States. All letters must be post-paid, and addressed to Dr. A. M. MAURICEAU, Box 1224, New York City. Publishing Office, No. 129 Liberty Street, New York.

CAUSING it to grow luxuriantly, and giving it a soft and curling appearance, of the most delightful character. The KATHAIRON neutralises the effects of disease, climate, and old age, in preserving and restoring the Human Hair, even after a Baldness of many years,—cleanses the scalp from Dandruff, and its natural impurities,—immediately relieves sympathetic attacks of Nervous Headache, and cures all cutaneous diseases of the skin, such as Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Itch, &c.

AS A TOILET ARTICLE,

For giving the Hair a rich, soft, glossy and curling appearance, nothing has been discovered to compare with its incontested—its incontestible virtues. It imparts the fragrance of the most delightful and exotic flowers, and is free from all minera properties, or any substance which can color the skin, or stain a lady's hat.

FOR BALD OR GREY HEADS

It is pre-eminently beneficial. "The Kathairon restored my hair after a baldness of 12 years. A. J. Conarasar, 76 Bond-st. N. Y." This admirable preparation can be had of all reputable dealers, throughout North and South America, and the Islands of the Ocean, in large bottles, for 25 cents.

THE TRAITOR'S FATE.—Mr. Hamilton, in his Fourth of July speech at Tarrytown, related a striking anecdote, which he had heard from Talleyrand's own lips: "When Talleyrand, having been compelled to leave France, was, subsequently, also obliged to quit England, because he was suspected of being a spy, he went to Portsmouth to take passage.—While at the hotel there he was informed that there was an American gentleman in the house, and he immediately sought an interview with him, to obtain some particulars of the country to which he proposed emigrating. At the close of the interview, Talleyrand told the stranger that he would feel pleasure in bearing x his friends in America any letter or message he had to send. The answer was, 'I am the only man in the world who has no friends in America.' On subsequent inquiry, he ascertained that the stranger was no other than Benedict Arnold.".

There are two distinct sorts of what we call bashfulness; this, the awkwardness of a booby which a few steps in the world will convert into the pertness of a coxcomb; that, a consciousness, which the most delicate feelings always produce, and the most extensive knowledge cannot always remove.—Mackenzie.

DR. CONINE'S

SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.

The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER,

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom

AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

READ! READ! READ!

DR. HAMPTON'S VEGETABLE TINCTURE!

The Great Restorative and Invigorator of the System.

THIS article, which has made so many wonderful cures, was discovered by DR. JESSE HAMPTON, of Louisville, Ky., now in fine health in the 79th year of his age, and is acknowledged by those who have used it to be the best family medicine in use, and is WARRANTED FREE FROM ALL MINERAL SUBSTANCES. By its mild action on the STOMACH, LIVER and KIDNEYS, it will cure the diseases of those organs, with all chronic complaints, as

Dyspepsy, Cough, Asthma, Bronchial & Lung Affections, Pains in the Back, Side and Breast, Consumption, Scrofula, Fits, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Fistula, Fits, Bowel Complaint, Worms, Nervous Debility,

With all Diseases arising from Impure Blood.

As a FEMALE MEDICINE it has no equal! It will change the Complexion from a pallid to a blooming one.

Wherever introduced its success is unbounded. It has certificates from Hon. Henry Clay, Hon. R. M. Johnson, Vice President of the United States; Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore; the Spanish Consul; Judge Davis; Lund Washington; from a Chaplain of the U. S. Navy; from the State Department, Washington; from the brother of the Physician to the Emperor of France, who was cured by it after all other remedies had failed; and from hundreds of others, making up an amount of Testimony never before given to any other discovery of Medicine. A trial of it will convince the most skeptical.

We invite the public to call and get Pamphlets and see certificates of Cures. Read the following certificates of undoubted testimony:

From Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore.

MAYOR'S OFFICE, Baltimore, Aug. 23, 1852.

I take great pleasure in stating, that I have examined the names of those who have signed certificates respecting Hampton's Vegetable Tincture, and among them I recognize gentlemen of the first respectability, viz: Jos. K. Stapleton, William A. Schaffer, G. Duman, and others. I also cheerfully testify to the high standing of the house of Messrs Mortimer & Mowbray, who, for the past twenty years, have enjoyed the entire confidence and esteem both of our merchants and citizens generally.

JNO. H. T. JEROME.

A Voice from the Birth-place of Christopher Columbus, the Discoverer of America.

U. S. SHIP CUMBERLAND, }
GENOA, SARDINIA, January 17, 1853. }

Messrs. Mortimer & Mowbray—Gentlemen: The first Lieutenant of this ship, who has been suffering many years from the Dyspepsia, and who has been nearly restored to his usual health by the use of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," desires you to send him one dozen bottles of that medicine.

Lieutenant ——, of the U. S. Navy, now on board this ship, also wishes you to send him one dozen of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," by the store ship which leaves the United States in February or March, for Spezzia.

The Tincture you sent me was received in good order, and I take pleasure in informing you that it has been used with great success by several of our officers in cases of DYSPEPSIA.

I am respectfully yours,
VERNON ESKRIDGE, Chaplain U.S.N.

from a citizen of Portsmouth—and but a sample of hundreds:

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., May, 1853.

This is to certify that I consider Devines' Compound Pitch Lozenges a valuable article for what they are designed—the best remedy before the public. My son had a very severe cough, which threatened speedily to carry him off; and nothing seemed to give relief, until I tried these Lozenges,—which produced signs of relief in a few hours, and after the taking of a few boxes, wholly removed his cough. DAILY
Morning Chronicle.
PORTSMOUTH:
WEDNESDAY, JULY 27, 1853.

REV. MARTIN P. PARKS.

This eminent episcopal clergyman was late pastor of St. Paul's, and assistant minister of Trinity Church, New York city, and as we learn from the N. Y. Herald, had been to Europe for health's sake, and died as he was returning, on board the Arctic, July 21.

He was born in Surrey county, North Carolina, and while quite young was entered as cadet at the United States military school at West Point, whence he graduated at the end of four years, with high honors, in his class. Fulfilling the requirements of the laws regulating the academy, he served the usual period as a lieutenant in the service of the United States, being stationed most of the time at old Point Comfort, in Virginia. Bishop Polk, of Louisiana, was a member of his class at the military academy.

On leaving the service, Mr. Parks entered the Methodist connection as a preacher of the Gospel. His eloquence and earnestness in his new and sacred calling, soon spread his reputation, and large congregations flocked to hear him. He at one time was stationed at Richmond, Va., and was soon appointed professor of mathematics in Randolph Macon College, Virginia, where he was much beloved and esteemed, both by his class and by all who knew him, and where he became acquainted with the episcopal bishop Meade, of Virginia.

At this time, pursuing an extensive range of theological reading and study, doubts rose in his mind whether the Methodist bishops were duly and apostolically set apart for the proper discharge of their offices. The result of his investigations were that he was induced to retire from the Methodists on terms of harmony, and unite himself to the Episcopal church; and became pastor of one of the oldest churches in Norfolk, Virginia, where he was much beloved. He was afterwards appointed chaplain at the Military Academy, and Professor of Moral Philosophy. He here discharged his duties with signal success, and won the good will and affection of the students, as well as the esteem and respect of all with whom it was his lot to become acquainted.—His personal friends were found among the highest dignitaries of the Episcopal church.—The extent and zeal of his labors were only limited by the natural delicacy of his constitution and liability to feeble health. He was afterwards appointed minister of St. Paul's church, in the city of New York, and assistant minister of Trinity church, in which service he closed his life.

Dr. Parks married a lady of Virginia, who, with an interesting family of children, is left to mourn his death in the meridian of life.—He was buried at Trinity Church on Tuesday.

HEALTH AND ECONOMY.—Among the articles already sent to the New York Exhibition, is an English article which has been in use a considerable time in England, and promises to be the long sought desideratum for health and economy, in the use of drain and water pipes, to supersede lead and iron, which are very objectionable from their corrosion. These pipes are from English potteries, made from "English vitrified iron stone." The interior is highly glazed, so as to resist acids, and the pieces well burnt and strong. They vary in size from two inches to twelve. One piece is about two feet in height, formed so as to make when united with others, a sewer shaped like an egg inverted—and thus shaped, that the water flowing in it might act readily and forcibly on floating substances.

A WONDERFUL WORK OF ART.—Probably the minutest piece of human work ever produced, has recently been exhibited in Boston and other places. It is an engraving on a surface of glass, as large and no larger in diameter than the hole made by a common pin, of the following inscription, "Lowell and Senter, watchmakers, 64 Exchange-street, Portland; written by Fromont, at Paris, 1852." The whole of these 75 letters and figures, among them ten capitals, under a microscope, appeared as large as an ordinary handwriting, freely and boldly written, the inscription not being cramped, while between the lines were spaces wide enough to admit the same letters again. To satisfy the incredulous, the glass was covered with a slip of paper, when nothing could be seen; but when it was punctured with a pin and the hole placed over the inscription, the whole could be easily read.

San Francisco accounts to 1st inst. state that the wreck of ship Carrier Pigeon had been driven higher up the beach. the sea was breaking over her, rendering it impossible to continue the work of saving cargo. The ship appeared to be breaking up, and would not probably hold together much longer. The wreck was to be sold at auction 1st inst.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—We learn from the Portland Advertiser that an employee on the Atlantic Railroad, named Davis, on Saturday jumped from an engine at full speed, and was instantly killed. The connecting rod, under the engine, broke, and was forced up through the fire box into the boiler, so as to let off the steam, when Davis and the fireman jumped off. The fireman received but little injury.—The engineer remained on the engine.

A HARD CASE.

The following facts are stated in a late paper by Rev. Henry Ward Beecher, who was formerly a pastor at Indianapolis, where the scene of action is laid,—and the facts may be fully relied upon.

About fifteen years ago there came to Indianapolis, Indiana, a colored man named John Freeman. He brought with him some few hundred dollars, a part of which he invested in real estate. He was a painter, whitewasher, and man of all work. He married a young woman who was a servant in our family. His deportment won for him general respect and confidence. He rapidly increased in property and is now worth about six thousand dollars, which, for that community, is a very handsome property. No man's word was better than Freeman's. He was honest, punctual and reliable. He became an active member of the colored Baptist Church, and conscientiously discharged his duties as a church member. He has a family of three children. On the 23d of June, a man named Pleasant Ellington, formerly from Kentucky, now of Missouri, who is, we understand, a Methodist preacher, appeared at Indianapolis, and arrested Freeman, upon the claim that he was his slave. Freeman claims that he is a FREE man, and shows many papers recognizing that fact. The Judge has granted nine weeks for Freeman to procure further evidence of his freedom.

When Freeman's arrest was known, the whole community was moved. One hundred men, of all parties, and of the first standing in the place, signed a bond for bail in the sum of sixteen hundred dollars. The amount in gold was brought into court, to be deposited for the preacher Ellington, in case Freeman proved a slave, should not appear, or for his freedom, in any event. The bail was refused. Rev. Mr. Ellington refused to agree to take any price, should he get possession of him, but is determined to take him to Missouri.

Under a pretence that he feared a rescue, the marshal was about to remove Freeman to Madison jail on the Ohio river; but has consented to leave him in the jail at Indianapolis, on condition that Freeman pays three dollars a day for a guard to watch over himself! We have some good but dull men in New York, who have denied that Christian men and families were subject to separation and sale, under the system of slavery. It is said that to represent such scenes as Uncle Tom's separation from his family and his wife, is a slander.

Yet here is a preacher of the gospel making a pilgrimage of more than half a thousand, miles, to find and arrest a member of a Christian church, in a free State, and drag him into slavery? He finds him settled down in a home which his own industry has secured, with a wife and three children—a useful and greatly respected citizen. One would think that a man with a particle of humanity, even if Freeman were his slave, upon seeing such a state of facts, would refuse to break up and desolate a family, and blight the prospects of a man and fellow christian. But he determines to make the mischief. Bonds and security were offered him, the most ample, for any price that he might demand, in case Freeman should be proved his slave. He refused everything—he demanded the man; and declared that he would remove him to a slave State and to slavery!

There seems a very wide difference in this narrative, between the gospel which the reverend Mr. Ellington preaches, and the law which he practices! Nothing short of the pound of flesh will satisfy him. Perhaps he will get it—but law is a very uncertain thing, and so perhaps he will not. The case will excite interest when it comes again before the judge.

HAIL STONES IN NEW JERSEY.

A hail storm of remarkable violence took place on Saturday, July 18, in the state of New Jersey, passing over portions of Frankfort, Lafayette, and Sparta townships.

The cloud passed from west to east, and for a distance of ten miles long by nearly two miles wide, the most disastrous and desolating effect marked its track. Property, crops, fruit, &c.' have been destroyed, scarcely less in value than $100,000, and possibly the damage sustained may greatly exceed this sum. Its effects may be judged when we say that the entire corn crops, oat crops, hay and potatoe fields, are completely destroyed, for the entire distance, embracing the finest farming regions in Sussex county, and many a farmer who but a few days since enjoyed the cheering prospect of teeming crops, in one short hour has seen his hopes blasted, his crops beaten into the earth, his cattle and horses maimed and wounded, and the most desolate ruin and devastation meeting his gaze on every hand. Many farmers have sustained damage exceeding $1000 in the loss of crops, besides damages sustained by buildings, fences, &c., and the inconvenience many will be put to in wintering their stocks, from the loss of fodder and provender.

The tempest throughout was most terrific, and accompanied with hail-stones and lumps of ice of enormous size, killing in many instances fowls and small animals instantly, and not only breaking the glass out of the windows, but literally cracking to pieces the slate covered roofs of barns and houses, and beating and crushing the growing crops into the ground as if they had been pounded down with a sledge hammer. Children returning from school were knocked down by the pieces of ice that were hurled against them, others were badly bruised and blackened, and the horses and cattle grazing in the fields were dreadfully bruised and lacerated.

A gent, not many days since, and not many miles from Gotham, returning from a ride, on arriving at the paternal mansion of his lady, gave and received a kiss of friendship, as he supposed; but alas! the sequel will show how much he was mistaken, for the door having been closed, he overheard the following conversation: "Why Lucy, ain't you ashamed to kiss a man out there all alone with him? When I was a girl, I would not have done it for the world." "No ma, I am not," answered Lucy; "for I only kissed him to smell his breath, to see if he hadn't been drinking."

LOCAL.

GEOLOGY OF THE SHOALS.—Dr. Boynton is to go out in the Grace Darling, to visit the Isles of Shoals to-morrow, make a brief geological survey of the Islands, and give a free lecture on their geology,—on the primises, as the auctioneers say. There will no doubt be a good company assembled, for an excursion combining so much instruction with such an amount of amusement and pleasure. See advertisement.

☞ We are informed that the decision of the Superior Court, in the case Portsmouth & Concord Railroad vs. William Jones, has been postponed until next January.

☞ We learn that Henry H. Fernald has been appointed Messenger at the Custom House, vice Hanson M. Hart, removed,—to take effect Aug. 1st.

ARRIVALS AT THE OCEAN HOUSE,

A RUNAWAY HORSE, with a gate fastened to his halter, entered Front street on Monday evening last, about nine o'clock, and occasioned quite a sensation among the usually tranquil promenaders of that avenue. After performing sundry evolutions and gyrations in which the gate took a prominent part, the horse came in contact with Miss Eliza Cutler, throwing her upon the ground with great violence. Miss Cutler was taken up insensible, and in that state was conveyed to her father's house on Water street, where a physician ascertained that one shoulder was dislocated and one rib fractured. She is now doing well.—Exeter News Letter.

SONNET.—TO DREAMS.

Mysterious visitants within the world of sleep,
Why leave your shadowy kingdom. wide and deep,
To wander o'er this real world of ours?
Strewing the path of night with thorns and flowers,
Ling'ring with pleading eyes about our bed,
Till, unresisting, we are captives led
On noiseless feet, to roam thy mystic land:
Beck'ning us up, as with a spectral hand,
Some dizzy height o'erlooking Time and Space,
And leaving us to fall all breathless at the base,
Unharmed;—then bearing us away
In dusky arms, where fairy fountains play,
And bubble up with rainbow tinted spray,
And birds, and flowers, and music fill the way.

Portsmouth, July 25, 1853. A. L.

The Albany Dutchman is surprised that people should spend hundreds of dollars annually in visiting sulphur springs in search of health. Why waste the contents of a pocket book on a jaunt to Sharon, when a beverage equally as pleasant as the one obtained there could be made by chopping up loco-foco matches, and mixing them with bilge water? For five dollars we will furnish a person with a receipt for making all the more celebrated waters of the country. For the sparkling offerings of the far-famed Congress springs, we offer a very cheap substitute—drink weak pork pickle out of an old boot.

THE SCHOOL MASTER OUT OF TOWN.—The following notice appears on a board in front of a building in New Bedford: "This hous for Sail!" The time of the house's sailing is not announced. Perhaps it has not yet been cleared. The school-master evidently stepped out about the time that notice was written.—Standard.

The total valuation of property at Portland, Me., is estimated at $17,656,612—an increase of $1,227,913 over last year. Since 1845 when the Atlantic and St. Lawrence railroad was first under discussion, the valuation of property has advanced $8,386,186.

At about 6 o'clock on Friday afternoon last, two brothers named Panton, manufacturers of patent leather, at Quincy, were badly burned in consequence of a kettle of pitch boiling over. One was so seriously injured that his recovery is doubtful.

Some sufferer from official neglect has placed a large stick, in an erect position, in a hole in Wall street, near Broadway, New York, with the following inscription:—"In memory of Thomas Purdy, Street Inspector.

His Holiness Pope Pius IX. has made a very precious present to the Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria. "It is the veritable tooth of the Apostle Peter, and is set in diamonds and rubies, as an object of veneration for the faithful to increase their piety."

REV. Mr. Leeds, of Utica, has accepted the invitation to become the Rector of St. Peter's Episcopal Church, in Salem.

The St. Augustine, (Fa.) Ancient City says beef is sold daily in that market, at three cents per pound, and four cents for choice pieces.

The steamer Oregon, which left San Francisco for Panama July 1st, took out $1,650,000 in gold dust.

AN OX THAT GIVES MILK.—Mr. James Thorn, of Clinton, has an ox that gives milk freely. He has a bag with four teats, each one of which yields milk like that of a cow. The bag is divided into four sections, but unlike the cow's it has no udder. Each quarter of the bag has a cavity which supplies its teat, independent of the others. When milked out, it is readily supplied again, like that of the cow. Our informant states that the animal, a fine one, is worked every day on the farm of Mr. T.—Poughkeepsie American.

LATEST NEWS!

BY MAIL, EXPRESS & TELEGRAPH.

NAVAL.—The Steam Frigate Princeton, Capt. Engle, bearing the broad pennant of Com. Shubrick, commanding the Eastern Squadron for the protection of our fishermen, arrived in our harbor at 1 o'clock on Monday. The steamer Fulton, Capt. Watson, arrived a few hours earlier. The Decatur, we understand, has been despatched to the fishing grounds.—Portland Advertiser.

PHILADELPHIA, July 25.—This afternoon Marshal Wynkoop made a proper return to the habeas corpus issued by the Criminal Court, by producing the body of the fugitive. The Marshal was then released and the fugitive committed to prison to answer the charge pending in the State Court, and also to await the claim of the Marshal.

TROUBLE AT SING SING PRISON.

Considerable excitement has existed with regard to certain charges alleged against Mrs. A. M. Dodge, the Matron of the Female Prison, by Dr. F. Hasbrouck, its physician. The matron was charged with "cruelty, inhumanity, and malevolence to the prisoners, and starving them to such a degree as to cause them to attempt suicide with a view to escape from her cruelties." She indignantly denied these charges, and demanded an investigation before the Inspectors; and at the same time preferred charges against the doctor affecting his official conduct at the dead room.

The doctor, before the conclusion of the investigation against the matron, abandoned his charges, and she was reinstated as matron by the board.

She had been suspended six days previous to its meeting by Gen. Storms.

During the investigation against the doctor, the proofs became so plenty and convincing, that he was advised to abandon his defence and resign, which he accordingly did.

Such has been the result of false accusations against a female in an official capacity. Let all others heed the lesson furnished by this case, and know well their proofs before they venture the dangerous experiment of attacking innocence in the form of woman.

FIRE IN CINCINNATI.

On the 21st of July at Cincinnati, a whole square of mechanics' shops and negro houses were burned by an accidental fire, kindled in the day time.

It began about 11 o'clock in Thomas & Co.'s finishing and machine shop, situated in the centre of the block between Broadway and the Miama canal and Seventh and Eighth streets. It originated from a pile of shavings near the furnace taking fire, and before the workmen in the shop could subdue it, the whole building was enveloped in flames.—Such was the combustible character of the building, that it was all in flames before the fire apparatus got to work, or even the alarm was raised.

The shops were coopers', machine, tool, wheelbarrow and joiner's shops. Most of the dwelling houses were occupied by colored families, who lost about half their furniture, and also considerable clothing belonging to young men for whom they washed. The total loss is estimated at about $50,000, including furniture, stock, &c. Thieves were busy.

The easterly wind which was blowing, carried pieces of burning wood in great quantities for squares, and the roofs of a number of houses took fire, but were put out by a few buckets of water.

The property on the squares opposite took fire several times, so intense was the heat, and narrowly escaped being destroyed.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE AT ALBANY.—Yesterday afternoon Mrs. Elizabeth Cowell, apparently about forty years of age, attempted to commit suicide by jumping off the dock into the river near the Bath ferry landing.—She was rescued by a hand on board the ferry boat, who leaped into the river and kept her up until a boat was brought to his assistance.—When she was placed on terra firma, she regretted that her life had been saved—said she was tired of life. She was then taken to the police office, where was elicted from her the following:

She says that her name is Elizabeth Cowell, and that she formerly resided in Cincinnati; was married, but had not for some time resided with her husband, and that for some time previous to her coming here she was engaged in the dress-making buisness. Her object in coming hither was to find her two sons, who reside in this part of the State. In mind she is evidently deranged. For a week or two she has been boarding in a private family in Broadway.

A week ago last Sunday evening we met her at the Second district station house, very much dejected in spirits, and apparently laboring under the effects of some stimulant. She then stated she came up in the boat that morning from New York, in company with some friends; that she was taken to a hotel by a hack driver; that she remained there all day; that just before tea time she left it for the purpose of putting a letter into the post office; that she could not tell the name of the house or in what part of the city it was located; that she was anxious to find it because she had left a carpet bag there in which there was some jewelry, money and clothing. Previous to leaving the house, however, she got a teacup for the purpose of getting some medicines. Captain McDuffie directed two of the policemen to accompany her to the various hotels in the vicinity of the post-office—but without success.

The officers then took the cup to others that had not previously been visited, for the purpose, if possible, of getting her bag, but this also proved unsuccessful. She was finally taken to Stanwix Hall, and the next day one of the police officers met her in the street with the carpet bag in hand. From that period up to the present she has been in this city, but has kept secluded. She was on Sunday very anxious to go to Schenectady for the purpose of meeting her friends, but from her own statement made yesterday she did not go. She is neatly clad, and has evidently been in good circumstances.—Albany Journal, July 22.

MARRIAGE.

Happiness and Competence,

WHY IS IT?

That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life at an age when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant.

Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during girlhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.

IN AFTER YEARS,

When too late to be benefitted by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the full consequences of our ignorance.

What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years! And what days and nights of anguish we might not have been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed. It is

MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING

To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for many years, from causes simple and controllable, easily remedied—or better still,—not incurred, if every

WIFE AND MOTHER

Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself

YEARS OF MISERY,

And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily devolving upon him from sickness of the wife, without giving him the opportunity of acquiring that competence which his exertions are entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.

SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS

By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands.

In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is excusable if she neglect to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—healthy bodies, with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work entitled

SURPRIZING OR WONDERFUL,

Considering that EVERY FEMALE, WHETHER MARRIED OR NOT, can here acquire a full knowledge of the nature, character and cause of her complaints, with the various symptoms, and that nearly

should have been sold.

It is impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, as they are of a nature strictly intended for the married, or those contemplating marriages, but no female should fail of enjoying health, and that peace consequent upon health, which is so conducive to her own happiness, and that of her husband, but either has or will obtain it, as has or will every husband who has the love and affection of his wife at heart, or that of his own pecuniary improvement.

BE NOT DEFRAUDED!

Buy no book unless "Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, 129 Liberty Street, N. Mauriceau, as there are spurious and surreptitious infringements of copy-right.

LET EVERY WIFE AND HUSBAND PONDER!

No excuse for Ignorance, when Ignorance is Misery to those we hold most dear, and when to dispel our Ignorance is within our reach.

PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S
Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.
FOR beautifying, curling, preserving, restoring and strengthening the Hair, relieving diseases of the Skin, curing Rheumatic Pains and healing external wounds. Bounded by no geographical limit, the reputation of Barry's Tricopherous pervades the Universe. The sales of the article of late years have increased in a ratio that almost exceeds belief. Prof. Barry, after a careful examination of his sales book, finds that the number of bottles delivered to order, in quantities of from half a gross upward, during the year 1852, was within a trifle of 950,000.

It is unnecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself.—The effects of the fluid exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind. The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.

Depot 8 manufactory, No. 137 Broadway, New York. Retail price 25 cents a large bottle.

Liberal discount to purchasers by the quantity, and by all the principal Merchants and Druggists throughout the United States, and Canada, Mexico, West Indies, Great Britain, France, &c., and by Weeks & Potter, Brewers, Stevens & Cushing, and Wm. Brown, Boston. d&w6m je22*

A JAIL IN INDIA.—Bayard Taylor—the admirable editorial correspondent of the New York Tribune, visited the Agra Jail Northern India, and, among other things, gives this account of the "exercises:"

Here were hundreds of men seated at their looms, weaving carpets, singing the multiplication table in thundering chorus. "Twelve times twelve," sang the monitor, in a shrill solo; "One hundred and forty-four!" burst out the chorus, in all sorts of voices. We went into the blacksmiths' shops, where the prisoners, by a refinement of punishment, were made to forge their own fetters, themselves fettered. "Seven times sixteen," "One hundred and twelve," was spared in answer, drowning the clang and bang of the iron. In the women's department there was a shrill tempest of vulgar fractions; the cooks recited astronomical facts while mixing their rice. Even the hardest cases confined in solitary cells were going through their "a-b abs," through a hole in the door, to a monitor standing outside.

A New, Delicious Temperance Beverage.
AMBROSIAL MEAD!

THIS excellent Compound is prepared from the best SPANISH SARSAPARILLA, without its dark, repulsive appearance, being beautifully transparent and entirely free from all impurities. Its qualities as a beverage, a single trial will give it a pre-eminence over all other preparations by its freedom from noxious ingredients, agreeableness of flavor, and its exceeding cheapness, one bottle being sufficient to make thirty glasses of the beverage.

CAUTION!—The proprietors of this excellent preparation have spared no expense to bring it to perfection, and would caution purchasers to buy none without the fac simile of Wilson, Fairbank & Co. on every bottle.

AGENCY FOR BUSINESS
With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,
No. 22 State Street, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries: besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

DR. CONINE'S
SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.
The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER.

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom
AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

READ! READ! READ!
DR. HAMPTON'S VEGETABLE TINCTURE!

The Great Restorative and Invigorator of the System.

THIS article, which has made so many wonderful cures, was discovered by DR. JESSE HAMPTON, of Louisville, Ky., now in fine health in the 79th year of his age, and is acknowledged by those who have used it to be the BEST family medicine in use, and is WARRANTED FREE FROM ALL MINERAL SUBSTANCES. By its mild action on the STOMACH, LIVER and KIDNEYS, it will cure the diseases of those organs, with all chronic complaints, as

Dyspepsy, Cough, Asthma, Bronchial & Lung Affections, Pains in the Back, Side and Breast, Consumption, Scrofula, Fits, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Fistula, Fits, Bowel Complaint, Worms, Nervous Debility,

With all Diseases arising from Impure Blood.

As a FEMALE MEDICINE it has no equal! It will change the Complexion from a pallid to a blooming one.

Wherever introduced its success is unbounded. It has certificates from Hon. Henry Clay, Hon. R. M. Johnson, Vice President of the United States; Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore; the Spanish Consul; Judge Davis; Lund Washington; from a Chaplain of the U. S. Navy; from the State Department, Washington; from the brother of the Physician to the Emperor of France, who was cured by it after all other remedies had failed; and from hundreds of others, making up an amount of Testimony never before given to any other discovery of Medicine. A trial of it will convince the most skeptical.

We invite the public to call and get Pamphlets and see certificates of Cures. Read the following certificates of undoubted testimony:

From Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore.

I also cheerfully testify to the high standing of the house of Messrs Mortimer & Mowbray, who, for the past twenty years, have enjoyed the entire confidence and esteem both of our merchants and citizens generally.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., May, 1853.

This is to certify that I consider Devines' Compound Pitch Lozenges a valuable article for what they are designed—the best remedy before the public. My son had a very severe cough, which threatened speedily to carry him off; and nothing seemed to give relief, until I tried these Lozenges, —which produced signs of relief in a few hours, and after the taking of a few boxes, wholly removed his cough. PORTSMOUTH:
THURSDAY, JULY 28, 1853.

USEFUL MEN.

Every man may be useful, and will be so, when he finds his place. We have rarely felt this truth more sensibly, than in half an hour's talk with our old friend John Ball, formerly a well known trader in this place, but now the much more widely known Minister-at-large of Salem. He is now here, paying a short visit to his native city and his aged mother, for the first time since his accidental fall of last winter, from the lameness occasioned by which, he is gradually recovering.

The accident occurred in his school room, and being a fracture of the hip, was extremely painful for half an hour, by the end of which time he was comfortably in bed with his limb set, and since that time has not had an hour's pain in it, which happy circumstance he attributes, under a good Providence, to an improved modern surgery. To this we add, his cheerful patience, grand constitution fortified by thorough temperance, and constant employment. The latter help, constant employment, may be better understood, when we say, that his various and complex operations, as minister-at-large, never stopped for a moment. His school for the evening had just been dismissed, when his fall occurred. That night his plans were formed; and in the morning a well tried teacher was sent for and engaged to take the lead of the school, which went on as if nothing had happened. The same gentleman kept open Mr. Ball's office half of each day, and received applications for aid to the poor, applications of children to get places, and of farmers, mechanics and householders to obtain children and youth of both sexes, for apprentices and laborers. Many of these cases, and all of the hard cases, were referred to Mr. Ball's bedside, which, for ninety days, was his tribunal, whence he dispensed justice and mercy, advice, encouragement and reproof, according to his best discretion. A member of his family kept an account of something more than two thousand callers at his house and chamber during this period; and these of all sorts, from the donor to the beggar, from the christian to the thief, from the clergyman (every one in the city) to the ignoramus unable to read or write.

During all this time Mr. Ball wrote his own letters, examined and attended to his correspondence, and as before stated, kept all his machinery in active motion, exactly as if abroad and in health, lacking only his visits to families.

At its close, he offered compensation for some services performed during this period, and after much urging, his friend accepted fifty dollars. Within an hour after this occurrence, a little sealed packet came into his chamber, containing $154, collected by subscription among the "solid" people, for the payment of his extra expenses.

To mention no more circumstances, the general remark may be truly made, that Mr. Ball's useful ministry can hardly be said to have been interrupted or suspended by his lameness; but only changed a little as to its mode of operation—while his experience of affliction and mercy conjoined, must make his unfaltering trust in Divine Providence stronger than ever; and render him a wiser and more skilful counsellor and guardian of the poor and ignorant and vicious. May his life and usefulness be long protracted; and may every other man among us fall into his proper place, as accurately and certainly as Mr. Ball has settled into his.

All men are not fit for his place, but every man is fitted for some useful, beneficial avocation; and if any one has a mind to work, little obstacles cannot prevent him nor defeat his purpose.

TAKING TIME BY THE FORETOP.—Gov. Martin has appointed Thursday, the 24th of November next, as a day of Thanksgiving.—The N. H. Patriot gives the following reason for it.

"As the Governor and Council were not to have another meeting in season to appoint a day for Thanksgiving, they designated the day at their late session, viz: Thursday the 14th day of November."

We always thought the special appointment of Thanksgiving Day, by Proclamation of the Civil Authority, purported to have some reference to the condition of the state or people, of the abundant or scanty harvests, &c. But fashions change, and now we make the appointment at midsummer, and get up the proclamation at leisure.

☞ In the Massachusetts Convention, on Tuesday, resolves were passed—limiting to ten years the tenure of judicial commissions issued after August 10, 1853; on the subject of election of Justices of the Peace; and abolishing imprisonment for debt.

When religion is made science there is nothing more intricate; when made a duty nothing is more easy.

WASHING AND SEWING.

These are great accomplishments! Let no noses be turned up at the use of this term; for unless somebody know how to wash and sew, the fairest lady in the land or the world, must go dirty and ragged. Don't sneer at so homely a thought; for it is as true as it is homely.

In last year's report of the Salem City Mission, the missionary says,

Numbers have applied to me to obtain situations in families, who, unfortunately, have not received that education, which is so essential to make them useful in a family. I can do nothing for them, but if those to whom they apply, would adopt the following course towards them, pursued by a lady in a neighboring city, they might really benefit them.—An applicant for work is questioned by her, "Can she wash?" "Oh, Yes!" is the unversal reply. She is immediately put to work, but soon displays her ignorance of one of the most essential qualifications for a place. The lady then instructs her, and when she understands to wash well, she goes through the same process in ironing, next in cooking, in sewing, in mending garments, and finally she is taught to cut articles of clothing. In this manner the lady has trained a number of applicants, and whenever an opportunity occurs she recommends them to her friends for employment.

It is surprising to find so much ignorance in the art of sewing as prevails. Many mothers can neither sew, mend, or cut a garment, and too many little village girls are growing up without any knowledge of the use of the needle, upon which so much of their future life may depend. Sewing ought to rank as a branch of education for girls, as high as reading or writing.

We can see no reason why plain sewing ought not to be a branch of education in our primary and second schools for girls. It need not add one dollar to their cost; it would require no outlay for books; and would be an agreeable change for the little girls, intermixed with their studies.

Mr. Ball's suggestion, in the latter paragraph above cited, is the result of much observation, and agrees with our own recollection of the old private schools, where every little girl was taught to sew.

SEWING IN SCHOOLS.—Several benevolent ladies in Salem, have volunteered to teach sewing to the children of the primary schools of that city, and it has been introduced under their superintendence. This is an improvement. It is as needful that they should learn to sew as to read; and they may learn before they are old enough to understand what they read.

A PARDONED CONVICT.

The Boston Herald, on the authority of the Wardens of the State Prison at Charlestown, gives the following almost incredible account of the Convict Life of Henry Wood.

In 1810 he was found guilty of burglary, and sentenced to the Charlestown prison for life. In one year he was pardoned, and again went to work, but was unlucky enough in 1812 to be pulled again, when he was found guilty of theft, and sentenced to seven years and six months to the same prison; after serving six months he was again pardoned. In 1818 he was again convicted of stealing, and sentenced to three years in the State Prison, which he served out. In 1818 he had the misfortune to be again convicted for theft, and sentenced to three years, which also, he served out; then he received an additional sentence of imprisonment for life, and after serving three years was again pardoned. In 1825 he was again brought before a court, found guilty of larceny, and sentenced to seven years imprisonment. He served it out, and then received an additional sentence for life, but after serving six years was again pardoned.

In 1840, he was found guilty of rape, and sentenced to ten years which he served out, and then for the fourth time time received a sentence of imprisonment in the Charlestown Prison for life. After serving six years, he was again pardoned, and he is now, after thirty four years of imprisonment, as good at entering a house or picking a pocket, as the youngest and most adroit of his profession.

The story is told as an argument against too much pardon in it—and especially with the design of recommending a public notice of intended pardons, with liberty for persons to appear and show cause why pardon should be granted. If any notice had been given of the intention to pardon Comings, in New Hampshire, there would have been a long string of remonstrants against the measure.

COMINGS'S PARDON.

There appears to be no good and sufficient ground for this act. The N. H. Patriot states that the Council, (last year) on the 1st day of June, advised his pardon, which the Governor granted, to take effect on the 1st of July, when he left the prison.

The record does not state the grounds upon which this pardon was granted. The petitioners asked it on the grounds that Comings was not guilty, that he had behaved well in Prison, and given evidence of reform, &c. &c.; but we learn that they did not pretend to have any material evidence in regad to his guilt which was not presented on the trial; and therefore the Council decided that they could not consider that question. Of course then he must have been pardoned on the ground of good behaviour and reform.

We are informed that pardons are now invariably granted to take effect at a future day, as in this case.

LOCAL.

DANCING.—Mr. Lamprey exhibited a full school of juvenile proficients in the "poetry of motion," at Congress Hall on Tuesday evening, to a large and brilliant company of parents and friends. The music was furnished by Haines & Lamprey's Quadrille band, and was so good that the children of a larger growth were very desirous to "come up to its time" a little—which they were allowed to do after the youngsters retired. The whole performances were gratifying to the spectators, and must have given much encouragement to the teacher. The Highland Fling, by four little girls, (Misses Lowd, Hills and Adams,) was admirably performed—and was encored to a repetition. Mr. L. is a competent and faithful teacher, and of course successful and popular. His next term begins in September.

☞ We are authorized to contradict the statement published yesterday, that the Collector of this port had appointed H. H. Fernald, Messenger of the Custom House, vice H. M. Hart removed. No such appointment or removal has been made.

☞ The excursion to the Shoals, in connexion with Dr. Boynton's Geological visit, is postponed from this day to Friday.

MATTERS IN AND ABOUT PORTSMOUTH.

Correspondence of the Boston Transcript.

PORTSMOUTH, July 25th, 1853.

Com. Shubrick left this port yesterday, in the Princeton, for his destination at the Fishing Grounds. He has been stopping for a week past at the Rockingham House, in this city. It is the opinion of those here who are best informed on the subject, that there is not only the best understanding but the best feeling existing between the governments of the United States and England, in regard to this Fishery difficulty. The trouble lies more between England and her belligerent Colony, than between the national governments. When the local discontents are satisfied, all other difficulties will vanish.

These sentiments I have obtained from men in whose opinions I am sure you would place confidence. Com. Shubrick is a man as remarkable for his modesty as for dignity and bravery. No one who has seen him can question the sterling qualities of his nature. In the outline, form and expression of his face, he resembles (below the eyes) Daniel Webster more than any man I ever knew. But he lacks Mr. Webster's deep-set eyes, jutting eyebrows, and massive brain.

At Rye Beach, yesterday, a large company assembled in the parlor of the Beach House, and listened to an eloquent discourse from Rev. Dr. Waterbury, of your city. It was one of the ablest and most finished sermons it has ever been my good fortune to hear. Last Sabbath, Rev. Mr. Hayward (Unitarian) from Kentucky, preached at the same place.

I learn with pleasure that in Portsmouth, sectarianism, technically, is less violent than formerly, and quite a liberal feeling exists between all religious denominations. Recently, when the Unitarian church was closed, the Baptist minister invited Rev. Dr. Peabody to occupy his pulpit half the time, and preach to his (the Baptist) congregation. The Unitarian congregation also attended. This was a very pleasing picture to those whose charity is so far developed as to judge men to be Christians who walk and talk and act like Christians.

Portsmouth is a very old town, so old that no one remembers when it was new. It has become fossilized, and as Dr. Boynton would say, belongs to the Pre-Adamite world. But good laws, good morals, and good order predominate, and a week or two can be agreeably spent here in visiting the famous and attractive places of interest. Yours, G. Q. C.

For the Chronicle.

TO A. L.

Thy poetry hath not the roughness of the sea,
Rather the music of a talking brook
Rippling along in some sequestered nook,'
Trembling at its own voice, modestly.

It never whistles as the fretful wind,
But whispers softly, like an angel sighing,
Or as the cadence of an echo, dying
On some far hill-top, lingering still behind.

It does not dazzle as Aurora's beams—
It has the sweet, the soul-entrancing charms,
Of daylight sinking in Diana's arms,
When twilight blends the mountains with the streams.

It throws a calm like evening o'er our sin,
Hushing the passions into thoughtful rest,
Making a dream land of the pensive breast,
Creating flowers, fountains, rainbows—Heaven within.

When the fleet sky-lark soars above the storm,
Its clear melodious note still rings;
We hear—but cannot mark its wings—
A still small voice, as if it lacked a form.

But thou, A. L., art master of the art
Of singing with that rare, divinest skill,
That though thy song be soaring as thy will,
Who hears the strain must see the poet's heart.

July 27, 1853.

COLLECTOR OF THE PORT OF NEWBURYPORT.—James Blood, Esq., of Newburyport, received an appointment as Collector of Customs for that revenue district. The Union says Mr. Blood is a "hard shell," but the appointment will generally be acceptable to the Democratic party and the people. Mr. Blood may technically be a hunker, but his active nature places him wide apart from old fogyism.

MELANCTHON AND HIS FAMILY.—Melancthon is reported to have frequently studied the grave points of theology, with his book in one hand, and in the other the edge of a cradle which he incessantly rocked; and "M. Esprit, a celebrated author, has been caught by me," says M. Marville, "reading Plato with great attention, considering the interruption which he met with from the necessity of sounding his little child's penny whistle."

REMOVAL.
DR. TURNBULL, Oculist and Aurist, from London, has removed from N. Y. Hotel, to WINTHROP HOUSE, BOSTON. Office hours from 8 to 2.

From the London Times.

A number of scientific gentlemen assembled yesterday at the house of Dr. Turnbull, in Russell square, to witness the results produced by a process recently discovered by the Doctor, and applied for the cure of deafness and blindness.

Between twenty and thirty patients attended, many of whom, it was stated by their parents, had been born deaf and dumb. They were submitted to various tests, by which it was proved that their deafness had been cured by the application of Dr. Turnbull's remedies, and what appears most singular is, that whether the disease depended on paralysis of the auditory nerve, rupture of the tympanum, or obstruction of the internal passages, relief has been obtained, or complete cure effected without pain or inconvenience. Several patients, who represented that they had been completely blind, said that they could now see perfectly well. ju28 2w

BY MAIL, EXPRESS & TELEGRAPH.

LATER FROM MEXICO.—We have dates from Mexico to the 16th. The papers are filled with discussions on the Spanish Protectorate favored by the government. The Jesuits have been invited to return to Mexico. It is reported that Santa Anna is preparing to unite Church and State.

Count Raouset de Bolbo had arrived in Mexico, and had visited the President.

The diligence between Vera Cruz and Mexico had been robbed; one passenger was killed. Fifteen robbers were arrested.

A dreadful inundation had been experienced at Jalasco. The town of Huajacar had been destroyed, and many lives were lost.

A terible cloud of locusts were ravaging southern Mexico, for a distance of 400 miles, destroying the indigo and corn crops.

The French paper Trait d'Union, had been forbidden to write comments on the government.

The cholera was still raging at Vera Cruz.

SHIP ON FIRE.—Charlestown, July 26.—The ship Galena, of New York, from New Orleans, bound to Havre, put in here to-day, on fire, having been struck by lightning on Saturday last, near Abaco. She has a cargo of 2100 bales of cotton. The firemen are at work upon her, but it is feared they will find a difficulty in extinguishing the fire. Forty passengers, and some specie, were taken off the Galena, near Abaco, by the Danish brig Margareta, bound from Havana, to Copenhagen, which vessel also put in here to day to land the passengers.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE.—The extensive car manufactory, foundry, machine shop, &c., of Horace H. Woodruff, at Watertown, N. Y., were burned on Saturday night, destroying property to the amount of $100,000, on which there was an insurance of $20,400, and throwing some 70 or 80 hands out of employment. A number of cars completed, and others partially so, were among the property destoyed.

FOR THE FISHING GROUNDS.—Norfolk, July 25.—The frigate Savannah has been ordered to the fishing grounds.

BANK ROBBED.—New York, July 26.—The Merchants' and Traders' bank, of Jersey city, was robbed last night of $9000, in bills and specie.

THE FUGITIVE SLAVE CASE.—Philadelphia, July 26.—The writ of habeas corpus, in the fugitive slave case, was dismissed. The prisoner was remanded to the custody of the marshal, and was taken back to Maryland. The friends of the fugitive have started in pursuit.

INDIGNATION MEETING.—Baltimore, 26th.—An indignation meeting was called in Monument Square, in consequence of the conduct of the authorities, in preventing a blind preacher, named Mitchell, from preaching in the Market House. Great excitement prevails.

The yellow fever prevails badly in New Orleans, mostly at the hospitals. There have been from 30 to 40 deaths per day.

As Herr Alexander was performing his magic pistol trick, at Clinton, Ill., a few days since, the pistol proved to be loaded with balls, which were lodged in the side of a young man named George Smith, inflicting a wound which will probably cause his death.

A DISTINGUISHED STRANGER.—Schooner Susan Kelley, at this port from the Coast of Africa, has on board a male Chimpanzee, about two years old in good health and very intelligent.—Salem Register.

A mass of pure copper, 42 feet long, 20 feet high, and 2 feet thick, and weighing over 150 tons, was thrown out of the North American (Lake Superior) Mine on the 8th inst.

The steamer Eastern City, in coming out of Eastport on Monday, came in contact with a brig and was obliged to return for repairs. Would leave again about noon on Tuesday.

THE Syracuse (N. Y.) Star learns that the Supreme Court of that State, at its sitting held a week or two since, pronounced a decision distinctly affirming the Constitutionality of the Fugitive Slave Law of 1850.

A letter from Inagua, Bahama Islands, dated July 8, says: "Our salt prospects are now looking very promising, and should our present beautiful weather continue for the season, we may rake two millions of bushels. We anticipate good prices, as we notice it is high in some markets, and all the windward islands have suffered severly from heavy rains."

THE dead body of a soldier was found a few days ago in the hold of the ship Columbia, at New York, while the laborers were engaged in discharging cargo. He is supposed to have deserted from the English army at Liverpool, and hid himself in the hold to escape to America, but he was suffocated or starved to death, in consequence of some of the cargo having been placed about him so as to prevent his extricating himself.

We made a mistake in alluding to the divorce of John Tyler Jr., and calling his wife "the former Miss Gardner." This latter lady, somewhat widely known for her beauty and vivacity, is the wife of John the Senior, of veto memory. The Jr. tried hard enough, if we are not mistaken, and had the advantage of being first in the lists; but his respected parent carried too many guns, and he was forced to take up with a less attractive wife, while his father captured the coveted prize on the shore of Long Island, and made off with her under flying colors, to Virginia. It is bad enough for the young man to be cut out of his first choice and then be obliged to divorce himself from his second, without being charged with quarrelling with the woman he wanted but couldn't get.—Hartford Times.

Be vigilant. The strife with evil never ceases. We are afloat in a leaky ship, and must keep pumping to keep from going down.

PORTSMOUTH TO THE SHOALS.
SUMMER ARRANGEMENT.
Steamer Grace Darling,
CAPT. SAMUEL BILLINGS.

THE superior steamer Grace Darling, Capt. Billings, will leave Sheafe's Wharf, daily, (until further notice) at 10 o'clock, or on the arrival of the first morning trains on the Portsmouth & Concord and Eastern Railroads—and return from the Shoals in season to take the last trains for Concord, Boston and intermediate places.

This arrangement affords a fine opportunity for persons from abroad to visit one of the most desirable Summer resorts for the Invalid, and all others who are fond of Fishing, Bathing, and other amusements conducive to health and pleasure. The Islands (eight in number) are about an hour's sail from Portsmouth, by Steamer, where all the advantages from a sea-voyage can be secured, subject to none of its perils. The temperature is never more than 80 degrees in the shade, and seldom varies more than 10 degrees in 24 hours.

Hon. Thomas B. Laighton's Hotel on Appledore Island, designed and kept particularly for the Invalid, and also for the pleasure seeker, is one of the first class, where every convenience, both for luxury and comfort can be found.

The passage out is truly delightful—the scenery unsurpassed. As you pass down the river, view after view presents itself:—The Navy Yard, Dry Dock, Forts Washington, Sullivan, McCleary and Constitution; the settlements of Kittery Point, New Castle, Rye, and many Islands and Beaches along shore, present attractions that are beautiful to behold, and render the trip one of the most beautiful and pleasing nature.

PASSAGE ON BOARD STEAMER, 50 CTS.
Tickets may be obtained on board, or at the Ticket Office of the Portsmouth & Concord Railroad.

Parties from the neighboring towns can be accommodated on reasonable terms, by application to Capt. Billings on board, or to

CAUSING it to grow luxuriantly, and giving it a soft and curling appearance, of the most delightful character. The KATHAIRON neutralises the effects of disease, climate, and old age, in preserving and restoring the Human Hair, even after a Baldness of many years,—cleanses the scalp from Dandruff, and its natural impurities,—immediately relieves sympathetic attacks of Nervous Headache, and cures all cutaneous diseases of the skin, such as Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Itch, &c.

AS A TOILET ARTICLE,
For giving the Hair a rich, soft, glossy and curling appearance, nothing has been discovered to compare with its incontested—its incontestible virtues. COCOA and Shells of the best quality, for sal by R. K. OXFORD.

MARRIAGE.

Happiness and Competence.

WHY IS IT?

That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life as we see when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant.

Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during girlhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.

IN AFTER YEARS,

When too late to be benefitted by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the fall consequences of our ignorance.

What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years? And what days and nights of anguish we might have, had it been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed. It is

MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING

To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for many years, from causes simple and controllable, easily remedied—or better still,—not incurred, if every

WIFE AND MOTHER

Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself

YEARS OF MISERY,

And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily devolving upon him from sickness of the wife, without giving him the opportunity of acquiring that competence which his exertions are entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.

SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS

By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands.

Many of such consequences, no wife or mother is excusable if she neglect to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and comfort upon her children that blessing above all price—healthy bodies, with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work entitled

Private Medical Companion.

BY DR. A. M. MAURICEAU,
PROFESSOR OF DISEASES OF WOMEN.

One Hundreth Edition. 18mo., pp. 250. Price 50 Cents.
[ON FINE PAPER, EXTRA BINDING, $1 00.]

First published in 1847, and it is not

SURPRIZING OR WONDERFUL,

Considering that EVERY FEMALE, WHETHER MARRIED OR NOT, can here acquire a full knowledge of the nature, character and causes of her complaints, with the various symptoms, and that nearly

should have been sold.

It is impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, as they are of a nature strictly intended for the married, or those contemplating marriage, but no female desirous of enjoying health, and that beauty, consequent upon health, which is so conducive to her own happiness, and that of her husband, but either has or will obtain it, as has or will every husband who has the love and affection of his wife at heart, or that of his own pecuniary improvement.

UPWARDS OF ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND COPIES

Have been SENT BY MAIL within the last few months.

CAUTION TO THE PUBLIC.

BE NOT DEFRAUDED!

Buy no book unless "Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, 129 Liberty Street, N. Y." is on the title page, and the entry in the Clerk's Office on the back of the title-page; and buy only of respectable and honorable dealers, or send by mail, and address to Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, as there are spurious and surreptitious infringements of copy-right.

LET EVERY WIFE AND HUSBAND PONDER!

No excuse for Ignorance, when Ignorance is Misery to those we hold near and dear, and when to dispel our Ignorance is within our reach.

To enable every one to decide upon the indispensable necessity of possessing a copy, and that no wife, or mother need remain uninformed upon the many causes, which, sooner or later, are destined to make fearful ravages upon her health, unless guarded against, and that no considerate and affectionate husband have cause to upbraid himself with neglect of the welfare of his wife—a pamphlet of thirty-six pages, containing full Title-page and Index of Contents, together with extracts from the book, will be sent free of charge to any part of the United States, by addressing, post-paid, as herein.

When Knowledge is Happiness, 'tis culpable to be Ignorant.

PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S
Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.

FOR beautifying, curling, preserving, restoring and strengthening the Hair, relieving diseases of the Skin, curing Rheumatic Pains and healing external wounds. Bounded by no geographical lines, the reputation of Barry's Tricopherous pervades the Union. The sales of the article of late years have increased in a ratio that almost exceeds belief. Prof. Barry, after a careful examination of his sales book, finds that the number of bottles delivered to order, in quantities of from half a gross upward, during the year 1852, was within a trifle of 950,000.

It is unnecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself.—The effects of the fluid exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.

Depot at manufactory, No. 137 Broadway, New York. Retail price 25 cents a large bottle.

Liberal discount to purchasers by the quantity, and by the principal Merchants and Druggists throughout the United States, and Canada, Mexico, Western Indies, Great Britain, France, &c., and by Weeks & Potter, Brewers, Stevens & Cushing, and Wm. Brown, Boston. d&w6m je22*

POTASH of the best quality at 52 Market st.
d28 TILTON & BLAISDELL.

THE MEAGHER BANQUET.—The third of August next, old Faneuil Hall, Boston, will behold one of the most dazzling sights, which for a long time has been witnessed within its time-honored walls. Generals, Captains, &c., in their rich military uniforms; ladies with their beaming eyes and rosy cheeks; civilians decked out in their best; the beautiful decorations of the Hall; the charming music; all will conspire to give a scene of the most pleasing and brilliant description. Then then the eloquence—Choate and Meagher, Everett and Giles, Shields and Summer, Doheny and Banks, with a host of others, promise one of the richest intellectual feasts for a long time enjoyed. Mr. Meagher, one of the wealthiest merchants in Ireland, who is also M. P. for the city of Waterford, the father of the young Irish orator, will be present, and the patriot will be accompanied by his young and lovely wife.—We are sure the ladies will give her a reception worthy of her.—Boston Herald.

DR. CONINE'S
SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.

The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER.

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom
AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

DR. HAMPTON'S VEGETABLE TINCTURE!

The Great Restorative and Invigorator of the System.

THIS article, which has made so many wonderful cures, was discovered by DR. JESSE HAMPTON, of Louisville, Ky., now in fine health in the 79th year of his age, and is acknowledged by those who have used it to be the BEST family medicine in use, and is WARRANTED FREE FROM ALL MINERAL SUBSTANCES. By its mild action on the STOMACH, LIVER and KIDNEYS, it will cure the diseases of those organs, with all chronic complaints, as

Dyspepsy, Cough, Asthma, Bronchial & Lung Affections, Pains in the Back, Side and Breast, Consumption, Scrofula, Fits, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Fistula, Fits, Bowel Complaint, Worms, Nervous Debility,

With all Diseases arising from Impure Blood.

As a FEMALE MEDICINE it has no equal! It will change the Complexion from a pallid to a blooming one.

Wherever introduced its success is unbounded. It has certificates from Hon. Henry Clay, Hon. R. M. Johnson, Vice President of the United States; Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore; the Spanish Consul; Judge Davis; Lund Washington; from a Chaplain of the U. S. Navy; from the State Department, Washington; from the brother of the Physician to the Emperor of France, who was cured by it after all other remedies had failed; and from hundreds of others, making up an amount of Testimony never before given to any other discovery of Medicine. A trial of it will convince the most skeptical.

We invite the public to call and get Pamphlets and see certificates of Cures. Read the following certificates of undoubted testimony:

From Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore.

MAYOR'S OFFICE, Baltimore, Aug. 23, 1852.

I take great pleasure in stating, that I have examined the names of those who have signed certificates respecting Hampton's Vegetable Tincture, and among them I recognize gentlemen of the first respectability, viz: Jos. K. Stapleton, William A. Schaffer, G. Duman, and others. I also cheerfully testify to the high standing of the house of Messrs Mortimer & Mowbray, who, for the past twenty years, have enjoyed the entire confidence and esteem both of our merchants and citizens generally.

A Voice from the Birth-place of Christopher Columbus, the Discoverer of America.

U. S. SHIP CUMBERLAND,
Genoa, Sardinia, January 17, 1853.

Messrs. Mortimer & Mowbray—Gentlemen: The first Lieutenant of this ship, who has been suffering many years from the Dyspepsia, and who has been nearly restored to his usual health by the use of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," desires you to send him one dozen bottles of that medicine.

Lieutenant ——, of the U. S. Navy, now on board this ship, also wishes you to send him one dozen of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," by the store ship which leaves the United States in February or March, for Spezzia.

The Tincture you sent me was received in good order, and I take pleasure in informing you that it has been used with great success by several of our officers in cases of DYSPEPSIA.

I am respectfully yours,

MISCELLANEOUS MUSICAL NEWS.

Below we publish in full, the letter which appeared in the New York Musical World & Times of July 9th.

PORTSMOUTH, June 27, 1823.

EDITOR OF THE MUSICAL WORLD & TIMES:

When I came here in 1850, I found three "professors" and teachers. When I was called to give lessons,—"we wish you to give our daughter the last finish," said the parents, and on asking them to play me one of the last-learned pieces, almost all of them came out with the Russian March.

"How long have you been taking lessons?"

"Oh—two—three years!"

I could not believe that this piece was really the highest achievement of the art, and turned the leaves of the big music-book (I was at that time just fresh green from the green meadows of Germany); but found in reality nothing beyond this. Innumerable waltzes by Beethoven, quicksteps, and innumerable jet black melodies with portraits of negro-artists on the title-page (such a one usually being the title-page of the whole "music book") formed the numbers around the Russian March. Here and there, a duet from Linda, a prayer from Zampa, and an air from Beatrice arranged on a five-cent-sheet-music-page, and a little variation by Herz, or by Valentine, appeared like one new shingle in an old roof. Nothing visible beyond that, nothing!

I closed the book quietly, and asked for the first five notes of the scale of B flat.

"I—I have not come yet to the flat scales."

"What!—how is this? do they learn here in America two—three years on the sharp scales only?—how perfect they must be! let's see.

"Please to play me the scale with three sharps."

Long pause.

"Oh, it is so long since I learned them—I don't know—"

Such were the pupils to whom I was called to give the last finish.

I need not relate to you what I did. All opened their eyes widely; some of them, and I must say the most of the first pupils I had here, faithfully stood the trial, encouraged by wise parents, and these play now all the "old and new-fashioned tunes" between Tancredi and Bamboula, studying along with the "thrice twelve" Etudes. Some other pupils thanked Heaven when the twenty-fourth lesson was over, and remarked gently to third persons: "they never knew before of such a queer way of teaching music."

You have no idea, my dear Mr. Editor, of the struggles of a poor music teacher, when he is conscientious and remains faithful to his mission. I don't mean such a teacher who takes the pleasure of a seat near to a lady at the piano, and suffers her to try a march, and when she cannot reach the octaves, takes it away: "Well, we'll try another one the next time;" but the teacher, who, toiling from morning till night, finds misappreciation and ingratitude in nine cases out of ten, and finally, that he has sacrificed his lungs to the good cause, and earned—consumption.

It is true, every teacher has pupils, whose progress compensates for the trouble with others; but on the other hand, he has often pupils also, who make him think it must be exceedingly beautiful to load gravel-cars; humming there: Est ist bestimmt in Gottes Rath. (It is determined in the councils of Heaven.) And of such pupils there is no want here. There are about thirty or forty families, who can value the opportunity of learning something good; but the rest, having been kept down in real (musical) jesuitic darkness and ignorance (one teacher said: "It is neither useful nor wise to tell them all we know!") are even opposed to any improvement of taste; and my faithful pupils often tell me, they were accosted by this or that person (who is called an excellent player): "For what do you learn all that stuff? I wouldn't take the trouble to learn it," &c. All this sad state of things is—as you easily perceive—a consequence of the incapacity and unfaithfulness of teachers.

Portsmouth seems to be recognized as no place for music and musicians at all; for the better class of artists never come here. One "celebrity" was here two years ago, with a pianist, and I won't name him; they seemed to know how to improve upon the good Portsmouthians. For instance: we heard the air, "An Alexis," with little variations, given in the "programme," Zampa Overture, &c.

Finally, this spring the Boston Quintett Club proposed to come here, but not before a subscription was raised to delay at least the expenses. Mrs. Wentworth (of the H. and H. Society,) who is a native of Portsmouth (and a very charming singer) joined them, and I am sure, without her, the subscription had never succeeded. They came, and had a programme, evidently "got up" for Portsmouth. Mrs. Wentworth was warmly applauded, but the Quintett didn't "take," at all, though, of course, they performed, "as they do." This I expected, notwithstanding the simple programme. After the concert came the critic—the Press, which presses down everything beyond its own power of digestion. We have four papers here that praise everything as "most excellent" that is on a level with their own taste (and well paid for and advertised.) Now what did they say of the Quintett Club? Instead of praising and recommending such performances as refining the taste and worthy of frequent repetition, they said: "We should have been better satisfied, if there had been more simple and less operatic music."

I fear we shall never hear the Quintett Club again here. But—no matter. Have we not our own regular Quintett Club here now? Yes, my dear sir, we have; and such a one! A week or two after the Quintett Club concert, Mr. Moses (who, by the way, is considered a little deranged) got it into his head to establish a "Portsmouth Quintett Club," and this great company gave their first concert on the 27th of May. Please look at the programme enclosed.

What must be Mr. M.'s idea of a quintett? It is true, there are five; himself, Mr. Reynolds, a transient teacher of singing, Mr. Plumer, with a bass-roar, and two girls. Miss Plumer has a nicely spoiled voice, Miss Miller hasn't got any at all. First they roar and sigh all together in chorus, and then one after the other gets up and singly sings, Mr. Moses accompanying. Such is a Portsmouth Quintett Club concert! And now the Press follows:—"Such exertion to please should be encouraged in native talent, if the fine arts are worth patronizing at all!"

I see with terror that I am on the fourth page: your cigar is out, and your patience at an end. Na, I will stop.

Leben sie wohl und glucklich!—In herzlicher Ergebenheit, Ihr. KARL MEINERTH.

PORTSMOUTH:
THURSDAY, JULY 28, 1853.

MR. BANISTER'S WILL.

It appears from the Newburyport Union, that the Hon. William B. Banister, deceased, late of that city, who was possessed of probably $50,000, has left a will so disposing of his property that not one cent of it is finally to remain in Newburyport. It goes to the religious and benevolent societies, in the operations of which, during his life-time, he took great interest.

After disposing of his library, plate, household furniture, wardrobe, &c., to members of his family and relatives, he leaves the interest on one thousand dollars to go "towards the support and comfort of my beloved brother, Seth Banister, of Brookfield," and his wife, the same to receive, after their decease, the same disposal as his other property.

"And all the residue and remainder of the treasures of this world, real and personal, of which my heavenly Father in great mercy has made me steward, and for the use and disposal of which I am accountable to Him," as the will reads, he bequeaths to his executors, Ebenezer Stone, Nathan Follansbee, and Isaac H. Boardman, after the income of it, for one year, shall have gone to his widow, to be given in equal proportions, to the American Bible Society; the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions; the American Education Society; the Massachusetts Home Missionary Society; and the American Colonization Society; on condition that they will pay to his widow, annually, during her natural life, two hundred and forty dollars each; and to his daughter, Frances B. Banister, annually, during her natural life, one hundred and twenty dollars each.

POPULAR DELUSION.—A correspondent of the National Intelligencer, over the signature, "Virginia," in alluding to the last form of popular delusion, makes the following sensible remarks:

It is too bad that Henry Clay, and Daniel Webster, and John C. Calhoun, and all our great, and all our little politicians, who, while living, have been ceaselessly tormented by all sorts of interrogatories from Abolitionists and Freesoilers, Antimasons and Antirenters, Barnburners and Hunkers, Tariff and Anti-tariff men, Unionists and Secessionists, and all the other countless schools of political philosophers, cannot be permitted to rest quietly when dead, but must be handed over to the spiritual philosophers, and summoned to a hundred table-legs in a single night, to rap out some crude sentiment that they would have been ashamed of when living. Think of the philosophical Calhoun being summoned under their tea-table by a little knot of Boston abolitionists, and there meekly and calmly spelling out one of his political rhapsodies. We had fondly hoped that these great statesmen were at length beyond the reach of their political foes. But it seems that they are still within reach; and, what is worse, that they are not much wiser about some things than many living men.

POLICY OF THE OLD MEN.

Thirty years ago Russia was at war with Turkey. As that event may possibly again occur, it is interesting to recur to the sentiments of two of the most eminent men that existed at that time, on the merits of the question, and of war in general. Jefferson, when he wrote this letter, was 82 years of age, and John Adams 90.

MONTICELLO, June 1, 1822.

* * * * "To return to the news of the day; it seems that the Canibals of Europe are going to eat one another again. A war between Russia and Turkey is like the battle of the kite and snake; whichever destroys the other, leaves a destroyer less for the world.—This pugnacious humor of mankind seems to be the law of his nature; one of the obstacles to too great multiplication provided in the mechanism of the Universe. The cocks of the hen-yards kill one another, bears, bulls, rams do the same, and the horse in his wild state kills all the young males, until worn down with age and war, some vigorous youth kills him. * * * * I hope we shall prove how much happier for man the Quaker policy is, and that the life of the feeder is better than that of the fighter. And it is some consolation that the desolation by these maniacs of one part of the earth is the means of improving it in other parts. Let the latter be our office; and let us milk the cow while the Russian holds her by the horns and the Turk by the tail. God bless you, and give you health, strength, good spirits, and as much of life as you think worth having. THOMAS JEFFERSON

Mr. Adams's Reply.

QUINCY, June 11, 1822.

"DEAR SIR—Half an hour ago I received, and this moment have heard read for the third or fourth time, the best letter that was written by an octogenarian, dated June 1.

* * * * This globe is a theatre of war; its inhabitants are all heroes. The little eels in vinegar, and the animalcules in pepper-water, I believe are quarrelsome. The Bees are warlike as the Romans, Russians, Britons, or Frenchmen. Ants, caterpillars and canker-worms are the only tribes among whom I have not seen battles; and Heaven itself, if Hindoos, Jews, Christians, and Mahometans are to be believed, has not always been at peace. We need not trouble ourselves about these things nor fret ourselves because of evil doers; but safely trust the Ruler of the skies.

JOHN ADAMS.

The Charleston Mercury says:—"We understand that the stock of corn in this city is completely exhausted, there not being a bushel for sale yesterday in the hands of our dealers. Such a state of things has not existed in many years. A considerable quantity is on the way, but its arrival has been delayed by head winds. The last sales were at 90 cts.

LOCAL.

"MUSIC HATH CHARMS."

We have been reading, with some care, an essay on "Music, Used and Abused. A word to all in her behalf. By Carl M. Meinerth." This essay, over two columns in length, was published in the Portsmouth Journal of Dec. 4, 1852, and is avowedly and incontestably, Mr. Meinerth's own writing, and conveys his real opinions of musical talent, taste, and cultivation in this city.

We have also read over, carefully, and side by side, for purposes of comparison, the letter in the Musical World & Times, (published on our first page to-day) signed "Karl Meinerth," and alleged by Mr. Meinerth to be a forgery. The similarity of sentiment between the two documents is quite remarkable, and so of the general structure of the language. There is no exact coincidence of sentences, that we see, as if a forger had the essay before him, and wrote the letter embodying the same language; but there is throughout the same tone, depreciating almost every thing called music or musical here, for the purpose of exalting what goes by the same name elsewhere. Mr. Meinerth's essay calls no names—but it depreciates the teachers of music here, and their teachings, exactly to the same extent, though not in the same words, as the other document.

In the essay published in December, Mr. M. says—

"There are two great impediments in the way of progress in Music, and of the improvement of taste for it here out in the country. The one is the fact that any person who has learned to play a little tune, may assume the title of a Music Teacher, and the other is the want of submission to a proper instruction."

In the letter written in June, the writer says—

"All this sad state of things is—as you easily perceive—a consequence of the incapacity and unfaithfulness of teachers.

Portsmouth seems to be recognized as no place for music and musicians at all; for the better class of artists never come here."

Now here is no servile copying of words, but here is identity of ideas. The man who wrote the letter, (and who we hope will yet be smoked out of his hiding place,) expresses precisely the same opinion of musical teachers here, as does Mr. Meinerth.

We do not see, at present, any way for us to find the writer, and Mr. Meinerth is so busy that he cannot look after him; but we would like to see a subscription, equal to the sum paid by our citizens when they did not hear Madame Bishop, expended in three trial concerts, in which Profs. Meinerth, Moses and Clark, should, on successive evenings, exhibit their respective skill in playing, and also exhibit the singing or playing, or both, of five or seven or ten pupils of each. This might not settle the authorship of a letter, but it would, we think, cast out a small amount of musical quackery, and certainly put an end to some of the smallest musical criticism which has ever appeared in these parts.

The musical paper named will doubtless have something to say in the matter to-morrow, and we learn that at least one of our teachers of music will offer some remarks on the subject in due season.

For the Chronicle.

THE RAILROAD CASE.

Messrs. Editors:—We ask you, if it be within the compass of your suggestive powers, to furnish us with the semblance of a hint why this Portsmouth & Concord Railroad case is not decided. If there be a pretext even as plausible as that by which the Mexican war was declared, we would fain seize upon it, to escape the complete exhaustion of human patience. We are not naturally timid; but we do fear that indignant outburst of outraged and insulted public opinion, which has once decided this case, in the form of a well considered verdict of a jury, with all the facts of the case, and with all the instructions of the Judges on points of law, in a prolonged three weeks trial. We could see no reason why this judgment should not be final. This decision was ratified by the cannon's mouth and the very heavens sent back an echo of approval. Now, can we ascend in a court of justice to a higher human authority than this?—Where can we find a clearer expression of the voice of God, than the unprejudiced, enlightened, consentaneous opinions of men? Has the Cambridge lawyer before the law court added any more to the forty points already assumed? Can he prove by any subtlety of logic that a recorded promise to pay, is not binding, and if the moral tie be broken, shall he break the legal tie also and thus reduce society to the elements of chaos? How could another Railroad ever be built if the subscribers are not held to their promise, and if there be not legitimate force in corporations to bind its members? And on the bare supposition of doubt in this case, in whose favor ought it to be construed? In favor of the middling interest men of this corporation, the widows and orphan children, who have invested their funds here, and depend upon them as a means of support, or a few rich capitalists, who have, with the funds unjustly withheld, been buying up stores and merchandise and ships, and are now quietly waiting to seize the advantages which the road was designed to afford as a common public benefit?

O justice! thou hast left the common haunts of men and fled to the brutish beast, when sceptered power and brief authority presume to stay thy righteous judgments.

VINDEX JUSTITIÆ.

Without deciding the case, as our correspondent does, on its merits, we are disposed, like him, to complain of this unreasonable and unconstitutional delay. It is due to all parties in the suit, that there should be a decision.

It may be pertinent to remark, however, that the Superior Court of New Hampshire is badly constructed, having four judges on the full bench. Now suppose them to be divided on a question, two and two, as for aught we know they may be in the above case, what can they do but postpone?

No Court should ever have an even number of judges.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN.—In the Board of Aldermen, last evening, the petitions of J. P. Lyman and Moses Goodrich, for sidewalks, were granted.

Mr. John Sewall applied for an alteration of the Brick Market, at his stall, by removing the stairs, &c.—laid on the table.

Miss Coffin applied for additional chairs for infant school in Dist. No. 1,—referred to the Mayor, who was authorized to supply the chairs wanted.

Mr. Tucker's application for a stall at the Spring Market was taken from the table and granted.

☞ The flight of time is marked, among other more or less important matters, by the fact that the first year's issue of the Daily Chronicle, closes with to-morrow's paper—regarding which we shall probably have something further to say to-morrow.

ARRIVALS AT THE OCEAN HOUSE,
Rye Beach, July 27, 1853.

Geo. W. Plumer, Sarah E. Plumer, Kate J. Plumer, Epping; Mr. and Mrs. Malsan, Montreal; Lt. Hancock, lady, child and servant, St. Louis, Mo.; S. Howard and lady, James Batchelder, Philadelphia; Wm. H. Davidge, Ohio; F. H. Warren, Washington, D.C.

☞ The Newburyport Union says Capt. Nicholas Brown, of that city, has received the appointment of Naval Officer at that port.

THE FISHERY QUESTION.—It is stated that the people of the Lower Provinces have earnestly petitioned the home government to withdraw their naval force, which has been sent to the fishing grounds, to keep the Americans from coming within three leagues of the shore. If they have not done it already, we have no doubt such will be the fact.

The truth is, the Provincial government have made a grand mistake, and are now beginning to reap the legitimate consequences of their own doings. The principal value of fish arises from the process of curing them. When vessels were allowed to land and cure their fish on shore, it gave employment to their people at home.

Now the Yankee fisherman lets himself out to a Provincial master who runs his vessel, as soon as loaded, into one of our own ports, pays the duty of 20 per cent. ad valorum on fresh fish, a nearly nominal sum, and the Blue-nose waits in vain for his accustomed labor of curing and salting, &c., &c., which gave employment to so many of the people on the Nova Scotia and New Brunswick shores. This labor is now done in the United States, and the Provincial ports are deserted, or comparatively so, where a valuable trade was formerly enjoyed.

This is a practical view of the question, that may, after all, put the diplomatists of the Provinces on the right track.—State of Maine.

A CURIOUS BOOK.—Mr. Jefferson made an original book out of the New Testament, an account of which is given by him in a letter to John Adams, dated October 13, 1813, when Mr. J. was seventy years old. He took two copies of the New Testament and cut out the sayings of the Savior, rejecting every verse which was not evidently his; these he placed in a book, and his compilation is described as covering forty-six pages. He wrote old John Adams that this arrangement had placed before him, "the most sublime and benevolent code of morals ever offered to man."

When Benard Gilpin was on his way to London to be tried before the Popish party, he broke his leg by a fall, which put a stop for some time to his journey. The person in whose custody he was, took occasion to retort upon him an observation he used frequently to make, "that nothing happens to the people of God, but what is intended for their good"—asked him "Whether he thought his broken leg was so?" He answered meekly, "he made no question but it was." And so it proved; for before he was able to travel, Queen Mary died. Being thus providentially rescued, he returned to Houghton, crowds of people expressing their utmost joy, and blessing God for his deliverance.

EXECUTIONS IN GREAT BRITAIN.—During the 15 years ending in 1852, 998 persons were convicted of capital crimes in Great Britain, of whom 152 were executed, 627 transported for life, and the remainder had their sentences commuted to lighter punishments.

WOMAN'S RIGHTS.—There are two women in our jail, one for claiming the right to sell liquor contrary to law, and the other for threatening to burn buildings, and they have thereby obtained the right to an upper stall in Sheriff's Moffat's rogue pen.—Warsaw, (N. Y.) Mirror.

REMOVAL.
DR. TURNBULL, Oculist and Aurist, from London, has removed from N. Y. Hotel, to WINTHROP HOUSE, BOSTON. Office hours from 8 to 2.
From the London Times.
A number of scientific gentlemen assembled yesterday at the house of Dr. Turnbull, in Russell square, to witness the results produced by a process recently discovered by the Doctor, and applied for the cure of deafness and blindness.
Between twenty and thirty patients attended, many of whom, it was stated by their parents, had been born deaf and dumb. They were submitted to various tests, by which it was proved that their deafness had been cured by the application of Dr. Turnbull's remedies; and what appears most singular is, that whether the disease depended on paralysis of the auditory nerve, rupture of the tympanum, or obstruction of the internal passages, relief has been obtained, or complete cure effected without pain or inconvenience. Several patients, who represented that they had been completely blind, said that they could now see perfectly well. ju28 2w

THE LATTER DAY SAINTS.—The grandest new church built in London, is erected by the Latter Day Saints, Lord Sidmouth, and Mr. Drummond, M. P. &c., &c. They so completely expect the world to end in 1864, that they only take a lease of the ground till then, after which the fortunate land-owner will obtain possession! It is built as if they expected it to last for centuries, and is very magnificent!

John Marsh, belonging in Keene, N. H., committed suicide in Hartford, on Sunday by drowning himself in the Little River, back of the college. He was 33 years of age, a mason by trade. It is believed that an unfortunate marriage in New York, into which he had been led partly by deception on the part of the woman, had much to do with his death.

A slave belonging to H. France, of Pettis Co., Missouri, was publicly burnt on the 13th inst., for murdering the wife of John Rains, under the most aggravated circumstances; and his master was ordered out of the State, for conniving at the crime.

DEATH BY POISON.—At Claremont, N. H., a Scotchman by the name of William Woods died from the effects of taking poison on Saturday last. On Thursday afternoon, when under the influence of liquor, he went into a neighbor's house. No one being in the room at the time, he went to the closet and found a bottle, and supposing it to be rum, drank a quantity from it, which contained bed-bug poison, and immediately left the house. He was not found till the next day, when all efforts to counteract the poison were of no avail.—Manchester Mirror.

THE WHITE MOUNTAINS.—The hotels throughout the White Mountain region, are full of company from all sections of the country. At North Conway last Sunday, the Methodist church was surrendered to the visiters in the vicinity, and religious services were held by two Boston clergymen, which were fully attended. Rev. George Richards of the Winter street church, officiated in the morning, and Rev. Thomas S. King, of Hollis street Church, in the afternoon.

Mr. Campbell, the whig postmaster at St. Louis, appointed by General Taylor, resigned his post, to take effect June 30. His resignation is returned to him, with a note from the Postmaster General, saying that it was not the intention of the President to make any changes in the post office at St. Louis, at present. Mr. C. is retained because President Pierce is unwilling to take the responsibility of deciding between the friends and enemies of Col. Benton.

Seventy more Protestant refugees from Madeira have arrived at New York, and are anxious to join their brethren in Illinois. An appeal has been made to the public in their behalf.

Archbishop Whatley, in a letter to Wm. Lloyd Garrison, denies that he is author of a review in the "North British" of Uncle Tom's Cabin. He says the review is from the pen of a lady, a clergyman's widow in the South of Ireland.

MURDER OF A WOMAN, AT NORTH HAVEN.—The New Haven Palladium, of Monday, contains the particulars of the murder of Mrs. Barzillai Bradley, the wife of a highly respectable citizen of North Haven, on Sunday last. Not feeling well, she did not go to church, and was left at home alone. Her husband did not return until after the close of the afternoon services, when he found his wife lying dead on the sill of the back door of his house, with several frightful wounds about her neck, and signs that she had made a desperate struggle with her murderer. The house had been robbed of about $30, but about $100 in the same drawer was overlooked.

A young Irishman, named Michael Jennings, who had formerly worked for Mr. Bradley, was at once suspected as the murderer. When he left, there was an unsettled account between them, but there had been no quarrel. He had been seen to go up the road towards the house, about the time the murder was committed, with his coat on, but when he returned he was in his shirt sleeves. He was arrested, when it was ascertained that he had recently paid a man named Richard Conner, with whom he boarded, a sum of money; it was also ascertained that Jennings offered a $20 bill, and that James Conner, a brother of Mrs. Richard Conner, changed it; James Conner denied that he had any money, but when he was searched, a $20 bill was found concealed in his tobacco pouch, with what looked like blood marks upon it.

Two gold dollars were also stolen from the house of Mr. Bradley, and two similar coin were found in the possession of the Connors, which Jennings says that he paid them. A small spot of blood was found upon the under side of the rim of Jennings hat, but it may have got there from a cut on his finger of some days' standing. He had with him a small bundle of wet clothing, which had evidently been washed within a few hours of his arrest. The boots of Jennings correspond with the tracks discovered near the house of Mr. Bradley. There was also found in the possession of Jennings, a two bladed knife, the point of one blade of which was broken, and a broken piece of a knife was found in the breast bone of Mrs. Bradley which fitted the blade of Jennings' knife. Mrs. Bradley was a very strong woman, and it seems improbable that so slender a person as Jennings could alone overcome and murder her. The three Connors are also in custody.

CAUSING it to grow luxuriantly, and giving it a soft and curling appearance, of the most delightful character. The KATHAIRON neutralises the effects of disease, climate, and old age, in preserving and restoring the Human Hair, even after a Baldness of many years,—cleanses the scalp from Dandruff, and its natural impurities,—immediately relieves sympathetic attacks of Nervous Headache, and cures all cutaneous diseases of the skin, such as Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Itch, &c.

AS A TOILET ARTICLE,
For giving the Hair a rich, soft, glossy and curling appearance, nothing has been discovered to compare with its incomted—its incontestible virtues. It imparts the fragrance of the most delightful and exotic flowers, and is free from all minera properties, or any substance which can color the skin, or stain a lady's hat.

COCOA and Shells of the best quality, for sal by R. K. OXFORD.

MARRIAGE.

Happiness and Competence.

WHY IS IT?

That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life at an age when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant.

Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during, pregnancy, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.

IN AFTER YEARS,

When too late to be benefitted by one knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the full consequences of our ignorance.

What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years! And what days and nights of anguish we might not have passed, if the knowledge we timely possessed. It is

MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING

To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for many years, from causes simple and controllable, easily remedied—or better still,—not incurred, if every

WIFE AND MOTHER

Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself

YEARS OF MISERY,

And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily devolving upon him from sickness of the wife, without giving him the opportunity of acquiring that competence which his exertions are entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.

SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS

By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands.

In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is excusable not to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—healthy bodies, with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work entitled

Private Medical Companion.

BY DR. A. M. MAURICEAU,
PROFESSOR OF DISEASES OF WOMEN.
One Hundreth Edition. 16mo., pp. 250. Price 50 Cents.
[ON FINE PAPER, EXTRA BINDING, $1 00.]

First published in 1847, and it is not

SURPRIZING OR WONDERFUL,

Considering that EVERY FEMALE, WHETHER MARRIED OR NOT, can here acquire a full knowledge of the nature, causes, and cure of her complaints, with the various symptoms, and that nearly

should have been sold.

It is impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, as they are of a nature strictly intended for the married, or those contemplating marriages, but no female desirous of enjoying health, and that beauty, consequent upon health, which is so conducive to her own happiness, and that of her husband, but either has or will obtain it, as has or will every husband who has the love and affection of his wife at heart, or that of his own pecuniary improvement.

UPWARDS OF ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND COPIES

Have been SENT BY MAIL within the last few months.

CAUTION TO THE PUBLIC.

BE NOT DEFRAUDED!

Buy no book unless "Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, 129 Liberty Street, N. Y." is on the title page, and the entry in the Clerk's Office on the back of the title page; and buy only of respectable and honorable dealers, or send by mail, and address to Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, as there are spurious and surreptitious infringements of copy-right.

LET EVERY WIFE AND HUSBAND PONDER!

No excuse for Ignorance, when Ignorance is Misery to those we hold near and dear, and when to dispel our Ignorance is within our reach.

To enable every one to decide upon the indispensable necessity of possessing a copy, and that no wife, or mother need remain uninformed upon the many causes, which, insidious or later, are destined to make fearful ravages upon her health, unless guarded against, and that no considerate and affectionate husband have cause to upbraid himself with neglect of the welfare of his wife—a pamphlet of thirty-six pages, containing full Title-page and Index to Contents, together with extracts from the book, will be sent free of charge to any part of the United States, by addressing, post-paid, as herein.

When Knowledge is Happiness, 'tis culpable to be ignorant.

☞ On receipt of One Dollar (for the fine Edition, extra binding,) "THE MARRIED WOMAN'S PRIVATE MEDICAL COMPANION" is sent (mailed free) to any part of the United States. All letters must be post-paid, and addressed to Dr. A. M. MAURICEAU, Box 1224, New York City. Publishing Office, No. 129 Liberty Street, New York.

PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S
Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.
FOR beautifying, curling, preserving, restoring and strengthening the Hair, relieving diseases of the Skin, curing Rheumatic Pains and healing external wounds. Bounded by no geographical lines, the reputation of Barry's Tricopherous Pervades the Union. The sales of the article of late years have increased in a ratio that almost exceeds belief. Prof. Barry, after a careful examination of his sales book, finds that the number of bottles delivered to order, in quantities of from half a gross upward, during the year 1852, was within a trifle of 950,000.

It is unnecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous, as the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself—The effects of the fluid exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.

Depot at manufactory, No. 137 Broadway, New York. Retail price 25 cents a large bottle.

Liberal discount to purchasers by the quantity, and by the principal Merchants and Druggists throughout the United States, and Canada, Mexico, West Indies, Great Britain, France, &c., and by Weeks & Potter, Brewers, Stevens & Cushing, and Wm. Brown, Boston. d&w6m je22*

A New, Delicious Temperance Beverage.

AMBROSIAL MEAD!

THIS excellent Compound is prepared from the best SARSAPARILLA, without its dark, repulsive appearance, being beautifully transparent and entirely free from all impurities. Its qualities as a beverage, a single trial will give it a pre-eminence over all other preparations, by its freedom from noxious ingredients, agreeableness of flavor, and its exceeding cheapness, one bottle being sufficient to make thirty glasses of the beverage.

CAUTION!—The proprietors of this excellent preparation have spared no expense to bring it to perfection, and would caution purchasers to buy none without the fac simile of Wilson, Fairbank & Co. on every bottle.

DR. CONINE'S

SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.

The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing
DISSOLVENT POWER,

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as SYRUP'S KINDER REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom
AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

READ! READ! READ!

DR. HAMPTON'S VEGETABLE TINCTURE!

The Great Restorative and Invigorator of the System.

THIS article, which has made so many wonderful cures, was discovered by DR. JESSE HAMPTON, of Louisville, Ky., now in fine health in the 79th year of his age, and is acknowledged by those who have used it to be the BEST family medicine in use, and is WARRANTED FREE FROM ALL MINERAL SUBSTANCES. By its mild action on the STOMACH, LIVER and KIDNEYS, it will cure the diseases of those organs, with all chronic complaints, as

Dyspepsy, Cough, Asthma, Bronchial & Lung Affections, Pains in the Back, Side and Breast, Consumption, Scrofula, Fits, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Fistula, Fits, Bowel Complaint, Worms, Nervous Debility,

With all Diseases arising from Impure Blood.

As a FEMALE MEDICINE it has no equal! It will change the Complexion from a pallid to a blooming one.

Wherever introduced its success is unbounded. It has certificates from Hon. Henry Clay, Hon. R. M. Johnson, Vice President of the United States; Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore; the Spanish Consul; Judge Davis; Lund Washington; from a Chaplain of the U. S. Navy; from the State Department, Washington; from the brother of the Physician to the Emperor of France, who was cured by it after all other remedies had failed; and from hundreds of others, making up an amount of Testimony never before given to any other discovery of Medicine. A trial of it will convince the most skeptical.

We invite the public to call and get Pamphlets and see certificates of Cures. Read the following certificates of undoubted testimony:

From Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore.

MAYOR'S OFFICE, Baltimore, Aug. 23, 1852.

I take great pleasure in stating, that I have examined the names of those who have signed certificates respecting Hampton's Vegetable Tincture, and among them I recognize gentlemen of the first respectability, viz: Jos. K. Stapleton, William A. Schaffer, G. Dunn, and others. I also cheerfully testify to the high standing of the house of Messrs Mortimer & Mowbray, who, for the past twenty years, have enjoyed the entire confidence and esteem both of our merchants and citizens generally.

JNO. H. T. JEROME.

A Voice from the Birth-place of Christopher Columbus, the Discoverer of America.

U. S. SHIP CUMBERLAND,
Genoa, Sardinia, January 17, 1853.

Messrs. Mortimer & Mowbray—Gentlemen: The first Lieutenant of this ship, who has been suffering many years from the Dyspepsia, and who has been nearly restored to his usual health by the use of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," desires you to send him one dozen bottles of that medicine.

Lieutenant ——, of the U. S. Navy, now on board this ship, also wishes you to send him one dozen of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," by the store ship which leaves the United States in February or March, for Spezzia.

The Tincture you sent me was received in good order, and I take pleasure in informing you that it has been used with great success by several of our officers in cases of DYSPEPSIA.

I am respectfully yours,
VERNON ESKRIDGE, Chaplain U.S.N.

TEMPERATE PHYSICIANS.

Dr. Cartwright, of New Orleans, formerly of Natchez, gives the following comparative view of the temperate and tippling physicians, in the Boston Medical Journal.

The writer is one of three physicians who located in Natchez thirty years ago. The new comers found only one practitioner in the city belonging to the same temperance school with themselves. The country and villages within fifteen miles around afforded only three more. All the rest believed in the hygienic virtues of alcoholic drinks,—taught that doctrine by precept and example. Besides the practising physicians, there were ten others in the city and adjacent country who had retired from the profession. They were all temperate. Thus, including the new comers, the total number of temperance physicians in and near Natchez, thirty years ago, consisted of seventeen. Of these, five have died:—Dr. Henry Tooley, aged about 75 years; Dr. Andrew M'Creary, aged 70; Dr. J. Ker, 60; Dr. Wm. Dunbar, 60; Dr. Jamea A. McPheeters, 49. In 1823, the average age of the seventeen was about 34 years. According to the Carlisle tables of mortality, and those of the Equitable Insurance Company of London, seven instead of five would have been the ratio of mortality in England. Those at present living are Drs. D. Latimore, W. Wren, Stephen Duncan, James Metcalf, W. N. Mercer, G. W. Grant, J. Sanderson, Benj. F. Young, T. G. Elliott. ——Phœnix, Prof. A. P. Merrill, and the writer. Oh the other hand, every physician of Natchez and its vicinity, thirty years ago, whether practising or retired, who was in the habit of tippling,, as the practice of drinking alcoholic beverages is called, has long since been numbered with the dead! Only two of them, who were comparatively temperate, lived to be gray. Their average term of life did not exceed 35 years, and the average term of life of those who were in the habit of taking alcoholic drinks frequently between meals, on an empty stomach, did not reach thirty years. In less than ten years after they commenced practice, the most of them died, and the whole of them have subsequently fallen, leaving not one behind in the city, country or village, within twenty miles around.

To fill the places of those who died or retired from the profession, sixty-two medical men settled in Natchez and its vicinity, between the years 1824 and 1835, embracing a period of ten years; not counting those of 1823 already mentioned. Of the sixty-two new comers, thirty-seven were temperate, and twenty-five used alcoholic beverages between meals, though not often to the extent of producing intoxication. Of the thirty-seven who trusted to the hygienic virtues of nature's beverage, plain undulaterated water, nine have died, and twenty-eight are living. Of the twenty-five who trusted to the supposed hygienic virtues of ardent spirits, all are dead except three! and they have removed to distant parts of the country. Peace be to their ashes! though mostly noble fellows, misled by the deceitful syren, singing the praises of alcoholic drinks, to live too fast and to be cut off in the outset of useful manhood, it is to be hoped they have not lived in vain—as by their sacrifice science has gained additional and important proof of the fallacy of the theory which attributes health-preserving properties, in a southern climate, to alcoholic beverages in any shape or form.

It is to be deplored that there should be any discrepancy of council among medical men in regard to the use of alcoholic drinks. While physicians, in perfect health, make use of such beverages and attribute to them hygienic virtues, the public will be slow to regard them as poisonous to the blood of a healthy man. Much of the evil lies in the inattention bestowed on the subject in our systems of medical education, since the voice of the American Hippocrates, Benj. Rush, ceased to echo in the lecture-room. "Man, who is the servant and interpreter of nature, can act and understand no further than he has, either in operation or contemplation, observed the method and order of nature." Those, who can master this first principle of the Novum Organum, found in its first sentence, percieve why physicians, even the most skilful and experienced, are as liable as other men to fall into error, and to be unsafe guides on any subject they have not studied or only surperficially examined. They have studied arsenic thoroughly, and they know what effects it produces in large doses and small, in sickness and in health, and can even detect the minutest portion of it in the tissues; but very few of them have thus studied alcohol, and become aware of the truth, that if it be a little slower, it is nevertheless as sure, poison.

"I don't see," said Mrs. Partington yesterday, as Ike came home from school and threw his books into one chair and his jacket into another, and his cap on the floor, saying that he didn't get the medal,—"I don't see why you didn't get the meddle, for certainly a more meddlesome boy I never knew. But no matter; when the adversary comes round again you'll get it." What hope there was in her remark for him! And he took courage and one of the old lady's doughnuts, and sat wiping his feet on a clean stocking that the dame was preparing to darn, that lay by her side.

A man in Maine applied for two gallons of rum for "mechanical purposes." "For what mechanical purposes?" inquired the agent.—"For raising a barn," was the reply.

DAILY
Morning Chronicle.
PORTSMOUTH:
SATURDAY, JULY 30, 1853.

THE PATRIOT AND MR. BURKE.

The warfare, personal and political, between the old guardsman, Mr. Burke, and the editor of the N. H. Patriot, still continues, with little appearance of peace or truce.

They are both writers of considerable pith and power, and each might suffer some from such a terrible pommelling as two sledge-hammer men can bestow, when each is more anxious to crack his neighbor's crown than to save his own.

Mr. Burke, in one of his late publications, says in substance, those who have been "free-soilers" are unfit for fellowship with the Democracy, and ought not to receive any favors from the administration, and he classes "freesoilers" and "Wilmot Provisoists" together—thus excluding from his Democratic party all who ever favored or acquiesced in the Wilmot Proviso.

To this the Patriot replies:—

Now every intelligent man knows that this excludes nine-tenths of the Democracy of New Hampshire, and of the whole North; for the Democracy of this State were as strongly committed in favor of the Proviso as they ever were in favor of any measure or principle of public policy. The question is not whether they were right or wrong in that position; we have to do only with the fact that they were in it—forced into it, in 1846, by a combination of circumstances which they could not control.

It is well known to the whole country that in 1846, 7 and 8, the Democracy of New Hampshire were on the record in favor of the Wilmot Proviso; and it is as well known that in the Presidential election in the fall of 1848, they gave a cordial and hearty support to Gen. Cass, and that in so doing they openly abandoned the Proviso, and stood squarely up to the doctrine of the Baltimore Platform and of Gen. Cass' Nicholson letter.

Such was the position of the Democracy of New Hampshire, on the slavery question, at the close of the Presidential campaign of 1848. They had cut loose from the slavery agitation and stood upon the ground they now occupy. And what then was the advice of Edmund Burke to them on this subject? He was then at Washington, and soon to be ousted from a fat office. His position had given him great influence over the party at home.—He was supposed to have been hostile to the Proviso and to the slavery agitation in every form.—But what did he do—what did he advise the Democracy of New Hampshire to do? He wrote letters to Democrats in this State, urging them to go for the Wilmot Proviso—to pass the strongest kind of Proviso resolutions! He declared that from that day henceforth he was the determined and uncompromising enemy of slavery, and would go to the very verge of the constitution in his warfare against it! This is what Edmund Burke then did; this is the advice which this hater of "Wilmot Provisoists" then gave to the Democracy of New Hampshire! Not in one, two or three letters, but in many, written to men in all sections of the State, urging them to take ultra ground, going nearly or quite as far as John P. Hale ever went into the dirty waters of abolitionism!

These letters had the effect which they were intended to produce; they had their effect upon us and upon other editors; they had their effect upon the active leading men of the party in different sections of the State. These letters, and Burke's personal influence upon individuals with whom he afterwards talked upon the subject, did more than anything else to place the Democracy of this State in the position they occupied in 1849–50 and which aided in producing that exciting contest which seemed for a time to endanger the Union, to threaten the very existence of the Government! And yet this unprincipled demagogue has the impudence and the rascally meanness to allege against us, as a political crime, the very course which he then advised, and which probably would not have been pursued if he had not advised and urged it!

We repeat it, the Democracy in the Presidential election of 1848 stood upon the ground they now occupy, in regard to the slavery question; and but for Edmund Burke's letters and advice and active efforts to "abolitionize the party," they would probably have continued to stand upon that ground through the dangerous crisis that followed. But Edmund Burke advised and urged them to return to the work of slavery agitation; he urged them to adopt Wilmot Proviso resolutions of the most ultra stamp; and through his influence, and against the wiser counsels of better men, they did it.

We would request the reader to remember that these extracts are from the New Hampshire Patriot,—which he might scarcely be able to believe, when he reads that the active leading men of the party follow Mr. Burke's advice against their own convictions, and aided in endangering the Union. Indeed we can hardly believe ourselves, that the active leading men of any party could sway, or rather "force," nine-tenths of its voters toward the North in '46—South in '48—North in '49—and South again in '51–2.

We do not think it speaks well for the sovereign people of a State, to contradict themselves twice in the space of six years, under the influence of leaders, who were themselves led by such an "unprincipled demagogue" as the Patriot pronounces Edmund Burke.

Archbishop Hughes made a very fair hit in a recent speech in Brooklyn. He thought it very queer that people who would not believe in the intercession of the saints, should place full faith in the spiritual rappings. The rebuke does not apply, we suppose, to those who do not believe in either.

DEATH OF PRESIDENT EDWARDS.

We learn from the New York Tribune, the death, at the Virginia Springs, of Rev. Dr. Justin Edwards of Andover, Mass., aged about 66. He had filled many responsible stations, and is widely known as the author of the able documents and manuals on temperance and the Sabbath, and the Comment on the New Testament. He had carried the Comment on the Old Testament to the Nineteenth Psalm, on which the last words he wrote were—"Men must die and leave many things unfinished; but God lives. His cause will extend, and, by such instrumentalities as he shall raise up, will ultimately triumph." Dr. Edwards was a graduate of Williams College—for many years was the pastor of a Congregational church in Andover—at a subsequent period President of the Theological Institution in that place, and of late had retired from public official functions. He was a man of great energy and of equal integrity.

He was one of the earliest, most influential and successful advocates of total abstinence from ardent spirits, in New England.

DEATH OF AN OLD MERCHANT.—Hon. Joseph Tilden died at his residence in Franklin street, Boston, on Thursday forenoon, at 25 minutes past 11 o'clock, at the age of 74. His death has been expected for some days. Mr. Tilden was born in Boston the 17th of June, 1779, became an eminent and successful merchant, and was largely interested in mills, factories and railroads.

Mr. Tilden was of benevolent disposition, was modest and quiet in his charities, and always amiable in his deportment. He was of a commanding figure, and will long be remembered by his young friends as a true gentleman of the old school. His funeral took place to-day, from the Trinity church, at 12 o'clock.

He was a true philosopher, who said,—"Be cheerful—happiness is older than misery.—Adam dwelt in Paradise and clover almost a week before the devil came along."—Boston Chronicle.

He might be a philosopher, we think he was:—but what shall we say of his biblical literature. The book of Genesis, containing Adam's history, does not say a word about the devil, nor mention paradise: it speaks of the serpent, and the garden of Eden, which have received the fancy names of devil and paradise from some modern poetic license, of Milton and others,—very much in the same manner as Abigail, Emily and Betsey have been transformed or transnamed into Abby, Emma and Lizzie.

Rev. C. W. Ruter, presiding elder of the Madison, (Ind.) district, is to be tried at the next term of court, for employing a colored preacher from Louisville, to preach to his colored brethren in Madison, which is a violation of the constitution of that State, which says, that any person who may employ any negro or mulatto coming into the State, after its adoption, "shall be fined in any sum not less than $10, nor more than $500."

We presume he will pay a $10 fine, as a license to preach. The whole affair, however, if it were not for its wickedness, would be supremely ridiculous.

TOBACCO.—There was a fine speculation in tobacco open early in the season, but the knowing ones this time did not seem to know it. The article has advanced nearly or quite one hundred per cent. since the business season in the article has began. There is not only light stocks of last year's crop on hand, and a scarcity of the manufactured article, but the most gloomy accounts reach us from nearly all the tobacco growing sections in the country. Predicated upon these facts the staple has steadily advanced, and prices appear not yet to have reached their maximum.—N. O. Crescent.

Right glad are we that the scarcity has fallen on tobacco, and not on bread stuffs.—Tobacco is at best a mere luxury to those who have learned to love it; to many others it is a stench and abomination. If the rot should take it, as it did the potato, cleanly people would have no tears to shed over the "gloomy accounts."

☞ A party of about a hundred persons went to the Shoals in the Steamer Grace Darling, yesterday, to hear a lecture by Prof. Boynton, upon the Geological history of those Islands. We intended to give an abstract of his remarks, but the friend who was to furnish us with the material says it would be impossible to do so, unless we could, bodily, insert the islands into our columns. Dr. Boynton made his remarks while walking in company with his audience, illustrating his subject with the stones under their feet. This promenade lecture was very interesting to those who listened to the whole of it, but a large portion of the company preferred analyzing the component parts of a chowder at Mr. Laighton's to tracing the veins of gneiss and trap through the original granite.

REAL ESTATE SALES.—This day, at noon, there are two sales of Real Estate in this city, viz: one of a Wharf, Lot and other property, in Green street, by Towle & Co, Auctioneers; and the other a Dwelling House in Anthony street, by H. F. Wendell, Auct'r.

LOCAL.

CLOSE OF THE VOLUME.

The Daily Chronicle this day completes its second volume; and on Monday, a good Providence permitting, we hope to commence its second year. We have carried out our moderate plans as faithfully as we could, and are now prepared to enter, with what improvements we can command, on another annual circuit of duty, strengthened by the approbation and countenance of our best citizens and most active business men.

The experiment of a daily newspaper in Portsmouth has thus been tried; and is now an experiment no longer. If the Daily Chronicle were stopped to-day, some other daily would spring up next week. The business men, and a good many men not busy, would as soon blow out the gas lights and go back to stage coaches, as be without a daily paper.

The Weekly Chronicle was no part of our plan at the outset,—but it was called for, and its list is gradually, steadily, on the increase.

The regular subscription list, on the Daily, has also, as steadily increased through the second volume, as through the first—and the advertising has held its own in every department, with a considerable increase of it in some quarters.

On the whole, we have occasion to tender our grateful acknowledgements to the merchants, traders and mechanics of Portsmouth, and our subscribers here and elsewhere, for their substantial support and material aid in carrying on this business; and promise that their future favors of the same kind shall be rewarded by a paper worth reading, and by a circulation that shall keep their advertisements before the People.

THAT LETTER.

The Chronicle of Friday morning contains an article which in almost direct terms charges Mr. Meinerth with the authorship of an article published in the Musical Times. Without any direct evidence to that effect, and the authorship plainly denied by Mr. M. who has ever enjoyed an untarnished reputation in his long residence among us, we think it unjust to make so pointed and deadly a charge, when it is evident to every one that he has nothing but his own word and reputation to offer to the public in defence.—Journal.

We have made no charges, direct or indirect, in the premises. But we have seen a similarity, which any attentive reader cannot fail to perceive, between two documents, from which we have copied two little extracts, as specimens, of which every reader can judge, whether they are in the same strain or not.—We might give a dozen such specimens, but rather prefer that persons interested should read both the essay and the letter, and then judge for themselves.

We have never intimated our suspicions as to the writer of the letter—but we have said and proved that the letter writer, whoever he may be, expresses Mr. Meinerth's avowed sentiments in respect to teachers. If this injures anybody, we are sorry for it—but we don't see how it can be unjust to copy extracts from two men's writing, to show they think and speak alike.

SALT WATER BATH.

At a meeting of the proprietors of the new Portsmouth Bath, on Wednesday evening, it was voted to organize the company by choosing officers, &c. The following were elected for the present year:

Albert R. Hatch, President.
James B. Parrott, Henry L. Richards, Anthony F. Nowell, } Directors.

It was then voted that the officers be trustees to hold the property of the subscribers for the common use; and that the officers frame a code of regulations to be presented to the subscribers at a meeting to be called next week.

Persons may become members of the association by subscribing to pay two dollars per annum for this and the next year. None but subscribers are admitted to the Bath.

THE SEWING SCHOOLS.—We are informed that the ladies of this city, like those of Salem, have established two free sewing schools for little girls, which are held, one in the lower story of the Old South Church, and the other in Cabot street school house, on Wednesday and Saturday afternoons.

This is well; but a provision for sewing, in all our primary and second schools for girls, would be a vast deal better. One of the larger girls who can sew well, for a mere trifle, as a monthly salary, might be sewing assistant, in a large school. In small schools the teacher herself could attend to it without difficulty.

GLAD OF IT.—It will gratify the numerous friends of Capt. John H. Jackson, in this city and elsewhere, to learn that he has received a temporary place in the Boston Custom House, and that it is Gen. Peaslee's intention to give him a permanent appointment as soon as possible.

APPOINTMENT.—Jonathan Clement, Esq., of Unity, has been appointed Measurer, Weigher and Gauger at this port.

REMOVAL.

DR. TURNBULL, Oculist and Aurist, from London, has removed from N. Y. Hotel, to WINTHROP HOUSE, BOSTON. Office hours from 8 to 2.

From the London Times.

A number of scientific gentlemen assembled yesterday at the house of Dr. Turnbull, in Russell square, to witness the results produced by a process recently discovered by the Doctor, and applied for the cure of deafness and blindness.

Between twenty and thirty patients attended, many of whom, it was stated by their parents, had been born deaf and dumb. They were submitted to various tests, by which it was proved that their deafness had been cured by the application of Dr. Turnbull's remedies; and what appears most singular is, that whether the disease depended on paralysis of the auditory nerve, rupture of the tympanum, or obstruction of the internal passages, relief has been obtained, or complete cure effected without pain or inconvenience. Several patients, who represented that they had been completely blind, said that they could now see perfectly well. ju28 2w

Lord John Russel stated in Parliament that it was by no means at a dead lock, but that negotiations were going on.

Captain Stringham's energy in reclaiming Costa had prevented his being carried to Trieste, he having placed the Austrian brig under the guns of the St. Louis.

Interviews had taken place between Mr. Marsh and Baron Brouck, and as far as imperfect accounts indicate, matters will await orders from Vienna and Washington.

Two more Austrian ships of war are to be sent to Smyrna to watch the St. Louis.

The Indian mail had been telegraphed.—The Burmese refuse to sign away their territory to the British.

Trade throughout India was dull. No news from China.

At the West Coast of Africa all was quiet, and the palm oil trade was active.

The news from the principal cities and Odessa is disheartening. The stagnation of trade was daily increasing.

A letter from a Russian officer in the principalities, stated that as the army will pass the winter there, officers were sending for their families.

Mercantile advices from Vienna state that a general conviction prevailed that the Turkish question might be considered as settled.

The latest from the London Times of the 16th is dated at Paris, Friday evening. The exchange was firm to near the close, when a panic arose in consequence of a rumor that Admiral Brutat's squadron had been ordered to the Baltic. Threes closed 76 80 for the end of the month, and 4 1-2 at 100 50. The income from indirect taxes and revenue during the first half of 1853, exceeding the same period last year by 22,000,000 francs.

ST. LOUIS, July 28.—A fire broke out this morning on board the steamer Dr. Franklin, and the flames communicated to the steamers Bluff City and Highland Mary. The first two were burned to the water's edge. The loss is estimated at from $80,000 to $90,000.

ANOTHER REPORTED DEFALCATION.—Washington, July 29.—W. C. Zantzsinger, recently a clerk in the State Department, is said to be a defaulter to the amount of $10,000.—Mr. Z. was the disbursing clerk of the Portuguese fund.

MILFORD.—We learn from the Worcester Spy that some people in Milford, Mass., have holden a meeting, and resolved that Mr. Willis, the newly-appointed Postmaster at that place, "is not a suitable man for Postmaster," and that he "never had the countenance or support of the Democratic party." and he is further requested to resign.

SUICIDE.—We learn that on Saturday morning last, Mr. Seth Saltmarsh of Gilford, committed suicide by shooting himself. His family in the house heard the report of the gun, and soon after Mr. Saltmarsh was found in an orchard near the house, shot with a charge of powder in the region of the heart, and quite dead. It is probable that he sat down upon a rock, placed the gun against his body and discharged it with the aid of a stick. Mr. S. was about 50 years of age, and leaves a wife and two children.—Meredith Democrat.

FLOGGING AND FOGYISM DEAD IN THE NAVY.—The United States frigate Congress, Commodore McKeever, the friend of the sailor who early favored the abolition of rum and flogging in the navy, returned to New York, Thursday. The crew of the Congress had been detained nine months over their time, and not a murmur has been heard from one of them, nor can they find language to express their admiration of their Commodore. He has shown that kindness to his men overcomes the necessity of the lash. Let those officers who are continually complaining of insubordination and the impossibility of controlling men without the lash, take some lessons from Commodore McKeever. The sailors of the Congress held a consultation on board, (meetings not being permitted,) and asked whether the Commodore would accept a mark of esteem from his crew, to which a negative reply was given—such proceedings not being exactly in keeping with the practices and customs of the navy.

MARRIAGE.

Happiness and Competence.

WHY IS IT?

That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life at an age when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant.

Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during girlhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.

IN AFTER YEARS,

When too late to be benefited by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the full consequences of our ignorance.

What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years! And what days and nights of anguish we might not have been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed. It is

MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING

To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for many years, from causes simple and controllable, easily remedied—or better still,—not incurred, if every

WIFE AND MOTHER

Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself

YEARS OF MISERY,

And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily devolving upon him from sickness of the wife, without giving him the opportunity of acquiring that competence which his exertions are entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.

SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS

By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands.

In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is excusable if she neglect to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her such suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—healthy bodies, with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work entitled

should have been sold.

It is impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, as they are of a nature strictly intended for the married, or those contemplating marriages, but no female desirous of enjoying health, and that beauty, consequent upon health, which is so conducive to her own happiness, and that of her husband, but either has or will obtain it, as has or will every husband who has the love and affection of his wife at heart, or that of his own pecuniary improvement.

UPWARDS OF ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND COPIES

Have been SENT BY MAIL within the last few months.

CAUTION TO THE PUBLIC.

BE NOT DEFRAUDED!

Y." is on the title page, and the entry in the Clerk's Office on the back of the title-page; and buy only of respectable and honorable dealers, or send by mail, and address to Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, as there are spurious and surreptitious infringements of copy-right.

LET EVERY WIFE AND HUSBAND PONDER!

No excuse for Ignorance, when Ignorance is Misery to those we hold near and dear, and when to dispel our Ignorance is within our reach.

To enable every one to decide upon the indispensable necessity of possessing a copy, and that no wife, or mother need remain uninformed upon the many causes, which, sooner or later, are destined to make fearful ravages upon her health, unless guarded against, and that no considerate and affectionate husband have cause to upbraid himself with neglect of the welfare of his wife—a pamphlet of thirty-six pages, containing full Title-page and Index of Contents, together with extracts from the book, will be sent free of charge to any part of the United States, by addressing, post-paid, as herein.

When Knowledge is Happiness, 'tis culpable to be ignorant.

PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S

Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.

FOR beautifying, curling, preserving, restoring and strengthening the Hair, relieving diseases of the Skin, curing Rheumatic Pains and healing external wounds. Bounded by no geographical lines, the reputation of Barry's Tricopherous pervades the Union. The sales of the article of late years bear in a ratio that almost exceeds belief. Prof. Barry, after a careful examination of his sales book, finds that the number of bottles delivered to order, in quantities of from half a gross upward, during the year 1852, was within a trifle of 950,000.

It is unnecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the testimonials given of its essential action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself.—The effects of the fluid exceeded expectation. It added like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.

Liberal discounts to purchasers by the quantity, and by the principal Merchants and Druggists throughout the United States, and Canada, Mexico, West Indies, Great Britain, France, &c., and by Weeks & Potter, Brewers, Stevens & Cushing, and Wm. Brown, Boston. d&wem je22*

A PAIR OF PARODIES.

NUMBER I.—BY TIMOTHY SCRUGGS.

When lovely woman veils her bosom
With muslin fashionably thin,
What man with eyes, could e'er refuse 'em
From casually peering in!
And when his ardent gaze returning,
The dry goods heaved to deep drawn sighs,
Would not his finger ends be burning
To press—his hat down o'er his eyes!

NUMBER II.—BY BETSEY BUGGS.

When must n't-mention-'ems are made,
As now, so wonderfully thin,
What human, fit to woo a maid,
Could squeeze his understandings in?
And when of damsels fair a bevy
Smile sideways at your corkscrew pegs,
Don't think with love their hearts are heavy—
They're wondering what ails your legs!

DR. CONINE'S
SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.
The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.
The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and
Affections of the Lungs.
But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing
DISSOLVENT POWER.
By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore
Anti-Expectorant,
And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.
It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an
APPETIZER
It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom
AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.
Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.
It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.
Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

DR. HAMPTON'S VEGETABLE TINCTURE!

The Great Restorative and Invigorator of the System.

THIS article, which has made so many wonderful cures, was discovered by DR. JESSE HAMPTON, of Louisville, Ky., now in fine health in the 79th year of his age, and is acknowledged by those who have used it to be the BEST family medicine in use, and is WARRANTED FREE FROM ALL MINERAL SUBSTANCES. By its mild action on the STOMACH, LIVER and KIDNEYS, it will cure the diseases of those organs, with all chronic complaints, as
Dyspepsy, Cough, Asthma, Bronchial & Lung Affections, Pains in the Back, Side and Breast, Consumption, Scrofula, Fits, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Fistula, Fits, Bowel Complaint, Worms, Nervous Debility,
With all Diseases arising from Impure Blood.
As a FEMALE MEDICINE it has no equal! It will change the Complexion from a pallid to a blooming one.
Wherever introduced its success is unbounded. It has certificates from Hon. Henry Clay, Hon. R. M. Johnson, Vice President of the United States; Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore; the Spanish Consul; Judge Davis; Lund Washington; from a Chaplain of the U. S. Navy; from the State Department, Washington; from the brother of the Physician to the Emperor of France, who was cured by it after all other remedies had failed; and from hundreds of others, making up an amount of Testimony never before given to any other discovery of Medicine. A trial of it will convince the most skeptical.
We invite the public to call and get Pamphlets and see certificates of Cures. Read the following certificates of undoubted testimony:
From Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore.
MAYOR'S OFFICE, Baltimore, Aug. 23, 1852.

K. Stapleton, William A. Schaffer, G. Dunan, and others. I also cheerfully testify to the high standing of the house of Messrs Mortimer & Mowbray, who, for the past twenty years, have enjoyed the entire confidence and esteem both of our merchants and citizens generally.

HERE IS ONE LETTER,
from a citizen of Portsmouth—and but a sample of hundreds:
PORTSMOUTH, N. H., May, 1853.
This is to certify that I consider Devines' Compound Pitch Lozenges a valuable article for what they are designed—the best remedy before the public. My son had a very severe cough, which threatened speedily to carry him off; and nothing seemed to give relief, until I tried these Lozenges, —which produced signs of relief in a few hours, and after the taking of a few boxes, wholly removed his cough. WILL AND CONSCIENCE.

Few, very few men have a well balanced character. George Washington was one of them: but most of our great men are one-sided; and this one-sidedness is not confined to great men, but is exceedingly common among men of every calibre. Says an essayist in the Boston Herald:—

It is a matter of profound regret that those who possess and exibit the greatest share of personal independence should so often be unjust and tyrannical toward others. But so it is. Those who have the strongest wills, who are always in a fever if their slighest wishes are thwarted, seem to care no more for others than though they were instruments created expressly for their use. The quality which is predominant in them is a source of mortal offence, when exercised by others. Such individuals are a pest to themselves and to everybody else. They never are, and they never can be, satisfied with anything. They are always grumbling at their fate; and like Alexander, could they conquer the whole world, they would repine because there were not other worlds to conquer.

Such an insatiate, selfish spirit, should be shunned by every one who thinks of enjoying a particle of happiness. If control be acquired by such means, it is the control of the tyrant over the slave—which makes the slave wretched, but his tyrant far more wretched than he—for the slave can sink into apathy with the disagreeable consciousness of the unwarrantable perversion of his faculties—but the tyrant, gaining nothing but an external obsequiousness from the slave, continues to lament that while he exercises supreme authority over the body of the slave, that slave despises him from the very bottom of his soul. In such cases, which are too common, it is far better to be the slave than the tyrant. The former is ruined for all useful purposes, but the latter is doomed to an all consuming fire within, which is ever the penalty of an unwarrantable jurisdiction over the freedom of others.

O'DONOHOE, THE IRISH EXILE.—Of the arrival of O'Donohoe, the Irish exile in the city, the N. Y. National Democrat says: "Mr. O'Donohoe was arrested in company with Mr. Meagher, in 1848, and against both the same sentence (to be hanged, drawn and quartered,) was pronounced, which however, was commuted to transportation for life; which again has been changed by the combined efforts of a strong determined will on the part of O'Donohoe, and the series of imprisonments, oppositions and brutalities he was the victim of from the officials and government scribblers in the colony,

The news of Mr. O'Donohoe's arrival and stoppage at the Astor House soon reached the other Irish exiles in this city, who immediately hastened to welcome their fellow-laborer in the young Ireland cause. A most cordial and affectionate meeting was that in which Meagher and O'Donohoe embraced, and congratulated each other upon the good fortune which directed their steps in this country—the home of Republicanism and refuge of all true Republicans. Several distinguished citizens made calls on Mr. O'Donohoe during the day. He is in excellent health and spirits. Mr. O'Donohoe took the oath of allegiance to this country and declared his intentions of citizenship in San Francisco."

The Tribune says:—

"Mr. O'Donohoe is looking hale and hearty after his adventurous wandering and hairbreadth escapes. He has taken rooms at the Astor House, where he received visits of congratulation yesterday from Meagher and others of his compatriots of 1848. Mr. O'Donohoe leaves behind him in exile, four of his companions viz: Mitchell, Martin, McManus, and O'Brien. May they be blessed by a speedy delivery from bondage."

FISH STORY.—A correspondent from Gilmanton Iron Works, tells us a good fish story, which some may consider a little problematical, but which the writer says can be substantiated by going and viewing the fish themselves. Our correspondent says that "a young man of that place, named Emerson Lougee, has tamed and trained some 50 or 100 fish, known as roach, so that they may be handled with perfect ease. They can be removed from the water without showing the least sign of fright. They can be handled in the water as easily as so many stones or sticks, yet they are wide awake and appear very much pleased to be noticed. They are not confined at all; being in a large pond, known as "Lougee Pond," situated about a mile from Gilmanton Iron Works; but being so well trained and tamed they hardly ever leave the spot where they have been taught to stay. If any one doubts the truth of the above, they can see for themselves, without money or price."—Meredith Democrat.

FLOWERS VS. CHILDREN.—A mother's delight in her children is uncertain and full of alloy, compared with that of Josiah in his flowers. They never screamed when he wished them to be quiet—never required to be bribed to take physic—never tore their clothes, played truant, got bitten by mad dogs, nor gored by mad bulls—never, when they grew up, formed indiscreet attachments, or, at least, none such as a little patience would not remedy, (as, for instance, when his stately convolvulus twined over a young piece of London pride)—in fact he enjoyed all the pleasures of parenthood without any of its anxieties.—Lady Lee's Widowhood.

DAILY
Morning Chronicle.
PORTSMOUTH:
MONDAY, AUGUST 1, 1853.

JUDGE AND JURY.

We deem it the province of the Judge, learned in the law, to lay it down to the Jury as distinctly as he can; and the province of the Jury, afterward, to pronounce their verdict on the case. But we do not deem it legitimate for a Court, afterward, to set this verdict aside, and thereby finally to reverse and overrule the decision of the jury, so as virtually to make the juries a mere cypher. We have no doubt some verdicts ought to be set aside—but in these cases, another jury trial ought to be had. No man's liberty or property is safe without it.

The Convention of Massachusetts has been considering the important question of the right of the jury, in criminal cases, to determine the law and the fact. This is one of the old liberty questions. It was held by profound British lawyers that this was an inherent quality of this great institution, the jury—that it was entitled to this by virtue of its constitution—that this right was as much one of its functions as any other function, as for instance its independence.

The Boston Post says:

When the people of this commonwealth put into their constitution that all parties had a right of trial by jury, they secured to their persons this great palladium of liberty, with all its independence and all its rights. They did not undertake to declare what the functions of the jury were—did not enlarge or abridge its rights—but secured the benefits of it just as it was then recognized.

But the judges—or a portion of them—have in many cases ruled against the right of the jury to judge of the law and fact. It has been done here in Massachusetts; and these rulings have seriously impaired this great right. This is the justification for the insertion of anything additional in the constitution in relation to it. A report to the convention proposes to insert into the bill of rights an additional clause in relation to the jury. It is proposed, we take it, only to recognize it to be a part of the constitution of a jury—one of its inherent qualities—to determine the law and the fact of the case in all trials for criminal offences.

This we regard as sound doctrine. This is the jury for which Camden, and Fox, and Chatham contended, and which has often proved of immense value in protecting life and reputation.

The Daily Advertiser says:

The proposition was one which gives the jury the right, in all trials for criminal offences, after having received the instruction of the court, "to determine the law and the facts of the case." This looks a little like trying the court, as well as trying the criminal. One would suppose that the expediency of a provision of this sort, for controlling the administration of the criminal law, must depend upon the answer which should be given to two questions. 1st. Whether the guilt or innocence of the accused is to be tested by the fact of their having violated the laws of the Commonwealth or not; and if so, 2d., whether the court or the jury are the most competent judges of the law. The Convention, however, probably without intending to express any opinion on these questions, passed the resolve, by a vote of 192 to 147.

Now if the criminal laws of the commonwealth are such complicated and blind statutes that a jury of twelve ordinary men cannot understand them, even by the aid of a learned bench, then they ought to be broken down and repealed as rapidly as possible—and more intelligible statutes enacted in their place.

We think the people of Massachusetts will throw away all the new constitutional provisions—but if they save any, we hope this will be one of them. If we cannot keep a firm, common sense jury, and make some dependence on its verdicts, then our boasted liberties are but a name.

ATMOSPHERIC TELEGRAPH.

We learn from the Boston papers, that a project is actually on foot, to build a telegraph to carry letters and bundles from Boston to New York in fifteen minutes. The Daily Advertiser is gratified to hear that the subscription to the stock of the company which proposes to build a line of this telegraph, is steadily advancing. With adequate funds and competent engineering, there seems to be no reason for doubting that the same success will attend the invention on an extended scale, as is daily shown in the models on exhibition.

The Times considers the feasibility of the atmospheric telegraph established beyond a doubt, and all now wanted, to put it in practical operation, is that the stock should be taken up. What will the world think when the first passenger by this line reaches New York from this city in the brief space of fifteen minutes? There is not the slightest question that packages of goods can be transmitted at this wonderful rate of speed—the only doubt is whether human beings can sustain life at this great velocity; but so confident are some that they can, that volunteers are not wanting to take the first through ticket. We trust the citizens of Boston will come forward at once, and assist Mr. Richardson in carrying out his almost superhuman conceptions.

THE FANATICS REBUKED.

If we have among our readers any Garrisonites, freesoilers, or fanatics of any sort, we advise them to read the following admirable plea for slavery, which we cut from the Portsmouth (Va.) Transcript, and publish in full.

THE "HORRORS" OF SLAVERY.—A young gentleman at Sunsbury, North Carolina, in a letter to us on the 18th inst., says:

"There is now living at this place an old colored man aged about ninety; he is a slave, and has descended to the third generation from the family in which he was born. He has never had a whipping, or even an unkind word given to him so far as is known. He says he never had any desire to be free, as his masters have been better to him than he should have been to himself had he not been a slave. He says he believes that God ordained it that colored persons should be slaves, for it is to their benefit to be so. He will not hear any person speak of abolitionism, for the abolitionists, he says, are worse than the slave holders. This is a case which ought to go into the next edition of 'Uncle Tom's Cabin.' Let the abolitionists croak about the horrors of slavery, &c., but go to the aged and sensible portion of the population, and they will tell you quite a different tale. They will tell you that were it not for the Southern whites, Northern abolitionism would have starved them."

"Another case I know of. I asked an old free man, which would be the better for the blacks, freedom or slavery? He answered, "Slavery!" He told me that were he a young man, and free, he would sell himself to some white man. If it had not been for "Southern Tyrants," he would have been mouldering in the dust ere this." SIGMA.

There! we hope everybody is convinced now. Several strong points are made out here. First, the old slave never had a whipping; quite remarkable we suppose; why did not Mr. Choate make the same remark of Daniel Webster?

Second, the abolitionists are worse than the Slaveholders: Why worse? Are the Slaveholders bad? Query here—what sort of creatures does this poor old slave of ninety suppose abolitionists are? may he not fancy them cloven footed, and adorned with horns and tail?

Third, and last, but not least, an old free man would sell himself if he was young. Suppose he would sell himself for five hundred dollars, who would have the money?

But a truce to questions of this kind. We have only one to ask of another kind. Why don't our young northern freemen of all colors make a general stampede to the Carolinas, and sell themselves at auction to the highest bidder? Don't all speak at once.

By the way, we see it stated in the papers, that a faithful body servant of the late Vice President King, is now living in Washington. He was set free by Mr. King, who also gave him $2000 in money and his gold watch, for the faithful manner in which he served him.

If this is so, Mr. King did not consider slavery a blessing and freedom a curse.

THE AUGUST ELECTIONS.—Elections will be held on the first Monday in August in Kentucky, Missouri, Arkansas, Alabama, Texas, North Carolina, and Tennessee. In all or nearly all of these States members of Congress as well as State officers are to be elected.—Boston Journal.

GAS.—The Biddeford Journal has a long description of the gas works now being erected in that place, and closes the article with a notice of a statement made by Col. Stearnes, the agent of the Steam Mill in this city, that gas was cheaper than oil at 67 cents per gallon. The editor says:

"Whether they manufactured themselves their gas, or what was the price paid a gas company, did not appear in the statement that met our eye."

The Steam Mill is supplied with gas by the Portsmouth Gas Company, at a slight discount from the price charged to other consumers, which is $3.50 per thousand feet.

PIC-NIC.—We learn that the North Church and Society are to have a social Pic-Nic, at Locust Grove, Stratham, on Thursday next. There is nothing more pleasant and enlivening, than these truly social gatherings in the woods, and we hope the facilities for enjoying them, which so abound in our vicinity, will be generally improved this season.

☞ We regret we were not able to help the ladies enjoy their Pic-Nic in Parson's woods, Friday afternoon. Of course they had a pleasant time—the gentlemen who were present, tell us they never enjoyed themselves better.

WRITING SCHOOL.—Mr. J. A. Phillips will commence a Course of Lessons in Writing, this evening, under the Journal Office, Ladd st. Classes come in at 7 1-2 o'clock, A. M., and 5 o'clock, P. M., and 8 o'clock this evening. Terms, including stationary, $1,00; Ornamental Writing, $2,00; Book Keeping, $2,00.

PUTNAM'S MONTHLY for August, a valuable number, is promptly on our table, from the publishers.

☞ The Princeton and Fulton left Portland on Thursday morning for the fishing grounds.

LOCAL.

THE NEW VOLUME.

Our Second Year and Third Volume commence this day; on which occasion we are moved to promise but little beyond industry and patience in selecting and condensing news matters, and a plain but civil way of expressing our opinions on sundry matters of public concernment. We have never professed to be of the neuter gender—but we flatter ourselves that our independence of view has not darkened our neighbors' prospects, but on the contrary quickened their vision. Our exchange list makes us near neighbors of all the Daily papers in New England and some elsewhere; and we do not intend to let anything valuable from abroad escape our notice.

Local matters shall receive as large a share as hitherto, of our time and attention. And local sketches also will appear from time to time, as occasion may call for them, or leisure permit their preparation. In fine, our intention is,—if the world jogs on this year, as it did the last,—to jog along by the side of it, as quietly and peacefully as we can, and give a faithful report of it every morning, whether it has made progress or gone backward.

Our advertising columns will be—just about what our advertisers please to make them—we hope rich, rare and interesting, to buyers, sellers and lookers on.

The poets will write, the politicians quarrel, and the musicians will sing—and we cannot help it. We'll make a note of all of them, and sometimes we may publish.

We shall have and give a variety, good, indifferent,—we hope not often bad,—but we picture the world as it is, and our room compels us to do it with the motto Multum in Parvo.

THE MUSICAL LETTER.

The N. Y. Musical Times of Saturday, after all, contains nothing satisfactory respecting this mooted question. Instead of the letter which Mr. Meinerth sent them, appears the following paragraph:—

"A few weeks since a communication was sent us from Portsmouth, N. H., signed Karl Meinerth, in which several resident musicians were severely criticised. It now appears that the writer was actuated by malicious motives, and did the persons criticised great injustice. The letter was published in good faith. It was not for a moment supposed that any one could be so lost to all sense of justice and decency as thus deliberately to belie his fellow citizens and then attempt to shirk the responsibility of his actions, by using a signature to which he was not entitled, or by ignoring the matter altogether. The author of the letter should, at least, have the manliness to back up his declarations or else make a frank and manly retraction. We regret the publication of the letter, and will cheerfully open our columns to a proper antidote."

This does not amount to much—but one of the publishers of that paper, in a letter to Mr. Moses, received here last week, states that the manuscript 'set' in their office is destroyed every morning, as Mr. Meinerth has said, (a very unusual and strange thing, by the way, for a weekly paper.) He writes as follows:

257 BROADWAY, July 27th, '53.

MR. MOSES:—Dear Sir:—Your letters are received. I regret to say that there is no possibility of reclaiming any portion of the manuscript of said letter. Our basket is emptied every morning, and whatever is in it goes, never to return.

The Chronicle of the 25th is also at hand. I don't like Mr. Meinerth's letter contained therein. So far as we are concerned, it is not true. I had no conversation with Mr. M.; Mr. Willis had, and from what he (Willis) told me, I am satisfied that Mr. M. has taken altogether too high a stand in his disclaimer. Mr. Willis is absent, and has, I suppose, Mr. M's. explanatory letter with him, which letter will probably not be published in The Musical World & Times. I have written a short paragraph on the subject which you will find in the next No., [We give it above.—Eds.] under the head of "Portsmouth," among the "Miscellaneous Musical News."

In conclusion I would say that Mr. Meinerth had better be cautious how he mixes up our names in his denials, for I strongly suspect he is not apt to use more truth than is necessary to accomplish his own designs.

Very truly yours, OLIVER DYER.

P. S. You are at liberty to make what use you please of this letter. O. D.

Now the only discrepancy between Mr. Meinerth's statement of his proceedings at the Times office, as given in his letter referred to, is that Mr. M. speaks of "the editors," when but one editor is known to the public,—Mr. R. Storrs Willis; while Mr. Dyer denies having seen Mr. Meinerth at all, as this form of expression would seem to imply. But we don't see that this makes any material difference. Mr. Meinerth's statement that the editor of the Times requested a "written reply to the article," certainly is true—for we saw the letter. And we think the Times should have published that reply, or assigned some reason for not doing so, before agreeing to "open their columns to a proper antidote." We presume Mr. Meinerth will now publish the letter in some paper here. We regard the course of the Times in this whole matter, as not a little singular, to say the least.

LATEST FROM EUROPE.

BY STEAMER ASIA.

LIVERPOOL, Saturday, July 16.

PARIS, Friday.—To-day, the Bourse was firm almost up to the close, when a sudden panic arose, in consequence of a rumor that Admiral Bruat's squadron had been ordered to the Danube.

AUSTRIA.—The government is said to have informed the English and French Cabinet that the concentration of an army in the neighborhood of Peterwardein is of an exclusively defensive character. The encampment will consist of about 50,000 men.

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 4.—A letter says the Austrian Envoy having received the satisfaction he demanded from the Porte for the affair at Smyrna, is contending with the American Minister for the possession of Costa. The latter has been removed from the "Hussar," and is at present under the care of the French Consul at Smyrna.

The Austrian vessels, Artemise and Custozza, have been ordered in haste to Smyrna, to assist the Hussar in the embarkation of Costa, should any interference be attempted by the American corvette.

There are three American vessels at present with the Turkish fleet in the Bosphorus.

THE EASTERN QUESTION.—The Morning Post says a few days must elapse before the present suspense can be put an end to, and before we can know the final determination of Russia, expressed in her answer to the various negotiations set on foot.

Firstly, there is a project especially emanating from our own Cabinet.

Secondly, there is a proposal which originated with M. Bruck, and to which the assent of the ambassadors of the great powers at Constantinople, as well as that of the Porte itself, has been obtained.

Thirdly, there is a plan to which France gives her assent on condition of considerable modification.

And fourthly, it is affirmed that the Cabinet of Prussia has also originated a project of arrangement.

These, the Post believes, are the various negotiations which have been submitted to the Czar. Until their acceptance or rejection, the contents will remain secret. We are now upon the verge of the true crisis. If the emperor reject the negotiations, England and France will know their course. If, however, he accepts the negotiations, the proposals made can have but one or two possible results—either the emperor will acquire the right of protectorate of the Greek Christian subjects of the Porte, or he will not obtain that privilege. It is indisputable that if the right of Protectorate be yielded, the independence of Turkey is lost forever. Russia will have gained the object of her wishes, while England and France will receive a severe check both to their interest and influence. On the other hand, if the Protectorate be not acceded to Russia, even though certain concessions may be made to her sense of dignity, the Ottaman Empire will well be preserved. The two great powers will have interfered to good purpose; The Emperor of Russia will have abandoned pretensions, which are totally inadmissible. If negotiations are rejected, our course is as clear and honorable as the Post trusts it will be decisive.

ARRIVAL OF THE GEORGIA.

CALIFORNIA NEWS.

NEW YORM, July 29th.—The steamship Georgia, from Aspinwall, arrived at 1 o'clock. She brings the California mails to July 1, about 300 passengers, and $1,602,000, including $200,000 in the hands of her passengers.

Later advices at Panama state that political affairs in New Grenada were still unsettled. General Herrera was to leave for Panama soon. Attempts have been made to burn the city of Aspinwall, creating great excitement.

Most of the town of Cruces was destroyed by fire on the 3d of July; 20 to 60 houses were burnt. No doubt the fire was the work of an incendiary.

The steamer Bogota arrived at Panama July 3, with Valparaiso dates to June 15.

DATES FROM BOLIVIA are to June 3d. President Belza is raising troops in all quarters. Cobija was seized on the 15th of June by Admiral of the Peruvian fleet, who immediately issued a proclamation declaring the town occupied, and putting trade under the same footing as under the Bolivian government.

FROM AUSTRALIA.—Dates from Melbourne via Panama and Callao, are to April 21. The price of gold was £3 15s 6d.

Adelaide, April 14.—Flour £27 per ton; wheat 8s 6d per bushel.

Portland, April 14.—Flour £33 to £35 per ton.

DROWNED.—About noon on Sunday, Mr. Love of Williamsburg, a young man 22 years of age, was drowned while bathing at Coney Island. It appears that he ventured too far out, and the tide was so strong that, although he swam vigorously for nearly half an hour, he was unable to regain the shore.

ACCIDENT.—Mr. James M. Smith fell from a tree in Hudson, N. H., on Saturday last, and was so severely injured by the fall, that he died on Monday morning. He ascended the tree for the purpose of trimming it, and while thus engaged he accidentally fell.

Mr. Thayer of Bellows Falls, chased a big rattlesnake across the Connecticut river, and captured him He was 4 1-2 feet long and 16 years old.

At Watertown, Jefferson county, New York, at ten minutes before 9 o'clock, Saturday evening, a fire broke out in the extensive car manufactory, foundry, machine shop, &c., of Horace W. Woodruff, and at ten minutes before ten the whole establishment, covering nearly two acres of ground, was in ruins. Loss about $100,000, of which only $20,400 is insured.

ANOTHER EXPLOSIVE COMPOUND.—F. W. Ricord, librarian of the Newark (N. J.) Library Association, and his wife, were badly burned on Monday night by the explosion of a can of rosin oil, with which Mrs. Ricord was filling a lamp. Rosin oil has been supposed not to be explosive.

MARRIAGE.

Happiness and Competence.

WHY IS IT?

That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life at an age when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a condition of health should be predominant.

Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during girlhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.

IN AFTER YEARS,

When too late to be benefitted by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the full consequences of our ignorance.

What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years! And what days and nights of anguish we might not have been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed. It is

MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING

To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for many years, from causes simple and controllable, easily remedied—or better still,—not incurred, if every

WIFE AND MOTHER

Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself

YEARS OF MISERY,

And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily devolving upon him from sickness of the wife, without giving him the opportunity to command that competence which his exertions are entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.

SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS

By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands.

In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is excusable if she neglect to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—healthy bodies, with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work entitled

THE MARRIED WOMAN'S

Private Medical Companion.

BY DR. A. M. MAURICEAU,

PROFESSOR OF DISEASES OF WOMEN.

One Hundreth Edition. 18mo., pp. 250. Price 50 Cents.

[ON FINE PAPER, EXTRA BINDING, $1 00.]

First published in 1847, and it is not

SURPRIZING OR WONDERFUL,

Considering that EVERY FEMALE, WHETHER MARRIED OR NOT, can here acquire a full knowledge of the nature, character and causes of her complaints, with the various symptoms, and that nearly

should have been sold.

It is impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, as they are of a nature strictly intended for the married, or those contemplating marriages, but no female desirous of enjoying health, and that beauty, consequent upon health, which is so conducive to her own happiness, and that of her husband, but either has or will obtain it, as she or will, every husband who has the love and affection of his wife at heart, or that of his own pecuniary improvement.

UPWARDS OF ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND COPIES

Have been SENT BY MAIL within the last few months.

CAUTION TO THE PUBLIC.

BE NOT DEFRAUDED!

Buy no book unless "Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, 129 Liberty Street, N. Y." is on the title page, and the entry in the Clerk's Office on the back of the title-page; and buy only of respectable and honorable dealers, or send by mail, and address to Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, as there are spurious and surreptitious infringements of copy-right.

LET EVERY WIFE AND HUSBAND PONDER!

No excuse for Ignorance, when Ignorance is Misery to those we hold near and dear, and when to dispel our Ignorance is within our reach.

To enable every one to decide upon the indispensable necessity of possessing a copy, and that no wife, or mother need remain uninformed upon the many causes, which, sooner or later, are destined to make fearful ravages upon her health, unless guarded against, and that no considerate and affectionate husband have cause to upbraid himself with neglect of the welfare of his wife—a pamphlet of thirty-six pages, containing Full Title-page and Index of Contents, together with extracts from the book, will be sent free of charge to any part of the United States, by addressing, post-paid, as herein.

When Knowledge is Happiness, 'tis culpable to be ignorant.

☞ On receipt of One Dollar (for the fine Edition, extra binding,) of "THE MARRIED WOMAN'S PRIVATE MEDICAL COMPANION" is sent (mailed free) to any part of the United States. REMOVAL.

DR. TURNBULL, Oculist and Aurist, from London, has removed from N. Y. Hotel, to WINTHROP HOUSE, BOSTON. Office hours from 8 to 2.

From the London Times.

A number of scientific gentlemen assembled yesterday at the house of Dr. Turnbull, in Russell square, to witness the results produced by a process recently discovered by the Doctor, and applied for the cure of deafness and blindness.

Between twenty and thirty patients attended, many of whom, it was stated by their parents, had been born deaf and dumb. They were submitted to various tests, by which it was proved that their deafness had been cured by the application of Dr. Turnbull's remedies, and what appears most singular is, that whether the disease depended on paralysis of the auditory nerve, rupture of the tympanum, or obstruction of the internal passages, relief has been obtained, or complete cure effected without pain or inconvenience. Several patients, who represented that they had been completely blind, said that they could now see perfectly well. ju28 2w

IMPORTERS AND JOBBERS OF

Rich Silks, Paris Dress Goods, Shawls, Gloves, Embroideries, White Goods, Ribbons, &c., invite the attention of Merchants from all sections to their unrivalled assortment of

Silk and Fancy Dry Goods,

Imported with special reference to the wants of first class buyers, and in three important particulars, viz.: TASTE, VARIETY AND PRICE, believed to be unequalled.

Messrs. E. L. & Co., having been engaged in this business for many years in Philadelphia, where the taste is not unlike, in many respects, to that of the Northern and Eastern States, they would call particular attention to their styles, many of which are controlled entirely by them.

It having been remarked that our business is almost exclusively Southern, we would beg leave to say that our goods are adapted to every section of the United States, Northern, Southern, Eastern and Western, and that in style and price they will be found equal to any other House.

On and after Dec. 1st next, we shall occupy our New Marble Warehouse, now being erected, No. 55 CHAMBERS St., 4 doors from Broadway, directly opposite the Park. law6m fy 11

For the Chronicle.

ANGEL-HEARTED NELL.

"We parted at a ball, and it was the last, last time."

I remember—still remember—
Angel-hearted Nellie Dore;
Her eyes were brilliant as the spray
That lives the ocean shore,
And low within those jetty depths,
Beneath each lovely lid,
The angels of her soul reposed,
By silken lashes hid.

I remember—still remember—
And could I ever forget?
The holy language of her lip,
Its accent haunts me yet.
And I see her soft white bosom swell,
Beneath the robe she wore,
Her bosom's throb so innocent,
Has ceased for evermore.

I remember—still remember—
That her tiny hand, and white,
Lay trusting and confidingly,
Between my own that night;
And that her glance, all purity,
Yet with a subtle art,
Shot thro' my every thought, and word,
To the bottom of my heart.

I remember—still remember—
That I thought her made of air,
So like a sylph she glided,
And at once seemed everywhere.
She flitted like a wreath of snow,
That Winter having span,
Had caught the sweet effulgence,
And the glory of the sun.

I remember—still remember—
When they told me she was dead!
But that she smiled and breathed my name,
Erewhile her spirit fled.
And I knew not that she loved me,
The angel-hearted Nell!
I idolized, I worshipped her,
But never dared to tell.

I remember—still remember—
When I saw the funeral train,
That my heart almost ceased throbbing,
It was so benumbed with pain.
I remember where they laid her,
And the weeping tree, as well,
And the earth they placed so sadly
On the bosom of my Nell.

I remember—still remember—
How the robins sang that day,
As if to sooth her spirit,
As it upward took its way.
A viewless seraph near me flew—
I heard it nevermore—
It whispered that she was "not lost,
Not lost, but gone before!"

A New, Delicious Temperance Beverage.
AMBROSIAL MEAD!

THIS excellent Compound is prepared from the best SPANISH SARSAPARILLA, without its dark, repulsive appearance, being beautifully transparent and entirely free from all impurities. Its qualities as a beverage, a single trial will give it a pre-eminence over all other preparations, by its freedom from noxious ingredients, agreeableness of flavor, and its exceeding cheapness, one bottle being sufficient to make thirty glasses of the beverage.

CAUTION!—The proprietors of this excellent preparation have spared no expense to bring it to perfection, and would caution purchasers to buy none without the fac simile of Wilson, Fairbank & Co. on every bottle.

PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S
Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.

FOR beautifying, curling, preserving, restoring and strengthening the Hair, relieving diseases of the Skin, curing Rheumatic Pains and healing external wounds. Bounded by no geographical lines, the reputation of Barry's Tricophorous pervades the Union. The sales of the article of late years have increased in a ratio that almost exceeds belief. Prof. Barry, after a careful examination of his sales book, finds that the number of bottles delivered to order, in quantities of from half a gross upward, during the year 1852, was within a trifle of 250,000.

It is unnecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself.—The effects of the fluid exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.

Liberal discount to purchasers by the quantity, and by agents. The principal Merchants and Druggists throughout the United States, and Canada, Mexico, West Indies, Great Britain, France, &c., and by Weeks & Potter, Brewers, Stevens & Cushing, and Wm. Brown, Boston. d&w6m je22*

DR. CONINE'S
SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.
The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER.

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

DAILY
Morning Chronicle.
PORTSMOUTH:
TUESDAY, AUGUST 2, 1853.

WEBSTER'S DICTIONARY.

The Boston Daily Advertiser contains a piece of fair criticism on Webster's Dictionary, and some merited rebuke of the manner in which the publishers push its sale, by publishing recommendations, with the writer's exceptions left out.

The criticism is called out by the reception of a pamphlet unfairly forcing its claims upon the public. The Advertiser says,

It is but fair that it should be understood that the objection to Webster's Dictionary lies in the spelling. We neither affirm nor deny that it is a valuable work in other respects.—But we regard the orthography as a fatal deficiency—one which renders it wholly unfit for use by young persons, or those who have not so perfectly learned to spell as to be beyond all danger of being misled by its directions.

It is true that it is stated in the pamphlet before us, "that the spelling of the words to which any objection has been anticipated, is given not in a single but in a double form; so that a choice is left between the two. The person who opens to one of those words finds it spelled after two methods, each of which is given in the same type, as they stand side by side." The privilege of choosing between the two spellings, thus allowed, immediately suggests the happy state of the little boy, who, when he asked the menagerie-keeper which animal was the elephant, and which the monkey, was answered, "Either you please, my dear; you have paid your money and may take your choice."

That is it, exactly. When Uncle Toby was a boy, there was a right way to spell words, and all others were wrong; at least the schoolmasters said so, and he believed them. But now-a-days, having become accustomed to the Walkerian alternatives of spelling, he begins to believe it will do to spell words almost any way.

Webster's Dictionary is excellent for definitions, and derivations,—but it can hardly be called a standard of orthography. Worcester's Dictionary, in its spelling, comes near the best usage.

THE NIAGARA TRAGEDY.

It now appears that but two men, not three, lost their lives lately, at the Falls, and that the cause of the calamity was strong drink. The body of Andrew Hermann, one of the two, has been recovered. It was found near the landing of the "Maid of the Mist," below the Suspension Bridge, and a coroner's inquest has been held upon it.

The facts of the case, as elicited from the evidence of Mr. Brown, a resident at Niagara Falls, are, that three Germans, in his employ, were engaged in boating sand to French's Landing, which was used in building at the Falls. On Monday evening they went to the Falls, and there got somewhat intoxicated, although they usually sustained the reputation of being sober and industrious laborers. Returning from the Falls to their boat, they put out into the river about 9 o'clock in the evening, for their own amusement. Concluding they had not sufficient canvas, they returned to shore, and one of the three started for the Falls to obtain more, the other two again putting out into the river. On the return of the third, the boat was nowhere to be seen, and its fate was not known until the next morning.

EDUCATION, PAUPERISM & CRIME.

Pupils in the schools of the United States, 4,000,000; Schools and Colleges 100,000; teachers 115,000.

The whole number of paupers are 134,972. Of this number there were 68,538 of foreign birth, and 66,434 Americans. These proportions seem remarkable, when we consider that but 11.00 per cent. of the whole free population of the country are persons of foreign birth.

The whole number of persons convicted of crime in the United States for the year ending June 30th, 1850, was about 27,000. Of these, 13,000 were native, and 14,000 foreign born. The whole number in prison June 1st, 1850, was about 6700, of whom 4300 were native, and 2460 foreign. The colored convicts are included in the enumeration of natives.—The criminal statistics which the census will reveal, when fully analyzed and understood, will present many subjects for reflection, and open a wide and interesting field for the study of the Christian, Moralist and Statesman.

FREE DEMOCRATIC MEETING AT THE LAKE.—We learn from the Commonwealth that arrangements are in progress, by the Free Democrats of New Hampshire, to have a grand rally of the people, early in August, at Wolfborough, on the eastern bank of the Winnipisseogee. The place selected for the meeting is, itself, delightful—enough so to win even a rusty recluse from his home.

Hon. John P. Hale is to be present, and lift up his voice again among his native hills; some arrangement is proposed for half-priced tickets from Boston; and a large gathering is expected. The precise day is not fixed.

EMINENT SHOEMAKERS.—William Lloyd Garrison and Rev. Thomas Whittemore were apprentices to a shoemaker, and "served their time" together in Lynn.

So says the Lynn News, which ought to be posted up in the history of shoemakers, especially those of Lynn; but in this case it is not, "by a long chalk." Mr. Whittemore was indeed a shoemaker, and served a part of his time in Lynn; but Mr. Garrison was no shoemaker at all. He was a printer, and served a regular apprenticeship and more too; for he wrought as an apprentice in the office of the Newburyport Herald, nearly eight years, from the age of thirteen or thereabouts, till twenty-one, under the mechanical tuition of the late E. W. Allen, Esq. Mr. Garrison was, by the way, one of the most correct compositors we ever met with, and at the same time uncommonly rapid.

THE FISHERY QUESTION.—A writer for the New York Express has a list of the demands which it is said Great Britain makes in return for conceding the fishery grounds to the Americans, as follows:—

1st. The admission of British built vessels to the privilege of American register.

2d. The free admission of the British flag to the coasting trade between the Atlantic and Pacific ports.

3d. The abolition of our present bounties to the American cod fishery.

4th. A further modification of our tariff—of course with a view to favor British interests.

5th. The original demand of reciprocity of trade with the North American colonies.

The Boston Courier remarks:—This is modest, indeed. If the British government has offered such terms as those to the Americans, it has no intention of adjustiug the fishery question, for no American Congress would ever listen for a moment to conditions such as the above.

ARROGANCE AND HUMBUG.—Madame Anna Bishop is keeping herself before the public in another character besides a public singer. In this city, as our readers are aware, her non-appearance was explained in an impertinent note to the citizens. She was to have sung at Dover on the 22d inst., and arrived there for that purpose, but did not sing for the following reasons, which we cut from the Dover Gazette:

"We understand that through the representations of some of our citizens to her agent—that owing to the very high price of her tickets, there would probably be a small number in attendance—she was induced to take this step, presuming that Dover people could not arrive at a just appreciation of a "first rate artist." No apology was made to the public, unless a notification to Col. Stackploe not to light the Hall, and a statement made by her agent, Mr. Shaw, in our office, that he "wouldn't have Madame insulted by a small audience," be deemed as such.

"WHAT'S IN A NAME?"—The Portland Transcript says, our shipbuilders are going to ridiculous lengths in their eagerness to obtain high sounding names for their clippers.—"Diamond of the Deep," and "Pride of America," are among the latest christenings.

CHOATE ON WEBSTER.—The New York papers of Saturday morning contain in full Mr. Choate's brilliant eulogy on Webster, pronounced on Wednesday at Dartmouth.—Some "stenographic" reporters were dispatched from that city to take down his remarks, but they proved utterly incompetent to the task—a fete which the phonographers of the Massachusetts Convention have thrice done with great success. Recourse, therefore, was had to his Manuscript; but this was found so unintelligible, being on par with the stenographers' short hand, that a dispatch was sent for Mr. Felton, (Mr. Choate's office clerk in Boston, who has made Mr. C.'s hand-writing a study,) who furnished a copy for the New Yorkers! This is the reason why the eulogy did not appear till Saturday.

ALTERED BILLS.—One dollar bills of the Winchester Bank, Winchester, N. H., altered to tens, have made their appearance in Boston. One dollar bills ot the Manchester Bank, Manchester, N. H., altered to tens, have also made their appearance in Boston. The bills are very handsomely executed, and bear the date of May 1, 1853. They are well calculated to deceive the most practiced eye.

In Paulding, Mississippi, Dr. Dozier shot a rattle-snake seven feet long and twenty inches round; the monster was running toward him. He had but one rattle, having rattled the others off, probably; and but one "button," having burst off the rest in laughing at the style of Mississippi editorials.

PROF. BENJ. SILLIMAN.—At a meeting of the Alumni of Yale College on Wednesday, the annual Commencement, Prof. Silliman, Sen., announced to his fellows that he had that day resigned his office of instructor in Chemistry, and had received the usual honors of an emeritus professorship. In his address he said: "This step was not taken because of the infirmities of age, for I can say that my 'eye is not dim nor my natural force abated,' but because I deem it wise to retire while I can go out of the camp with colors flying."—He will be succeeded by his son, Prof. Silliman, Jr.

Prof. Silliman hold his professorship fifty-four years.

"TIGHTS."—An editor out south says of the generality of those gents who wear very tight pantaloons, "that they display immense moral and physical courage in venturing into the world with such slender supports as they contain."

LOCAL.

DROWNED.—Last evening, between 7 and and 8 o'clock, an Irish boy was drowned in the dock near Martin & Fernald's mast yard. He was bathing in company with another boy, and as we learn, jumped from a schooner into the water: not knowing how to swim, he was unable to get ashore. His body was recoved about three-quarters of an hour afterwards, but life was extinct. He was about 19 years old.

☞ On Monday afternoon, we saw on board the Bark Crowell, a splendid block of Italian marble, measuring 6 feet 8 inches in length, and 3 ft. 2 in. by 3 ft. 4 in. on the end, weighing about 5 tons. It came to Mr. Allen Treat of this city, and is to form a part of the monument to be erected to the memory of Hon. Meschac Weare, the first President of New Hampshire.

Day and lady, Miss Day, Master Day, S. Walker and lady, E. N. Fuller, L. Lunn, Portsmouth.

☞ Doctor Boynton's agent has sent us a communication, in which he contradicts several items in a statement made by the "Messenger" newspaper of this city, and gives the reason why he did not advertise in that paper as well as the others, viz. "because it was not for his interest to do so." We think it not worth while to publish the article, as the controversy is merely personal, and especially as Dr. Colton, the agent, as well as his employer, Dr. Boynton, is so widely and favorably known.

A GOOD FARE.—The schooner Ada, arrived at Newburyport on Wednesday, with 320 barrels of mackerel. This is her second trip in the bay, in both of which she has taken 560 barrels; most of them have been caught with a siene. What other mackerel vessel has done as well as that this year?—Union.

A white swallow is a great curiosity, as much so as a white blackberry or white robin, but a swallow perfectly white has been in the neighborhood of Col. Colman's farm in Byfield, Mass., for some time past, and has been noticed by quite a number of persons.—Newburyport Union.

DROWNED.—In York, Me., on Thursday last, Mr. Nathaniel Barrell was drowned in the Mill pond, into which he fell while at work upon the gates. He was about forty years old, and unmarried.

PRESENT PROSPECTS OF THE FRUIT CROP IN NEW YORK.—We have taken considerable pains, to ascertain the condition of the fruit crop, and feel perfectly safe in assuring our citizens that they may confidently expect an overflowing market and a consequent cheapening in every thing in the fruit line. We have personally examined a number of orchards in the adjoining country, and from present appearances are decidedly of the opinion that "props" will be in good demand before many weeks.—Syracuse Star, July 22.

A WOMAN WALKING AGAINST TIME.—An American female, called by the romantic name of Miss Kate Irvine, has commenced the arduous task of walking 800 miles in as many consecutive hours, for, it is said, a bet of £500. The feat was begun at the Barrack Tavern gardens on Wednesday last. The lady pedestrian seems to be about 30 years of age, tall and of rather prepossessing appearance. Her carriage is remarkably erect.—She wears the Bloomer costume—a straw hat, a jacket of thin material, a light vest with bright buttons, a tunic silk skirt, and light boots. She started for the first mile at six o'clock in the evening, and accomplished it in 12 1-2 minutes. The average time of each mile up to Thursday evening varied from 12 1-2 to 13 minutes, which for a woman may be considered really wonderful. Nearly 300 persons paid a visit to the fleet footed American on Wednesday.—Sheffield Times.

OMNIBUS ACCIDENT IN NEW YORK.—On Friday, an omnibus was crushed between two cars while attempting to cross the track of the Hudson River Railroad in the 10th avenue. Two passengers only, a lady and gentleman, both unknown, were in the omnibus at the time, both of whom are so badly injured that it is supposed they will die. The omnibus was smashed to peices, and both horses were killed. The driver was uninjured.

The handsome Mrs. Robinson, in Troy jail, for poisoning two persons, tried a dose of vitriol in her own stomach, a day or two ago, but the physician saved her life.

John Hawthorne, fireman on board the steamer Cataline, was instantly killed, Friday, in New York. He was standing under the cross-beam of the engine, when the machinery started, crushing him to a jelly.

HARBOR THIEVES CAUGHT.

The Boston Police have at last secured some of the domestic pirates who have made themselves so troublesome by breaking open vessels, and stealing from them in Boston harbor. The officers had a smart battle with one of the rascals.

About twelve o'clock, on Friday night, officers Tarlton, Leonard and Moore, who were in a boat on the look-out for thieves, observed two men, named Henry Kelley and William McLaughlin, in a boat in the harbor, coming from the direction of a brig lying off East Boston. The officers rowed towards them, and coming within hailing distance, cried out to them to stop. The men refused, and the officers pursued and arrested them, and landed at the Eastern packet pier. The three officers marched their prisoners to the North watch-house, and as Mr. Tarlton was unlocking the door, Kelley succeeded in breaking his hold, drew a six barrelled revolver, and fired full at the head of the officer. Mr. Tarlton narrowly escaped the contents of the pistol. Kelley then ran off pursued by Mr. Tarlton, who also drew a revolver from his pocket, and calling upon the robber to stop, drew the trigger, but the powder having been dampened from contact with his wet clothing, did not ignite. As the pursuit continued, Kelley turned round five times and fired at his pursuer, and each time unsuccessfully. Kelley was at length, in the vicinity of North Margin street, headed off by a watchman, and captured. Besides the revolver from which he had fired six times, he had on his person another six-barrelled revolver, loaded and capped. The other robber McLaughlin, at the same time with Kelley, broke the hold of his captors, and attempted to escape. He also drew a revolver and fired at his pursuers, officers Moore and Leonard, but he missed his mark. He was recaptured in Blackstone street. He had thrown away the pistol which he had fired, but it was afterwards found. Upon him was found another six-barrelled revolver, loaded and capped.—Upon the persons of the prisoners were found $150 on the Atlas Bank, a number of gold watches, and other articles. In the Police Court, on Saturday, Kelley and McLaughlin were arranged on three complaints for assaulting the officers, with intent to kill and murder, and in default of bail in $6000 each they were committed for trial. An alleged accomplice of Kelley and McLaughlin, named George Taylor, was arrested on Saturday. There was found upon him a gold hunting watch, on the case of which was an engraving of a horse tied to a tree. All three of the prisoners are charged with breaking into the brig Maria T. Wilder, Capt. Cunningham, on the night of Tuesday last, and stealing therefrom $360 in bills on the Atlas Bank, and $7 50 in gold — A portion of the money found upon the prisoners has been fully identified as some of that stolen from the brig. It is believed that Kelley, McLaughlin and Taylor are the principals of the gang who have recently robbed several vessels. Among the articles taken from the prisoners was a piece of black cambric, with two holes for the eyes, and made to tie about the face and hide the features of the robber.

Mary McLaughlin, wife of John McLaughlin was arrested by officer Heath on Saturday afternoon, at her residence in Snowhill street, and a variety of jewelry, &c., was found in the house together with several loaded, revolvers. On her person was found a counterfeit bill which was identified as having been stolen from the brig Maria T. Wilder. She was committed to jail.

BRUTAL.—We learn that on Saturday night, a freight train ran over a man lying on the track near Fetterman's. When the train was stopped, it was thought strange that no blood was to be seen flowing from the wounds caused by the passage of the cars over his body, and on examination he was found to be perfectly cold. It was subsequently ascertained that he had been murdered in a row, and his body placed on the track with the intention of making it appear that he had been killed by the cars. We learn that several persons, supposed to have been engaged in this brutal affair, have been arrested.—Wheeling Intelligencer, July 35.

HORRIBLE AFFAIR.—At Waterbury, Conn., on Thursday night, about 10 1-2 o'clock, as a young man named Miller, a baker, recently from New York, was passing home, four Irishmen named James Burns, John Swain, John Kelley and James Oxley, came out of a shop, and one of them ran against Miller, who said something by way of remonstrance, when Burns and Swain threw him down and held him while Kelley ripped open his bowels! Miller must soon die. His employer was near by, and with a little help was able to secure Swain and Burns. Oxley was taken at midnight, but is said to have no hand in the affair. Kelley is still at large, and a reward of $50 is offered for his apprehension. The other three were committed to jail on Friday.

FEVER AT NEW ORLEANS.—The yellow fever appears to be on the increase in New Orleans, though it said to be confined mainly to the poorer classes and emigrants. In the Charity Hospital on the 21st the report for 24 hours was :—admissions 72, discharges 44, deaths 48—of which 43 were yellow fever. The next day the report of fever deaths was 27, and the whole number of deaths in the hospital was 194. A despatch of the 29th states the whole number of deaths in the city on the 28th at 124, including 100 from yellow fever. In the meanwhile it is said that the city is in a dreadful condition of filth and corruption. The gutters are green, and slimy carrion is suffered to decay unheeded in the public streets and squares, and many portions of the city the stench is almost stifling.—With such terible aid within to the noxious effluvia rising from the swamp within the city, it is little wonderful that death stalks triumphantly abroad, and gathers his scores of victimes by night and by day. The city Aldermen, in the midst of this rapidly augmenting and death-dealing pestilence, are discusing the propriety of impeaching the Street Commissioner for the neglect of his duties, as if the destroyer is to be thus stayed.—Boston Post.

The President has concluded a contract with Clark Mills, for the erection of a colossal equestrian statue of George Washington, at the cost of $50,000.

MARRIAGE.

Happiness and Competence.

WHY IS IT?

That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life and its blessings, physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant.

Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during girlhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.

IN AFTER YEARS,

When too late to be benefitted by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the full consequences of our ignorance.

What we would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years? And what days and nights of anguish we might not have been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed. It is

MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING

To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for many years, from causes simple and controllable, easily remedied—or better still,—not incurred, if every

WIFE AND MOTHER

Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself

YEARS OF MISERY,

And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily devolving upon him from sickness of the wife, without giving him the opportunity of acquiring that competence which his exertions are entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.

SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS

By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands.

In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is reasonable if she neglect to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—healthy bodies, with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work entitled

Private Medical Companion.

BY DR. A. M. MAURICEAU,
PROFESSOR OF DISEASES OF WOMEN.

One Hundreth Edition. 18mo., pp. 250. Price 50 Cents.
[ON FINE PAPER, EXTRA BINDING, $1 00.]

First published in 1847, and it is not
SURPRIZING OR WONDERFUL,

Considering that EVERY FEMALE, WHETHER MARRIED OR NOT, can here acquire a full knowledge of the nature, character and causes of her complaints, with the various symptoms, and that nearly

should have been sold.

It is impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, as they are of a nature strictly intended for the married, or those contemplating marriage, but no female desirous of enjoying health, and that beauty, consequent upon health, which is so conducive to her own happiness, and the happiness of her husband, but either has or will obtain it, as has or will every husband who has the love and affection of his wife at heart, or that of his own pecuniary improvement.

UPWARDS OF ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND COPIES

Have been SENT BY MAIL within the last few months.

CAUTION TO THE PUBLIC.

BE NOT DEFRAUDED!

Buy no book unless "Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, 129 Liberty Street, N. Y." is on the title page, and the entry in the Clerk's Office on the back of the title-page; and buy only of respectable and honorable dealers, or send by mail, and address to Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, as there are spurious and surreptitious infringements of copy-right.

LET EVERY WIFE AND HUSBAND PONDER!

No excuse for Ignorance, when Ignorance is Misery to those we hold near and dear, and when to dispel our Ignorance is within our reach.

To enable every one to decide upon the indispensable necessity of possessing a copy, and that no wife, or mother need remain uninformed upon the many causes, which, sooner or later, are destined to make fearful ravages upon her health, unless guarded against, and that no considerate and affectionate husband have cause to upbraid himself with neglect of the welfare of his wife—a pamphlet of thirty-six pages, containing full Title-page and Index of Contents, together with extracts from the book, will be sent free of charge to any part of the United States, by addressing, post-paid, as herein.

When Knowledge is Happiness, 'tis culpable to be ignorant.

REMOVAL.

DR. TURNBULL, Oculist and Aurist, from London, has removed from N. Y. Hotel, to WINTHROP HOUSE, BOSTON. Office hours from 8 to 2.

From the London Times.

A number of scientific gentlemen assembled yesterday at the house of Dr. Turnbull, in Russell square, to witness the results produced by a process recently discovered by the Doctor, and applied for the cure of deafness and blindness.

Between twenty and thirty patients attended, many of whom, it was stated by their parents, had been born deaf and dumb. They were submitted to various tests, by which it was proved that their deafness had been cured by the application of Dr. Turnbull's remedies, and what appears most singular is, that whether the disease depended on paralysis of the auditory nerve, rupture of the tympanum, or obstruction of the internal passages, relief has been obtained, or complete cure effected without pain or inconvenience. Several patients, who represented that they had been completely blind, said that they could now see perfectly well. ju28 2w

Imported with special reference to the wants of first class buyers, and is three important particulars, viz.: TASTE, VARIETY AND PRICE, believed to be unequalled.

Messrs. E. L. & Co., having been engaged in this business for many years in Philadelphia, where the taste is not unlike, in many respects, to that of the Northern and Eastern States, they would call particular attention to their styles, many of which are controlled entirely by them.

It having been remarked that our business is almost exclusively Southern, we would beg leave to say that our goods are adapted to every section of the United States, Northern, Southern, Eastern and Western, and that in style and price they will be found equal to any other House.

On and after Dec. 1st next, we shall occupy our New Marble Warehouse, now being erected, No 55 CHAMBERS ST., 4 doors from Broadway, directly opposite the PARK. 1aw3m jy11

LAW CASE.—A recent New Orleans paper contains the following report of a case:

First District Court—Judge Larue. Tacquette, f. w. c. c., vs. W. M. Lambeth and Mrs. Harris. This was a case in which the plaintiff sought to recover her freedom. She declares that she was legally manumitted in 1840, and continued to enjoy her freedom till near the beginning of 1845, when she was seized and put in jail by defendent, Lambeth, and afterwards carried to his plantation, where she has been compelled to work, until March, 1852, when she was sent to this city. She sues to recover her freedom, $3,000 damages, and $25 per month since she has been detained in defendant's service. On hearing the case, Judge Larue gave judgment, in decreeing the plaintiff to be free, but allowed no damages or wages.

Law and gospel are not identical in this case.

DECISION IN A LIQUOR CASE.—Judge Manchester, of Providence, has given an important decision in a liquor case, in which the witness who swore to the sale testified that he purchased the liquor for the purpose of having the defendent convicted. The Judge decided that upon every principal of law, no man should be convicted of crime upon the uncorroborated testimony of a man who would go upon the stand and swear exultingly that he had induced the defendant to commit a crime for the purpose of having an opportunity to swear against him—that it took away the safeguard which the law had thrown around the citizen for his protection, and the security of a fair and impartial trial when accused of crime. He adjudged the defendant not guilty and ordered him to be discharged. This decision is, we believe, without a precedent.—Boston Journal.

PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S

Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.

FOR beautifying, curling, preserving, restoring and strengthening the Hair, relieving diseases of the Skin, curing Rheumatic Pains and healing external wounds. Bounded by no geographical lines, the reputation of Barry's Tricopherous pervades the Union. The sales of the article of late years have increased in a ratio that almost exceeds belief. Prof. Barry, after a careful examination of his sales book, finds that the number of bottles delivered to order, in quantities of from half a gross upward, during the year 1852, was within a trifle of 950,000.

It is unnecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself.—The effects of the fluid exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believe that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.

Liberal discount to purchasers by the quantity, and by the principal Merchants and Druggists through the United States, and Canada, Mexico, West Indies, Great Britain, France, &c., and by Weeks & Potter, Brewers, Stevens & Cushing, and Wm. Brown, Boston. d&w6m|e22

DR. CONINE'S

SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.

The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity, where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER.

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of this valuable medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

DR. HAMPTON'S

VEGETABLE TINCTURE!

The Great Restorative and Invigorator of the System.

THIS article, which has made so many wonderful cures, was discovered by DR. JESSE HAMPTON, of Louisville, Ky., now in fine health in the 79th year of his age, and is acknowledged by those who have used it to be the best family medicine in use, and is WARRANTED FREE FROM ALL MINERAL SUBSTANCES. By its mild action on the STOMACH, LIVER and KIDNEYS, it will cure the diseases of those organs, with all chronic complaints, as

Dyspepsy, Cough, Asthma, Bronchial & Lung Affections, Pains in the Back, Side and Breast, Consumption, Scrofula, Fits, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Fistula, Fits, Bowel Complaint, Worms, Nervous Debility,

With all Diseases arising from Impure Blood.

As a FEMALE MEDICINE it has no equal! It will change the Complexion from a pallid to a blooming one.

Wherever introduced its success is unbounded. It has certificates from Hon. Henry Clay, Hon. R. M. Johnson, Vice President of the United States; Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore; the Spanish Consul; Judge Davis; Lund Washington; from a Chaplain of the U. S. Navy; from the State Department, Washington; from the brother of the Physician to the Emperor of France, who was cured by it after all other remedies had failed; and from hundreds of others, making up an amount of Testimony never before given to any other discovery of Medicine. A trial of it will convince the most skeptical.

We invite the public to call and get Pamphlets and see certificates of Cures. Read the following certificates of undoubted testimony:

From Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore.

MAYOR'S OFFICE, Baltimore, Aug. 28, 1852.

I take great pleasure in stating, that I have examined the names of those who have signed certificates respecting Hampton's Vegetable Tincture, and among them I recognize gentlemen of the first respectability, viz: Jos. K. Stapleton, William A. Schaffer, G. Dunan, and others. I also cheerfully testify to the high standing of the house of Messrs Mortimer & Mowbray, who, for the past twenty years, have enjoyed the entire confidence and esteem both of our merchants and citizens generally.

JNO. H. T. JEROME.

A Voice from the Birth-place of Christopher Columbus, the Discoverer of America.

U. S. SHIP CUMBERLAND,
Genoa, Sardinia, January 17, 1853.

Messrs. Mortimer & Mowbray—Gentlemen: The first Lieutenant of this ship, who has been suffering many years from the Dyspepsia, and who has been nearly restored to his usual health by the use of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," desires you to send him one dozen bottles of that medicine.

Lieutenant ——, of the U. S. Navy, now on board this ship, also wishes you to send him one dozen of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," by the store ship which leaves the United States in February or March, for Spezzia.

The Tincture you sent me was received in good order, and I take pleasure in informing you that it has been used with great success by several of our officers in cases of Dyspepsia.

I am respectfully yours,

TEMPERATE LAWYERS.

Dr. Cartwright, in the Medical Journal, speaks thus of the lawyers of Natchez:

In a former article on the Hygienics of Temperance, it was shown that that theory prevailed in Natchez thirty years ago, and as far as a certain class was concerned—the physicians themselves—the practice of drinking ardent spirits, in what is called moderation, time and experience proved to be highly pernicious—and instead of lengthening, cut short the thread of life.

And now for the voice of time and experience in regard to the lawyers and other professional men. What does it say? It says, in a tone too clear, loud and plain to be mistaken—that as it was with the doctors of Natchez and vicinity, so has it been with the lawyers. The lawyers of that city and vicinity, thirty years ago, who were in the habit of using alcoholic beverages in the place of plain water between meals, like the doctors who followed the same practice, are all dead long ago. There is not one left. Even to bring down the time to twenty years, there is not one left. While of the temperate lawyers of the same locality, from twenty to thirty years ago, all are living at the present time, June, 1853—minus a number less than the natural decrease of mankind, incident to the most healthy countries, as set forth in the Carlisle tables of mortality. The bench and the pulpit have scarcely lost a member except from accident or old age. The temperate lawyers, with the exceptions just mentioned, are not only all living, but they are all rich, although they began life poor. The contrast arrived at by consulting time and experience is so great, that it may be said that death is in alcohol and life is in water, when used as a common beverage. That plain, good, pure water is better than alcohol in any form to enable the human system to endure fatigue and exposure, and to give both body and mind strength and vigor, the history of the above-mentioned classes would plainly prove. The proofs, in regard to one of them, may be read in the history of the Mexican war, requiring nothing more to be added, than that Major General John A. Quitman is the model of a temperate man in all things—except politics, where, if he runs into extremes, it is from the same principle which in war impels him to advance nearest to the foe. Another of the temperate lawyers of Natchez, 28 to 30 years ago, is the Hon. Robert J. Walker, late Secretary of the Treasury, and present Minister to China. Although he never broke through the massive walls of the houses of Monterey with a pickaxe, or stormed Chepultepec, yet he swam Pearl river a cold frosty night without catching cold. The writer is assured, by a creditable person who was with him, that the natural treble tones of his voice, at a political meeting the next day, were not altered or reduced to a bass. His traveling companion of the canteen was too hoarse to speak, although the future holder of the nation's purse, after swimming the river got a boat and ferried him and the horses across. Capt. John B. Nevitt, for more than thirty years has resided on his estate near Natchez, and been the master spirit at political meetings, yet he never drank as much as half a pint of ardent spirit in all his life—proving that fiery zeal in politics is not incompatible with perfect temperance. He and his other temperate shipmates, under Decatur before Tripoli, proved that water as a beverage is better than opium-eating to give celerity of motion, as the American sword, in their hands, against the Turkish cimetar, was like the lightning's flash. Col. Henry Chotard, a resident of the same vicinity, the same length of time, and of the same temperate habits, three times repelled three fierce assaults of the British regulars on his cannon, and so far won the applause of Gen. Jackson as to be mentioned by name in his despatches as one of the three who "by their intrepidity saved the artillery."—(See Niles's Register, vol. vii., page 357, giving an official account of the important battle of the 23d of December, below New Orleans.) His soubriquet, "My Lord Chesterfield of Adams Co.," from his high degree of polish and urbanity of manners, is sufficient to show the folly of some young men who fall into intemperate habits from the fear of being regarded as rustic or clownish.

Died in Salem, on the 26th July—Chimpanzee. He arrived in the schooner Susan Kelley, Capt. Liscomb, at Salem, a short time since, from Africa, in apparent good health. He expired at the residence of the captain, who, during his short illness, paid all the attention to him which kindness and courtesy could extend, and suitable to the position, rank and character of the deceased. Requiescat in pace.

THE WATERING PLACES are once more "open," and the way folks are rushing into 'em would be a caution to antediluvians, namely, people who lived before Croton was invented, Cochituate projected, or Saratoga discovered. There's no use questioning the benefits of water. Externally with soap—internally with "summat," it's a great blessing no doubt, and may be used pleasantly enough in the form of a shower bath, if taken as Pat suggested, "with the precaution of an umbrella!" But the watering places!—the "brandy-and-water-"ing-places! What shall we say of them? Here come all sorts of folks, with all sorts of motives—except the water! Snobs, nobs and nabobs—dainty damsels, desperate spinsters, manœuvering mammas, hirsute dandies, and dilapidated old fogies—these are the never-failing habitues of the watering places,—interspersed and enlivened by a sprinkling of dancing-masters, gamblers, and popular preachers. How they rush out of their homes and haunts in town and country and throng the salons of Newport and Saratoga, at the hot advent of the dog-days! And the invalids are there too—looking as much out of place as pigs in a parlor, or mutes at a wedding! Yet they are the only ones who (honestly and earnestly) take the water! May it bring them comfort and convalescence!—Boston Post.

A DISGRACEFUL AFFAIR.—The Home Journal says, that, several months ago, a woman of Pennsylvania, forwarded an elaborately worked satin quilt to Queen Victoria, as a present. Her Majesty, on receipt of the gift, directed an answer to be written to the donor, accepting the quilt, though, it was added, presents were not usually received. The woman, who made the quilt, was, it seems, indignant, that no return was made in money, and forthwith penned an epistle to her Majesty insinuating as much. The Queen, though unquestionably disgusted at such conduct, answered by sending a draft for twenty pounds, at the same time, however, stating that in future, no gifts would be received even, from American ladies. Here the matter, according to the Home Journal, ended. But in truth, as it appears to us, it has only begun. The affair is a disgrace to the nation, and the press should speak out consequently. The female sex here has been insulted by this behavior of one of their own number, and it is but right that the public indignation, expressed through the journals, should show that the act is considered, in the United States, quite as mean as it was evidently regarded abroad.—Philadelph a Bulletin.

DAILY
Morning Chronicle.

PORTSMOUTH:
WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 3, 1853.

PLYMOUTH CELEBRATION.

On Monday, at Plymouth, Mass., came off the grand anniversary celebration of the embarkation of the Pilgrims in the brig Speedwell, at Delft Haven, August 1, 1620.

A great concourse of people were present, and the whole occasion passed off with great pleasure to all interested in the matter.

The religious services were held in the first Church on Leyden street, which was the first street laid out, in 1620. The church bore this inscription:

"The first House of Worship built 1637; second 1683; third 1744; fourth 1831; fifth 1840."

Upon the site of the Common House was—

"Site of the Common House, built in 1620, where Robert Cushman delivered his sermon November, 1621."

The Samoset House was splendidly decorated; on its front was—

"Embarkation of the Pilgrims from Delft Haven in 1620, July 22, O. S., Aug. 1st, N. S."

"The solitary place made glad."

A procession was formed and moved from the church to the pavilion, passing by Plymouth Rock. Upon arriving at the Rock, the whole procession passed over it, uncovered. This was an impressive ceremony, and many of the old men shed tears as their feet touched, probably for the last time, the venerated "stepping stone of the great empire."—Except the occasional cheers, the entire procession moved in silence and solemnity, and reached the pavilion at about two o'clock.

Previous to the arrival of the procession at the tent, a procession of about a thousand ladies who had congregated in and about the High School on the green, marched into the pavilion and seated themselves at the tables, so that the gentlemen occupied one side and the ladies the other, an arrangement greatly applauded by both parties.

The dinner was served by John Wright, under his great tent, on Training Green. Three thousand ladies and gentlemen were seated at the tables. Among the guests were Gov. Clifford, Edward Everett, Charles Sumner, and John P. Hale.

Mr. Winthrop did not attend, but sent a letter, containing the following fine paragraphs. He dates from Niagara Falls:—

I have united heretofore in commemorating the virtues and heroism of our Pilgrim Fathers, both on the 22d day of December, and on the 17th day of September, and I should cordially join in consecrating still another day to their memory. They cannot be remembered too often, or reverenced too deeply; and that not as a mere matter of respect and gratitude to the dead, but for the improvement and instruction of the living.

We are rushing along in the path of national development and extension with a velocity, of which the rapids at this moment in my view hardly furnish an exaggerated emblem; and there is too much cause for apprehension that the roar of the torrent, and its sparkling spray and its many colored mist, may deafen and dazzle and blind us to the dangers which always beset an impulsive and precipitate career. It will be well if we do not forget that the only safe and sure progress is the Pilgrim's Progress, a progress begun, continued, and ended in the fear of God, in respect for Government, in the love of freedom and in justice to all mankind.

One very solemn and striking event occurred in connexion with the celebration. At about 11 o'clock, A. M., Judge Nahum Mitchell, one of the invited guests, being on the way to join his division, fell in the street, and died instantly. He was 83 years of age—was a member of the Constitutional Convention of 1820, and was the author of a history of Bridgewater.

A man of family remarked the other day, in our hearing, that on his wedding day, he thought that life would be all sunshine, but it proved all moonshine. Well it does—with some.—Boston Mail.

Every man who is visionary enough to expect the first, will probably be sad enough to imagine the last. Moderate expectations and reasonable purposes, commonly lead to satisfactory results. The average realities of life are good—but romantic hopes are apt to end in sad and bitter disappointments.

A Valuable Horse.—The N. Y. Spirit of the Times says the celebrated trotting stallion "Kemble Jackson," recently died from a rupture, at Harlem, N. Y. At the time of his death he was probably the most valuable horse in the country; $10,000 would not have bought him.

Woodcock Shooting.—The Spirit of the Times says a gentleman of Boston, in two days last week, shot seventy-four woodcocks in the cover, in eighty shots, and thirty-eight of them in succession.

The democratic party in Maine has for many years triumphed through evil as well as through good report.—Belfast Journal.

If it survives the "evil report" which the scenes at the late Convention at Bangor justified, its toughness will be established forever.—Bangor Mercury.

"A Roland for an Oliver."—One of the best specimens of the regular Tit for Tat that we have met with for a good many years, was brought to us by the Cincinnati Gazette on Saturday last. The Catholic Telegraph of that city had quoted the following sentiment, adding to its conspicuousness by putting it "in its largest type."

A Protestant Country!—In Wales, and many parts of England, one coffin or shell serves for the whole of the parish poor, it being provided with a false bottom. This coffin is lowered into the grave, the bolts are drawn, the venerable coffin is drawn up again, and the corpse covered with earth. So says the London Builder.

Tut! exclaimed the editor of the Telegraph' as he saw this delectable morsel flying through the streets of the city on the wings of his newspaper. And Tut! exclaimed the editor of the Gazette, as he unloosed the following missive and sent it in hot haste after the Telegraph next morning.

A Catholic Country!—In the Catholic city of Naples there are 365 huge holes, each covered with a close fitting stone. Every morning one of them is opened, and the dead who are buried on that day are carried thither in a coffin common to all, turned out of their brief receptacle and pitched into the hole, where men, women, and children lie piled in heaps, a ghastly and horrible sight. At the close of the day the stone is replaced, to be opened again when a year has rolled round, when, from the ravages of rats and the effects of quick lime, it is found that little else remains besides the white and glittering bones."

Archbishop Kenrick, formerly Bishop of the diocese of Philadelphia, but now holding the metropolitan archiepiscopal see of Baltimore in the Roman Catholic church, has published in the Catholic journals a pastoral letter, from which we learn he assembled the clergy of his own immediate diocese of Baltimore on the 5th of June, and submitted to them certain disciplinary regulations, prepared by him in conformity with the decrees of the Provincial Councils and of the National Council, which statutes were modified according to their suggestions and agreed to. They relate chiefly to the ceremonials connected with marriage, and provide that hereafter no marriage shall be solemnized by Catholic authority without the previous publication of the bands; recommend the solemnization of the marriage in the church at an early hour in the morning, so that it may be followed by mass; caution Catholics against marriage with those not belonging to the faith; and counsel the formation of bands of ten persons each to contribute to the extension of the church.—Philadelphia North American.

Telegraph columns occasionally furnish food for fun—and those of some of our city dailies on Monday had an item of news which would excite the curiosity of some, and the risibilities of more readers. We give it below as it appeared in the various city dailies:

Stacy Dobbins has returned to Washington.—Journal.

Lucy Dobbins has returned to Washington.—Union.

The Lucy Dobbins has returned to Washington.—Gazette.

Secretary Dobbins has returned to Washington.—Despatch and Post.

The Post and ourselves seem the best "posted up" in the members of the Cabinet—as some of the press took the Secretary to be a woman or a steamboat!—Pittsburgh Despatch.

The Richmond Enquirer says:—"A colored man, with a head of early negro hair, and with all the other peculiarities of the African, was arrested a few days ago, and taken before the Mayor, who ordered him to appear before the Hustings Court, to show cause why he was going at large without free papers. On Friday he appeared before that court, and produced evidence that he was an Indian. The laws of this State are so essentially different in respect to Indians and negroes that we state this fact as one of some importance. If this man is an Indian there are probably thousands of the same sort in Virginia, making it the duty of the Legislature to define how far the admixture of the Indian with the negro may be carried before the identity of the race is lost."

A Slip.—Under this title, the Boston Courier says, a travelling lecturer picked up a candidate for a wife a few days ago in Lynn, whom he selected through his knowledge of "bumps," as he had never known her until an hour and a half before. He procured a marriage certificate and they proceeded to Salem, when the girl, who had been nothing loth to accept the offer, found the house of her intended, who had buried his wife four days before, well stocked with children, but having little else in it. She was immediately seized with home-sickness, and borrowed money enough to return in the cars.

A Curious Divorce Case.—William H. Alexander applied to the New York Courts for a divorce from his wife, for ill treatment, intemperance, and general abuse. The case was referred, and the referree reported that the charge of cruel treatment was made out, and that the plaintiff was entitled to a divorce, forever, from bed and board. The Court denied the decree, because the laws, while they accord a divorce to the wife for ill treatment, do not accord the same to the husband.

List of Patents—Issued from the United States Patent Office for the week ending July 26, 1853, to Residents in New England:—

Sylvester Davis of Clarmont, N. H., for improvement in bee-hives; John A. Elder of Westbrook, Me., for improvement in carving the backs of books.

Designs. Julius E. Merriman of Meriden, Conn., for design for a sewing-bird; Reuben H. N. Bates of Providence, R. I., assignor to to Nathor Chase & North of Philadelphia, for design for cooking range.

Government Speculators in California.—Officers have been despatched to Ohio to arrest Mr. Collier, late Collector at San Francisco, and against whom the Grand Jury of that city recently found a true bill for feloniously using the goverment funds. Thomas Butler King, says the Star, has also used $100,000 of the goverment funds, and it is thought he would be indicted.

LOCAL.

THE OLD SOUTH.

The old South Church in this city, is again opened for public worship on Sundays; and the active friends of the present enterprise hope it may never again be closed, but be a Sabbath home for many people in that part of the town, at least as long as the old house stands.

The old fabric has stood more than a century; during which time thousands of worshippers have been transferred from this earthly temple to the house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens.

In 1731, Rev. John Emerson, the aged pastor of the South Church, offered prayer and gave thanks, when the house was raised, that it was done without accident. In this building ministered Shurtleff and Strong, Haven, Alden and Parker.

At a later period, re-arranged and well fitted up, it has been filled with a congregation—but by circumstances of no consequence in this connexion, was again emptied and left desolate.

Now, quite a number of elderly people who have sat under the gospel in this house, have expressed their strong desire that a meeting should be established in the old church. A few friends of christianity, after carefully considering the subject, and asking counsel of christian friends, have concluded to establish a free meeting, and request us to bring their object and plan before the good people of this city.

They propose to establish a meeting, "free from sectarian or denominational feelings or influences. In this meeting every christian can be received as a brother and worship God as his conscience dictates; every Gospel Minister that is in good standing in his own denomination will be received as an ambassador of Christ.

"There are in the House, seventy-two pews, twenty-two of which are to be kept as free seats for seamen, or persons unable or indisposed to hire. There will then be fifty pews to let, the most of which can be had for six dollars a pew. One Minister in this city has taken one pew, and made it free for some poor family. Will not other able Ministers and friends do likewise? and encourage the enterprise? The co-operation of the City Missionary and the friends of his mission, is earnestly solicited, to invite and persuade those who now do not attend public worship nor attend Sabbath schools, to come to the Old South, that they may enjoy the blessings of the gospel, and become bright stars to decorate crowns of rejoicing when God shall make up his jewels."

The meetings have commenced already—and said to be well attended. Rev. Samuel Hoyt is to be the preacher for the present, after the next Sabbath.

☞ The name of the Irish boy who was drowned on Monday evening, was Patrick Macaulay; his age was 19; and he was apprentice to Mr. Joseph H. Berry, blacksmith.

Naval.—The U. S. ship Cyane from Pensacola, is to touch at Norfolk, Va., and then proceed to this port.

A Female Sailor.—A schooner belonging to Harwich, came into Salem harbor one day this week, with a female helms-man who performed the duty with as much grace and apparent ease as could any veteran tar. We understand that she has long been in the habit of going to sea with her husband, who is owner and commander of the vessel, and that during any temporary indisposition of her "worser half," she performs his duties in a manner satisfactory to all concerned especially the "owners." Such a woman is a worthy helpmate.—Essex Freeman.

We saw a schooner sail from one of our wharves, a few days since, with a woman at the helm, and all the crew we could see to make sail, was her "good man."

Newburyport Taxes.—The Union gives a full list of all persons and estates in the city, that are assessed for $5000, and upwards.—There are but two estates, Mrs. S. W. Hale's, and the property of the late John Pettingell, that approach $1000 tax; and but one other person, Mr. John Currier, over $500. Besides these, there are twenty that are assessed over $200 each; and another class of seventy-four, whose bills exceed $100 each. The rate of percentage is $7 50 per thousand, and the total valuation is little short of six millions of dollars.

Episcopal Church in Boston.—At a clerical breakfast on Monday morning, partaken of by the resident ministers of the Protestant Episcopal Church within the city of Boston, the Rev. Dr. Eaton remarked that in the course of his ministry there, he had known at the Diocesan dinners, the whole number of Boston Clergy to be but one. On this occasion there were fifteen present out of twenty-six; the remaining eleven either being absent from their parishes or otherwise engaged in parochial labors.

The tail of a kite became entangled in the telegraph wires running through Port Chester, Pa. It took fire at its connection with both wires, and the piece between the wires, as well as the tail under the wires, fell to the ground, burned and went out.

Who Goes There?—We understand that Mr. Edmund Burke of New Hampshire, is now in Washington, taking a bird's eye view of the administration. Look out.—N. Y. Herald.

The School question is to be the great topic at the next election in Maryland. The Catholics and Protestants are making out separate nominations for Governor and members of the Legislature.

FRANKLIN C. GRAY.—We have already published two or three supposed causes for the suicide of the above mentioned unfortunate man, who killed himself or was killed by falling before a train of cars on the New Haven Railroad. The last cause mentioned, was the appearance of a former wife, from whom he was only half divorced, and who threatened to prosecute him for bigamy, &c.

This last story is now pronounced entirely false, by the New York Journal of Commerce, which says:

The first marriage of the deceased—who, we believe, was a native of Virginia—took place many years ago. The match was an unhappy one, and the wife, who was then residing in Illinois, petitioned for a divorce. This the husband, who was at that time in California, did not oppose, and in default of his appearance, the Circuit Court of Sangamon County at its special term in November, 1851, dissolved the marriage, and decreed that "the said parties are, and each of them is, freed from the obligations thereof:" and furthermore, that the woman should receive "the sum of $5000, and that her receipts for the same shall be a full and complete satisfaction for alimony, and in full of all other claims or demands whatsoever against said defendant on the part of said complainant, heretofore accrued or hereafter to accrue." We have seen a certified copy of decree, signed by Benjamin Tallbot, clerk of the above named Court, dated on the first day of December, 1851. Also the receipts of Mary Ann Gray for $5000, in full for alimony as above, and an addional sum of $300; by which it would seem that all the conditions of the decree had been fulfilled, and that both parties were left free to contract a second marriage.

On the 26th of March, 1853, Mr. Gray married at Washington, a young and accomplished lady, with (as we understand) a full knowledge on her part, of his position in regard to the former marriage, and a conviction of his perfect freedom to enter into a new alliance.—For a short time previous to his death, he was subject to a depression of spirits, brought on, it is supposed, by his having relinquished the pursuits of business, to which he had been accustomed. Among other hallucinations which harrassed him, this was one, viz., that, on account of his wealth, everybody was trying to take advantage of him. He had also on several occasions expressed much regret for the errors of his life, amounting at times to extreme remorse; and, to the agitation of mind thus produced, they who knew him best attribute the temporary derangement which resulted so fatally. He had always manifested the greatest affection for his young wife, and all his letters to her were profuse in expressions of confidence and regard.

We suppose the stories about his wealth being obtained by keeping a gambling-house in California, to be true, as they remain uncontradicted. His reflections on these things, with some morbid views of religion, were enough to make him insane and suicidal.

MEXICO.—An arrival at New Orleans, brings dates from the city of Mexico to the 16th of July.

The Mexican papers were bitterly opposing the project of a Spanish Protectorate and all return, whether partial or completeto, the Spanish yoke. The Union of the church and state was progressing. Crosses and decorations given by the pope were publicly distributed.

The penalty of death had been decreed against public defaulters.

SWIMMING MATCH.—A swimmiug race came off lately near Hartford, in the Connecticut river. On the shore there were large throngs of gentlemen and ladies, and the river for a long distance was filled with boats, giving to the whole scene quite a Venetian appearance. There was upwards of two thousand people present to witness the match. Seventeen swimmers entered—nine Americans and eight Germans. They swam one mile, MOLL, a German, winning the prize—a Yankee being second.

A NOVELTY IN RACING.—In the Louisville papers, a hurdle race is advertised to come off on the 4th of October next, for a gold medal—entrance $10. After giving conditions, ect., the advertiser says—"As the daughters of Kentucky especially are famous for their esquestrian elegance and proficiency, they are respectfully invited to enter the list of competitors for this prize; the gentlemen assuring them of no favors on accout of sex, in the grand melee, by fair competition. Ladies from abroad are also invited to participte in the contest.

NAVAL.—Commodore John T. Newton, Commander of the home squadron at Pensacola, who has been lying ill at Pensacola for some time past, died on the 18th. Commodore Newton was a native of Virginia.

P. S.—A false report—he is not dead.

A correspondent of the N. Y. Evening Pos attributes the obscure nervous diseases which have within the last few years changed neuralgia from a scientific term to a household word, to the use of water impregnated with lead, and refers to the published testimony of Drs. Mott, Parker, and S. C. Foster, in support of his theory.

The greatest folly of which parents can be guilty is to twist honesty, neglect charity, and starve themselves for the sake of giving their children a start, when they start them in a direction in which they are sure to ruin themselves.

The N. Y. Herald contains a call for the Union men of Massachusetts to assemble at Newburyport on the 2d Sept., preparatory to holding a national convention, but the call appears to be anonymous.

The Postmaster General has informed the departments that stamped envelopes are to be used only as a whole, and that stamps cut from the original envelopes and pasted on another are of no value.

USE OF ADVERSARIES.—The adversaries of a good cause are like men who strike at the coals of a large fire. They scatter the coals and propagate the fire.—Goethe.

PORTSMOUTH TO THE SHOALS.
SUMMER ARRANGEMENT.

Steamer Grace Darling,
CAPT. SAMUEL BILLINGS.

THE superior steamer Grace Darling, Capt. Billings, will leave Sheafe's Wharf, daily, (until further notice) at 10 o'clock, or on the arrival of the first morning trains on the Portsmouth & Concord and Eastern Railroads—and return from the Shoals in season to take the last trains for Concord, Boston and intermediate places.

This arrangement affords a fine opportunity for persons from abroad to visit one of the most desirable Summer resorts for the Invalid, and all others who are fond of Fishing, Bathing, and other amusements conducive to health and pleasure. The Islands (eight in number) are about an hour's sail from Portsmouth, by Steamer, where all the advantages from a sea-voyage can be secured, subject to none of its perils. The temperature is never more than 80 degrees in the shade, and seldom varies more than 10 degrees in 24 hours.

Hon. Thomas B. Laighton's Hotel on Appledore Island, designed and kept particularly for the Invalid, and also for the pleasure seeker, is one of the first class, where every convenience, both for luxury and comfort can be found.

The passage out is truly delightful—the scenery unsurpassed. PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S
Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.

FOR beautifying, curling, preserving, restoring and strengthening the Hair, relieving diseases of the Skin, curing Rheumatic Pains and healing external wounds. Bounded by no geographical lines, the reputation of Barry's Tricopherous pervades the Union. The sales of the article of late years have increased in a ratio that almost exceeds belief. Prof. Barry, after a careful examination of his sales book, finds that the number of bottles delivered to order, in quantities of from half a gross upward, during the year 1852, was within a trifle of 950,000.

It is unnecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself—The effects of the trial exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.

Liberal discount to purchasers by the quantity, and by the principal Merchants and Druggists through the United States, and Canada, Mexico, West Indies, Great Britain, France, &c., and by Weeks & Potter, Proprietors, Stevens & Cushing, and Wm. Brown, Boston. d&w6m je22*

MARRIAGE.

Happiness and Competence.

WHY IS IT?

That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life at a time when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant.

Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during girlhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.

IN AFTER YEARS,

When too late to be benefitted by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the full consequences of our ignorance.

What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years! And what days and nights of anguish might we have been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed. It is

MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING

To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for many years, from causes simple and controllable, easily remedied—or better still,—not incurred, if every

WIFE AND MOTHER

Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself

YEARS OF MISERY,

And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily devolving upon him from sickness of the wife, without giving him the opportunity of acquiring that competence which his exertions are entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.

SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS

By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands.

In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is excusable if she neglect to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—healthy bodies, with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work entitled

THE MARRIED WOMAN'S
Private Medical Companion.

BY DR. A. M. MAURICEAU,
PROFESSOR OF DISEASES OF WOMEN.

One Hundreth Edition. 18mo., pp. 250. Price 50 Cents.
[ON FINE PAPER, EXTRA BINDING, $1 00.]

First published in 1847, and it is not

SURPRIZING OR WONDERFUL,

Considering that EVERY FEMALE, WHETHER MARRIED OR NOT, can here acquire a full knowledge of the nature, character and causes of her complaints, with the various symptoms, and that nearly

should have been sold.

It is impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, as they are of a nature strictly intended for the married, or those contemplating marriage, but no female desirous of enjoying health, and that beauty, consequent upon health, which is so conducive to her own happiness, and that of her husband, but either has or will obtain it, as has or will every husband who has the love and affection of his wife at heart, or that of his own pecuniary improvement.

UPWARDS OF ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND COPIES

Have been SENT BY MAIL within the last few months.

CAUTION TO THE PUBLIC.

BE NOT DEFRAUDED!

Buy no book unless "Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, 129 Liberty Street, N. Y." is on the title page, and the entry in the Clerk's Office on the back of the title-page; and buy only of respectable and honorable dealers, or send by mail, and address to Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, as there are spurious and surreptitious infringements of copy-right.

LET EVERY WIFE AND HUSBAND PONDER!

No excuse for Ignorance, when Ignorance is Misery to those we hold near and dear, and when to dispel our Ignorance is within our reach.

To enable every one to decide upon the indispensable necessity of possessing a copy, and that no wife, or mother need remain uninformed upon the many causes, which, sooner or later, are destined to make fearful ravages upon her health, unless guarded against, and that no considerate and affectionate husband have cause to upbraid himself with neglect of the welfare of his wife—a pamphlet of thirty-six pages, containing full Title-page and Index of Contents, together with extracts from the book, will be sent free of charge to any part of the United States, by addressing, post-paid, as herein.

When Knowledge is Happiness, 'tis culpable to be ignorant.

REMOVAL.

DR. TURNBULL, Oculist and Aurist, from London, has removed from N. Y. Hotel, to WINTHROP HOUSE, BOSTON. Office hours from 8 to 2.

From the London Times.

A number of scientific gentlemen assembled yesterday at the house of Dr. Turnbull, in Russell square, to witness the results produced by a process recently discovered by the Doctor, and applied for the cure of deafness and blindness.

Between twenty and thirty patients attended, many of whom, it was stated by their parents, had been born deaf and dumb. They were submitted to various tests, by which it was proved that their deafness had been cured by the application of Dr. Turnbull's remedies, and what appears most singular is, that whether the disease depended on paralysis of the auditory nerve, rupture of the tympanum, or obstruction of the internal passages, relief has been obtained, or complete cure effected without pain or inconvenience. Several patients, who represented that they had been completely blind, said that they could now see perfectly well. jn28 2w

THE LAKE.

Indian names have sometimes a beautiful significance. Such is the case with a noble lake, among the hills in the "Old Granite State," whose name it puzzled our childish organs to speak or to spell—Winnipisiogee, pronounced Winni-pesaughee—which is, being interpreted—but let us tell it in verse:

"It is said the Indian, when with wayward foot,
He roamed the rugged forests of the north,
And climbed thy top, Red-Hill, and saw beneath,
Outspread in loveliness a broad expanse
Of crystal water, flashing back the ray
Of the meridian sun,—margined with hills,
Whose outline, soft or bold—wood-crowned or bare,
Is mirored in the faithful wave below,
And cradling on its breast fair sleeping isles,
Numerous as are the days that make the year—
When first the simple child of nature saw
This lovely vision from the mountain top,
His artless thought found utterance,—"It is the smile
Of the Great Spirit!"—or in his rude speech,
"Winni-pesaughee!" and the uncouth words
Still name the lake, though few their import know.

We call the Indian, savage; and we vaunt
Our better knowledge, and our holier faith:
Well for us, if our more enlightened eye
Saw in his lovely works a loving God,
With simple trust like this poor forest child's.
Then would the rose for us put on new bloom;
The cloud-swept sky arch over us like a wing
Of sheltering love; the fresh'ning green of earth
Would woo us, like a mother, to its breast;
The exultant birds would warble hope and cheer;
And the soft-babbling brooks, each ocean-bound,
Would tell of that eternity of love
To which true human love is tending now.
Then, would a child, fresh from its maker's hand,
Dimpling all over with the glow of life,
And rosy health, and trusting innocence,
Move us, with kindling gratitude, to say,
"It is the smile of the great Father's love!"

IMPORTANT DISCOVERY.
DOCTOR ALFRED G. HALL,

AUTHOR of the New Theory of cure by the NUTRITIVE PRINCIPLE, in Physiology and Medicine, sustaining the laws of life and removing the cause of disease, confirmed as a NATURAL SCIENCE by the Nutritive Process; expelling dead and depositing living matter at the same time in the Body, increasing its weight and strength while under treatment, being the great discovery of the constitutional power resisting desease; ample proof can be given in the person of any invalid.

Dr. H. receives visits, makes examinations, ascertains the cause of disease, describes the precise condition of the patient, furnishes prescriptions, medicines and recipes for his Nutritive Fluids and cordials.'

Three months' attention and treatment is requisite in all cases, with printed instructions, for diet and washing, and the use of the Alkaline Girdle for the spine and kidneys—a restorative action is produced in all parts of the system immediately by the natural laws sustained by nutrition.

He is the inventor and sole proprietor of 12 nutritive fluids; they can be made by any family—are adapted to the several temperaments, and to every form of disease. His works, "Views of the New Theory, &c.," "Womanhood," and the "Mother's Own Book," are furnished to invalids under his supervision. It is now before Congress.

Doctor Alfred G. Hall may be consulted by letter, or in person at his rooms, No. 13 Winter St., Boston, from 10 A.M. to 6 P.M. ☞ Medicines, &c. forwarded by Express to any part.

A New, Delicious Temperance Beverage.

AMBROSIAL MEAD!

THIS excellent Compound is prepared from the best SPANISH SARSAPARILLA, without its dark, repulsive appearance, being beautifully transparent and entirely free from all impurities. Its qualities as a beverage, a single trial will give it a pre-eminence over all other preparations by its freedom from noxious ingredients, agreeableness of flavor, and its exceeding cheapness, one bottle being sufficient to make thirty glasses of the beverage.

CAUTION!—The proprietors of this excellent preparation have spared no expense to bring it to perfection and would caution purchasers to buy none without the fac simile of Wilson, Fairbank & Co. on every bottle.

WILSON, FAIRBANK & Co., 13 and 15 Hanover st., Boston, sole manufacturers. Sold by all Druggists and Grocers throughout the country.

"A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered! Consumption can be cured!! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fell disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE!

N. B.—BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS, and observe the following Promissory Note, with the fac simile signature of the proprietor, on every genuine box:

"$00 05) On demand I promise to pay to the bearer FIVE MILLS for value received.

WILLIAM DEVINES."

DR. CONINE'S
SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.
The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER,

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

An Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is an AROMATIC, and it increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom
AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

READ! READ! READ!

DR. HAMPTON'S
VEGETABLE TINCTURE!

The Great Restorative and Invigorator of the System.

THIS article, which has made so many wonderful cures, was discovered by DR. JESSE HAMPTON, of Louisville, Ky., now in fine health in the 79th year of his age, and is acknowledged by those who have used it to be the best family medicine in use, and is WARRANTED FREE FROM ALL MINERAL SUBSTANCES. By its mild action on the STOMACH, LIVER and KIDNEYS, it will cure the diseases of those organs, with all chronic complaints, as

Dyspepsy, Cough, Asthma, Bronchial & Lung Affections, Pains in the Back, Side and Breast, Consumption, Scrofula, Fits, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Fistula, Fits, Bowel Complaint, Worms, Nervous Debility,

With all Diseases arising from Impure Blood.

As a FEMALE MEDICINE it has no equal! It will change the Complexion from a pallid to a blooming one.

Wherever introduced its success is unbounded. It has certificates from Hon. Henry Clay, Hon. R. M. Johnson, Vice President of the United States; Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore; the Spanish Consul; Judge Davis; Lund Washington; from a Chaplain of the U. S. Navy; from the State Department, Washington; from the brother of the Physician to the Emperor of France, who was cured by it after all other remedies had failed; and from hundreds of others, making up an amount of Testimony never before given to any other discovery of Medicine. A trial of it will convince the most skeptical.

We invite the public to call and get Pamphlets and see certificates of Cures. Read the following certificates of undoubted testimony:

From Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore.

COLONIZATION IN JAMAICA.

The Albany Evening Journal has a very interesting article on the Island of Jamaica, which closes by advising the emigration of free negroes to that island.

The writer says that when the British conquered Jamaica in 1655, they found 1300 black slaves there. Those thirteen hundred black men and women have been made the excuse for nearly two centuries of National crime.—Such were the authorities of slavery in that island, that although there 700,000 slaves imported, besides the vast number of children that must have been born in two hundred years—there were only remaining on the island 300,000 to be emancipated by the Act of 1832!

Great Britain yielded at last to the arguments of her Philanthropists and Statesmen, and passed the celebrated Law. The slaves were set free, and suddenly found themselves masters of their own limbs, to work or to be idle, to go or to stay, to live or to die, when and where they pleased. Long before this occurred, it had been clearly demonstrated that free labor would accomplish three times more than forced work; and the English Emancipationists were sanguine in their predictions that Jamaica and the sugar trade would be more prosperous than ever. But they were doomed to disappointment. Estates decayed. Rich property holders found themselves reduced to poverty. Plantations were neglected, and trade fell off. Various expedients were tried. It was sought to make apprentices supply the place of slaves. When that failed, Coelies were imported from India.—Then the Africans captured from slave ships by British cruisers were pressed into service. Then the free negroes were ordered to pay their rent in work. But none of these substitutes for slavery answered half as well as slavery itself, and Jamaica continued to decline.

Travellers through it, tell of mills shut up, and houses dilapidated, and fields run to weeds; and of the deserted warehouses, and grass grown streets of Kingston, where a few years ago there was so much bustle and activity and wealth.

These are the effects of the crime that went before Emancipation and the misgovernment that followed it. It is retribution, but it is for Slavery, not for Freedom. The sudden emancipation of the whole body of slaves changed their relations with their masters, without changing the habits of either. The planters tried to compel work by the expedients they used before. But the negroes were at liberty to resist or run away, and they did so. They tried to hire them, but could not afford to give such prices as would remunerate them, for the negroes had now to bear the expenses of their own support; and by the strange folly of the English Government, provisions that came to Jamaica were heavily taxed, and sugar that went from Jamaica was no longer protected in the English markets. The negroes soon found that they could get an easier living by each working on his own provision patch a little now and then, in pleasant weather, than by toiling day after day in his old master's sugar house. So their mud hovels gradually thinned out from the plantations and became scattered over the hills, and through the woods,—where their proprietors could enjoy what they had been taught, all their lives, to believe the summit of enjoyment—to be free, and do nothing. Uneducated and half barbarians, as the most of them were, it is not strange they were carelessness of anything more.

This state of affairs has gone on destroying all prospects of British commercial prosperity there down to the present time. The colonial residents have been driven to return to England in large numbers, and the island has been gradually becoming of less and less account in the eyes of the civilized world—less enlightened, less thriving, less busy; and by consequence, more degraded, wretched and unhappy.

Yet it cannot be doubted that the condition of the slaves is improved. Deplorable as their case is, they are infinitely better off than they were before. They are degraded and rude; but they are neither starved, or beaten, nor separated from their homes, nor killed in the service of sugar. If proof is wanted of their superior happiness, it can be found in the fact that instead of the frightful diminution of their number before emancipation, the colored population now steadily increases.

The reign of white men is over in Jamaica. That of their black successors has yet to commence. They cannot step at once into the vacant counting-rooms, and ships, and factories, and libraries; but they are working up gradually from their smoky huts and yam patches.

With 1849, the crisis was passed, and since then all clases in Jamaica have been improving. The sugar manufacture is resumed.—The value of exports is stated to be again arising. Church and school attendance are reported by the missionaries to be on the increase. Crime is less frequent. And a recent Scotch traveller, in describing the peasant proprietors in the mountain villages—the former slaves of the seaboard—compares their condition to that of the cottagers of the Highlands of his own country.

The free colored people of the United States are looking for an asylum. Prejudice and unjust enactments deprive them of their rights. Liberia is proposed, but distrusted because it is distant, poor and pestilential. Canada is tried and found cold and inhospitable. And at this time Jamaica appeals to them for help—help both for it and for themselves.

The great desideratum of Jamaica is a hard-working middle class such as could not exist under its old regime, and which, though now springing up with remakable quickness, is still far too small. Captured slaves, or prisoners of war, or Coolies, or Kroomen, cannot furnish recruits to this class, but far nearer than either Africa or India their are men who can.

The free colored people of the United States might supply this de ideratum by sending men who would carry with them their wives and children, many of them possessing no inconsiderable amount of capital, all of them trained under the industrial influence of that energetic example, which their white neighbors cannot help bestowing upon them.

DAILY
Morning Chronicle.
PORTSMOUTH:
THURSDAY, AUGUST 4, 1853.

THE FISHERIES.

A colonial newspaper called the Prince Edward Islander has the following remarks, under the head of "Protection" :—

"We should like to be informed, where is the gain to this island of driving off the American fisherman? Fully admitting that Brother Jonathan deserves retaliation, is it sound policy to put it in operation? Here we have, at an enormous expense to the mother country, an armament detached to protect fisheries around a colony whose people are better employed than to embark in their pursuit, and who would just catch about as many fish without that protection. Our farmers, too, have fresh provisions for sale, for which the Americans would readily pay their dollars, but our wise goverment and legislature won't permit them to purchase. Was there ever such an absurdity heard of in the transactions of private life? Verily we pay dearly for our retaliatory system.

A circumstance has come to our knowledge illustrative of the wisdom of granting bounties alike here and in the States. A schooner of this island, fitted out under the bounty act, has been in reality chartered, or hired, to the Americans for the season.

They will thus dry their fish ashore, and smuggle them into the States in an American bottom, to which they will be transferred in the gulf, whilst the owner of the schooner receives a bounty from the colony, which in fact goes into the pocket of the American under the form of a reduced rate of freight."

JUDGE AND JURY.

Blackstone and Hale agree in one estimate of the jury, in criminal cases,—in relation to which Blackstone says:

"And such public or open verdict may be either general, guilty or not guilty; or special, setting forth all the circumstances of the case, and praying the judgment of the court, whether, for instance, on the facts stated, it be murder, manslaughter, or no crime at all. This is where they doubt the matter of law, and therefore choose to leave it to the determination of the court. * * *
For, as Sir Matthew Hale well observes, it would be a most unhappy case for the judge himself, if the prisoner's fate depended upon his directions—unhappy also for the prisoner; for if the judge's opinion must rule the verdict, the trial by jury would be useless. Yet in many instances where contrary to evidence the jury have found the prisoner guilty, their verdict hath been mercifully set aside, and a new trial granted by the court of king's bench; for in such case, as hath been said, it cannot be set right by attaint. But there hath yet been no instance of granting a new trial where the prisoner was acquitted upon the first."

We commend these remarks to the consideration of every citizen who prizes his liberty or that of others.

MASSACHUSETTS CONVENTION.—This body has closed its session. Eight distinct propositions are to be submitted to the popular vote. In the first of these propositions is incorporated all the amendments sufficient to make a complete constitution. The other seven are as follows: the second contains the proviso to the article on writ of habeas corpus; third, the rights of juries to determine the law as well as fact in criminal cases; fourth, provides for judicial remedies in claims against the Commonwealth; fifth, abolition of imprisonment for debt; sixth, the provision relating to sectarian schools; seventh, the subject of general law for corporations; eight, general law for banks.

In case the first proposition (in itself a Constitution) is rejected, any of the seven other propositions which may be accepted, will be added to the Old Constitution.

The people are to vote on this question at the State Election, on the second Monday of November, and in case the new Constitution is accepted, it will go into operation in 1854.

THE DIFFERENCE.—Wisdom prepares for the worst, but folly leaves the worst for the day when it comes.

Solomon says, a prudent man foreseeth the evil and hideth himself, but the wicked pass on and are punished.

Jesus says, Take no thought for the morrow, for the morrow shall take thought for the things of itself; sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof.

We are not prepared to call Solomon wise and Jesus foolish, as the above little extract does. But we deem the sentiment of Solomon to be a proverbial expression of earthly wisdom;—while that of Jesus is a divine precept of heavenly trust. And the Christian who adopts it may truly say, "Though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death I will fear no evil—thy rod and thy staff they comfort me!"

☞ John M. Cooper has received the appointment of Postmaster of Newburyport.—That is the only office in town that will pay more than a mechanic's wages—so says the Union.

☞ A Philadelphia despatch of Aug. 3, states that a train of 10 platform cars, with 200 Irish laborers, ran off the track of the Delaware and Belvidere Railroad, near Lambertville, the evening before, killing 10 and badly wounding 15.

RUNAWAY APPRENTICE CASE.—At Philadelphia, on Saturday last, Judge Kane gave his opinion in the case of an absconding apprentice from Delaware, who was arrested in Philadelphia, recently, under the Fugitive Law, and decided that the law applied to all fugitives, whether white or black; and the runaway apprentice was accordingly ordered into the custody of his master.

Less than a month ago, we published another decision, exactly opposite to this, made by Commissioner Morton, at New York, in the case of an apprentice who ran away from New Jersey. Morton sustained his decision by a quotation from Judge Story, as may be seen by reference to the Daily Chronicle of July 8. These discrepancies show that great Judges are not infallible, and furnish strong arguments for trial by jury, in every case where liberty is concerned or called in question.

Capt. Campbell, of H. M. S. Devastation, who made himself so conspicuous last year in protecting the fisheries in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, has recently been promoted, and it is expected he will soon leave the station.

If the fishermen tell the truth, Capt. Campbell made himself quite as conspicuous in habitual drunkenness, as in anything else—and when drunk he was extremely insolent and overbearing, as some men are apt to be when in that condition.

PUTNAM'S MAGAZINE.—An article on the Cyrstal Palace forms the introductory chapter of the August issue of this sterling Magazine. Its remaining contents are all topics of interest and will richly repay a perusal. The high promise of the first volume of Putnam, appears to be abundantly sustained by the opening numbere of the second.

☞ Forrester's Boys' and Girls' Magazine, for August, 1852, contains Father Brighthopes, Rabbits, A Picture, Neddie Naylor's Inquiries, illustrated; and a great variety of juvenile reading besides. F. & G. C. Rand, publishers, Boston.

PAPERS IN PORTLAND.—We have received a new and able daily paper from Portland, entitled, the State of Maine. Our old and valued exchange, the Portland Daily Advertiser, is enlarged. The opening of the Montreal & St. Lawrence Railroad is the occasion for these agreeable novelties.

ENGLISH ITEMS.—The whole amount subscribed for the great Wellington testimonial is only £82,000. It was expected that £400,000 would have been raised ere this.

Pickering, the publisher in Piccadilly, has failed. He has been publishing some expensively illustrated work, not remembering that cheap literature has become the order of the day. Pickering is a man of erudition, taste, and enterprise, but not a man of business.

The crown and half-crown pieces are gradually being withdrawn, and the silver florin (of two shillings) is getting largely into circulation. All this is believed to be antecedent to the adoption in this country of the decimal coinage.

A FLAW NOT IN THE LAW.—The office o the Clerk of the city of Portland was robbed early in June last, and indictments, together with all the accompanying papers, in the liquor cases (some 30 or 40 in number), then pending in Cumberland county, were stolen from the Clerk's office, together with the docket itself. The matter was kept a secret in the hope of discovering the guilty parties, so that when the Court commenced the Clerk appeared with his docket, and the cases were called as usual. But, as the time approached for the trials, the County Attorney was obliged to state the facts, and the parties escaped without a trial.

A new invention, in the form of a life and fire bucket for steamers, has recently made its appearance. It is described as rather larger than an ordinary water bucket, but holds no more water, the bottom and sides being filled with cork, enough to support two persons each in the sea. It is intended to take the place of the common buckets kept standing with water on the decks of steamboats, and in case of need to serve as a life-preserver.

The venerable John Sinclair, Archdeacon of Middlesex, has been appointed by the English Bishops to return the recent visit of the American Episcopalian Clergymen to England. Archdeacon S. is the brother of Miss Catharine Sinclair, the authoress, the Dowager Countess of Glasgow, and Sir George Sinclair, of Thurso, Scotland. He sails for America on the 5th of August.

FREEING SLAVES.—The Cincinnati Gazette mentioned, a few days since, that a gentleman from Kentucky had brought a family of slaves to that city and manumitted them. On Friday morning, Mr. J. Townsend, residing in the same neighborhood, gave freedom, in the same place, to three of his blacks; a fourth, whom he desired to set free, peremptorily refused to leave his master.

A BRITISH STEAMER.—The British steamer Medea, Com. Baley, from Halifax arrived in Boston on Saturday last. It was supposed she had despatches for Washington. The Boston Transcript says "a wag at our elbow suggests that she probably put in here to tender her services to tow the steamer Princeton to the Fishing grounds. But as this is rather wicked, we don't believe it."

A very little boy about to be sworn as a witness in a criminal court at Washington, Tuesday, was asked by the Judge what would become of him if he swore falsely? He replied: "I would be burned with fire and brimstone forever!" This was considered quite sufficient to constitute him a competent witness. Boston Mail.

LOCAL.

SAD ACCIDENT.

On Wednesday morning, about ten o'clock, as the schooner Frank, Capt. Handy, of Barnstable, was getting ready to go to sea from the Pier wharf in this city, a man named Mortimer S. Allen, a seaman on board her, fell from aloft, struck on the rail of the vessel, fell overboard and sunk immediately. Injured as he was by the fall, he probably did not breathe at all, but was swept away by the deep and rapid current, beyond the reach of present recovery.

The man was engaged in loosening the gaff topsail of the schooner, and his fall was occasioned by the breaking of the topmast shroud, a small and weak rope, unworthy of being trusted with a human life. The young man's age was 20 years; and he belonged to Albany, N. Y.

HIGH SCHOOLS.—The erection of proper buildings for the accommodation of these schools in our good city, is a subject which demands much attention; and it is, therefore, gratifying to learn that the City Council are to take up the subject this evening.

DR. COLTON AND THE MESSENGER.

Dr. Colton, who acted as Dr. Boynton's agent in making arrangements here for his fine lectures, sent us a communication of a personal kind, which we thought it not worth while to publish; and in declining to do so, gave the true reasons for it. But our good natured neighbor, the Messenger, is not satisfied with this, and says:

"We know the editor of the Chronicle just well enough to be assured that he would have published the communication alluded to had he believed it would injure us more than his contemptible insinuation against us in his laudation of "Dr. Colton;" and "widely" as he is known, we shall not be deterred from uttering such truths as we deem proper, through any fear of his sneers."

After this courteous reply to our own well meant paragraph, we deem it exactly worth while to publish Dr. Colton's communication in full, without note or comment, other than to say, that Dr. C. has been for years widely known as a literary, scientific and professional man; and so far as we saw him here, is an excellent manager. We were not aware that he had not advertised in the Messenger, until that paper so stated; as we mentioned the name of that paper with the others, when he first called on us, and supposed he would advertise in all.

CONCORD, N. H., July 29, 1853.

EDITORS OF THE CHRONICLE:—Dear Sirs: My attention has been called to an article in the "Messenger" of your city, in which the editor attempts to explain why he had made no allusion to Dr. Boynton's Geological Lectures. As this reply would probably not be inserted in the columns of the Messenger, I ask that you will give it a place in your paper. The editor of the Messenger says,—"Before the course was commenced, the agent of Dr. B. came to our office and desired us to give the Doctor a commendatory notice in advance, in consideration of a few tickets to the lectures." This statement is essentially incorrect. I did not ask for a "commendatory notice" at all, nor did I offer the tickets in consideration of such notice. I simply stated that I came to present the editor some tickets to the lectures, and at the same time suggested that if he was pleased to say a word about the lectures in his paper, I should be grateful for it. I am not in the habit of bargaining with editors about "commendatory notices in advance."

The editor of the Messenger continues:—"Our reply was that we did not sell editorial puffs at any such price. Our advertising columns were open, &c." It seems from this, that although the editor was not willing to sell editorial puffs at any "such price," he was willing to sell them for an "advertisement."—Dr. Boynton never authorized me to buy any man's opinion, and therefore I left the office—not in a "miff," as the editor states. All the other editors in Portsmouth, deemed the lectures worthy of encouragement, and stated so in their papers, without waiting to have their opinion bought by an advertisement.

The editor complains because I gave the advertisement to all the papers in Portsmouth except the Messenger. As he has thought proper to give the reason why he made no allusion to the Doctor's lectures, I may be allowed to give the reason why I gave him no advertisement. It was simply because it was not for my interest to do so. I found upon inquiry, that the Messenger was a paper of small circulation, and less influence, and that it would be next to throwing money away to advertise in it. Therefore I concluded that a few tickets were worth all that the editor could say in favor of the lectures—but I made no condition of this kind. Surely if it had been for my interest, I should have advertised in the Messenger.

The lectures were attended by the most select class of citizens and by the largest number ever assembled for such a purpose in Portsmouth—such was the report in the other city papers. Whether this success was attributable in any degree to the silence of the Messenger I am not able to say. Lacon remarks—"It it safer to be opposed by some men, than protected by them." This may apply to the Messenger.

The insinuation that all the other papers in Portsmouth had puffed the Doctor into notice, because they had received an advertisement, I leave for them to settle. When the editor of the Messenger sells his opinion respecting Dr. Boynton's lectures, he must bargain with some one besides IMPORTANT ARREST.—The police arrested in Boston on Tuesday afternoon, Wm. B. Bradley, on the charge of stealing a wagon some time since. The wagon was identified by some boys, as Bradley was riding in it. They followed it to a stable in K street, South Boston, and then gave information which led to the arrest of Bradley. Upon searching the stable a stolen horse, wagon, chaise, carryall and express wagon, were found, together with a carpet and other articles. At the house where he resided, in Middlesex street, was found a large assortment of articles in the jewelry line, and small articles that bespoke a very miscellaneous dealing, loaded pistols, counterfeit money, and other things too numerous to particularize. The stable was hired by Bradley of the South Boston omnibus company, under the name of Lysander Brown, 79 State Street. In his possession was a case of cards which read—"United States Engineers. Officers:—Wm. B. Bradley, Com'd.; Theo. Grant, Capt.; C. J. M. Bradley, 1st. Lieut.; Chas. Frank Temple, 2d do. S.S." Bradley is the only one of the firm yet taken. Bradley is an old offender, and was in state prison when Rogers killed the warden, and was pardoned out for being a witness on the trial.

A PLEASANT INTERRUPTION. The New-York correspondent of the Boston Post gives the following pleasant incident which will be interesting to all who take an interest in the fortunes of Thomas Francis Meagher, the Irish exile:

"Let me mention a pleasant dinner party and a more pleasant interruption which occurred last Saturday. Meagher expected his wife and father, (Thomas Meagher, member of parliament for Waterford,) to arrive on Sunday morning, and some gentlemen resolved to give him a "farewell dinner" at Delmonico's Hotel, Broadway. They met at six to drive away the last hours of the exile's second bachelorhood with discourse suited to the solemn occasion; but scarcely had the first course been removed before the cannon at the Battery boomed out—one—two—three—four: the English steamer, by all that's matrimonial and delicious! We looked at the victim of this premature happiness, but he never flinched; he departed rejoicing, and the guests mingled tears in their soup as they looked at his empty chair."

ELEGANT CHURCH.—The Catholic Cathedral at Milwaukee, a beautiful new building on an eminence overlooking Milwaukee, was consecrated on Sunday, July 31. It has a front of 80 feet, and is 180 feet deep—the walls of cream colored pressed brick, with door-ways and cornices of light colored freestone—the style, Greecian without and Roman within. The tower will be 266 feet high, with four bells and a clock with four transparent dials; The main altar, made in Belgium, is decorated with sculptured Marble. The wood carving was done by Charles Geeetz, of Louvain, and the candlesticks, six feet high, were made in France. The window over the main altar is of painted glass from the royal manufactory in Munich, and represents a dove descending. The stained glass for the other windows was made at Pittsburg. The organ, of 31 stops and over 500 pipes, by Schwab, of Cincinnati. The pews, 220 of them, will hold six persons each. The paintings, sculpture and other decorations are worthy of this fine building, which has been completed without debt, by the unceasing exertions of Bishop Henni.

SERIOUS STAGE ACCIDENT.—New York, August 2.—During the storm of Saturday night, a stage containing eight passengers, was precipitated into a deep ravine near Sharon Springs. PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S
Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.

FOR beautifying, curling, preserving, restoring and strengthening the Hair, relieving diseases of the Skin, curing Rheumatic Pains and healing external wounds. Bounded by no geographical lines, the reputation of Barry's Tricopherous pervades the Union. The sales of the article of late years have increased in a ratio that almost exceeds belief. Prof. Barry, after a careful examination of his sales book, finds that the number of bottles delivered to order, in quantities of from half a gross upward, during the year 1852, was within a trifle of 50,000.

It is unnecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanatory given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself.—The effects of the first bottle exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.

Liberal discount to purchasers by the quantity, and by the principal Merchants and Druggists through the United States, and Canada, Mexico, West Indies, Great Britain, France, &c., and by Weeks & Potter, Brewers, Stevens & Cushing, and Wm. Brown, Boston. d&w6m je22*

MARRIAGE.

Happiness and Competence.

WHY IS IT?

That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life at an age when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant.

Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during girlhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.

IN AFTER YEARS,

When too late to be benefitted by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the full consequences of our ignorance.

What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years! And what days and nights of anguish we might not have been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed. It is

MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING

To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for many years, from causes simple and controllable, easily remedied—or better still,—not incurred, if every

WIFE AND MOTHER

Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself

YEARS OF MISERY,

And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily devolving upon him from sickness of the wife, without giving him the opportunity of acquiring that competence which his exertions are entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.

SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS

By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands.

In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is excusable if she neglect to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—healthy bodies, with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work entitled

THE MARRIED WOMAN'S
Private Medical Companion.

BY DR. A. M. MAURICEAU,
PROFESSOR OF DISEASES OF WOMEN.

One Hundreth Edition. 18mo., pp. 250. Price 50 Cents.

[ON FINE PAPER, EXTRA BINDING, $1 00.]

First published in 1847, and it is not

SURPRIZING OR WONDERFUL,

Considering that EVERY FEMALE, WHETHER MARRIED OR NOT, can here acquire a full knowledge of the nature, character and causes of her complaints, with the various symptoms, and that nearly

should have been sold.

It is impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, as the work is a STORE strictly intended for the married, or those contemplating marriages, but no female desirous of enjoying health, and that beauty, consequent upon health, which is so conducive to her own happiness, and that of her husband, but either has or will obtain it, as has or will every husband who has the love and affection of his wife at heart, or that of his own pecuniary improvement.

UPWARDS OF ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND COPIES

Have been SENT BY MAIL within the last few months.

CAUTION TO THE PUBLIC.

BE NOT DEFRAUDED!

Buy no book unless "Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, 129 Liberty Street, N. Y." is on the title page, and the entry in the Clerk's Office on the back of the title-page; and buy only of respectable and honorable dealers, or send by mail, and address to Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, as there are spurious and surreptitious infringements of copy-right.

LET EVERY WIFE AND HUSBAND PONDER!

No excuse for Ignorance, when Ignorance is Misery to those we hold near and dear, and when to dispel our Ignorance is within our reach.

To enable every one to decide upon the indispensable necessity of possessing a copy, and that no wife, or mother need remain uninformed upon the many causes, which, sooner or later, are destined to make fearful ravages upon her health, unless guarded against, and that no considerate and affectionate husband have cause to upbraid himself with neglect of the welfare of his wife—a pamphlet of thirty-six pages, containing Table of Title-pages and Index of Contents, together with extracts from the book, will be sent free of charge to any part of the United States, by addressing, post-paid, as herein.

When Knowledge is Happiness, 'tis culpable to be ignorant.

☞ On receipt of One Dollar (for the fine Edition, extra binding,) "THE MARRIED WOMAN'S PRIVATE MEDICAL COMPANION" is sent (mailed free) to any part of the United States. All letters must be post-paid, and addressed to Dr. A. M. MAURICEAU, Box 1224, New York City. Publishing Office, No. 129 Liberty Street, New York.

REMOVAL.

DR. TURNBULL, Oculist and Aurist, from London, has removed from N. Y. Hotel, to WINTHROP HOUSE, BOSTON. Office hours from 8 to 2.

From the London Times.

A number of scientific gentlemen assembled yesterday at the house of Dr. Turnbull, in Russell square, to witness the results produced by a process recently discovered by the Doctor, and applied for the cure of deafness and blindness.

Between twenty and thirty patients attended, many of whom, it was stated by their parents, had been born deaf and dumb. They were submitted to various tests, by which it was proved that their deafness had been cured by the application of Dr. Turnbull's remedies, and what appears most singular is, that whether the disease depended on paralysis of the auditory nerve, rupture of the tympanum, or obstruction of the internal passages, relief has been obtained, or complete cure effected without pain or inconvenience. Several patients, who represented that they had been completely blind, said that they could now see perfectly well. ju23 2w

IMPORTERS AND JOBBERS OF
Rich Silks, Paris Dress Goods, Shawls, Gloves, Embroideries, White Goods, Ribbons, &c., invite the attention of merchants from all sections to their unrivalled assortment of

Silk and Fancy Dry Goods,

Imported with special reference to the wants of first class buyers, and in three important particulars, viz.: TASTE, VARIETY AND PRICE, believed to be unequalled.

Messrs. E. L. & Co., having been engaged in this business for many years in Philadelphia, where the taste is not unlike, in many respects, to that of the Northern and Eastern States, they would call particular attention to their styles, many of which are controlled entirely by them.

It having been remarked that our business is almost exclusively Southern, we would beg leave to say that our goods are adapted to every section of the United States, Northern, Southern, Eastern and Western, and that in style and price they will be found equal to any other House.

APPLES FOR MILCH COWS.—Five minutes ago a gentleman, who deals in facts and figures, as well as fine cattle, informed us that he had fed out last winter more than two hundred barrels of sweet apples to his milch cows, and that the increased quantity and richness in quality of the milk paid him better than any other use to which he could have applied them. He states that he is planting trees annually for the purpose of raising apples for stock. Another important statement of his is, that since he has fed apples to his cows, there has not been a case of milk fever among them.—N. E. Farmer.

Lieut. Beale writes that in his exploration west he has come across the Huerfano Butte, a curious pillar, sugar loaf in shape, of solid rock, and about three hundred feet in height. Whereupon Col. Benton exclaims, enthusiastically, "but that Huerfano Butte!—solid rock, three hundred feet high, sugar loaf form, visible twelve miles—that column built by the hands of Nature to receive a statue of Columbus, pointing to the west and saying to the magic car as it flies along, 'That is the road to India!'"

IMPORTANT DISCOVERY.

DOCTOR ALFRED G. HALL,

AUTHOR of the New Theory of cure by the NUTRITIVE PRINCIPLE, in Physiology and Medicine, sustaining the laws of life and removing the cause of disease, confirmed as a NATURAL SCIENCE by the Nutritive Process; expelling dead and depositing living matter at the same time in the Body, increasing its weight and strength within under treatment, being the great discovery of the constitutional power resisting desease; ample proof can be given in the person of any invalid.

Dr. H. receives visits, makes examinations, ascertains the cause of disease, describes the precise condition of the patient, furnishes prescriptions, medicines and recipes for his Nutritive Fluids and cordials.

Three months' attention and treatment is requisite in all cases, with printed instructions, for diet and washing, and the use of the Alkaline Girdle for the spine and kidneys—a restorative action is produced in all parts of the system immediately by the natural laws established by nutrition.

He is the inventor and sole proprietor of 12 nutritive fluids; they can be made by any family—are adapted to the several temperaments, and to every form of disease. His works, "Views of the New Theory, &c.," "Womanhood," and the "Mother's Own Book," are furnished to invalids under his supervision. It is now before Congress.

Doctor Alfred G. Hall may be consulted by letter, or in person at his rooms, No. 15 Winter St., Boston, from 10 A.M. to 5 P.M. ☞ Medicines, &c. forwarded by Express to any part.

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered! Consumption can be cured!! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fell disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE!

DR. CONINE'S

SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.

The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and efficient remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER,

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

An Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers never in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

DR. HAMPTON'S VEGETABLE TINCTURE!

The Great Restorative and Invigorator of the System.

THIS article, which has made so many wonderful cures, was discovered by DR. JESSE HAMPTON, of Louisville, Ky., now in fine health in the 79th year of his age, and is acknowledged by those who have used it to be the BEST family medicine in use, and is WARRANTED FREE FROM ALL MINERAL SUBSTANCES. By its mild action on the STOMACH, LIVER and KIDNEYS, it will cure the diseases of those organs, with all chronic complaints, as

Dyspepsy, Cough, Asthma, Bronchial & Lung Affections, Pains in the Back, Side and Breast, Consumption, Scrofula, Fits, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Fistula, Fits, Bowel Complaint, Worms, Nervous Debility,

With all Diseases arising from Impure Blood.

As a FEMALE MEDICINE it has no equal! It will change the Complexion from a pallid to a blooming one.

Wherever introduced its success is unbounded. It has certificates from Hon. Henry Clay, Hon. R. M. Johnson, Vice President of the United States; Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore; the Spanish Consul; Judge Davis; Lund Washington; from a Chaplain of the U. S. Navy; from the State Department, Washington; from the brother of the Physician to the Emperor of France, who was cured by it after all other remedies had failed; and from hundreds of others, making up an amount of Testimony never before given to any other discovery of Medicine. A trial of it will convince the most skeptical.

We invite the public to call and get Pamphlets and see certificates of Cures. Read the following certificates of undoubted testimony:

From Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore.

DAILY

PORTSMOUTH:
FRIDAY, AUGUST 5, 1853.

For the Chronicle.

THE JURY SYSTEM.

Messrs. Editors:—You seem to approve the decision of the Massachusetts Constitutional Convention, in favor of incorporating a provision in the Constitution that the jury in criminal cases have the right to judge of both the law and the facts. This old doctrine may perhaps be popular; but there are two sides to the question. We regret that the subject has at this time been brought before the public, because as it reaches to the root of our liberties, it may not yet be fully understood by the people, and new lights are just beginning to dawn upon them. The modern doctrine is, and it is sanctioned by the late Chief Justice Parker, Justice Curtis of the Supreme Court of the United States, and many of our ablest lawyers, that the Court has the exclusive right to decide the law, while the jury decide the facts. Against the new doctrine you quote the opinions of former English judges and jurists—such as Blackstone and others. Now we admit, for it would be of no use to deny what you can easily show by the law book, that by the old common law, and the decisions of the English and American Courts, until within a recent period, the jury were allowed to judge of the law and the facts. And the constitutions of Massachusetts and New Hampshire seem to support the old doctrine. But do all these prove that the new doctrine is incorrect? Are we to be bound down forever to old musty books and old decisions? Is not this an age of progress as well as new light? Why should there not be an improvement in law as well as every thing else? The question is whether the judges are not more competent to decide the law than twelve ignorant men, selected from the common classes? What do the common people know about law? They have never made it their study, and perhaps have never opened a law book. They are competent to decide about farming operations, mechanical and mercantile business, according to their several pursuits, but deliver us from them in settling the law. Why are judges selected for their legal training and learning, and placed upon the bench, unless they are to decide the law and the jury are bound to obey as the courts decide it? They have long experience, too, and that experience enables them to look into the whole merits of a case, and see upon which side justice lies. The English adopted the jury system, and so did we, as a sort of experiment, and now after a fair trial of it, many, learned in the law, in both countries, perceive that this "sacred mode of procedure" as the constitution calls it—"the Bulwark of English liberties," as Blackstone says, is imperfect and has become a failure. It has been kept up so long by mere popular prejudice in its favor. If it was a perfect system, as some boast, why has it not been adopted in other countries? In Naples, which is about as large and as populous as New York, the judges decide every thing, there being no jury, and the people are content—and so it is in other populous places. As a general rule, the juries in this country ever have and ever will implicitly obey the charge of the court. Such being the fact, why need the public be put to the great expense of longer supporting the old system? The modern doctrine may at first startle the timorous, but let us in candor look at it, and see whether the new theory would not improve our judiciary systems? Let us not reject a theory simply because it is new.

REFORMER.

Nay, nay; friend Reformer. Judges are older than juries, in English history. The jury was an innovation upon the old usage, wherein the judge, who was the creature of royal creation, and often a very poor creature too, was strongly tempted to do the bidding of the king, whether just or unjust. The manliness of the jurors in some cases of early record, stands like the first mile stone to make the upward progress of the English people, in the way from despotic rule to liberty secured by law.

In 1751, in the reign of Geo. II., a prosecution of the Crown, instituted at the request, and founded on a vote of the House of Commons, was commenced against the publishers of a pamphlet in vindication of the Hon. Alexander Murray. "Nevertheless when the cause was heard before the Lord Chief Justice of England; a jury of freeborn Englishmen, citizens of London, asserted their privilege of judging the law as well as the fact, and acquitted the Defendant, with a truly admirable spirit of independence."

Upon the trial of Algernon Sidney, Lord Chief Justice Jeffries (the infamous) told the jury they were bound to take the law as the Court decided it. They obeyed and convicted Sidney; but his attainder was afterwards reversed by an act of Parliament, and Jeffries' decision has been held up to the detestation of posterity.

Tho. B. Jones has disposed of his pecuniary interest in the Crusader of Reform, to the Rev. Daniel Lancaster of Concord. Mr. Lancaster will improve the paper, as to its matter and temper. He is capable of making a good moral paper, which ought to have a large circulation; we hope he will do it, and meet his reward.

KENTUCKY ELECTION.—The following gentlemen are said to be elected Representatives to Congress:—1st district, Lynn Boyd, dem., re-elected; 3d, Presley Ewing, whig; 7th, William Preston, whig; 8th, J. C. Breckenridge, dem.; 10th, Richard H. Stanton, dem.

FOREIGN HUMBUGS.

LET THEM STAY AWAY.—It is said that Grisi and Mario have refused to come to this country, and fulfil their contract, unless twenty thousand dollars is paid to them in advance. It is added that Mr. Hackett, who is understood to have engaged them, has gone abroad, hoping to "smooth the troubled waters." We hope he will fail. The greediness of foreign singers has reached a point that it is disgraceful for Americans to endure, and the sooner that a check is given to it, the better for our dignity and purses. The enormous prices we have been paying for music, ever since the Jenny Lind fever, have justly made us the laughing stock of intelligent Europeans. It is one thing to support the opera, and quite another to squander money; yet, in buying up foreign artists with unprecedented salaries, we do more of the last than the first. The sums that have lately been given for this species of amusement, are beyond example extravagant, in fact utterly disproportioned to the pleasure received. In a word, we have been paying, as Franklin said, "too dear for our whistle." Yet, instead of reforming, we are about going deeper into folly, at least, if Grisi and Mario come, we shall do so, for the salaries they ask exceed even all former absurdities in the same line. For these reasons we hope that Mr. Hackett will refuse to submit to the exorbitant demands of the two artists.

The Boston Courier remarks that the above complaints from the Philadelphia Bulletin are very reasonable, for it is in no wise creditable to the public discernment, that standard places of amusement, with respectable singers and actors, and skilful and judicious general management, are not appreciated at all during the whirlwind which follows the track of those bright particular stars, and when old and established favorites are coldly set aside, while the multitude follows the god or goddess of the day. Still novelty will draw its thousands when fully heralded, while talent must suffer the failures and rebuffs which have attended its onward course from time immemorial.

THE CHINA MISSION.—Some Washington letter-writers state that there is great uncertainty as to the time when Mr. R. J. Walker will depart on his mission to China. He, it is said, will not go, unless he can have a U. S. steamer, on board of which he can proceed from point to point, and make it his home most of the time. A writer for the North American says—

But, such is the unfortunate condition of our Navy, that we have no means of sending him to his post. The Princeton has failed, the Allegbany and San Jacinto are no better, and, even if reliable, are unfit for such a service; and the Saranac, if good for anything when her repairs are completed, is exceedingly slow, and therefore not suited to the purpose. She is, beside, a side-wheel steamer, and could make little or no headway by use of her sails, especially against the monsoons; while it is almost certain she cannot carry fuel enough to take her from one coaling depot to another. But even if these objections did not exist, there is hardly a possibility that she could reach Shanghae before the 1st of March next, when we may find the revolutionists in Pekin, with its gates closed perpetually against the United States—the trade of China to us a sealed book, to be opened, perhaps, when another century shall have produced still another successful rebellion.

The same writer and some New York journals intimate that the United States government should purchase some one of the American ocean steamers to take the minister to the seat of his mission. It is not publicly known whether this is Mr. Walker's plan, or whether it is a private speculation—the Boston Courier thinks the latter, and very charitably suggests that Uncle Sam has $23,000,000 surplus money in his treasury, and that the cost of an ocean steamer would be but a small portion of this vast sum, upon which so many anxious speculators have their eyes earnestly fixed, every one of them having some excellent project for the benefit of his country, and for purging her plethora of cash.

THE FISHERY QUESTION.—The Gloucester Telegraph says—

The British have only to take one or two more steps of aggression towards our fishermen to kindle into a flame the spirit which is now smouldering in the bosoms of the insulted freemen of this country. There are men now pursuing their avocations in the waters where their right to fish is at present acknowledged, who will not submit again to the insults they received last year. Should they again be treated in like manner, they will surely resent it; and the first shedding of blood will be but the signal for arousing the whole fishing people of New England.

The only course for our government to pursue, is to replace the duty upon the fish and other products of the Provinces, which was formerly levied. This will soon bring those people to their senses, and they will be glad enough to concede to us all our rights. Until this is done, however, we may expect nothing but insult and arrogance.

Very good.

IN BAD COMPANY.—Quincy Hirshey, who was arrested with the gang of counterfeiters at Cincinnati, recently, proved upon examination to have a respectable character, a foreman of a railroad gang of workmen, who attended steadily to his business, and whose only connection with the counterfeiters was boarding in the same house with them. He was discharged. Among the articles shown on examination, was an old sack, which was found in a chicken coop in an out house, and which contained a quantity of charcoal, on emptying which, at the bottom was found, covered up in an old rag, a large number of bundles of new bank bills, all cut, numbered and signed, of the denomination of $5, spurious issue of the Fairfield County Bank, Norwalk, Connecticut.

LOCAL.

City Council—Aug. 4.

In Board of Aldermen, the petition for a new High School House was taken up, and referred to the Committee on School Houses, to which Ald. Brown was added, and such as the Council may add—sent down for concurrence.

A communication was received from Ebenezer Lord, including a bill of $25 for damages to his buildings in Penhallow street by rowdies, and asking protection in future—laid on the table.

Several bills were approved—among them Mr. Coburn's bill for the Collation on the 4th July, for $1012.25, including $100 for his services.

In the Common Council, a report was received from the Aldermen, recommending the purchase of two new Engines in place of Nos. 1 and 6, and building a reservoir at the South end—concurred in.

A message was received from the Aldermen relating to the erection of a new High School House or Houses, and concurred in. Messrs. Whittem, Gerrish, Brewster and L. M. Laighton were appointed a committee on the part of the Council. It was also voted that the Council visit the present High School rooms.

"BON CHAT, BON RAT."—This old French proverb "a good cat, a good rat," meaning that one will catch the other, is now to be applied anew, with some improvements. A gentleman in this city has a good motherly cat, whose last litter of four kittens was deemed too numerous for rearing, and all but one were accordingly consigned to the rearing tide.—Old puss was not to be deprived entirely of her maternal pleasures; nor could she exactly get rid of her mousing propensities. In an odd mixture of feeling she caught three young rats, and having apparently devoured part of one of them, (whose remains were found in her nest,) has adopted the other two as her own children, and is now rearing them as foster-brothers with her surviving kitten, presenting as odd a happy family as can readily be found.

STATE AGRICULTURAL FAIR.

The Committee of Arrangements for the New Hampshire Annual State Fair determines to excell all former fairs in the extent and character of the preparations in progress. The location is the same as in 1851, a short distance from the Manchester railroad station. A high and close fence will surround the field of twenty acres, and a building from 500 to 800 feet in length will be erected and made strong and tight, so as to protect articles presented from the weather. From appearances the arrangements will be very perfect and expensive, and the fair will surpass all its predecessors.

☞ The Great Falls Manufacturing Company held their annual meeting for the choice of officers, at their counting room in Somersworth, on Wednesday of last week. They partook of a dinner prepared by C. Bachelder, Esq., of the Great Falls Hotel.

The Great Falls Journal states that a semi-annual dividend of five per cent., has been declared by the directors.

The last number of the Edinburgh Review contains an article on "Education in the United States," in which is the following remark:—

"A few years since the question was asked by a distinguished divine, "Who reads an American book?" The question now is, "Who does not read an American book, journal or newspaper?"

This is cool. It so happens that it was the Edingurgh Review itself that asked the question now so complacently shuffled off upon the "distinguished divine."

That divine, we suppose, was the Rev. Sydney Smith.

EXTRA CAUTION.—A cotemporary tells the story of a shop-keeper, who savagely refused a bank bill presented at his counter by a little girl, not because it was not "genuine enough" but because it was "a one altered from a twenty." Mistakes like this, though not quite so ludicrous, constantly occur in stores where persons are employed who know nothing about the face of money. Some months ago, a lady, in Boston, handed a clerk on Washington street a silver dollar. He pronounced it counterfeit, and although the matter was a small one, the customer was covered with confusion.—The disputed dollar was handed to a broker immediately, who briefly said, "Good," and threw out a bill from his drawer in exchange. The same lady last week made up a bill of parcels at a dry goods store, and handed a $5 bill on the Woodstock, Vt., Bank. The lady clerk consulted her bank-note table and read "Old Bank of Woodstock closed," and no explanation would satisfy her that another bank with a different name had taken the place of the Bank of Woodstock. The bill of "miscellanies" which had been selected and measured was left, and the buyer left the store with a suspicion upon her that she was a passer of bogus money. A wise caution is proper, but timorous ignorance is a nuisance.

ARRIVAL OF THE WASHINGTON.

Four Days Later from Europe.

NEW YORK, Aug. 4th.—The steamship Washington arrived this morning at 10 o'clk, bringing dates to July 20.

Increased confidence is felt in the maintenance of peace.

A ministerial crisis appeared in Constantinople. A conspiracy had been discovered to depose the Sultan and substitute his brother, and declare war against Russia. Fifteen conspirators had been bow-stringed.

The Hungarian refugee Kosta had been given up to the French consul at Smyrna, to await the result of negotiations. The account states that the Austrian and American corvettes had cleared decks for action, when the French and English Consuls interfered and prevented a conflict.

The head-quarters of the Russian army had been established at Bucharest. Eighty thousand troops were encamped in the environs, and troops were still marching from Vienna to Pesth. Seventy-two guns of heavy calibre had arrived at Jassey on the 8th July.

Advices from China of the 18th May state that the rebels still held Nankin, and were awaiting reinforcements to march on Pekin.—The rebels had raised the banner of Christianity, translated the Bible, and adopted the Protestant form of Faith, acknowledged Jesus Christ as their Saviour, the Trinity and the Ten Commandments.

The wet and stormy weather had caused a rise in foreign wheat of 2d, and flour 1s, at London; at Liverpool flour was held 6d higher than on Friday. Corn was firm in consequence of the bad accounts of the potato.

GREAT HAILSTORM.

An extraordinary hailstorm, powerfully destructive, took place in France and Belgium, on the 8th of July.

The "Journal de Rouen" says the price of glass in that city has advanced in consequence some 30 per cent, and great difficulty is experienced in procuring workmen to make the necessary repairs. The total loss to that city and environs is estimated at eighteen hundred thousand francs. Over 2700 panes were broken in the Hotel de Ville, and in the whole city not less than 100,000 panes. The most serious and irreparable injury was done to the chnrches of Notre Dame, Saint Ouen, Bon Secour, &c., which have been badly damaged by the torrents which succeeded. All the glass in the "Jardin des Plantes" was also broken. This storm extended also to Belgium, and the Brussels papers give us scarcely less terrible accounts. In its course it has everywhere prostrated large trees, and destroyed the crops. Some of the hailstones gathered after it had passed, weighed more than two ounces. Birds in great numbers have been found dead in the fields.

THE MEAGHER BANQUET.—In Boston on Wednesday, the anniversary of the birth of Mr. T. F. Meagher, his friends entertained him in a public manner. The banquet took place at Faneuil Hall. The company numbered about four hundred ladies and gentlemen, and there were present a large number of military gentlemen from abroad. The company sat down about six o'clock, P. M. Capt. B. S. Trainer presided, and, after the usual dinner ceremonies, he delivered the address of welcome to Mr. Meagher, and also welcomed Mr. Patrick O'Donahoe, the gentleman who has recently escaped from Van Dieman's Land.

The 7th toast was "civil and religious liberty the world over—the foundation of republicanism, as it is the destruction of despotism,"—and Mr. John Savage of New York was called upon to respond. After asking himself the question, "Why have I been invited here?"

Mr. Savage said it was because he was a rebublican and believed in the people, that he honored toleration, loved liberty—protested against banns of wedlock between temporal and spiritual affairs, and did not believe in the editorial sermons of a certain press, which, to all thinking minds, rendered religion odious, and Heaven the paradise of earthly slaves—the Palace Royale of ignorance and hypocrisy. It was because the faith of his heart could not recognize such irreligious doctrine on the one hand, and that it had the most unbounded confidence in truth, right and manhood on the other—that he was invited as a guest to do honor to his gifted friend.

FEVER IN NEW ORLEANS.—The New Orleans Crescent warns strangers to keep away from the city till the white frost comes and makes it safe.

The Bulletin of the 25th says:

"We understand that the ship Queen Victoria, from Liverpool, may be expected hourly. These emigrants suould not be permitted to land; the ship should be compelled to anchor below, until transportation can be had to take them beyond the reach of the epidemic. If they land, the greater portion of them will be carried to the Hospital in a day or two, and thence to the grave yard. Just from a long sea voyage, they would fall helpless victims to the fever. We trust the proper authorities will move in the matter. Timely action may save some hundreds of lives. It would be almost wilful murder to allow these people to land.

The weather continues bad, unnatural and unhealthy. It seems that we are to have a forty days and forty nights rain. If such is to be the case we can congratulate ourselves that the rainy season is about over—for the term is nigh at hand. The forty days will soon be out. In the mean time, we advise our readers to exercise all due prudence, both as regards eating, drinking and exposure, either in the sun or the night air."

The following returns of the Charity Hospital for two days, will show the proportion of deaths to the number of cases. The returns up to 12 o'clock Saturday night (July 23d) are admitted 60; discharged 21; died 14—all of yellow fever. Sunday, up to 12 o'clock at night: admitted 59; discharged 35; died 35—all of yellow fever.

The people of Wisconsin are not to vote on the adoption of any particular law, but upon the question of enacting a prohibitory law for the suppression of the sale of intoxicating liquors. If the people vote Yes, then the law will be enacted by the Legislature.

PORTSMOUTH TO THE SHOALS.
SUMMER ARRANGEMENT.

Steamer Grace Darling,
CAPT. SAMUEL BILLINGS.

THE superior steamer Grace Darling, Capt. Billings, will leave Shook's Wharf, daily, (until further notice) at 10 o'clock, or on the arrival of the first morning trains on the Portsmouth & Concord and Eastern Railroads—and return from the Shoals in season to take the last trains for Concord, Boston and intermediate places.

This arrangement affords a fine opportunity for persons from abroad to visit one of the most desirable Summer resorts for the Invalid, and all others who are fond of Fishing, Bathing, and other amusements conducive to health and pleasure. The temperature is never more than 30 degrees in the shade, and seldom varies more than 10 degrees in 24 hours.

Hon. Thomas B. Laighton's Hotel on Appledore Island, designed and kept particularly for the invalid, and also for the pleasure seeker, is one of the first class, where every convenience, both for luxury and comfort can be found.

The passage out is truly delightful—the scenery unsurpassed. As you pass down the river, view after view presents itself:—The Navy Yard, Dry Dock, Forts Washington, Sullivan, McCleary and Constitution; the settlements of Kittery Point, New Castle, Rye, and many Islands and Beaches along shore, present attractions that are beautiful to behold, and render the trip one of the most beautiful and pleasing nature.

PASSAGE ON BOARD STEAMER, 50 CTS.

Tickets may be obtained on board, or at the Ticket Office of the Portsmouth & Concord Railroad.

Parties from the neighboring towns can be accommodated on reasonable terms, by application to Capt. Billings on board, or to

PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S
Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.

FOR beautifying, curling, preserving, restoring and strengthening the Hair, relieving diseases of the Skin, curing Rheumatic Pains and healing external wounds. Bounded by no geographical lines, the reputation of Prof. Barry's Tricopherous pervades the Union. The sales of the article of late years have increased in a ratio that almost exceeds belief. Prof. Barry, after a careful examination of his sales book, finds that the number of bottles delivered to order, in quantities of from half a gross upward, during the year 1852, was within a trifle of 950,000.

It is unnecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself.—The effects of the fluid exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.

Depot at the manufactory, No. 137 Broadway, New York. Retail price 25 cents a large bottle.

MARRIAGE.

Happiness and Competence.

WHY IS IT?

That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life at an age when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant.

Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during girlhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.

IN AFTER YEARS,

When too late to be benefitted by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the full consequences of our ignorance.

What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years! And what days and nights of anguish we might not have been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed. It is

MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING

To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for many years, from causes simple and controllable, easily remedied—or better still,—not incurred, if every

WIFE AND MOTHER

Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself

YEARS OF MISERY,

And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily devolving upon him from sickness of the wife, without giving him the opportunity of acquiring that competence which his exertions are entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.

SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS

By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands.

In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is excusable if she neglect to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—healthy bodies, with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work entitled

THE MARRIED WOMAN'S
Private Medical Companion.

BY DR. A. M. MAURICEAU,
PROFESSOR OF DISEASES OF WOMEN.

One Hundreth Edition. 18mo., pp. 250. Price 50 Cents.

[ON FINE PAPER, EXTRA BINDING, $1 00.]

First published in 1847, and it is not

SURPRIZING OR WONDERFUL,

Considering that EVERY FEMALE, WHETHER MARRIED OR NOT, can here acquire a full knowledge of the nature, character and causes of her complaints, with the various symptoms, and that nearly

should have been sold.

It is impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, as they are of a nature strictly intended for the married, or those contemplating marriages, but no female desirous of enjoying health, and that beauty, consequent upon health, which is so conducive to her own happiness, and that of her husband, but either has or will obtain it, as has or will every husband who has the love and affection of his wife at heart, or that of his own pecuniary improvement.

UPWARDS OF ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND COPIES

Have been SENT BY MAIL within the last few months.

CAUTION TO THE PUBLIC.

BE NOT DEFRAUDED!

Buy no book unless "Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, 129 Liberty Street, N. Y." is on the title page, and the entry in the Clerk's Office on the back of the title-page; and buy only of respectable and honorable dealers, or send by mail, and address to Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, as those are spurious and surreptitious infringements of copy-right.

LET EVERY WIFE AND HUSBAND PONDER!

No excuse for Ignorance, when Ignorance is Misery to those we hold near and dear, and when to dispel our Ignorance is within our reach.

To enable every one to decide upon the indispensable necessity of possessing a copy, and that no wife, or mother need be uninformed upon the many causes, which, sooner or later, are destined to make fearful ravages upon her health, unless guarded against, and that no considerate and affectionate husband have cause to upbraid himself with neglect of the welfare of his wife—a pamphlet of thirty-six pages, containing full Title-page and Index of Contents, together with extracts from the book, will be sent free of charge to any part of the United States, by addressing, post paid, a letter to Boston.

When Knowledge is Happiness, 'tis culpable to be Ignorant.

☞ On receipt of One Dollar (for the fine Edition, extra binding,) "THE MARRIED WOMAN'S PRIVATE MEDICAL COMPANION" is sent (mailed free) to any part of the United States. All letters must be post-paid, and addressed to Dr. A. M. MAURICEAU, Box 1224, New York City. Publishing Office, No. 129 Liberty Street, New York.

REMOVAL.

DR. TURNBULL, Oculist and Aurist, from London, has removed from N. Y. Hotel, to WINTHROP HOUSE, BOSTON. Office hours from 8 to 2.

From the London Times.

A number of scientific gentlemen assembled yesterday at the house of Dr. Turnbull, in Russell square, to witness the results produced by a process recently discovered by the Doctor, and applied for the cure of deafness and blindness.

Between twenty and thirty patients attended, many of whom, it was stated by their parents, had been born deaf and dumb. They were submitted to various tests, by which it was proved that their deafness had been cured by the application of Dr. Turnbull's remedies, and what appears most singular is, that whether the disease depended on paralysis of the auditory nerve, rupture of the tympanum, or obstruction of the internal passages, relief has been obtained, or complete cure effected without pain or inconvenience. Several patients, who represented that they had been completely blind, said that they could now see perfectly well. je28 2w

IMPORTANT DISCOVERY.

DOCTOR ALFRED G. HALL,

AUTHOR of the New Theory of cure by the NUTRITIVE PRINCIPLE, in Physiology and Medicine, sustaining the laws of life and removing the cause of disease, confirmed as a NATURAL SCIENCE by the Nutritive Process; expelling dead and depositing living matter at the same time in the Body, increasing its weight and strength while under treatment, being the great discovery of the constitutional power resisting decease; ample proof can be given in the person of any invalid.

Dr. H. receives visits, makes examinations, ascertains the cause of disease, describes the precise condition of the patient, furnishes prescriptions, medicines and recipes for his Nutritive Fluids and cordials.

Three months' attention and treatment is requisite in all cases, with the printed instructions, for diet and washing, and the use of the Alkaline Girdle for the spine and kidneys—a restorative action is produced in all parts of the system immediately by the natural laws sustained by nutrition.

He is the inventor and sole proprietor of 12 nutritive fluids; they can be made by any family—are adapted to the several temperaments, and to every form of disease. His works, "Views of the New Theory, &c," "Womanhood," and the "Mother's Own Book," are furnished to invalids under his supervision. It is now before Congress.

Doctor Alfred G. Hall may be consulted by letter, or in person at his rooms, No. 15 Winter St., Boston, from 10 A.M. to 5 P.M. ☞ Medicines, &c. forwarded by Express to any part.

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered! Consumption can be cured!! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fell disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted "CAN BE DONE."

DR. CONINE'S

SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.

The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER.

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attention of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom

AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

DR. HAMPTON'S

VEGETABLE TINCTURE!

The Great Restorative and Invigorator of the System.

THIS article, which has made so many wonderful cures, was discovered by DR. JESSE HAMPTON, of Louisville, Ky., now in fine health in the 79th year of his age, and is acknowledged by those who have used it to be the BEST family medicine in use, and is WARRANTED FREE FROM ALL MINERAL SUBSTANCES. By its mild action on the STOMACH, LIVER and KIDNEYS, it will cure the diseases of those organs, with all chronic complaints, as

Dyspepsy, Cough, Asthma, Bronchial & Lung Affections, Pains in the Back, Side and Breast, Consumption, Scrofula, Fits, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Fistula, Fits, Bowel Complaint, Worms, Nervous Debility,

With all Diseases arising from Impure Blood.

As a FEMALE MEDICINE it has no equal! It will change the Complexion from a pallid to a blooming one.

Wherever introduced its success is unbounded. It has certificates from Hon. Henry Clay, Hon. R. M. Johnson, Vice President of the United States; Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore; the Spanish Consul; Judge Davis; Lund Washington; from a Chaplain of the U. S. Navy; from the State Department, Washington; from the brother of the Physician to the Emperor of France, who was cured by it after all other remedies had failed; and from hundreds of others, making up an amount of Testimony never before given to any other discovery of Medicine. A trial of it will convince the most skeptical.

We invite the public to call and get Pamphlets and see certificates of Cures. Read the following certificates of undoubted testimony:

From Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore.

MAYOR'S OFFICE, Baltimore, Aug. 23, 1852.

I take great pleasure in stating, that I have examined the names of those who have signed certificates respecting Hampton's Vegetable Tincture, and among them I recognize gentlemen of the first respectability, viz: Jos. K. Stapleton, William A. Schaffer, G. Dunan, and others. I also cheerfully testify to the high standing of the house of Messrs Mortimer & Mowbray, who, for the past twenty years, have enjoyed the entire confidence and esteem both of our merchants and citizens generally.

JNO. H. T. JEROME.

A Voice from the Birth-place of Christopher Columbus, the Discoverer of America.

Lieutenant ——, of the U. S. Navy, now on board this ship, also wishes you to send him one dozen of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," by the store ship which leaves the United States in February or March, for Spezzia.

The Tincture you sent me was received in good order, and I take pleasure in informing you that it has been used with great success by several of our officers in cases of DYSPEPSIA.

I am respectfully yours.

MORNING CHRONICLE

BY MILLERS & GRAY. PORTSMOUTH, N. H., SATURDAY, AUGUST 6, 1853. VOLUME 3. NO. 6.

THE DAILY MORNING CHRONICLE

is published by
FRANK W. MILLER, SAMUEL GRAY, & THOS. W. MILLER,
At No. 4 Exchange Buildings,
Pleasant Street,.....PORTSMOUTH, N. H.

TERMS $4 a year, payable half-yearly; or $3 strictly in advance. If payment is made for a year, within six months of the time of subscribing, fifty cents will be deducted.

The Weekly Chronicle,
A family newspaper, containing the news of the week, with carefully selected miscellany, &c., is published every Saturday morning—at $1 a year in advance.

ADVERTISING.—For a Square of sixteen lines nonpareil, or less, one insertion 50 cts., three insertions $1, and liberal terms for continuance.

Yearly, quarterly or monthly advertisers liberally accommodated—and their advertisements inserted in both papers without extra charge, thus affording unequalled facilities to business men.

JOB AND CARD PRINTING Promptly executed.

Y. B. Palmer, American Newspaper Agent, is the only authorized Agent for this paper in the cities of Boston, New York and Philadelphia, and is duly empowered to take advertisements and subscriptions at the same rates as required by us. His receipts will be regarded as payments.

UNCLE TOM PUT DOWN.—The Natchez Mirror utters the following severe criticism on Uncle Tom, and scolds its neighbors in the same breath.

"Mrs. Stowe makes from 50 to $100,000 by Uncle Tom's Cabin, the vilest and most unblushing libel ever published on the South and her institutions; and has so won upon the people of England, that she is now the guest of royalty and nobility in that pharasaical country. No small portion of this money was made by the sales of her book in the slave states.

Mr. Fletcher has written the ablest, most learned, and critical defence of slavery which ever appeared in print, and it will bring the publisher in debt; while the "Key to Uncle Tom's Cabin," which has just arrived, is going off rapidly.

Southern Slave holders expect their peculiar institution defended from attacks of fanaticism, and placed in its true light before the world, without lending a helping hand to disseminate correct scriptural and moral ideas on the subject. They should recollect that he who would be free must strike the blow himself."

Well; that is just like the ingratitude of mankind—to leave their literary benefactors in the lurch, when they write dull books—and buy the most libellous things, if they are interesting. How strange it is.

Punch thus refers to the troubles in China;

A CUP OF TEA TOO MUCH.—If, as is stated, the rebellion in China has involved some of the tea districts, those provinces must be in a state of hot water, and consequently are in danger of being swamped by the draught which cheers but not inebriates.

The same Journal thus hits off the recent movements of the authorities against Kossuth

It will be observed that the police "apprehended a joke."

NON-DISCOVERY OF POWDER AT PUNCH'S OFFIE.—Yesterday a body of police, consisting of a single constable, acting on his own warrant on behalf of the Secretary of State, entered Punch's office, to search for a quantity of explosive matter.

He was informed that this periodical was not a magazine, and contained nothing calculated to cause an explosion more dangerous than a burst of laughter.

On wanting to know if any gunpowder was concealed on the premises, he was offered a cup of tea, which contained all that was left, in a damp state.

Demanding whether there was in the establishment any composition for filling rockets, he was answered in the negative, and assured that the only fireworks dealt in at 85 Fleet street, were squibs.

Having with some difficulty apprehended a joke, the police retired.

The Gloucester, Mass., Telegraph, says,

In our last we stated that there was a small vessel in our harbor, which hailed from "The Kingdom of God." A correspondent at Essex writes us as follows in regard to her:—

"An eccentric individual in this town has during the present season, built a small vessel. After having finished her he had a communication from what purported to be the spirit of his deceased father, who informed him that he would not live six months after his vessel was launched. He immediately procured the assistance of several of his neighbors, loaded her on wheels, and with several yoke of oxen, she was drawn into the river, at low water, and placed upon blocks, where she remained until high water, when she was afloat. She is named the "Lyvancha," and hails from "The Kingdom of God." She is believed to be the only vessel ever built here that was not launched."

A COW TRADE.—D. D. Warren of this city has recently sold a cow to Wells P. Hodgett, on conditions that will interest our farmers and dairy-men. The price of the cow is to be decided as follows: Mr. Warren is to have the privilege of feeding the cow for thirty days; and Mr. Hodgett is to give for the cow at the rate of $10 a quart for the milk which she averages over sixteen quarts per day, for the whole thirty days. Thus if she average only sixteen quarts a day, he is to give nothing for her. If she average twenty quarts, he is to give $40, and if twenty five quarts $90. Marvelous stories are in circulation in regard to this cow, and we anticipate the result with interest, and shall make it known to our readers.—Springfield Republican.

SENSIBLE REMARKS.—The Reverend Henry Ward Beecher in his remarks at the anniversary of the Five Points Mission, said: When Christ went where there were sick, He healed them; where there was actual want He created bread, and came down to their physical condition. Take the Gospel in the miserable outcasts of our city, and no man can preach it unless he does more. It is as though he made a mark in the sand, and the first tide washes it away. Preach the Gospel, and the hunger of the man makes him forget it. There is a great deal more Gospel in a loaf of bread some times, than in an old dry sermon. If I go to a man and bring to him in his want ever so much philosophy, he will not hear it; if I come down to him and bring him bread, and clothes, and medicine, this will give him a correct idea of the Gospel—one which he can appreciate and understand.

THE DEAD ALIVE.—A little girl about ten years of age, the daughter of one of our most esteemed citizens, was taken sick a few days ago, and on Monday evening, to the poignant grief of her parents, apparently died. The usual preparations were made, the room darkened and the body enclosed in a shroud, with the intention of burying it yesterday afternoon. But on yesterday morning the apparently dead girl revived, and terribly frightened at the situation in which she found herself, with her cries she alarmed the household. She is since, we learn, doing well, and our readers may imagine the feelings of the family from this astonishing incident.—Norfolk News of Wednesday.

Some of our cotemporaries are surprised that none of our Common Pleas Judges are from Boston. The reason is obvious. A member of the Bar in this city, who is qualified for the bench, can do much better at the bar, than to go upon the bench with the small salary now given. But in the country the case is different. In the interior counties there are but few lawyers whose professional income is greater than the salary on the Common Pleas bench. The appointing power therefore is frequently obliged to go out of the city to find a suitable man to accept the office.—Boston Cour.

A ten acre field, costing fifty dollars per acre, and ditched, manured and improved at fifty dollars more, so as to give double crops, is much more valuable and profitable than twenty acres unimproved, costing the same money.

A 'cheap plow' at five dollars, costing in one season three dollars for repairs, and three more in lost time to teams, men, and by retarding crops, is a dearer plow than one at 10 dollars, requiring no repairs.

A common dasher churn at two dollars, used one hundred times a year, is not so economical a purchase as a Kendall churn at four dollars requiring but half the labor to work it.

DAILY
Morning Chronicle.
PORTSMOUTH:
SATURDAY, AUGUST 6, 1853.

MORE LAW.

We were going to say "Law is law,"—but it is quite uncertain what it is. Our readers may remember that we published, some time ago, a decision of Judge Merrick, in Middlesex County, Mass., quashing all the liquor cases which came up by appeal from the police court in Lowell, because the justice of that Police Court, being a citizen of Lowell, was thus interested in the fine, and therefore ought not to sit in the case. We thought that was very strange law, and we think so still; but let that pass.

At the same court, before Judge Wells, last Monday, a large batch of similar cases came up, from Justice Pearson, a justice of the peace for Middlesex County, but not residing in Lowell.

The counsel for the defence contended that the Police Court of Lowell had exclusive jurisdiction of all offences committed within the district of Lowell, and that neither Pearson nor any other justice of the peace had authority to sit upon trial of any violations of law in Lowell.

Chief Justice Wells expressed the opinion that in his judgment, Pearson had no jurisdiction, and no authority to try cases of violations of the liquor law in Lowell, where a Police Court was established with exclusive jurisdiction. He was not prepared to give such a decision, as Judge Merrick, a distinguished criminal lawyer, and recently promoted to the Supreme Bench, had in a similar case decided differently. Out of deference for his opinion and decision, he would reserve the case for the opinion of the full bench.

"Law is the perfection of human reason"—is it? And judges are the expounders of the law. We wait patiently for the full bench to utter an oracle—and in the mean time the liquor trade in Lowell goes on rough shod over the law.

SPIRIT OF THE BOSTON PRESS.

The Daily Advertiser is discussing Webster's Dictionary with the publishers, Messrs. Merriam. So much the worse for the Dictionary. As a standard of spelling, the Daily Advertiser is the best of the two; and it is not bad for definitions.

The Chronicle is coming down in great wrath upon the Rev. Messrs. Beecher, Miner and others, because they have petitioned the Mayor and Aldermen of Boston to enforce the liquor law; and expresses the opinion, "not only that the Maine law has been of more injury to the best hopes of mankind than intemperance itself, but that these clerical memorialists are the class of persons for whom the awful denunciations of scripture against hypocrites were intended, and upon whose heads they will again be poured. 'Woe unto you, hypocrites, &c.'" So let the clergy take heed how they meddle with edge tools, or say a single word against good liquor, on pain of being read out of the Chronicle's church.

The Courier discusses the great subject of a Pacific Railroad, and the very small subject of a late duel in Charleston, S. C., which was partly political, and partly amatory.

The Post has an able article on the rights of jurors, in which it says,

"It has been from time immemorial a settled rule of law that counsel could argue points of law to a jury. But why was this allowed if the jury had no right to pass upon the points argued? Would not this be a gross absurdity." And again:

"The distinction between trials in civil cases and criminal cases is one we have said that has grown up. Anciently there was no such distinction. Anciently the jury was every thing, witness and judge, and were selected as honest men of the neighborhood, "honest and lawful men of the vicinage," to arbitrate between parties and to guard public liberty.—The old Anglo Saxon jury was a deliberative representative body, with full liberty to exercise common sense, and apply law and equity. This body represented the country. "Trial by jury," writes Cartwright, "as an element of the constitution was antecedent to all law, and superior to all law, as no law can abolish it. It was even centuries anterior to lawyers by profession." But gradually law came to be applied to it" &c.

FINED FOR GALLANTRY—John Higgins was fined a dollar and costs, in the Boston Police Court on Tuesday, for assaulting a colored man. John, it seems, was passing through Cambridge street on Monday evening, and, seeing Thomas Brown, a colored man, pushing a white woman along, interferred, and actually took hold of him. It so happened that the white woman was Brown's wife, and as the law allows a man to use reasonable force in getting his wife home, Higgins was fined for his interference in the matter.

The Judge said that John was in the right, as to his intent, but he had broken the law, and must pay his fine.

CORN.—The Portsmouth, Virginia, Transcript, speaks very favorably of the Corn Crops in that State, as promising almost beyond example.

ITALIAN ROMANCE.

As we gather together in this country a sprinkling of all nations, so we get a sprinkling also of all their manners. Our readers we trust will not forget, that it appears by the late census, we have not quite twelve per cent. of imported foreigners in the United States,—and yet more than fifty per cent. of both paupers and criminals among us, are of foreign birth.

In New Orleans a few desperate banditti from Sicily have found new homes, but they retain too closely their old characteristics.—Two of them, L. Cassimir Rimassa, and Angeine d'Angelo, now stand accused by Madame Marie Solari, of an attempt to murder her in her shop, several months since, which attempt was nearly successful, failing because her heavy and thick hair resisted a terrible blow dealt by the assassins. Ramassa has been held to bail. Since the attempt to take her life, Marie goes armed, and it would not be very safe to attack her if she had any opportunity of defending herself.

In this connection, it will, perhaps, be interesting to state, that the past life of Marie has been somewhat chequered by romance. Some years ago, when a buxom damsel in her native Italy, she was employed as a house servant at the residence of a gentleman of great wealth, who becoming suspected of revolutionary notions, was sentenced to be executed, while all his property was declared forfeited to the State. Luckily for himself, and by the aid of a few friends, he managed to escape from his place of confinement, and sought an asylum in this land of freedom. Marie, hearing this, and knowing that her old employer was wholly without the means of support, managed to save a few articles from the wreck of his estate, consisting of plate, &c., and with these she traversed the broad Atlantic and came to the rescue of the condemned revolutionist.—Since then she has been his only support.—With the proceeds of the confiscated plate she opened a little shop, which she has industriously kept, and all that the old man does is to sit in his chair, talk to her of other times and sing to her the songs of Italy.

ONE OF THE EXCURSIONS.—The Western papers are filled with glowing descriptions of events connected with the complimentary excursion to Niagara, given to the members of the Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky press, and other invited guests. The Cincinnati Enquirer, whose editors, it would appear, were not of the party, though of course, having the privilege of refusing to go, thus speaks of the affair:

"From these descriptions, and from what we have gathered from conversations with various persons who were so fortunate as to have been of this party, "the great excursion" was one of the most magnificent "free blows" ever given in this country. Nor was generous, open-handed hospitality confined exclusively to the officers of the railroads and the steamers spoken of. It was freely dispensed by the landlords of the hotels at Cleveland, Buffalo and Niagara. Every guest had his bat chalked, and some of them had their hats furnished with a large "brick"—"free gratis for nothing."

That is, we are to understand, a free drunken frolic, disgraceful to all parties concerned in it.

SINGULAR OCCURRENCE.—A few days since two negro boys belonging to Robert A. Mayo, of Powhatan, about one mile below Richmond, were drowned in James River. The Southern Era states that they came to their death in the following singular manner:

They had taken a dog down to the river with the intention of drowning him. When they reached the water, one of the twain went into it with the animal, and, to drown him more effectually, got upon his back. The dog attempted to escape from the hands of the boy, and while doing so dog and boy got deeper into the water, where the dog got away, leaving his murderer to his fate. The other negro on the bank, seeing his comrade about to drown, plunged in to his assistance, and vainly essayed to rescue him. They both perished by drowning, while the brute safely reached the shore, and went back to the house. Such an incident we do not remember to have heard or read.

A MONSTER OF WICKEDNESS.—The Missouri papers inform us that the negro who was burnt in Pettis county, for the murder of Mrs. Rains, was guilty of rape as well as murder—and that the white man who was ordered out of the State, was the negro's master, but not the woman's husband.

O'CONNELL'S BIRTH DAY.—The anniversary this year, will be to-day, Aug. 6, and the Pilot "invites all who love O'Connell to say a prayer on that day for the eternal repose of his soul."

While walking in his garden last Sunday in West Braintree, Mr. Jonas Farnsworth found a rattlesnake four feet long, with fifteen rattles, and held the reptile with a forked stick till another person despatched it. That garden will not be quite an Eden till the mate of this "bright but dangerous inhabitant," as Mr Bancroft calls them, is also killed.

TUNNEL BORER.—The new Tunnel Borer built at Hartford, works well. Instead of leaving a core to be removed by blasting, as the Hoosac Machine does, it cuts an entire circle, and is so constructed that the chips of the rock can be removed while it is in motion. The cost of the machine is about $25,000.

LOCAL.

ODD FELLOWSHIP.—Granite Lodge, No. 1, I. O. of O. F., in Nashua, propose to celebrate their tenth anniversary, on the 13th of September next, and have extended invitations to attend, to all the lodges in the State. It is expected that an address will be delivered by Rev. E. H. Chapin of New York. All brothers of the order in this city, who propose to attend, are requested to leave their names with the secretaries of their respective lodges. See advertisements.

ANOTHER CAT STORY.—An old lady living in the suburbs of this city, who was formerly known to most of our people as a market-woman, is the greatest cat-fancier in our midst. She owns and provides for a dozen of the feline family. About four o'clock in the afternoons of these long days, the old lady; tired not only with the heat and labor of that particular day, but of the eighty years or so through which she has lived, retires to her bed-room to pass the night, and shuts her cats in with her, suffering no one of them to go out during the night, for fear some evil minded person should be lying in wait to kill them. In the morning she feeds them all with nice new milk, and gives them their liberty for the day, with no more feeding, except what prey they catch for themselves. Of course the old lady's bed-room is safe from the intrusion of rats, mice and moths.

CAVEAT EMPTOR.—Beware! John Gosling was brought before Mr. Justice Parker, convicted of being a common drunkard, and sent to the House of Correction for ninety days.

APPOINTMENT.—Mr. John Mugridge, of this city, has received from the Secretary of the Navy an appointment as Master Caulker at the Portsmouth Navy Yard.

INSTALLATION.—REV. HENRY D. MOORE will be installed over the North Church and Society in this city, on Wednesday, August 17. Prof. Hitchcock, of Brunswick, is expected to preach the sermon.

EXCURSION.—The Steamer Grace Darling will make an extra excursion to the Shoals this evening, and will return early Monday morning. The fare on this occasion one-half the usual price. See advertisement.

REAL ESTATE.—House on Anthony street at Auction this day at noon, (postponed from Saturday last,) by H. F. Wendell, Auctioneer.

ARRIVALS AT THE OCEAN HOUSE,
Rye Beach, Aug. 9, 1853.

S. P. Case, C. P. Fitch, Miss C. Willard, Miss F. Fitch, Auburn; Wm. Rice and lady, Andover; Mr. Parrott, G. McCres, H. Hurlburt, G. W. Johnson, Montreal; W. R. Nelson, Peekskill; Miss Tuck, Exeter; Mr. and Mrs. Bowen, Miss Willard, Miss Gasbee, Kingston, C. W.; William Robinson, New York.

THE CONSTITUTION—Charles B. Goodrich, Esq., is preparing for publication a series of Lectures on the Constitution of the United States, delivered by him about a year since, at the Lowell Institute. Mr. Goodrich is a member of the Suffolk Bar, whose judgment and legal attainments are well known to the members of the legal profession, says the Boston Transcript.

He was formerly a member of the Rockingham Bar, and a practitioner of law in this city.

We notice in the Miners' Advocate, published at Coloma, California, that Daniel G. Waldron, formerly of this city, has been appointed Deputy Sheriff, and is one of the Collectors of the property tax in El Dorado county.

ROGUERY.—A Biddeford letter to the Portland Advertiser, Aug. 4, says,

Our village has been the theatre of great excitement for the past twenty four hours, by the announcement or the sudden and unexpected departure of H. H. Huntress, an overseer in the York Mills of Saco—for Australia: he sailed from Boston yesterday noon, in the ship Edith Rose. A large number of our Overseers, Mechanics, and Merchants are obliged to meet liabilities amounting to $6000 which he has thrown upon them, by running off.—Some of the cases of has borrowing money and obtaining goods during the past week show a degree of wickedness which hardly has a parallel.

Most of those that suffered are young men, mechanics, ill able to bear the burden.

LONG PASSAGES FROM EUROPE.—As some impatience is manifested by those who have friends on board the packet ships now over due from Liverpool, we hasten to put at rest all solicitude in regard to their non-arrival, by copying the report of a bark that arrived at New York Wednesday, 52 days from British Channel, "having had light head winds and calms the entire passage, and a Pilot on board seven days!" This explains the cause of non-arrival of the large fleet of packet ships from Europe, some of which are out over sixty days.

CHINESE LANGUAGE.—Who would have thought six years ago that the laws of one of the States of the Union would have to be published in English and Chinese, for general circulation? Yet so it is. The ninth section of an act passed by the California legislature for the collection of the foreign miners' tax has been printed in the Chinese language, for the information of more than thirty thousand Chinese in the new State. Tong'k Achinch, a Chinaman, certifies that the translation is "faithful and good."

Moore's wife, says an English paper, "was a ballet girl named Betsey Dike; but not a word is said of her in Lord John Russell's Life of the Poet."

FOREIGN NEWS.

The arrival of the Niagara, brings Liverpool dates to July 23.

The Earl of Portsmouth is dead. The Queen and family are sick with the measles.

The remarks in parliament, from men and ministers of all parties, take it for granted that the Turco-Russian difficulty will be settled without any fighting.

The French Consul at Smyrna has Costa in his keeping, by the joint request of the American and Austrian consuls, the expense of his keeping to be paid to Austria.

LIVERPOOL CORN MARKET, considerably excited during the week, from heavy rains for one or two days, and opening of the French ports to free imports. Business in flour large, 9d to 1s improvement. Wheat in good demand, and 2 to 3d dearer. In Indian Corn little doing but quoted 6d higher. W C Flour 27s@7d a 28s. Balt. and Phila. 28 a 28s 6d.—Ohio 27s 6d a 28s 6d. Corn 31 a 32s.

GERMANY.—The Bavarian Government announces that a world's industrial exhibition will be held at Munich next year.

PRUSSIA.—The King has issued a proclamation that he will dismiss from his service any officer, who marrying a Roman Catholic, shall promise to bring up his children in that faith. This is intended as a protest against recent Papal encroachments.

ITALY.—The exportation of breadstuffs from the Neapolitan dominions, is prohibited. Guerrazzi's sentence is commuted to perpetual punishment. An artillery magazine at Lebest had been accidentally blown up.—Count Pindmonte Bonacosse had been arrested at Ferati, and imprisoned in the citadel, on a charge of treason. A despatch from Milan dated July 17, states that the Austrian police are on the trail of a projected insurrection in Central Italy.

AUSTRIA.—A domiciliary visit was made at the house of the London Times correspondent in Vienna, and some arrests of the Italians followed the discoveries made there. Recently a band of Hungarian prisoners, filling seventeen carts, were taken into Pesth. Their crime is unknown. Troops are still concentrated at Peterwardein. There are rumors of changes in the Austrian Cabinet.

THE PRINCETON.—A Lubec correspondent of the Portland Advertiser, under date of Aug. 3, says,

"The Steamship Princeton sailed yesterday from Eastport for Halifax, from thence to the Fishing station. The P. was provided with a Pilot from Indian Island N. B. near Eastport, a true blue Englishman, and the other Steamer was furnished with a Pilot frem Campobello, N. B.

Had the Collector of Eastport made a little enquiry among the people of his own neighborhood. I think he could have found Americans, and men who are superior pilots to those who were employed."

"One of the ships applied in vain, for an old and well-known pilot here. The old man could not get ready quick enough.

CALIFORNIA AS IT IS.—We copy the following account of matters in California, from a letter in the New York Tribune dated June 13th:

The northern mines, unquestionably, are inexhaustible, and will be good for a long time to come for $2 to $8 per day. Call the average $5 per day, which is rather high; a person who has his health may calculate on laboring five days in the week, the season together; at the close of the week he will have $25. Deduct from this his board bill, $10 if he boards himself, ($15 if he hires his board,) $5 for water to wash his gold, $2 for wear and tear of clothes, $1 for sharpening tools, $2 for liquors (which is a low estimate,) and $5 is the remainder! If he be of an excitable temperament and fond of gaming, he will find plenty opportunities to bet on cock-fights, mule-races, &c., almost any time, and always on Sunday! and five chances to two (if he is a little green) he will lose what remains. Not more than one in every ten make anything extra, while the majority lay up nothing Many come here inflated with the idea that they can take out their pile in a year or eighteen months at longest, and then return to their anxious wives and families to display gold rings, watches, and in fine, to revel in the most extravagant and voluptuous enjoyment. But I need not add, such are "hallucinations" of moon struck "imaginations." All desiring to profit by coming here, had better make calculation to stay several years, pursue the ordinary business course, and they will be more likely to succeed.

Society is improving, and yet there is room. Were you to inquire, What is the most common thing to be "met with in all parts of California," I should say, "Cards and empty bottles."

FATAL RAILROAD ACCIDENTS.—On Wednesday evening a man, said to be a blacksmith by the name of Beard, was run over on the Lowell railroad, near the Woburn Watering Station, and instantly killed. He was lying on the track, and the supposition is that he was intoxicated.

On Wednesday evening, as the passenger train on Manchester and Lawrence railroad was entering the depot at Manchester, a young man named Cutting, belonging to Conord, N. H., jumped on to the second car, and was almost instantly knocked off by coming in contact with a stone post, and thrown under the car. He was taken to the Manchester House, where he died in about half an hour.

The yellow fever still rages with unparalleled virulence at New Orleans. The deaths in the Charity Hospital are about 40 a day. The fearful epidemic is extending to the wealthier citizens, and 50 per cent. of those taken down die.

PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S
Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.
FOR beautifying, curling, preserving, restoring and strengthening the Hair, relieving diseases of the Skin, curing Rheumatic Pains and healing external wounds. Bounded by no geographical lines, the reputation of Barry's Tricopherous pervades the Union. The sales of the article of late years have increased in a ratio that almost exceeds belief. Prof. Barry, after a careful examination of his sales book, finds that the number of bottles delivered to order, in quantities of from half a gross upward, during the year 1852, was within a trifle of 250,000.
It is unnecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself—The Tricopherous did full exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.
Depot at the manufactory, No. 137 Broadway, New York. Retail price 25 cents a large bottle.

MARRIAGE.

Happiness and Competence,
WHY IS IT?
That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments, deprived them of the power for the enjoyment of life at an age when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant.
Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during girlhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.
IN AFTER YEARS,
When too late to be benefitted by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the full consequences of our ignorance.
What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years! And what days and nights of anguish we might not have been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed. It is
MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING
To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for many years, from causes simple and controllable, easily remedied—the sufferer still ignorant of the cause, and
WIFE AND MOTHER
Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself
YEARS OF MISERY,
And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily devolving upon him from sickness of the wife, without giving him the opportunity of acquiring that competence which his exertions are entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.
SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS
By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands.
In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is excusable if she neglect to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—healthy bodies, with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work entitled

Considering that EVERY FEMALE, WHETHER MARRIED OR NOT, can here acquire a full knowledge of the nature, character and causes of her complaints, with the various symptoms, and that nearly
should have been sold.
It is impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, as they are of a nature strictly intended for the married, or contemplating marriage, but no female desirous of enjoying health, and that beauty, consequent upon health, which is so conducive to her own happiness, and that of her husband, but either has or will obtain it, as has or will every husband who has the love and affection of his wife at heart, or that of his own pecuniary improvement.

Mauriceau, as there are spurious and surreptitious infringements of copy-right.
LET EVERY WIFE AND HUSBAND PONDER!
No excuse for Ignorance, when Ignorance is Misery to those we hold near and dear, and when to dispel our Ignorance is within our reach.
To enable every one to decide upon the indispenseable necessity of possessing a copy, and that no wife, or mother need remain uninformed upon the many causes, which, sooner or later, are destined to make fearful ravages upon her health, unless guarded against, and that no considerate and affectionate husband have cause to upbraid himself with neglect of the welfare of his wife—a pamphlet of thirty-six pages, containing full Title-page and Index of Contents, together with extracts from the book, will be sent free of charge to any part of the United States, by addressing, post-paid, as herein.

REMOVAL.
DR. TURNBULL, Oculist and Aurist, from London, has removed from N. Y. Hotel, to WINTHROP HOUSE, BOSTON. Office hours from 8 to 2.
From the London Times.
A number of scientific gentlemen assembled yesterday at the house of Dr. Turnbull, in Russell square, to witness the results produced by a process recently discovered by the Doctor, and applied for the cure of deafness and blindness.
Between twenty and thirty patients attended, many of whom, it was stated by their parents, had been born deaf and dumb. They were submitted to various tests, by which it was proved that their deafness had been cured by the application of Dr. Turnbull's remedies; and what appears most singular is, that whether the disease depended on paralysis of the auditory nerve, rupture of the tympanum, or obstruction of the internal passages, relief has been obtained, or complete cure effected without pain or inconvenience. Several patients, who represented that they had been completely blind, said that they could now see perfectly well. ju28 2w

Sleeper & Ricker, and a barn, house and jeweller's shop belonging to Elder Josiah Glines, were consumed with nearly all their contents.

CULPABLE CARELESSNESS AT WEST POINT.—Capt. Spelman, of the schr Elmira Rogers, arrived at this port from Albany, yesterday, reports that when coming down the North River, opposite West Point, the Cadets were firing, and four balls struck the vessel, two of them passing through the foresail, and two struck the lumber on deck. One ball grazed the mate. The men were driven below till the schooner passed the dangerous ground.—Pror. Journal, 2d.

A singular fraud has been discovered in the construction of the Nelson monument in Trafgar Square, London. The bronze bas reliefs are not made of honest metal, but of a compound, partly of plaster of paris, and partly of inferior metal. They were also found to be short weight. The contractors were tried and sentenced to a short imprisonment for the fraud. It was detected by means of an anonymous letter letter writen to the authorities by the wife of one of the contractors, in a feminine pet.

A New, Delicious Temperance Beverage.

AMBROSIAL MEAD!

THIS excellent Compound is prepared from the best SPANISH SARSAPARILLA, without its dark, repulsive appearance, being beautifully transparent and entirely free from all impurities. Its qualities as a beverage, a single trial will give it a pre-eminence over all other preparations, by its freedom from noxious ingredients, agreeableness of flavor, and its exceeding cheapness, one bottle being sufficient to make thirty glasses of the beverage.

CAUTION!—The proprietors of this excellent preparation have spared no expense to bring it to perfection, and would caution purchasers to buy none without the fac simile of Wilson, Fairbank & Co. on every bottle.

PATENTS.

AGENCY FOR BUSINESS

With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,

No. 22 State Street, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1836) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal thereof made within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries; besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,

Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them as early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,

Late Commissioner of Patents."

"A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered! Consumption can be cured! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fell disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE!

N. B.—BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS, and observe the following Promissory Note, with the fac simile signature of the proprietor, on every genuine box:

DR. CONINE'S

SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.

The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER,

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom

AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

DR. HAMPTON'S

VEGETABLE TINCTURE!

The Great Restorative and Invigorator of the System.

THIS article, which has made so many wonderful cures, was discovered by DR. JESSE HAMPTON, of Louisville, Ky., now in fine health in the 79th year of his age, and is acknowledged by those who have used it to be the best family medicine in use, and is WARRANTED FREE FROM ALL MINERAL SUBSTANCES. By its mild action on the STOMACH, LIVER and KIDNEYS, it will cure the diseases of those organs, with all chronic complaints, as

Dyspepsy, Cough, Asthma, Bronchial & Lung Affections, Pains in the Back, Side and Breast, Consumption, Scrofula, Fits, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Fistula, Fits, Bowel Complaint, Worms, Nervous Debility,

With all Diseases arising from Impure Blood.

As a FEMALE MEDICINE it has no equal! It will change the Complexion from a pallid to a blooming one.

Wherever introduced its success is unbounded. It has certificates from Hon. Henry Clay, Hon. R. M. Johnson, Vice President of the United States; Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore; the Spanish Consul; Judge Davis: Land Washington; from a Chaplain of the U. S. Navy; from the State Department, Washington; from the brother of the Physician to the Emperor of France, who was cured by it after all other remedies had failed; and from hundreds of others, making up an amount of Testimony never before given to any other discovery of Medicine. A trial of it will convince the most skeptical.

We invite the public to call and get Pamphlets and see certificates of Cures. Read the following certificates of undoubted testimony:

From Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore.

MAYOR'S OFFICE, Baltimore, Aug. 23, 1852.

I take great pleasure in stating, that I have examined the names of those who have signed certificates respecting Hampton's Vegetable Tincture, and among them I recognize gentlemen of the first respectability, viz: Jos. K. Stapleton, William A. Schiffer, G. Dunan, and others. I also cheerfully testify to the high standing of the house of Messrs Mortimer & Mowbray, who, for the past twenty years, have enjoyed the entire confidence and esteem both of our merchants and citizens generally.

Genoa, Sardinia, January 17, 1852.

MESSRS. Mortimer & Mowbray—Gentlemen: The first Lieutenant of this ship, who has been suffering many years from the Dyspepsia, and who has been nearly restored to his usual health by the use of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," desires you to send him one dozen bottles of that medicine.

Lieutenant——, of the U. S. Navy, now on board this ship, also wishes you to send him one dozen of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," by the store ship which leaves the United States in February or March, for Sardinia.

The Tincture you sent me was received in good order, and I take pleasure in informing you that it has been used with great success by several of our officers in cases of DYSPEPSIA.

CHANGES.

The following lively piece of description, morally suggestive, is selected by the Knickerbocker for August, from the Chicago Journal.

"Not Much of Anything" is the very modest and characteristic title of a series of rambling, discursive sketches about "every thing" which we find in the Chicago Weekly Journal. The title is certainly a misnomer.—There is "something," and a good deal of it, in these sketches; as may be gathered from the subjoined passages, taken almost at random from a stray number of the Journal casually taken up at the publication-office. Our limner is depicting the changes which take place in a rapid transit over a railroad at high speed:

"Did you ever creep gingerly up to the deck of a rail-way car when the train was moving, say twenty-five or thirty miles an hour? And did you look away beyond the train, where the two iron bars—that noblest couple in the great epic of the time—were welded together without hammer, or furnace, or fire, but just beneath the wonderful, invisible fingers of Distance, till they lay there, a huge V upon the bosom of the prairie? And how marvellously, as the train moved on, those stubborn bars swayed round to a parallel, as lightly and noiselessly as a brace of sun-beams, flung from a mirror swinging in the wanton wind, sweep round in the blue air? And did you 'mind' —not a spike wrenched from its good hold; not a tie un-tied; not a timber splintered? There must be a charm in those fingers, indeed!

"There now, a brood of little hay-cocks, escaped from their native meadow, have clustered down on the track, right before the engine. Heedless little things! But age will bring wisdom, and one of these days they'll be discreet hay stacks, and not go a gossipping upon railroad-tracks. Will be! Why, they are getting to be stacks already. How they expand and 'get up in the world, as we near them! And they hear the train; for see, they are wheeling into a sort of KNICKERBOCKER waltz to the right and left, over the fence, and back of the barn, and beyond the orchard; and there they are, dignified and imperturbable as hay-stacks ought to be.

"And those little Bushes—a capital B if they are bushes—exactly in the way, whispering and all of a flutter, dodging up here, and nestling down there, like truants in the entry during school-hours. On thunders the train, and up jumps the Bushes.

"Bushes, indeed! TREES, forest-trees; trees of a century; columns in GOD's first temples." The trees are on the track; growing on the track! On the track, eh? By the holy rood, they are rods away, just where they were before rail-ways were dreamed of.

And the worker of all this diableric! You can see the fluttering of her blue robe just there in the horizon. She has gone on to conjure again. It is DISTANCE!

Stop the train! Let us off! Conductor, Captain, some body, any body! There's a village on the track; born, christened, and grown since last night. There's a meeting house, and a grave-yard, and a block of stores in the way! On we plunge—dispelled at the first whistle! The church moves gravely away, as churches should. The grave-yard, with its sleeping tenantry, is whisked out of sight like a trundle-bed; a martin-box of a cottage scuds round the corner of the meeting house; the row of brick stores, very much flushed, steps six paces to the rear; the cars jar on, and Distance and motion are in the secret.

Look behind you, and they are adjusting the machinery for the next train. Back goes the village that had been frightened away by the whistle, and the stacks and the trees grow beautifully less; and so it is every day, and all day, and every where, when Distance and Motion are partners. There's a some-thing on the track again! It's a fly—it's a frog—it's a child—it's a man—six feet high—a P. M.—an M. C. On we go. We have passed him. We have left him. Five feet high—four feet high—a child—a frog—a bug—a nothing! What pranks Distance can play with man and his dignities, as the cars drive rattling on! Your D. D. is dwindled down; your P. M. is past minding; your M. C. is microscopic curiosity."

HOW MUCH DID HE LEAVE?—The Boston Post says that this question is asked concerning the property of every rich man that dies, and it was answered very happily by Cloots, who was executor upon the estate of the late Mr. Snodgrass, of this ilk. His neighbor, Mr. Nailrod, was an exceedingly inquisitive man, and it was his pride that he knew as much, almost, of the affairs of people of his neighborhood, as they did themselves. But Mr. Snodgrass had never been communicative, and all that he could glean of his circumstances was from the guesses and speculations of outsiders. The day after his neighbor had been put into the earth, Nailrod visited Cloots, and, with an expecting face, began to question him. Says he, "Mr. Cloots, if it is not improper—I would'nt wish to ask the question if it is the least improper nor expect you to answer it—will you tell me how much my friend Snodgrass left?" "Certainly," said Cloots; I "don't see the least impropriety in your asking, and am perfectly willing to answer it. He left every—cent he was worth in the world, and did'nt take a copper with him." Nailrod felt as small as a pump tack, and went out.

THE ACCIDENT AT SHARON SPRINGS.—The Providence Journal of yesterday, referring to the injuries to Mr. Hoppin of that city by the upsetting of the stage at Sharon Springs, says:—

The many friends of Mr. Hoppin will be gratified to learn that his injuries are by no means so severe as reported, and that, although much hurt, his life is not considered in danger. None of his family were seriously injured. Mr. Hoppin is to be our next Governor, and we cannot afford to have him killed in a stage coach.

A MODEL INSTITUTION.—A Hampshire County correspondent informs the Springfield Rebublican that those confined in the House of Correction in that county do not dislike it so much as formerly, the keeper being very kind to the prisoners, allowing them to go about town, wetting their whistles at convenience, and requiring them only to report themselves at night, "so that they may be put into a place of security where no outsiders can trouble them."

FACTORY HELP.—The Providence Journal says:—There has been rather a scanty supply of help, and several manufacturers have sent for French Canadians, a docile, frugal, temperate and cheerful race, who are delighted with the comforts of New England life and the emoluments of New England labor, both much beyond anything that they have ever known at home. There is a prospect that there will be a considerable immigration of these people, and that they will supply the vacancies which have been made by those who have left the factories for California, or to engage in other pursuits at home.

SAD ACCIDENT.—Thomas Hanley, a very industrious and likely man, aged 29, employed as a teamster on the farm of R. S. Rogers, Esq., in Danvers, suddenly met his death on Tuesday. He had been to Salem to procure a load of manure, and on his return, and while attempting to climb the wagon, on the Square in South Danvers, he fell backward, and the wheel passed over his neck, almost severing his head from his body, and killing him instantly.—Salem Gazette.

DAILY
Morning Chronicle.

PORTSMOUTH:
MONDAY, AUGUST 8, 1853.

THE POINT OF HONOR.

The Meagher Banquet at Boston, closed with an unpleasant scene, the cause of which, at first, we could not understand. But now the Commonwealth newspaper gives us a key which unlocks the whole mystery. It it simply, that "wines and other liquors were very unwisely introduced, and as a consequence many of the company soon gave evidence of unusual hilarity. Among others thus affected, we regret to record it, was Mr. Patrick O'Donahoe, the recently escaped exile, and one of the especial guests of the evening.—Towards the close of the festival a sentiment to his efforts and sufferings in behalf of Irish independence was offered, to which he essayed a reply; but such was his mental and physical condition, it was impossible for him to do so with coherence, and in lieu thereof drew from his pocket a voluminous manuscript, which he commenced reading. The President of the evening, Mr. B. S. Treanor, perceiving that the company was becoming restless, and knowing that the paper, if read, would consume several hours, very properly, with the assistance of Mr. Meagher and others, and in the best manner possible under the circumstances, prevented Mr. O'D. from proceeding. This course greatly incensed the gentleman, and he resumed his seat with complaints at being "silenced" and "cushioned."

The next day, Mr. O'Donahoe, retaining his anger, berated Treanor for trying to cover up his drunkenness. Treanor sent a paper of retraction by the hand of Lt. Kelley of the Shields Artillery, for O'Donahoe to sign—but Capt. Mulcahy of the Montgomery Guards—said that he could not sign it with honor. "Thereby hangs a tale"—and on this point of honor there seems to hang two tails, viz, one of drunkenness before, and the other of a duel behind, or afterwards.

The duel was to have come off at Manchester, N. H.,—but it didn't, because on information furnished by Mr. Kelley, Deputy Chief of Police Eaton arrested Mr. O'Donahoe on a charge of accepting a challenge to a duel, and he was brought before the Police Court, in Boston, where, after a brief examination, on the complaint of Mr. Kelley, he was held in $2000 for appearance on Friday next. Mr. Patrick Donahoe, of the Pilot newspaper, immediately offered himself as bail, and being accepted, Mr. O'Donahoe was suffered to go at liberty.

Love of one's country is a good thing; love of liberty is better; and so far as these Irish patriots are lovers of liberty and martyrs to it, we respect and honor them: but slaves to appetite cannot command respect; and martyrs to whiskey, though from the bottom of the heart we pity them, can receive but little honor and exert less influence in New England. At all events, the honor of a drunken patriot is hardly worth fighting about—and if these new comers cannot keep sober, their cause must sink into contempt.

CAPT. McCALL.

Capt. Edward R. McCall, of the United States Navy, died on Sunday the 31st August, at Bordentown, New Jersey.

He was born on the 5th of August, 1790, in the city of Charleston; he entered the Navy as Midshipman, Jan. 1st, 1808; and was promoted to a Lieutenancy, March 11th, 1813; at which time he was on duty on board the brig Enterprise, of fourteen guns, then under the command of Lieut. Johnson Blakely, who was shortly afterwards succeeded by Lieut. Wm. Burrows.

The Enterprise left this port, for a cruise, on the 1st of September, 1813, and on the 4th at 20 minutes past 3 o'clock, P. M., she brought to action the British brig Boxer, of fourteen guns. Lieut. Burrows being mortally wounded early in the engagement, though he refused to leave his post, the command devolved upon Lieut. McCall, who carried his ship gallantly through the action, the enemy surrendering at 4 o'clock P. M. The loss on board the Enterprise was one killed and fifteen wounded, while that of the Boxer was from twenty to twenty-five killed, and fourteen wounded, among the former Capt. Blythe her commander.

By resolution, approved Jan. 6, 1814, Congress caused to be presented to the nearest male relation of Lieut. Burrows, and to Lieut. McCall, gold medals, "in testimony of the high sense entertained of their gallantry and good conduct in the conflict with the British sloop Boxer."

Lieut. McCall was promoted to the rank of Master Commandant, March 4, 1825, and to that of Captain, March 3, 1835. Although remaining in the Navy, Captain McCall had not been actively employed for several years, living quietly at Bordentown, where he continued to reside up to the time of his death.

For the Chronicle.

THE JURY SYSTEM.

Messrs. Editors:—One word by way of explanation of our own position, not controversy with your correspondent, who styles himself a reformer. For with the whole history of British jurisprudence before him, we fear he might summon such an array of legal points into the discussion, as would make the logical batteries of the Cambridge lawyer in a certain case, appear very diminutive. And after all, it might turn out to establish the competency of a jury to decide the law as well as the facts of a case; for if the jury be competent, as admitted, to decide the truth of facts without the judge, then why are they not competent, with the compositions of the judge, to decide the facts of the law also, and thus bring the process at once to a conclusion.—The jury in such cases never attempt to split hairs and divide atoms of matter into infinitessimal parts like the judge, who in following out the deductions of ingenious reasoning, and threading the lybyrinths of legal subtilties, consumes years, as in the Portsmouth & Concord Railroad case, in doubts and quibbles; while their humble suppliants for justice wait in vain for redress of their wrongs. No, give us the plain common sense of a jury of twelve men, unsophisticated by the speculations of old, black lettered, musty law books; and selected as they may be, from the ranks of working men, with bodies nerved for labor, and with minds strengthened for vigorous thought, before the judges. Not that we would depreciate the high functions of the impartial judge, or diminish his claims to that respect and admiration in which he is justly held for his integrity, learning and splendid attainments. But we must confess that we feel as though treading upon unstable ground when we get into the line of judicial precedents. There is judge somebody rules a case, and establishes a precedent; and here is judge anotherbody rules just in the opposite direction; and then judge somebody else overthrows all his predecessors, and sets up still another standard of law, which alike must take its own chance in this interminable succession of rulings. Now looking only to the decision of the jury in the Portsmouth & Concord Railroad case; that would be sufficient, in the estimation of a discerning public, to establish the credit of a jury, if there be any consistency in principles, and if there be a harmonious social and moral system. We know not how the judges will decide, or whether they will ever decide; for having full scope and verge for the reasoning faculty, and matter being as some philosophers maintain, infinitely divisible, we can fix upon no point within the limits of time, when we may expect a conclusion of their arguments.

VINDEX JUSTITIÆ.

We like a good humored essay, and commend the temper of the above—but we have neither heard the case, nor read the evidence in the case referred to, and therefore express no opinion on its merits. We understand, moreover, that the sickness of one judge has made his colleagues defer several important decisions until his aid can be enjoyed. This circumstance is a good apology for delay.

BOSTON MUSICAL JOURNAL.—This is a new and neat semi-monthly musical paper, edited by B. F. Baker and A. N. Johnson, and published at $1 per annum. It is intended for circulation among the musical public in this country, and is well executed. The first number, now before us, contains a notice of the Boston Convention and Grand Musical Festival, to be held in Boston during the whole week, beginning Monday, August 15.

DEMOCRATIC GATHERING.—The democrats opposed to Pillsbury assembled in Portland on Thursday in large numbers, marching through the streets with bands of music.—They nominated Hanson P. Morrill of Readhill, now land agent of the State, as their candidate for Governor.

Mr. Pillsbury is the Anti-Maine Law candidate, who trented his friends when he was nominated. Mr. Morrill is the candidate of the temperance democrats.

A SINGULAR CASE.—A Miss Read, of West Boylston, took chloroform a few days ago for the purpose of having a tooth extracted, and after the operation was performed, she was attacked with severe pain in the head, became unconscious, and apparently died. Her friends supposing her dead, laid her out for burial, and began to prepare for the funeral ceremonies; but their grief was unexpectedly turned to joy and astonishment, on finding that the supposed dead began to revive! She eventually recovered the full possession of her faculties; but what is still most singular in her case, as we are told, she suffers violent pains in the head as regularly as evening approaches, and at length, and about the same hour each night, falls into a swoon very similar to that which in the first instance was supposed to have been the sleep of death. This case certainly presents a most remarkable escape from premature burial.—Worcester Transcript.

SUDDEN DEATH.—We learn that on the afternoon of the 24th ult., Mr. Henry Cope, of Danville, Warren county, while attending the funeral of one of his children, fell in the grave yard, just as the coffin was being lowered into the grave, and almost instantly expired.—Trenton American.

LOCAL.

☞ The young people of Greenland had a fine Pic-Nic at Rye Beach, on Friday last.—About twenty teams were put in requisition—and well filled with the "flower" of the place. There's no pleasanter way than this, of passing a day occasionally.—One large wagon descended a hill rather too rapidly for the safety of its precious load—five ladies and a gentleman. The breeching broke, the wagon struck the horse's legs—the frightened animal kicked through the dasher, and struck the gentleman on the knee, and ran—the ladies were scared, and didn't wait to be helped out. But no one was much hurt—and this only made the more fun.

PIC NIC.—The social Pic Nic of the North Church Sabbath School, designed to take place at Stratham, on Thursday last, was postponed in consequence of the rain. Should the weather be favorable, it will probably take place to morrow.

THE GERRISH HOUSE.

Messrs. Editors:—I have had a pleasant railroad and steamboat trip to the Isles of Shoals, which I enjoyed very much; and on my return I spent a day at Kittery Point where I found the best of entertainment at the Gerrish House, kept by Mr. Weston, whose well furnished table, neatly kept apartments, and excellent attendance, are all that gentlemen and ladies would require. Every thing was genteel and pleasant, and the charges quite reasonable. This house is worthy of attention by such as wish for quiet elegance on the seaside.

ARRIVALS AT THE OCEAN HOUSE,

Wells and lady, Philadelphia; Kate Wright, Wisconsin; Jas. G. Hart, H. F. French, Exeter; S. H. Pickerins, Greenland; Miss Jane Johnson, E. M. Robbing, Miss Gaines, W. Phillips, Miss Franklin, Miss Treadwell, Dr. Treadwell, Portsmouth.

HOUSE AT AUCTION.—In Saturday's Daily we advertised a House for sale at 12 o'clock that day, in Anthony street, by Henry F. Wendell, auctioneer. The day of sale was erroneous. The sale is to take place next Saturday.

NARROW ESCAPE FROM A CROCODILE.—Rev. John A. Butler, missionary to Africa, had a frightful encounter with a crocodile, while crossing a river on horseback while travelling to Amah Congera. The crocodile first seized the flank of a horse on which Mr. B. rode, but on being shaken off by the floundering of the animal seized Mr. B. by the leg, and drew him from the saddle, but Mr. B. clung to the horse, and sometimes both the man and horse were drawn under the surface of the water. The horse finally got into shallow water, and some of the natives coming to the rescue, drove away the crocodile, and Mr. B. escaped with five frightful wounds on his leg from the teeth of of the monster.

THE ACCIDENT AT NIAGARA FALLS.—The name of the unfortunate man, whose fate at the Falls has excited so lively an interest throughout the country, was not Avery, but Ebert. The former did not sound like a German name. His body has been found, as we have already stated.

TRINITY COLLEGE, HARTFORD.—President Williams, finding his duties as Assistant Bishop too arduous to enable him to devote himself to the interests of the College, has resigned the Presidency. Rev. Daniel P. Goodwin, professor in Bowdoin College, Me., has been elected by the board of Trustees to fill the place made vacant by the resignation of Bishop Williams.

"What is the matter," asked a gentleman yesterday, on hearing a servant woman talking in a very loud key in his house, "what is the matter, Kitty?" "Sure," was the reply, "and here the mistress has been sancing me." The gentleman bade the mistress be humble and submissive, knowing as he did that on no other conditions do Washington servants chose to labor.

LEGISLATIVE PAY.—We learn that Comptroller Wright has refused to pay the members of the legislature their per diem allowance for the 40 days of recess between the regular and the extra session, although $20,000 were added to the appropriation bill for that purpose. For this we think the Comptroller is to be commended. There is some talk of an attempt to compel the payment by a resort to legal measures, but we opine that will end in talk.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

REMARKABLE VOYAGE.—The ship Benjamin Rush, whaler, belonging to Warren, Rhode Island, sailed from that port last winter and went round the world without seeing any land except on the passage out, she sighted the land at Cape de Verde, and on the way homeward, the Island of Trinidad. One whale only was captured in the sea of Japan, and at that time the Captain and boat's crew were lost. The remainder of the men being discouraged, they concluded to return home under the management of the ship's cooper, and she arrived safe at Warren, after an absence of about seven months, the 16th of June last, in the same order she left, excepting what provisions had beed consumed. She is now cleared for another whaling voyage.—Boston Daily Adv.

ELECTRICITY.—It seems to be a settled fact that any person can light a gas-burner with the tip of his finger. The only condition necessary is to stand on a board insulated by glass tumblers and hold a handful of nails or other iron in the hand opposite to the one which is to touch the burner.

CHINESE REBELLION.

The Chinese Rebellion seems to be rising to the dignity of a Revolution. True, the Royalists or tories, do not despair, but hope to regain their power, and conquer the rebels, who we suppose, in that event, will be judicially murdered by thousands. Yet the insurgents hold Nankin, and are now fortifying themselves therein, and are at the same time carrying on more aggressive measures.

The telegraphic news, by late arrivals, stated that the rebels had translated the bible, which we deemed incredible. It now appears that they are distributing a translation, which is quite probable. The North China Herald says,

"The information gained regarding the character of the insurgents and their objects, seems to be of a most curious and interesting nature. A very correct translation of the Bible is freely circulated among them, and a zeal amounting to fanaticism is leading them on to attempt the destruction of the whole Tartar race, while strictly moral duties are not only prescribed, but enforced and practised.

"The insurgents are Christians of the Protestant form of worship, and anti-idolaters of the strictest order. They acknowledge but One God, the Heavenly Father, the All-wise, All-powerful, and Omnipresent Creator of the world; with him, Jesus Christ, as the Saviour of mankind; and also the Holy Spirit as the last of the Three Persons in the Trinity.—Their chief on earth is a person known as "Tae-ping wang, the Prince of Peace," to whom a kind of divine origin is ascribed. Far, however, from claiming adoration, he forbids in an edict the application to himself of the terms 'Supreme,' 'Holy,' and others, hitherto constantly assumed by the Emperors of China, but which he declines receiving on the ground that they are due to God alone. Their moral code the insurgents call the 'Heavenly Rules,' which on examination, proved to be the Ten Commandments. The observance of these is strictly enforced by the leaders of the movement, chiefly Kwang-tung and Kwang-se-men, who are not merely formal professors of a religious system, but practical and spiritual Christians, deeply influenced by the belief that God is always with them."

"SHOCKING BARBARITY."—Under this head the Carrollton (La.) Star, of the 23d ult., has the following:

We grieve, for the honor of our town, to have to record among its weekly news an inhuman outrage practised on the body of an old negro of this place, named Johnson, the slave of Chas. Hines, by Hines himself, which resulted in the death of the poor old victim. The negro was nearly ninety years of age, and universally venerated for his qualities of soberness and honesty, at well as for his great age and revolutionary reminscences. The monster master, taking umbrage at some petty offence, deliberately whipped, stamped, and kicked him to death, as appears by the evidence adduced at the inquest. This occurred on Saturday last.

Immediately after the inquest was over, and the verdict rendered, the warrant was executed, and the monster taken to jail in the city, there being none in the parish. We confess to a feeling of horror and indignation at this act, utterly surpassing any experience of that kind we have ever felt before. No punishment could be too bad for the coward who could thus, in cool malignity, outrage the joint imbecility of age and slavery. Hanging would be too good for him. We thank God that no more such subjects for Mrs. Stowe's studio exist in our midst. Let him go down to fame hand in hand with Legree—a hideous verification of that terrible villain.

RUMORED CONVERSION OF SENATOR DOUGLAS TO ROMANISM.—The Freeman's Journal announces the conversion of a distinguished Senator of the United States, to the Roman Catholic church, at Rome, on the 2d of July, and adds that his conversion was received by Cardinal Fransoni. As Mr. Douglass is the only American Senator in Rome, it is supposed that he is referred to. The Paris correspondent of the New York Journal of Commerce makes mention of the same circumstance.

☞ The New York Herald does not believe the story; but supposes Senator Douglass with the Honorable Joseph R. Chandler of the House of Representatives, who is already a member of the Roman church, and who has gone to Rome with Senator D.

CUBA—FEARFUL MORTALITY.—"Letters from Havana represent the whole Island as very sickly. The yellow fever proves very destructive this season, upon those who are not natives, and the same fact is true in New Orleans. While the soldiers are suffering in the city, beyond all precedence, we are told that the choleru, yellow fever and small pox are making fearful ravages on the estates in the interior. The thousands of recently introduced Africans have brought with them a terrible kind of diarrhœa, which is carrying off vast numbers of victims, and rapidly extending its frightful progress through the Island. Many of the military companies have been decimnated by disease.

REVOLTING EXECUTION.—Thomas Connor, the young man who murdered Captain Hutchinson, was executed, on Friday at Baltimore. The gallows was erected at an elevation above the prison walls, thus affording a full view of the execution to a crowd of 30,000 people of all ages, sexes and conditions who were assembled outside.

After the rope had been adjusted around the prisoner's neck, the trap-door suddenly fell and the rope broke, precipitating the culprit to the ground, a distance of twenty-five feet.—He was taken up insensible, resuscitated, and after a lapse of twenty minutes hung again until he was dead.

BAD TREATMENT OF A POOR ORPHAN BOY.—The Transcript states that the Directors of the House of Industry of Boston, recovered a few days since, $300 from the master to whom they had indented a poor boy, in consequence of his bad treatment.

PORTSMOUTH TO THE SHOALS.
SUMMER ARRANGEMENT.

Steamer Grace Darling,
CAPT. SAMUEL BILLINGS.

THE superior steamer Grace Darling, Capt. Billings, will leave Sheafe's Wharf, daily, (until further notice) at 10 o'clock, or on the arrival of the first morning trains on the Portsmouth & Concord and Eastern Railroads—and return from the Shoals in season to take the last trains for Concord, Boston and intermediate places.

This arrangement affords a fine opportunity for persons from abroad to visit one of the most desirable Summer resorts for the Invalid, and all others who are fond of Fishing, Bathing, and other amusements conducive to health and pleasure. The Islands (eight in number) are about an hour's sail from Portsmouth, by Steamer, where all the advantages from a sea-voyage can be secured, subject to none of its perils. The temperature is never more than 80 degrees in the shade, and seldom varies more than 10 degrees in 24 hours.

Hon. Thomas B. Laighton's Hotel on Appledore Island, designed and kept particularly for the Invalid, and also for the pleasure seeker, is one of the first class, where every convenience, both for luxury and comfort can be found.

The passage out is truly delightful—the scenery unsurpassed. As you pass down the river, view after view presents itself:—The Navy Yard, Dry Dock, Forts Washington, Sullivan, McCleary and Constitution; the settlements of Kittery Point, New Castle, Rye, and many Islands and Beaches along shore, present attractions that are beautiful to behold, and render the trip one of the most beautiful and pleasing nature.

PASSAGE ON BOARD STEAMER, 50 CTS.

Tickets may be obtained on board, or at the Ticket Office of the Portsmouth & Concord Railroad.

Parties from the neighboring towns can be accommodated on reasonable terms, by application to Capt. Billings on board, or to

PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S
Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.

It is unnecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself.—The effects of the fluid exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was built up a wholesale trade to an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.

MARRIAGE.

Happiness and Competence.

WHY IS IT?

That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life at an age when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant.

Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during childhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.

IN AFTER YEARS,

When too late to be benefitted by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the fatal consequences of our ignorance.

What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years! And what days and nights of anguish we might not have been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed. Is it

MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING

To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for many years, from causes simple and controllable, easily remedied—or better still,—not incurred, if every

WIFE AND MOTHER

Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself

YEARS OF MISERY,

And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily devolved upon him from sickness of the wife, without giving him the opportunity of acquiring that competence which his exertions are entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.

SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS

By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands.

In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is excusable if she neglects to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—healthy bodies, with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work entitled

Private Medical Companion.

BY DR. A. M. MAURICEAU,

SURPRIZING OR WONDERFUL,

Considering that EVERY FEMALE, WHETHER MARRIED OR NOT, can here acquire a full knowledge of the nature, character and causes of her complaints, with the various symptoms, and that nearly

should have been sold.

It is impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, as they are of a nature strictly intended for the married or those contemplating marriage, but no female desirous of enjoying health, and that beauty, consequent upon health, which is so conducive to her own happiness, and that of her husband, but either has or will obtain it, as has or will every husband who has the love and affection of his wife at heart, or that of his own pecuniary improvement.

Mauriceau, as there are spurious and surreptitious infringements of copy-right.

LET EVERY WIFE AND HUSBAND PONDER!

No excuse for Ignorance, when Ignorance is Misery to those we hold near and dear, and when to Blispel our Ignorance is within our reach.

To enable every one to decide upon the indispensable necessity of possessing a copy, and that no wife, or mother need remain uninformed upon the many causes, which, sooner or later, are destined to make fearful ravages upon her health, unless guarded against, and that no considerate and affectionate husband have cause to upbraid himself with neglect of the welfare of his wife—a pamphlet of thirty-six pages, containing full Title-page and Index of Contents, extracts from the work, will be sent free of charge to any part of the United States, by addressing, post-paid, as herein.

When Knowledge is Happiness, 'tis culpable to be ignorant.

CAUSING it to grow luxuriantly, and giving it a soft and curling appearance, of the most delightful character. The KATHAIRON neutralises the effects of disease, climate, and old age, in preserving and restoring the Human Hair, even after Baldness of many years,—cleanses the scalp from Dandruff, and its natural impurities,—immediately relieves sympathetic attacks of Nervous Headache, and cures all cutaneous diseases of the skin, such as Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Itch, &c.

A VALUABLE ARTICLE,

For giving the Hair a rich, soft, glossy and curling appearance, nothing has been discovered to compare with its incontested—its incontestible virtues. It imparts the fragrance of the most delightful and exotic flowers, and is free from all minera properties, or any substance which can color the skin, or stain a lady's hat.

REMOVAL.

DR. TURNBULL, Oculist and Aurist, from London, has removed from N. Y. Hotel, to WINTHROP HOUSE, BOSTON. Office hours from 8 to 2.

From the London Times.

A number of scientific gentlemen assembled yesterday at the house of Dr. Turnbull, in Russell square, to witness the results produced by a process recently discovered by the Doctor, and applied for the cure of deafness and blindness.

Between twenty and thirty patients attended, many of whom, it was stated by their parents, had been born deaf and dumb. They were submitted to various tests, by which it was proved that their deafness had been cured by the application of Dr. Turnbull's remedies, and what appears most singular is, that whether the disease depended on paralysis of the auditory nerve, rupture of the tympanum, or obstruction of the internal passages, relief has been obtained, or complete cure effected without pain or inconvenience. Several patients, who represented that they had been completely blind, said that they could now see perfectly well. ju28 2w

"A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered! Consumption can be cured!! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fell disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE!!

N. B.—BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS, and observe the following Promissory Note, with the fac simile signature of the proprietor, on every genuine box:

DR. CONINE'S

SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.

The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER,

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attention and trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom

AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

READ! READ! READ!

DR. HAMPTON'S

VEGETABLE TINCTURE!

The Great Restorative and Invigorator of the System.

THIS article, which has made so many wonderful cures, was discovered by DR. JESSE HAMPTON, of Louisville, Ky., now in fine health in the 79th year of his age, and is acknowledged by those who have used it to be the BEST family medicine in use, and is WARRANTED FREE FROM ALL MINERAL SUBSTANCES. By its mild action on the STOMACH, LIVER and KIDNEYS, it will cure the diseases of those organs, with all chronic complaints, as

Dyspepsy, Cough, Asthma, Bronchial & Lung Affections, Pains in the Back, Side and Breast, Consumption, Scrofula, Fits, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Fistula, Fits, Bowel Complaint, Worms, Nervous Debility,

With all Diseases arising from Impure Blood.

As a FEMALE MEDICINE it has no equal! It will change the Complexion from a pallid to a blooming one.

Wherever introduced its success is unbounded. It has certificates from Hon. Henry Clay, Hon. R. M. Johnson, Vice President of the United States; Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore; the Spanish Consul; Judge Davis; Lund Washington; from a Chaplain of the U. S. Navy; from the State Department, Washington; from the brother of the Physician to the Emperor of France, who was cured by it after all other remedies had failed; and from hundreds of others, making up an amount of Testimony never before given to any other discovery of Medicine. A trial of it will convince the most skeptical.

We invite the public to call and get Pamphlets and see certificates of Cures. Read the following certificates of undoubted testimony:

From Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore.

MAYOR'S OFFICE, Baltimore, Aug. 23, 1852.

I take great pleasure in stating, that I have examined the names of those who have signed certificates respecting Hampton's Vegetable Tincture, and among them I recognize gentlemen of the first respectability, viz: Jos. K. Stapleton, William A. Schaffer, G. Dunan, and others. I also cheerfully testify to the high standing of the house of Messrs Mortimer & Mowbray, who, for the past twenty years, have enjoyed the entire confidence and esteem both of our merchants and citizens generally.

JNO. H. T. JEROME.

A Voice from the Birth-place of Christopher Columbus, the Discoverer of America.

U. S. SHIP CUMBERLAND,
Genoa, Sardinia, January 17, 1853.

Messrs. Mortimer & Mowbray—Gentlemen: The first Lieutenant of this ship, who has been suffering many years from the Dyspepsia, and who has been nearly restored to his usual health by the use of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," desires you to send him one dozen bottles of that medicine.

Lieutenant ——, of the U. S. Navy, now on board this ship, also wishes you to send him one dozen of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," by the store ship which leaves the United States in February or March, for Spezzia.

The Tincture you sent me was received in good order, and I take pleasure in informing you that it has been used with great success by several of our officers in cases of DYSPEPSIA.

I am respectfully yours,

A MEETING.

BY ONE WHO HAD TO GO, and wrote his experience in the Knickerbocker.

On the 26th day of June, I was be-Sabbathed in a country village in Connecticut.—My circumstances were peculiar. Suffice i to say that I had to go to meeting. The preacher was a robust man, with a brow like night, and stentorian lungs. His dress was homespun, and not of a modern fashion. Indeed, his complexion was the only fashionable thing about him—tan color. His style and manner were like the Dutchman's dancing, more stout than handsome. He commenced the services with prayer—and such a prayer! He then read a hymn with a nasal twang and great gusto, especially the following verse:

As when a raging fever burns,
We shift from side to side by turns;
And 't is a poor relief we gain,
To change the place, but keep the pain.

The reading, although dissimilar, reminded me of Mr. F——, a clergyman of Boston, who read from his pulpit:

The Lambs He carries in His arms,
And on His bosom—Bears!

The singing was very fine. The enunciation was distinct, the treble beautifully clear, and the bass heavy. It was one of those old fugue-ing tunes that I always fancied. It ran as follows:

As when a-ra—a-ra—a-ra
As-when-a-ra—
Gin-fe-ver burns,
Gin-fe-ver burns,
As when a ra—a ra—
Gin-fe-ver burns.

This was not just such a meeting as I had been in the habit of attending. I rather liked it. A text was suggested by the hymn, to wit: "Wine is a mocker, strong drink is raging." Next came the reading of the fifth chapter of the Epistle to the Ephesians, from the comments upon which I obtained many new ideas. This twenty-third verse, said the minister, is a thumper for these women's-rights sort of folks; and that fourth verse is considerable: Let not foolish talking, etc., be so much as named amongst you, nor jesting: jest so, my brethren, and the Apostle adds: They are not convenient. That jest so was spoken in such a tone of voice, and with such a queer expression, that I could not help smiling. At that instant I caught the preacher's eye, and I thought he smiled, but of course I was mistaken. My text, he continued, you will find some where in Paul's epistles: "If by any means I might save some." Here the preacher took off his cravat: I propose, brethren, to-day, to shoot kind o' scattering. You know if you dart a straight pole through an apple-tree, you don't knock off no apples; but if it is crooked, and thrown kind o' hilter skilter, it's sure to knock off some. Here the preacher took off his coat, and I am afraid I tittered a little, and a pretty girl, nearly in front of me tittered also. Whether it was at the simile, or because he looked so unlike a clergyman in his shirt sleeves, or whether it was because I—I don't know, but I thought it was because—— But no matter.

First about that women's rights business.—We ain't left in the dark in this matter. The doctrine is plain. In this we have a gnoso.

That was a new word to me. Gnoso?—what sort of a thing is a gnoso? Gignimai means 'to be;' no, it is derived from gnomi, to perceive—future, gnoso. It cannot be a perception, for gnoso is not a noun. My Greek is rusty. He cannot mean diagnosis; then what on earth does he mean? I took up a book in hopes to find a dictionary, but it proved a Testament. Gnoso! Gnoso! Well, to use the parson's expression, that is a thumper. At last it flashed upon me, as the preacher said: No, brethren, as I said before, we have not a guess-so in this matter, but we have a know-so.

This is not one of the meetings that we read of, but it is decidedly interesting. Here is food for the mind.

And now the preacher seemed embarrassed. He had no notes; perhaps it was on that account. He tried to put his hand into his coat pocket for his bandanna, but his coat had been laid aside. He raised the back part of his right hand to his proboscis, and then placed his hand in a position to eye it critically. I did not remark that his hand was of a form to be proud of. He raised his hand again and again to his nose, and then eyed it as before. Presently he sneezed like a swivel. Occasionally he would ejaculate 'I,' as if that word was to begin his next sentence, and then wipe the back of his hand under the skirts of his coat, or rather 'in the place where the skirts ought to be.' With great difficulty I kept from any audible laughter. The pretty girl near me was in the same condition. I could see her plump shoulders shake when her cambric was over her face. At last the preacher, with his fist extended, and eyeing it as before, with a face as red as a lobster's back, exclaimed: I don't know as I can preach neow, for I guess I'm goin' to have the nose-bleed! The pretty girl cackled aloud, and the stopple of my risibles flew out with an explosive noise, as the preacher descended from the desk, saying: Brother Snow, you pray while I'm gone. I could see the parson listening at the door, paying no attention whatever to his nose.—Brother Snow rose, and the congregation bent forward reverently. When silence reigned, brother Snow, instead of the expected prayer, took occasion to say: On Monday evening there will be in the vestry a pic-nic, to which all are invited to send vittles, and the proceeds will go toward paying the arrearage of the minister's salary. The preacher returned immediately after the notice, and no trace of blood could be seen. It was too much for the pretty girl; she vanished; upon which I imitated her example. On comparing notes in the entry, we came to the conclusion that a remark made in the minister's prayer was correct, that this people in and of themselves were n't much; and the pretty girl said: Of this I think we have a know-so. I never saw the girl afterward, and now I wish I had not left the meeting.

DAILY
Morning Chronicle.
PORTSMOUTH:
TUESDAY, AUGUST 9, 1853.

A FILLIBUSTER SERENADE.

Senator Soule left New York, on Saturday, for Liverpool, to take up his mission to Spain. On the evening before, a party of about a hundred persons, mainly Cuban exiles, with a few native citizens who sympathize with the friends of free Cuba, got up a torchlight procession, and treated Mr. Soule to a serenade. The procession was headed by Dodsworth's Band. The flags of the United States and free Cuba were borne side by side. A number of large lanterns, on which were stars and fillibustering inscriptions, were carried in the procession. Having arrived at Mr. Soule's lodging, they called him out with cheers, when one of the number made a somewhat extravagant speech to him. Mr. Soule, in his response, thanked them heartily for the honor, and said, among other things—

"The American Minister can never forget that he is an American citizen, and in this light the down trodden people of every class shall have my support and constitutional aid, always recollecting my position, and at the same time remembering the circumstances under which I first visited your country."

Several thousand people were present in front of the hotel, and the whole affair passed off with the greatest enthusiasm.

In bad taste, undoubtedly—but we give it to show one of the signs of the times. Senator Soule, a known fillibuster, receives a high appointment from our government, and is sent out to Spain as the most offensive man we could possibly find. We may say Peace; but what do we mean?

If Spain has any feelings that can be insulted, we think his appointment, this address to him, and his reply to it, must rouse them. These movements look about as pacific as knocking a boy's hat down over his eyes when he stands in the school house door. If he is very weak he may not strike—but he will be apt to grumble a little.

THE POTATO ROT.—The Providence Journal says the potato disease has made its appearance in some parts of Washington county, Rhode Island. Since the recent rains, many fields near Point Judith have been stricken with the blast, entirely destroying the plant.

ELOQUENCE.—Now let the metaphysical, jesuitical, half-political, duodecimal, infinitesimal subdivision of ideas—be succeeded by the involution, evolution, and double-and-twisted convolution of the disjointed and dismembered and conglomerated fragments—and then with many rhetorical flourishes and gymnastic gyrations, soar off like a soap-bubble over the heads of the entranced groundlings, till it bursts in the upper regions of ineffable bombast, and its explosion lights up all nature with the most transcendently resplendent moonshine.

If that is not eloquence—what is it?

SPIRITUAL MANIFESTATIONS.

Judge Edmonds, of New York, publishes an appeal to the Public, in the N. Y. Herald, defending the "spiritual manifestations," and himself for believing in them. He began to investigate them, believing them to be an imposture which he could detect, and which he meant to expose; but investigation made him a convert. He reckons the number of believers in and about New York at 25,000; and those in the country at several hundred thousands.

He speaks of the spirit intercourse as in strict accordance with the known laws of nature, and with the scriptures, and as tending to a "closer walk with God." He says,

This is a part of the something which I have found in my researches. But there is more yet. There is that which comforts the mourner and binds up the broken-hearted; that which smooths the passage to the grave and robs death of its terrors; that which enlightens the atheist, and cannot but reform the vicious; that which cheers and encourages the virtuous amid all the trials and vicissitudes of life; and that which demonstrates to man his duty and his destiny, leaving it no longer vague and uncertain. What that is I cannot in the limits of this letter explain, but in due time it will be forthcoming, and each one can judge for himself.

KOSTA AN AMERICAN CITIZEN.—It is now made certain, by a letter from John P. Brown, our Charge d'Affaires at Constantinople, that Kosta, the Hungarian patriot, who was seized at Smyrna, by the Austrians, is really a naturalized citizen of the United States, and as such entitled to our protection.

In writing to Baron Bruck, the Austrian Envoy, Mr. Brown says, "I have the honor to hand you (inclosed) the declaration which M. Kosta made at New York on the 31st of July, 1852, 'renouncing his allegiance to the Emperor of Austria, and taking an oath of allegiance to the government of the United States of America.'"

The abolitionists of Syracuse, N. Y., purpose celebrating the rescue of Jerry, the fugitive, on the 1st of October.

What will they celebrate next? Why don't some body celebrate the rendition of Sims from Boston?

Gerrit Smith has made a donation of $25,000 to the city of Oswego, for the purpose of establishing a public library.

EPIDEMIC AT NEW ORLEANS.

The ravages of the yellow fever at New Orleans are terrible, having assumed a type of malignancy beyond all former precedent; full seventy per cent. of the cases, it is stated, proving fatal. A despatch dated 1st inst. says, "The yellow fever continues its ravges here to a fearful extent. Rain has fallen almost incessantly for more than a week, causing an increase of the fever."

The Howard Benevolent Association of that city, the duty of whose members is to look after the wants and minister to the distresses of the sick and destitute, has in pursuance of its benevolent purposes during the present visitation of the epidemic, exhausted all its resources, and has addressed a public appeal for assistance to Louisianians who are absent from the state, and to all others who have a heart to feel for the woes of others, and a hand to aid in the releif of human distress.

An Episcopal clergyman of New Orleans, in a letter to the Rev. Dr. Hawkes of New York, among many other things equally painful, says:

"I have this day visited forty-four persons sick with the fever, and by to-morrow I do not expect to find ten of them alive. I am going from house to house, from one scene of the most appalling wretchedness only to see another, worse, if that be possible, than the last.

Death is all around me, in his most frightful form—yet my duty is a plain one; not only to preach the gospel, but to help bodily the sufferer who has no friend. My dear friend, for God's sake, help us. Get what you can, and remit it to me for the Howard Association, (you know all about it, for you are a member,) and the poor will bless you. This morning I went into a lonely little hut, and there I found the father dead, the mother hugging her babe, only four days old, to her heart, striving to nurse it, while the black vomit was streaming from her mouth. Such are the objects for which I plead. The mother is since dead—the babe is alive. I took it, and got a black woman to be its mother. Not one cent had these people. My friend, I could give you a great many similar cases of suffering—but I forbear. You will, I know, help us to keep these poor dying creatures."

The New York Howard Association have appointed the Rev. Francis L. Hawks, and Messrs. Ogden Woodruff and Charles L. Frost, of New York, a committee to solicit subscriptions and forward funds in aid of the purposes of the Association.

The total number of deaths in New Orleans during the forty-eight hours ending at sundown on the evening of the 1st inst., was 290, of which 263 were caused by yellow fever

For a week ending on Friday July 26, there was a return of total deaths 617—yellow fever deaths 429. The worst week in 1847 was from the 3d of September to the 10th, when the deaths from yellow fever were 424. People were leaving the city as fast as posible.

There have been no interments at the "Odd Fellows' Rest" for over a month, and there has not been a death in the Order during the last month, from any disease, until the 26th, when a member of one of the German Lodges died. There are about 2500 members of the Order in this city. Of this number probably 800 are on a visit to the North. In the Commercial Lodge there are about 300 members, and for the last six weeks there has been only one member sick.

HEALTH OF MANCHESTER.—There is no raging epidemic and no cause for alarm, but it cannot be concealed that it is unusually sickly. During the month of July the number of deaths here was 57,—18 adults and 39 children,—or about 2 a day. Usually the number of deaths for the same month is about half as large. We deem it our duty to state the fact, so that persons may be on their guard as to what they eat, drink and wear. Bathe daily, keep your houses well ventilated and clean, and the atmosphere about your premises as pure as the mountain air.—Manchester Mirror.

Many of the deaths are of cholera morbus or summer complaint; some of dysentery.

☞ The last case of absence of mind, is given by the Philadelphia Sun. A young lady in that city, upon hearing a beautiful serenade beneath her chamber window, a few nights since, hastily procured a light, and a magnificent boquet with which to acknowledge the compliment. But in the hurry and flurry of the moment, the fluid lamp was thrown at the devoted heads of the singers, while the flowers were tightly grasped to prevent their falling!

☞ Rev. Preston Pond, Pastor of the Edwards church, Boston, died on Friday, at the Asylum for the Insane in Somerville, Mass., aged 35.

DESPERATE ATTACK BY A SNAKE.—The Ariegois has the following: "Maria Janze, wife of a farmer of Tarascon, went a few days ago to wash her linen in the Ariege, taking her child with her. All at once she saw a snake a yard and a half long, which made a spring at her, attracted probably by the smell of milk from her breast, she being a wet nurse. The reptile attempted to enter her mouth, but not being able to do so, wound itself round her neck, and bit her severely. The terrified woman made efforts to pull it from her neck, and her son hastened to her assistance. At length she succeeded in casting the snake from her; but, instead of taking flight, it looked furiously at her and raised itself as if preparing to spring. A young man came up, and boldly attacking the reptile with a stick, succeeded in killing it. If the woman had been left to herself, she would probably have died from convulsions, caused by fear. As it is, serious consequences may ensue. Her face bears the mark of the reptile's bite, and her neck is scratched by its folds."

The astounding frauds on New York, alluded to by a Washington despatch, a few days ago, relate to land warrants. The parties concerned are said to be a distinguished head of a bureau in Washington, a clerk connected with his office, and a broker in New York. The amount of the fraud is nearly $150,000.

LOCAL.

☞ The Police Justice of this city, on the 6th inst. handed in his quarterly return to the Mayor and Aldermen, by which it appears he credited to the City as cash received from sundry officers during the last quarter, $53.49, being $3.49 more than his quarter's salary; and stated as still outstanding $112.07.

LIBERAL CONTRIBUTION.—On Sunday last during the morning service at the Middle Street Baptist Church, the pastor, Rev. Mr. Lamson, made a brief and appropriate statement, requesting aid for Home and Domestic Missions, and suggesting that a collection of $100 in the afternoon would be desirable in aid of the object. A collection was accordingly taken at the close of the afternoon services, amounting to 101.91.

☞ We notice considerable complaint in the papers, of the managers for some of the great singers of the day. The agent of Sontag refused or neglected to pay the expenses of concerts not given in Portland and elsewhere. The Boston Transcript thinks the fault is generally in the managers, and that it is time the press united in exposing the tricks of repudiating agents.

The bills for advertising, printing, hall-hire, &c., for that concert we did not get from Madame Bishop, were not paid till a trustee-writ was served on the ticket seller at Concord! The full amount was then collected, to pay all expenses necessary for giving the concert—so we don't see that the good-natured and gentlemanly Bochsa gained much by breaking his engagement here. With ordinary good management, a satisfactory audience would have been gathered here on that occasion—though after such an exhibition of foreign insolence, we hope our citizens will be cautious where they bestow patronage.

COMPOSITIONS.—Some compositions are mere nonsense when they are written; others become so by errors in typography. A case of the latter kind occurred in the essay of Vindex Justitiæ, in our columns on Monday, on the Jury System, wherein the types make him speak about the "compositions of the judge"—whereas the author wrote and meant "expositions." The latter word made good sense, but the error destroyed it.

Treat and lady, Portsmouth; Miss Anna Gowen Blackler, Salem, Mass; J. M. Clark and lady, South Carolina; J. W. Hopkinson, Bradford; J. M. Greely, W. B. Kimball, St. Louis; E. R. Heath, Franklin; Geo. E. Jenks, J. A. Weston, Concord; H. L. Parker, Mrs. Bailey, G. H. Hoyt, Boston; Charles O. Huntington, Charles Butters, Haverhill.

SACO AND BIDDEFORD TAX PAYERS.—The Eastern Journal gives a list of the solid men of Saco and Biddeford. There are in Saco, 66 taxes of $50 and upwards; in Biddeford 9 taxes of over $100, 20 between $50 and $100, and 52 between $25 and $50; 590 citizens taxes run from $1 to $25; 710 citizens pay only a poll tax, and probably 75 citizens are not even taxed for a poll.

SUICIDE.—A widow, named Sophia Bailey, while in a fit of insanity, jumped from a rear window of Dr. Kittredge's hydropathic establishment, in Boston, on Sunday morning, and striking upon her head, fractured her skull in such a manner as to produce death soon after.

Mrs. Bailey had been in the hospital some five weeks, endeavoring to recover her health by means of the "water cure." It has been ascertained that, before leaping from the window, she attempted to commit suicide by cutting her throat with scissors. She was about fifty-three years old, and formerly resided at West Cambridge.

A LOCOMOTIVE VILLAGE.—The Illinois Journal says that a new plan of accommodating laborers on railroad improvements is practised on the Chicago & Mississippi Railroad. The entire working force on this road is one hundred persons, who live in cars fitted up for the purpose of boarding the men, and are pushed along as the rails are laid—thus securing the advantage of having the men always near their work. This locomotive boarding-house or village comprises fifteen large covered cars, with all the necessary conveniences for cooking, eating and sleeping. They carry the cows along; they graze along side, and are put in their stalls when the locomotive village changes ground.

AN UNSUCCESSFUL VOYAGE.—The clipper ship Flying Arrow, Capt. Treadwell, which left Boston 20th of last January, for San Francisco, and which was afterwards dismasted and put into St. Thomas for repairs, returned to New York Thursday to obtain a new crew. Her original crew were discharged at St. Thomas, and as no sailors were to be had on completing repairs, she was obliged to return to New York. Several of her crew and passengers died of the prevailing epidemic while at St. Thomas.

THE WILD MAN.—A singular young man, who is unable or refuses to speak, has been caught in the lower part of this city. He came from the woods, and called into a house to get some food, being apparently almost starved. He may be insane, as some of his actions denote insanity. At any rate, there is something very mysterious about him, and he has been very properly taken care of by the City Marshal.—Concord Reporter.

Col Fremont leaves for California, overland, on horseback, in about two weeks.

An act is now before the Councils at Cincinnati forbidding intramural interments.

An immense crop of wheat and corn, it is said, will be produced in Illinois this year.

FOUR DAYS LATER FROM EUROPE.

ARRIVAL OF THE BALTIC.

NEW YORK, August 7.

The steamship Baltic, from Liverpool, with 167 passengers, arrived at 12 o'clock to-day. She was obliged to decline a large quantity of freight.

The ship J. Z., from New York for Liverpool, was burnt at sea July 7th, latitude 42, longitude 62. Capt. French and all hands were saved by the ship Ebenezer, and arrived at Liverpool. The ship Robert Celley also went to her assistance. The cause of the fire was spontaneous combustion.

RUSSIA AND TURKEY.—The Turkish difficulty is considered as settled, although the Czar's acceptance of the proposal is not announced. His assent is daily expected, and until received, nothing definite can be known.

If a war arises with Russia, it is feared that breadstuffs will be short in Italy this year.

PARIS, July 26.—The news of the crops in the south is favorable, particularly corn, olives and figs. The same in Normandy.

THE SMYRNA AFFAIR.—The misunderstanding between the Austrian government and that of the United States is likely to be a serious one.

On the 5th the Italian and Austrian refugees in Constantinople, gave Mr. Marsh a serenade, and the American diplomatist came out on his balcony, and gave a cheer for the freedom of the United States, Italy and Hungary.

On the 13th, as soon as the two Austrian Austrian frigates, Bellona and Novarra, sailed into Smyrna harbor, the United States sloop weighed anchor and left.

The Austrian press asserts that the assassin of the young cadet, a certain Bassiz, a Hungarian, was in the service of Mr. Lewis, the English clergyman, and it is hinted that the reverend gentleman connived at the murderer's escape.

The Kosta affair remains unchanged.

CHINA.—The Empire of China is divided, and Nankin is independent of the Tartar dynasty. Great anxiety prevailed at Canton, and fears were entertained of a rising.

SUMMARY.—The state of the crops in Great Britain is on the whole considered to be good. There are no indications of the potato rot.

The opening of the French ports to breadstuffs is more to quiet anxiety than from any fear of scarcity.

Christina of Spain is in Paris, intriguing, they say, to marry her daughter to Prince Napoleon, and to set the young couple up as King and Queen of Mexico or any other South American state that will accept them.

The grape disease is feared in Portugal.

MOVEMENT OF TROOPS.—We learn from an authentic source that two of the four companies of the fourth regiment U. S. Artillery, now stationed in this harbor, have been ordered to the Rio Grande. Two companies of the third artillery, forming part of the garrison at Newport, Rhode Island, are also under orders to the same point. The company of the fourth artillery stationed at Oswego is to be withdrawn, to replace in part the force taken from the posts at this port.

These changes are consequent upon the advance of Santa Anna upon Carmargo, who, it is said, has concentrated an army of six thousand men in that quarter; and of whose movements the government have been fully advised.—N. Y. Journal of Commerce.

Judge Sharkey, has published a card, accompanied with documentary evidence, disclaiming all connection with the Lady Suffolk affair. He says the documents purporting to have been furnished by him were fabricated by the Mexican Consul Vivo, or some one else.

LAUNCH OF A STEAMER WITH STEAM UP. The handsome screw-steamer Solway, for the Glasgow & Whitehaven trade, was recently launched from the yard of John Scott & Sons, at Greenock, England—and is, we believe, the first instance of a steamer being launched with everything ready for sea.

AN ANCIENT SHIP.—The ship which conveyed General Wolfe on his expedition to Quebec is still afloat, under the name of William and Ann. She was built in 1759 for a bomb-ketch, and was in dock in the Thames recently, sound, and likely to endure many years yet; she is now engaged in the Honduras and African timber trade.

AN exquisite statue of a girl at prayer is placed directly beside a platform weighing scale, in the North Nave of the Palace. We watched them both for fifteen minutes, and found that twenty seven people weighed themselves, while only one stopped to look at the statue.—N. Y. Day Book.

PORTSMOUTH TO THE SHOALS.
SUMMER ARRANGEMENT.
Steamer Grace Darling,
CAPT. SAMUEL BILLINGS.

THE superior steamer Grace Darling, Capt. Billings, will leave Sheafe's Wharf, daily, (until further notice) at 10 o'clock, or on the arrival of the first morning trains on the Portsmouth & Concord and Eastern Railroads—and return from the Shoals in season to take the last trains for Concord, Boston and intermediate places.

This arrangement affords a fine opportunity for persons from abroad to visit one of the most desirable Summer resorts for the Invalid, and all others who are fond of Fishing, Bathing, and other amusements conducive to health and pleasure. The Islands (eight in number) are about an hour's sail from Portsmouth, by Steamer, where all the advantages from a sea-voyage can be secured, subject to none of its perils. The temperature is never more than 80 degrees in the shade, and seldom varies more than 10 degrees in 24 hours.

Hon. Thomas B. Laighton's Hotel on Appledore Island, designed and kept particularly for the Invalid, and also for the pleasure seeker, is one of the first class, where every convenience, both for luxury and comfort can be found.

The passage out is truly delightful—the scenery unsurpassed. As you pass down the river, view after view presents itself:—The Navy Yard, Dry Dock, Forts Washington, Sullivan, McCleary and Constitution; the settlements of Kittery Point, New Castle, Rye, and many Islands and Beaches along shore, present attractions that are beautiful to behold, and render the trip one of the most beautiful and pleasing nature.

PASSAGE ON BOARD STEAMER, 50 CTS.

PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S
Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.

It is unnecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself.—The effects of the first exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.

MARRIAGE.

Happiness and Competence,

WHY IS IT?

That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life at an age when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant.

Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during childhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.

IN AFTER YEARS,

When too late to be benefitted by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the full consequences of our ignorance.

What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years! And what days and nights of anxiety might we not have been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed. It is

MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING

To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for many years, from causes simple and controllable, easily remedied—or better still,—not incurred, if every

WIFE AND MOTHER

Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself

YEARS OF MISERY,

And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily devolving upon him from sickness of the wife, without giving him the opportunity of acquiring that competence which his exertions are entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.

SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS

By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands.

In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is excusable if she neglect to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—healthy bodies, with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work entitled

THE MARRIED WOMAN'S
Private Medical Companion.

BY DR. A. N. MAURICEAU,
PROFESSOR OF DISEASES OF WOMEN.

One Hundreth Edition. 18mo., pp. 250. Price 50 Cents.

[ON FINE PAPER, EXTRA BINDING, $1 00.]

First published in 1847, and it is not

SURPRIZING OR WONDERFUL,

Considering that EVERY FEMALE, WHETHER MARRIED OR NOT, can here acquire a full knowledge of the nature, character and causes of her complaints, with the various symptoms, and that nearly

should have been sold.

It is impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, as they are of a nature strictly intended for the married, or those contemplating marriages, but no female can peruse it without feelings of enjoying health, and that beauty, consequent upon health, which is so conducive to her own happiness, and that of her husband, but either has or will obtain it, as he or she will every husband who has the love and affection of his wife at heart, or that of his own pecuniary improvement.

UPWARDS OF ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND COPIES

Have been SENT BY MAIL within the last few months.

CAUTION TO THE PUBLIC.

BE NOT DEFRAUDED!

Buy no book unless "Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, 129 Liberty Street, N. Y." is on the title page, and the entry in the Clerk's Office on the back of the title-page; and buy only of respectable and honorable dealers, or send by mail, and address to Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, as there are spurious and surreptitious infringements of copy-right.

LET EVERY WIFE AND HUSBAND PONDER!

No excuse for Ignorance, when Ignorance is Misery to those we hold near and dear, and when to dispel our Ignorance is within our reach.

To enable every one to decide upon the "indispensable necessity" of possessing a copy, and that no wife, or mother need remain uninformed upon the many causes, which, sooner or later, are destined to make fearful ravages upon her health, unless guarded against, and that no considerate and affectionate husband have cause to upbraid himself with neglect of the welfare of his wife—a pamphlet of thirty-six pages, containing full Title-page and Index of Contents, together with extracts from the book, will be sent free of charge to any part of the United States, by addressing, post-paid, as herein.

When Knowledge is Happiness, 'tis culpable to be ignorant.

☞ On receipt of One Dollar (for the fine Edition, extra binding,) "THE MARRIED WOMAN'S PRIVATE MEDICAL COMPANION" is sent (mailed free) to any part of the United States. All letters must be post-paid, and addressed to Dr. A. M. MAURICEAU, Box 1224, New York City. Publishing Office, No. 129 Liberty Street, New York.

CAUSING it to grow luxuriantly, and giving it a soft and curling appearance, of the most delightful character. The KATHAIRON neutralises the effects of disease, climate, and old age, in preserving and restoring the Human Hair, even after a Baldness of many years,—cleanses the scalp from Dandruff, and its natural impurities,—immediately relieves sympathetic attacks of Nervous Headache, and cures all cutaneous diseases of the skin, such as Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Itch, &c.

AS A TOILET ARTICLE,

For giving the Hair a rich, soft, glossy and curling appearance, nothing has been discovered to compare with its incontested—its incontestible virtues. REMOVAL.

DR. TURNBULL, Oculist and Aurist, from London, has removed from N. Y. Hotel, to WINTHROP HOUSE, BOSTON. Office hours from 8 to 2.

From the London Times.

A number of scientific gentlemen assembled yesterday at the house of Dr. Turnbull, in Russell square, to witness the results produced by a process recently discovered by the Doctor, and applied for the cure of deafness and blindness.

Between twenty and thirty patients attended, many of whom, it was stated by their parents, had been born deaf and dumb. They were submitted to various tests, by which it was proved that their deafness had been cured by the application of Dr. Turnbull's remedies; and what appears most singular is, that whether the disease depended on paralysis of the auditory nerve, rupture of the tympanum, or obstruction of the internal passages, relief has been obtained, or complete cure effected without pain or inconvenience. Several patients, who represented that they had been completely blind, said that they could now see perfectly well. ju29 2w

THE ELM TREE.

The following lines were written by one of the girls employed in one of the carding-rooms at the Amoskeag Mills, where it will be recollected a petition was got up, and numerously signed, praying the Company to spare a large Elm, which it was feared might be removed in the building of a new Mill, but which petition was granted. The lines possess no small degree of merit.

Let others sing of "the brave old oak"
That stands in the forest wide,
With its broad-arm'd leafy brethren
Around on every side;
But I'll tell of the graceful elm tree,
That waves brick walls to hide.

I stoop by the open window,
At noon of a sultry day,
'Mid the ceaseless sounds of labor,
But my heart was far away—
To that cottage in the valley,
Where for me they ceaseless pray.

The sweet flowers bloom around it,
With vines 'tis curtained o'er,
And the mild face of my mother
Looks out at the open door,
And she prays that o'er that threshhold
My feet may pass once more.

I gazed from the open window—
But high brick walls were there,
That from their sides reflected
The scorching noontide glare;
And I sighed for the stir of waving trees
In my own green mountain air.

And thou thou noble elm tree!
Thou didst toss thine arms on high,
And my weak heart rose exulting,
And checked was each rising sigh;
For thoughts with the plumes of angels
Swept o'er my darkened sky.

Thy crest was a pure Evangel,
That sang to my soul of home—
The land of pure immortals,
Where the weary no more may roam,
And the sorrows that shade this changing world
To us never-more may come.

Not to me alone, fair elm tree,
Have thy pendant branches told
Sweet tales of home, and other days
That more precious are than gold,
To the strangers wandering far away
From the scenes they have loved of old.

I have pressed the moss of the mountain,
I have hunted the wild-wood flowers;
I have gazed with delight on lofty pines,
I have mused in green maple bowers;—
But the elm that grows on the river's bank
Has soothed my loneliest hours.

And O! thou noble elm tree!
The heart must be hard and bold,
That would scatter the pride of thy leafy crest
For the paltry love of gold;
May thy branches wave in the summer air
When this hand is still and cold!

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. "A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered! Consumption can be cured!! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fall disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient to sustain life, redden the cheek the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE!

N. B.—BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS, and observe the following Promissory Note, with the fac simile signature of the proprietor, on every genuine box:

"$50 00. On demand I promise to pay to the bearer FIVE MILLS for value received.

DR. CONINE'S
SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.
The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER.

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as Nature's Kindest Remedy for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom
AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers are in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

READ! READ! READ!

DR. HAMPTON'S
VEGETABLE TINCTURE!

The Great Restorative and Invigorator of the System.

THIS article, which has made so many wonderful cures, was discovered by DR. JESSE HAMPTON, of Louisville, Ky., now in fine health in the 79th year of his age, and is acknowledged by those who have used it to be the best family medicine in use, and is WARRANTED FREE FROM ALL MINERAL SUBSTANCES. By its mild action on the Stomach, Liver and Kidneys, it will cure the diseases of those organs, with all chronic complaints, as

Dyspepsy, Cough, Asthma, Bronchial & Lung Affections, Pains in the Back, Side and Breast, Consumption, Scrofula, Fits, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Fistula, Fits, Bowel Complaint, Worms, Nervous Debility,

With all Diseases arising from Impure Blood.

As a FEMALE MEDICINE it has no equal! It will change the Complexion from a pallid to a blooming one.

Wherever introduced its success is unbounded. It has certificates from Hon. Henry Clay, Hon. R. M. Johnson, Vice President of the United States; Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore; the Spanish Consul; Judge Davis; Lund Washington; from a Chaplain of the U. S. Navy; from the State Department, Washington; from the brother of the Physician to the Emperor of France, who was cured by it after all other remedies had failed; and from hundreds of others, making up an amount of Testimony never before given to any other discovery of Medicine. A trial of it will convince the most skeptical.

We invite the public to call and get Pamphlets and see certificates of Cures. Read the following certificates of undoubted testimony:

From Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore.

Mayor's Office, Baltimore, Aug. 23, 1852.

I take great pleasure in stating, that I have examined the names of those who have signed certificates respecting Hampton's Vegetable Tincture, and among them I recognize gentlemen of the first respectability, viz: Jos. K. Stapleton, William A. Schaffer, G. Dunan, and others. I also cheerfully testify to the high standing of the house of Messrs Mortimer & Mowbray, who, for the past twenty years, have enjoyed the entire confidence and esteem both of our merchants and citizens generally.

JNO. H. T. JEROME.

A Voice from the Birth-place of Christopher Columbus, the Discoverer of America.

U. S. Sloop Cumberland, Genoa, Sardinia, January 17, 1853.

Messrs. Mortimer & Mowbray—Gentlemen: The first Lieutenant of this ship, who has been suffering many years from the Dyspepsia, and who has been nearly restored to his usual health by the use of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," desires you to send him one dozen bottles of that medicine.

Lieutenant ——, of the U. S. Navy, now on board this ship, also wishes you to send him one dozen of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," by the store ship which leaves the United States in February or March, for Spezzia.

The Tincture you sent me was received in good order, and I take pleasure in informing you that it has been used with great success by several of our officers in cases of Dyspepsia.

I am respectfully yours,
VERNON ESKRIDGE, Chaplain U.S.N.

REMOVAL.

DR. TURNBULL, Oculist and Aurist, from London, has removed from N. Y. Hotel, to WINTHROP HOUSE, BOSTON. Office hours from 8 to 2.

From the London Times.

A number of scientific gentlemen assembled yesterday at the house of Dr. Turnbull, in Russell square, to witness the results produced by a process recently discovered by the Doctor, and applied for the cure of deafness and blindness.

Between twenty and thirty patients attended, many of whom, it was stated by their parents, had been born deaf and dumb. They were submitted to various tests, by which it was proved that their deafness had been cured by the application of Dr. Turnbull's remedies, and what appears most singular is, that whether the disease depended on paralysis of the auditory nerve, rupture of the tympanum, or obstruction of the internal passages, relief has been obtained, or complete cure effected without pain or inconvenience. Several patients, who represented that they had been completely blind, said that they could now see perfectly well. ju28 2w

It is unnecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself.—The effects of the fluid exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.

Depot and manufactory, No. 137 Broadway, New York. Retail price 25 cents a large bottle.

Liberal discount to purchasers by the quantity, and by the principal Merchants and Druggists throughout the United States, and Canada, Mexico, West Indies, Great Britain, France, &c., and by Weeks & Potter, Brewers, Stevens & Cushing, and Wm. Brown, Boston. d&w6m je22

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 10, 1853.

NATIONAL HATE.

National hatred is as absurd as it is wicked; yet it exists in little minds; and as such minds abound in all countries, we must meet and manage the ill feeling as well as we can. An illustration of these principles may be seen in the following little notice of a troublesome occurrence at Lawrence, Mass., when, on the occasion of the late Battalion drill in that city, something of a collision took place between the citizens and the Irish company who were placed on guard.

The Lawrence correspondent of the Lowell News, who seems to have been an eye-witness of the affair, says, the citizens wishing to get as near a view as possible, in order to be precise, "took sight" from one end of the line to the other, and then called on all hands to "toe the mark." The eyes of the military and the citizens did'nt agree, however, and an encounter ensued, in which the bayonets were brought into near proximity with the mortal man.—One of the citizens named Wm. Andrews, saved himself from being run through only by catching the point of the bayonet on his arm. The Irish company would have been driven from the field had they not been taken under guard of the Stoneham company. Considerable excitement was manifest during the day, but no further violence was attempted.

Now this is all wrong; the citizens should no more molest the Irish company than any other; but then, to go farther back, there should be no Irish company. What companies we have should be American. There is no reason why an Irish, or English, or German immigrant, who becomes naturalized, should not join a military company as well as a native; but there are many and cogent reasons why we should not have Irish and English and German military organizations.

We do not or ought not to wish to be an empire, composed of clans or nations, each hating the other; but as far as possible a homogeneous mass of men, of different nativity to be sure, but owing no allegiance and claiming no name but that of American citizens.

To make foreign companies, or clans of any sort, is exactly the way to perpetuate foreign partialities and antipathies, which every wise man here would fain destroy.

The best citizens we have among us are of English and Irish descent, mingled with we know not what other blood; and very possibly our ancestors might hate one another in a national way—but that is not a very good reason why any man among us, of mixed blood, should hate himself, nor why he should hate his wife because her grandfather happened to be from Cork, while his great-grandfather came from Yorkshire or the Isle of Wight.

Now we have National interests to preserve and defend, as separate from all other nations, as one family is separate from another—and harmony in the Union is no less desirable than in the domestic circle.

Our volunteer militia is valuable exactly in proportion as it aids in this preservation and defence of National interests. If it fails to do this, it becomes useless. If it ceases to be national, by being foreign and clannish, it becomes mischievous, and ought to be abandoned and abolished.

We hope the State of New Hampshire will never grant commissions to any foreign company whatever; and we admire the stupidity of giving such commissions, or chartering such companies in any State of the Union.

COMPREHENSIVE BENEVOLENCE. — The editor of the Belfast Journal manifests a very benevolent spirit. In his last chapter, in a long leading article, reviewing the general condition of political affairs, he is forced to exclaim as follows:

"We confess that to our apprehension, the democracy of Maine never stood in a position of more peril."

But notwithstanding these domestic afflictions with which he seemed to be almost overwhelmed, the kind-hearted man does not forget the whig party. He says:

"There is little left of the ancient whig party of Maine, and in its place we have a sickly thing composed of very antagonistic and very weak elements."

On this the Portland Advertiser remarks. It is certainly kind in the editor of the Journal, when his own party is in so much peril, to have an eye to the weak and sickly condition of the whig party. We put him down as having(as the phrenologists say) "benevolence large." But if the condition of both parties is really as bad as represented, what shall be done? Who shall "save the Union?"

THE POTATO ROT has appeared badly in Connecticut. A farmer in Franklin, adjoining Norwich, looked at a four-acre lot a fortnight ago, the vines and roots of which were so promising that he expected then to realize $400 from the crop. Now he finds that the wet weather has destroyed it, and that the field is not worth digging over.

RAILROAD TO THE PACIFIC.

We have no doubt that a Railroad to the Pacific is demanded, and not much that it will be built within a few years; and we think, by Government money or Government land.

Jefferson Davis, the Secretary of War, at the opening of the Crystal Palace in New York, avowed the policy of making this an administration measure, and using for the construction of the work, the surplus revenues of the government. Since then much opposition has been manifested to the views promulgated by the Secretary, and it is evident that a great battle is just commencing, and that the administration is somewhat alarmed at the premature announcement of its policy, and the hostility which it may encounter, some of the most powerful opposition coming from unexpended quarters.

The Secretary of War, himself alarmed at the effect of his speech, has given a corrected and amended report of his views. In the new version he enforces the idea that the road, being a military road, is therefore constitutional; but he qualifies his former remarks thus:

"But if it could be shown, and he always held his opinion open to correction from any quarter, that these means were not required, were not necessary—and by necessary he meant absolutely required—or if any one would show the other means which would answer as a substitute how the duties of the government could be performed without this auxiliary, more effectively, more economically, with less exercise of the general powers of the government—then, as a strict construction Democrat, he would accept the proposition."

The Washington Union first admits that a road for military purposes is constitutional, and then quibbles about sectional issues and endangering the Union.

And the New York Journal of Commerce opposes any appropriation of money for it, lest high duties on imports should grow out of it, and contends, that to have the General Government diverted from its true purposes, and bent on a scheme of this character, under the fraudulent pretence that it is a military road, established for the purposes of defence, will be a calamity that will deeply afflict the country.

We think this calamity will come, and that Mr. Benton's Central Road will be the route; but that in the mean time there will be a long and earnest struggle in Congress and out of it, between the Northern, Middle and Southern routes and their respective friends.

☞ The following statement is travelling through the English papers, on the authority of the Halifax Colonist:

H. M. S. Leander has been ordered to Quebec, there to meet Lord Ellesmere, who, it is said, intends to return to England immediately. The uncivil treatment which his lordship received at the hands of the Americans, is said to have disgusted him. Moreover, the exhibition which those bragging Yankees announced for the 1st of May has been again postponed, and it is said will not now come off till September.

Lord Ellesmere himself of course tells no such story; for he was treated courteously, and is well aware of it, besides being himself too courteous to mind untoward trifles if any such had come in his way.

☞ Adam, when a deep sleep fell upon him, woke to find a companion at his side. But a man who with his wife put up at a hotel in Hudson, New York, found when he awoke in the morning, that his wife was gone, and upon exploring his pockets, that about $400 in cash was also missing.

Fanny Kemble is reading Shakspeare in England. The papers say "her massive and muscular arm is a wonder of flesh and blood, sinew and brawn." Her late husband, Pierce Butler, is said (by the New York Tribune) to be one of President Pierce's most intimate associates at the present time.

CAUSE OF INSANITY.—In the case of the Rev. Preston Pond, of Boston, who died at the Insane Asylum in Somerville, of insanity terminating in typhoid fever,—the Lowell Courier says, "circumstances indicated, though the fact is unnoticed in the Boston papers, that his end was accelerated by religious excitement."

NATHANIEL GODDARD.—The Boston papers announce the death of Nathaniel Goddard, Esq., which took place in that city on Saturday last. Mr. Goddard was born on the 5th of June, 1767, and was therefore eighty-six years and two months old at the time of his death. For upwards of sixty years he was an active and enterprising merchant. He was formerly a resident of Portsmouth, in the employ of his elder brother, John Goddard, and began business on his own account in the then District of Maine, whence he removed to Boston, and became one of the solid men of that city.

The Armory Investigation, at Springfield, has finally assumed a regular court form, it being found impossible to give any public hearing, and make any examination of witnesses without it. Mr. Stearns, on the part of the opponents of the military system, was opposed to employing counsel, and said that his side was too poor to employ any, and that though there were a plenty of lawyers in Springfield, there was no one with whom they would be willing to entrust their case.

THE CELESTIALS,—What is to become of them?—We learn that the Tong-Hook-Tung company, embracing forty individuals, have been handed over to the Commissioners of Emigration. It has been found impossible to raise sufficient means to enable them to return to the Central Flowery Land, or to redeem their wadrobe, now in the hands of Messrs. Davis, Brooks & Co. What are the poor Celestials to do? They must go to the Almshouse. This is a sad fate; but there is no other way left for them to take. They have had an offer to go to Cuba, but they refused it. The owner of a plantation offered to give them $4 per month each, provided they would bind themselves to work at that rate for eight years! Such a proposition they rejected. Four dollars per month for eight years work on a Cuban plantation or the New York Almshouse! Alas for the Tong-Hook-Tung Dramatic Company!—N. Y. Herald.

WILD HORSES.—The schooner Smith Tuttle arrived in Provincetown on Tuesday with about fifty wild horses from the Isle of Sables. By some mistake a full cargo was not taken. These horses were placed by missionaries, it is supposed, on the island for the benefit of shipwrecked mariners, before it was inhabited.—Settlements upon the island now remove any necessity of these horses for this purpose, and as they increase they are sold off.

The horses brought to Provincetown were driven into a pen, halters thrown over their necks, and led down to the shore, where their feet were tied. They were then rolled into a large boat, out of which they were hoisted by the feet into the hold of the vessel, and conveyed to Provincetown. They were all liberated upon the farm of Mr. Isaiah Gifford. We have not learned to what use they are to be applied. It is said that they are easily broken, and make the best horses for service.—Yar. Gazette.

IMPROVED CARRIAGE SPRING.—The editors of the Home Journal notice among other ingenious inventions exhibited at the Crystal Palace, a newly invented spring which combined simplicity with lightness. It says:

Mr. Hubbard, a Yankee, doubtless, abolishes all the old complexities, and simply rests the body of the carriage upon four straight sticks of ash, which extend from axle to axle. The under part of the vehicle is rounded; and the thing is so managed that the springs cannot break, unless they are pulled asunder lengthwise. The advantages are, a saving of twenty-five dollars in expense, and fifty pounds in weight, besides greatly increased luxury of motion. The simplicity of this improvement is another illustration of the old remark, that the best way of doing things is always found out at last. Mr. Hubbard tells with much humor, a story of a boy at Cleaveland, who, turned away after examining one of the new carriages, turned away with the contemptuous remark, that "any fool might have thought of that,"—precisely the effect which very happy inventions always produce upon the mind at first.

FAST HORSES.—Our village is over-run with fast nags. It is a hard matter to find one but what is "inside of 3 minutes," and even the farmers in the vicinity have caught the mania for fast driving, and the "old mare" when she enters the village is sure to strike a Lady Suffolk or Tacony gait.—Meredith Gaz.

THE CASE OF DR. KING.—A private letter received by the Baltic, says that the claim of Dr. King, at Athens, has been settled by the payment of 12,000 drachams for his land taken for the public use. His religious griefs were not recognized as entitled to redress.

The "lightning rod manufactory" of Lucius Burt in East Longmeadow was struck by lightning on Friday evening, and set on fire. The flames were fortunately, however, extinguished before any serious damage was done. —Springfield Republican.

"WHAT AM I?"—It is a sad thing to think of—this perishing utterly from the memory of the world. It is well calculated to humble the spirit of a man, to reflect that he will one day be laid in the grave, and from the stillness of his last resting-place, hear the tramp of heedless thousands above him, and know that he is forgotten of them all.

A BELLIGERENT PEACOCK.—On Saturday week a peacock attacked an infant daughter of John Krutzer, of Summit township, Somerset county, Pa., with such fury that he picked out one of her eyes and wounded the other before he was driven away. The child had a glass of milk which it appears the bird wanted.

Some glass bottles have been found by the Russians at the mouth of the river Obe, and transmitted to the Brittish authorities at London, which are supposed to be relics of the missing Sir John Franklin, as the tide on the Arctic would naturally float articles thrown overboard at Sir John's supposed whereabouts to the mouth of that river.

A terrible riot occurred on Sunday last on board a steamboat in the North River, among a party of men and women returning from an excursion. Several persons were badly beaten, cut and stabbed, and one man thrown over-

DONATION.—Laban M. Wheaton, Esq., of Norton, Me., has made another donation of ten thousand dollars to the Wheaton Female Seminary in that town.

BAER, a German astronomer, calculates that, when we shall have an instrument nine times more powerful than Lord Rosse's, it will bring the moon within a German mile of us, so as to show an object as small as a man.

Rev. J. A. James said at a late Congregational Convention in England:

"We need a better world; and we need a better ministry to make a better church."

A young stock broker having married a fat old widow with $100,000, says it wasn't the face that attracted him so much as the figure.

SAD CASUALTY.—Daniel M. Crossland, Esq., of Marlboro District, was instantly killed on Wednesday evening last by a stroke of lightning. He was in the field, and just as he started for the house, with his bridle over his arm, was stricken down. Mr. Crossland, we understand, had his umbrella hoisted at the moment, and it may be that the metallic ferule on the top, operated as a conductor for the electricity. His body was much bruised and blackened; his watch was entirely destroyed, except the chain, and his shoes were much torn.—Cheraw (S. C.) Gazettee, 27th July.

WILL IT PROVE TRUE? — The London Times says that "in fifty years Ireland will be Protestant to a man. Both the Roman Catholics of Ireland, and the race identified with that faith, are all leaving Ireland. Ere long there will be none left. At the present rate of emigration, which cannot be less than 200,000 (chiefly Roman Catholics) in a year, our children will see the time when the Celts will be as absolete in Ireland as the Phœnicians in Cornwall."

FROM THE FISHING GROUNDS.

Schooner Flying Cloud, Capt. Smith, has arrived at Gloucester from the Bay, having been absent from home about three months. Capt. Smith states that mackerel are very scarce off Skimmenack, and in that vicinity. Most Cape Cod vessels have left for home, with small fares of mackerel. The British naval fleet are more civil, and the American fishermen received better treatment from the officers this season than they did last year. None of the fleet boarded the Flying Cloud. Saw H. M. steamer Admiral keeping a sharp look-out among the vessels, and several "cutters" in the bays, and coves. None of the American fishermen pretend to put into any of the harbors or ports if they can possibly avoid it. They are fishing on their lawful ground. Capt. Smith complains of the tax which is called Light Money, being levied on all the American vessels, of an English sixpence per ton, amounting to about $10 to each vessel, with the statement that "Light Houses" are to be erected on the coast, this tax being put in force within a year or so.

Many of the citizens in the small ports are complaining against the strictness in keeping away the Americans, as they have heretofore made quite a little trade in furnishing the large fleet of vessels with many articles, in the way of fresh provisions, &c.

The celebrated H. M. steamer Devastation had gone to Quebec for repairs.

Several of the Gloucester fleet of fishing vessels are now several weeks out, with small fares of mackerel. Capt. Smith left the Gut of Canso last Monday night. Saw off Cape Sable a U. S. steam frigate.

DR. IVES.—The Univers, translated in the Tablet, says:—"Conversions are becoming more and more frequent in the higher classes of the United States. On July 2d, the Feast of the Visitation of the Blessed Virgin, a member of the American Senate made his abjuration before His Eminence Cardinal Franzon, Prefect of the Propaganda.

Dr. Ives, the former Protestant Bishop of America, whose conversion we have recorded, has just completed a book which cannot fail to create much interest. It is the history of his conversion, and his statement of the motives which determined him to quit Potestantism, to enter the Catholic church. We know that the work has been submitted to capable theologians. It is to be published in London by subscription."

It is the intention of Mr. Donahoe, of the Boston Pilot, to make arrangements for the publication of this book as soon as it appears in England, and it will doubtless find many readers in this country.

CHEATING.—Dr. J. R. Nichols of Haverhill, in a communication to the Boston Journal in relation to the adulteration of Cream of Tartar, says:

"In order to ascertain in some degree, the extent of this adulteration. I procured of six dealers in this place, six distinct specimens of the article, such as they were retailing to consumers, and subjected them to actual chemical examination. The results of this examination showed that in 100 parts of the purest specimen, forty-three was gross foreign matter. In the worst specimen sixty-two parts in the hundred was foreign matter.

The added ingredients consisted of fine white sand, ground pumice, ground rice and flour.—Now, what a vile compound this is to offer to the delicate child and feeble invalid. How abhorrent the idea that thousands are using such a mixture daily in their food!"

ARRIVAL OF A LIVERPOOL PACKET SHIP.—The packet ship Star of Empire, Captain Brown, from Liverpool, 23d June, arrived at Boston on Tuesday morning with 7 cabin and 870 steerage passengers, to Enoch Train & [illegible] well. The surgeon of the ship died on board, 27th ult. There were two other deaths on the voyage. Captain Brown reports light winds and calms the whole passage. He took a pilot 50 miles east of Boston Light.

New Orleans, Aug. 5.—Col. Bliss, General Taylor's son-in-law, died at Pascagoula today of the yellow fever. The deaths within the last 24 hours amounted to 150 from yellow fever.

REMARKABLE ESCAPE OF A NEGRO SLAVE TO CANADA.—A case occurred yesterday which might be wrought into a thrilling scene in some future Uncle Tom's Cabin. A runaway slave had succeeded in reaching the State of New York; but when he arrived at Oswego, he was closely pursued. He got on board a vessel there, which, however, turned to be bound, not for Canada but for Youngstown.—When the fugitive arrived at the last named place he was in no better position than before. The dread of instant capture urging him on, he secured an old gate, and floated himself upon it, expecting to be able to reach the Canadian shore. He, however, got out twelve miles into the lake instead of getting across to Niagara. He was found yesterday on the old gate, 12 miles from shore, by the steamer Chief Justice, and by her landed in this city. Toronto Leader, Thursday.

OPULENT CITIZENS OF BALTIMORE.—A correspondent from Baltimore, says: "It may be of some interest to your readers to know who are considered among our most opulent citizens. I will give a few of them, beginning with George Brown, of the banking house of Brown & Brothers, who may be put down at $2,500,000; Jacop Albert, $2,000,000; Moses Sheppard, $1,000,000; John Hopkins, $1,000,000; Gen. Columbus O'Donnell; $1,000,000; John S. Gittings, $900,000; Hugh Gelston, $800,000. These are among the most wealthy. We have very many who may be put down at from $100,000 up to $500,000."

RUSSIA.—An able and well informed writer upon Russia, in the Tribune, says:—"Who knows whether the present warlike and quarrelsome attitude taken by the Emperor on the Turkish question, is not a necessity forced on him by some vast conspiracy or uneasiness in the army, which must thus be kept busy some way or other, and its energy directed or expended in some other channel?"

DEVINE'S COMPOUND PITCH LOZENGE. A sure cure for Coughs and Colds. For sale by J. P. MORSE.

MARRIAGE.

Happiness and Competence.

WHY IS IT!

That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life at an age when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant.

Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during girlhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.

IN AFTER YEARS,

When too late to be benefitted by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the full consequences of our ignorance.

What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years! And what days and nights of anguish we might not have been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed. It is

MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING

To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for many years, from causes simple and controllable, easily remedied—or better still,—not incurred, if every

WIFE AND MOTHER

Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself

YEARS OF MISERY,

And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily deducted from a sickness of the wife, without giving him the opportunity of acquiring that competence which his exertions are entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.

SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS

By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands.

In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is excusable if she neglects to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—healthy bodies, with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work entitled

Private Medical Companion.

BY DR. A. M. MAURICEAU,
PROFESSOR OF DISEASES OF WOMEN.

One Hundreth Edition. 18mo., pp. 250. Price 50 Cents,
[ON FINE PAPER, EXTRA BINDING, $1 00.]

First published in 1847, and it is not

SURPRIZING OR WONDERFUL,

Considering that EVERY FEMALE, WHETHER MARRIED OR NOT, can here acquire a full knowledge of the nature, character and causes of her complaints, with the various symptoms, and that nearly

should have been sold.

It is impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, as they are of a nature strictly intended for the married, or those contemplating marriage, but no female desirous of enjoying health, and that beauty, consequent upon health, which is so conducive to her own happiness, and that of her husband, but either her or will obtain it, as has or will every husband who has the love and affection of his wife at heart, or that of his own pecuniary improvement.

UPWARDS OF ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND COPIES

Have been SENT BY MAIL within the last few months.

CAUTION TO THE PUBLIC.

BE NOT DEFRAUDED!

Buy no book unless "Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, 129 Liberty street, N. Y." is on the title page, and the entry in the Clerk's Office on the back of the title-page; and buy only of respectable and honorable dealers, or send by mail, and address to Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, as there are spurious and surreptitious infringements of copy-right

LET EVERY WIFE AND HUSBAND PONDER!

No excuse for Ignorance, when Ignorance is Misery to those we hold near and dear, and when to dispel our Ignorance is within our reach.

To enable every one to decide upon the indispensable necessity of possessing a copy, and that no wife, or mother need remain uninformed upon the many causes, which, sooner or later, are destined to make fearful inroads upon her health, unless guarded against, and that no considerate and affectionate husband have cause to upbraid himself with neglect of the welfare of his wife—a pamphlet of thirty-six pages, containing full Title-page and Index of Contents, together with extracts from the book, will be sent free of charge to any part of the United States, by addressing, post-paid, as herein.

When Knowledge is Happiness, 'tis culpable to be Ignorant.

☞ On receipt of One Dollar (for the fine Edition, extra binding,) "THE MARRIED WOMAN'S PRIVATE MEDICAL COMPANION" is sent (mailed free) to any part of the United States. IMPORTERS AND JOBBERS OF

Rich Silks, Paris Dress Goods, Shawls, Gloves, Embroideries, White Goods, Ribbons, &c., invite the attention of Merchants from all sections to their unrivalled assortment of

Silk and Fancy Dry Goods,

Imported with special reference to the wants of first class buyers, and in three important particulars, viz: TASTE, VARIETY AND PRICE, believed to be unequalled.

Messrs. E. L. & Co., having been engaged in this business for many years in Philadelphia, where the taste is not unlike, in many respects, to that of the Northern and Eastern States, they would call particular attention to their styles, many of which are controlled entirely by them.

It having been remarked that our business is almost exclusively Southern, we would beg leave to say that our goods are adapted to every section of the United States. Northern, Southern, Eastern and Western, and that in style and price they will be found equal to any other House.

IMPORTANT DISCOVERY.

DOCTOR ALFRED G. HALL,

AUTHOR of the New Theory of cure by the NUTRITIVE PRINCIPLE, in Physiology and Medicine, sustaining the laws of life and removing the cause of disease, confirmed by NATURAL SCIENCE by the Nutritive Process; expelling dead and depositing living matter at the same time in the Body, increasing its weight and strength while under treatment, being the great discovery of the constitution; a power making diseases, simple proof can be given in the person of any invalid.

Dr. H. receives visits, makes examinations, ascertains the cause of disease, describes the precise condition of the patient, furnishes prescriptions, medicines and recipes for his Nutritive Fluids and cordials.

Three months' attention and treatment is requisite in all cases, with printed instructions, for diet and washing, and the use of the Alkaline Girdle for the spine and kidneys—a restorative action is produced in all parts of the system immediately by the natural laws sustained by nutrition.

He is the inventor and sole proprietor of 12 nutritive fluids; they can be made by any family—arranged to the several temperaments, and to every form of disease. His works, "Views of the New Theory, &c.," "Womanhood," and the "Mother's Own Book," are furnished to invalids under his supervision. It is now before Congress.

Doctor Alfred G. Hall may be consulted by letter, or in person at his rooms, No. 15 Winter St., Boston, from 10 A.M. to 5 P.M. ☞ Medicines, &c. forwarded by Express to any part.

DR. CONINE'S

SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.

The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER.

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KNOWN REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom

AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

READ! READ! READ!

DR. HAMPTON'S

VEGETABLE TINCTURE!

The Great Restorative and Invigorator of the System.

THIS article, which has made so many wonderful cures, was discovered by DR. JESSE HAMPTON, of Louisville, Ky., now in fine health in the 79th year of his age, and is acknowledged by those who have used it to be the best family medicine in use, and is WARRANTED FREE FROM ALL MINERAL SUBSTANCES. By its mild action on the STOMACH, LIVER and KIDNEYS, it will cure the diseases of those organs, with all chronic complaints, as

Dyspepsy, Cough, Asthma, Bronchial & Lung Affections, Pains in the Back, Side and Breast, Consumption, Scrofula, Fits, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Fistula, Fits, Bowel Complaint, Worms, Nervous Debility,

With all Diseases arising from Impure Blood.

As a FEMALE MEDICINE it has no equal! It will change the Complexion from a pallid to a blooming one.

Wherever introduced its success is unbounded. It has certificates from Hon. Henry Clay, Hon. R. M. Johnson, Vice President of the United States; Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore; the Spanish Consul; Judge Davis; Lund Washington; from a Chaplain of the U. S. Navy; from the State Department, Washington; from the brother of the Physician to the Emperor of France, who was cured by it after all other remedies had failed; and from hundreds of others, making up an amount of Testimony never before given to any other discovery of Medicine. A trial of it will convince the most skeptical.

We invite the public to call and get Pamphlets and see certificates of Cures. Read the following certificates of undoubted testimony:

From Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore.

MAYOR'S OFFICE, Baltimore, Aug. 26, 1852.

I take great pleasure in stating, that I have examined the names of those who have signed certificates respecting Hampton's Vegetable Tincture, and among them I recognize gentlemen of the first respectability, viz: Jos. K. Stapleton, William A. Schafer, G. Duncan, and others. I also cheerfully testify to the high standing of the house of Messrs Mortimer & Mowbray, who, for the past twenty years, have enjoyed the entire confidence and esteem both of our merchants and citizens generally.

JNO. H. T. JEROME.

A Voice from the Birth-place of Christopher Columbus, the Discoverer of America.

U. S. SHIP CUMBERLAND,
Genoa, Sardinia, January 17, 1853.

Messrs. Mortimer & Mowbray—Gentlemen: The first Lieutenant of this ship, who has been suffering many years from the Dyspepsia, and who has been nearly restored to his usual health by the use of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," desires you to send him one dozen bottles of that medicine.

Lieutenant ——, of the U. S. Navy, now on board this ship, also wishes you to send him one dozen of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," by the store ship which leaves the United States in February or March, for Sardinia.

The Tincture you sent me was received in good order, and I take pleasure in informing you that it has been used with great success by several of our officers in cases of DYSPEPSIA.

I am respectfully yours,

NEWSPAPER-DOM.—BY FANNY FERN.

It is beyond my comprehension how Methusaleh lived nine hundred and sixty-nine years without a newspaper; or, what the mischief Noah did, during that "forty days" shower, when he had exhausted the study of Natural History. It makes me yawn to think of it. Or what later generations did, the famished half hour before meals; or, when traveling, when the old stage-coach crept up a steep hill, some dusty hot summer noon.—Shade of Franklin! how they must have been ennuyed!

How did they ever know when flour had "riz"—or what was the market price of pork, small tooth combs, cotton, wool and molasses. How did they know whether Queen Victoria had made her brother an uncle or an aunt? How could they find out whether Fanny Fidlestick was Napthali Wilkins' sister? What christianized gouty old men and snappish old ladies? What kept the old maids from making mince-meat of pretty young girls? What did love-sick damsels do for "sweet bits of poetry" and "touching continued stories?" Where did their papas find a solace when the coffee was muddy, the toast smoked, or the beef-steak raw, or done to leather? What did cab-drivers do, while waiting for a tardy patron? What did draymen do, when there was a "great calm" at the dry-goods store of Go Ahead & Co.? What screen did husbands dodge behind, when their wives asked them for money?

Some people define happiness to be one thing, and some another. I define it to be a "room carpeted and furnished" with "exchanges," with a place cleared in the middle for two arm-chairs; one for a clever editor, and one for yourself. I say it is to take up those papers, one by one, and laugh over the funny things and skip the stupid ones—to admire the ingenuity of would-be literary lights, who pilfer one half their original (?) and steal the remainder: I say it is to shudder a thanksgiving that you are not in the marriage list,—to try, for the hundredth time, to solve the riddle; how can each paper that passes through your hands be "the best and cheapest periodical in the known world?"

I say it is to look round an editorial sanctum, inwardly chuckling at the forlorn appearance it makes without feminine fingers to keep it tidy; to see the looking-glass veiled with cobwebs; the dust on the desk thick enough to write your name in; the washbowl and towel mulatto color; the soap liquified to a jelly (editors like soft-soap!); the table covered with a heterogeneous mass of manuscripts, and paper-folders, and wafers, and stamps, and blotting-paper, and envelopes, and tailors' bills, and letters complimentary, belligerent and pacific.

I say it is to hear the editor complain, with a frown, of the bear and his headache; to conceal a smile while you suggest the probability of relief if a window should be opened; to see him start at your superior profundity; to hear him say, with a groan, how much "proof" he has to read, before he can leave for home; to take off your gloves and help him correct it;—to hear him say, there is a book for review, which he has not time to look at; to take a folder and cut the leaves, and affix guide-boards for notice at all the fine passages; to see him kick over an innocent chair, because he cannot get hold of the right word for an editorial; to feel (while you help him to it) very much like the mouse who gnawed the lion out of the net, and then to take up his paper some days after, and find a paragraph, endorsed by him, "deploring the intellectual inferiority of women."

That's what I call happiness!—N. Y. Musical World & Times.

THE MUSCLES.—According to M. Cabinis, a French physiologist, the muscles of the legs and arms lose their power before those which support the head; and these last sooner than the muscles which sustain the back; and he illustrates this by persons who sleep on horseback, or while they are standing or walking. He conceives that the sense of sight sleeps first; then the sense of taste; next the sense of smell; next that of hearing; and lastly that of touch. He maintains also, that the viscera fall asleep, one after another, and sleep with different degrees of soundness.

LIQUOR AND CRIME.—New York and Liverpool rank in the same class as cities. The criminal convictions in New York during 1852, reached 3500; in Liverpool they reached only 610. In Liverpool licensed 2324 places to sell liquor; New York licensed 5754, and there were 851 unlicensed rum holes. In Liverpool the rum-shops were closed on Sunday; in New York they remained open. Do not the rum statistics throw some light on the disparity in the crime between Liverpool and New York?

THE GREEK CHURCH.—In his last letter to the N. Y. Times, Kossuth, or another, thus speaks of the Russian Greek Church:—"Of the Greek Church there can be no talking of course; the spiritual head of this is the Patriach of Constantinople; the use of the word "Greek" instead of "Russian" is but a little trick of the northern "prestidigitator" to blind the world, and to speculate upon the ignorance of the Greek; but even as to the Russian Church, it is a mistake to believe the Czar to be its spiritual head.

Such is the fact: Rusia being composed of different nations and tribes, those who have devised the vast plan of Rusia's all overwhelming power, looked for a connecting link, to unite these dignified elements in one national unity; and found it in a State Religion. The task was how to convert it into a pliant, obedient tool to the ambitious designs of that vast autocracy. It was done thus: A Patriarch having been the head of the ecclesiastical hierarchy in Russia—a man often idomitable in power—CZAR PETER commenced his scheme by keeping vacant the Patriarchal chair. Twenty years later, it was definitely suppressed, and its place supplied by an ecclesiastical synod, bearing the epithet of "most holy." At the head of this is a lay officer, commonly an aid-de-camp of the Czar, with the title of "procurator," having the exclusive right of submitting propositions to the deliberation of the most holy synod, the numerous administration of which is exclusively composed of laymen, amongst whom a good number are drunken military officers.

That this is the head of the Russian church, and that this is the state engine by which the Czars contrived to confiscate all the privileges of the Church, and to disgrace religion to a blind instrument of his policy.

By this you may see what that non-political but only religious protectorate means, which the Czar so much covets in the East; and why the Greek priests of Turkey don't relish the idea."

FOLLY.—An individual, a man of family, who was a pledged tectotaller and a member of a church, intending to remove from the city, recently sold his property, and fitting himself with a new suit for the journey; but in "farewell" to the city, he determined to have "one good spree" as his very last." Accordingly on Wednesday, he went to hard drinking, and by night lost his hat, got struck on the side of his head by an unknown fist, and finally was taken by the Auxiliary Guard to the watch-house. Yesterday morning he was released on the payment of the usual fine for such offence.—Washington Republic.

REMOVAL.
DR. TURNBULL, Oculist and Aurist, from London, has removed from N. Y. Hotel, to WINTHROP HOUSE, BOSTON. Office hours from 8 to 2.

From the London Times.

A number of scientific gentlemen assembled yesterday at the house of Dr. Turnbull, in Russell square, to witness the results produced by a process recently discovered by the Doctor, and applied for the cure of deafness and blindness.

Between twenty and thirty patients attended, many of whom, it was stated by their parents, had been born deaf and dumb. They were submitted to various tests, by which it was proved that their deafness had been cured by the application of Dr. Turnbull's remedies; and what appears most singular is, that whether the disease depended on paralysis of the auditory nerve, rupture of the tympanum, or obstruction of the internal passages, relief has been obtained, or complete cure effected without pain or inconvenience. Several patients, who represented that they had been completely blind, said that they could now see perfectly well. ju28 2w

THURSDAY, AUGUST 11, 1853.

BLACK BEGGARS.

New England has become a grand begging ground, in which perpetual appeals are made by or for one or more negroes or mulattoes, wishing to buy their families or themselves.

A young lady now at Newport, has been gathering money to buy and free a woman and some children, in which she is apparently about to succeed, by the benefactions of her genteel associates.

The Worcester Spy of Monday, mentions two of the colored beggars in that city. One is Matthew Beck, an intelligent colored man, from Virginia, who was born a slave, but on the decease of his master became free by the provisions of his will. By the recent law of Virginia, banishing free negroes from the State, he has been driven from his wife and two children, who are still held as slaves by a neighbor of his former master. The liberty of these he can purchase for thirteen hundred dollars. Half of it he has already obtained.

The other case is that of a slave woman from Newburn, N. C., who is striving in the same way, says the Spy, to purchase the freedom of her husband. Her credentials show that she is no imposter, and that her case is one equally deserving of the sympathy and assistance of a Christian and liberty loving people.

Against the charity which redeems these poor creatures, we have not a word to say.—Those who give, doubtless will feel the better for it; and the young lady who acts as solicitor in the first case, the best of all. Nor can any man who has a soul, refrain from pitying those who beg for their own freedom or that of their families.

But we complain of the whole operation as a serious and increasing tax on the free States, for the indirect support of a beggarly institution elsewhere. Yet we see no way of escape from the tax; but suppose our wealthy and liberal fellow citizens must continue to pay it, as they do other taxes, to the end of the chapter. We wish somebody who knows, would tell the public how many slaves have thus been bought into freedom for the last two years, and at what prices.

For a rough guess we say 30, at a cost of $150,000.

PARTIES—AND PARTISANS.

Judge Gresham of Alabama, formerly a whig, now supports president Pierce's administration, and says:

I know no difference between a southern rights whig and a southern rights democrat. As all old issues have passed away which divided the people years ago, they can act consistently together upon the republican principles of Jefferson and Madison.

Senator Underwood of Kentucky, a whig, said in a speech at the last session of Congress, that Gen. Pierce received less than 1,500,000 votes at his election; while in the United States the number of free white males, over the age of twenty-one years, were in 1850—the date of the census—upwards of 4,800,000. He adds:

The fact that the people did not go to the polls and vote, shows a dissatisfaction, if I may be allowed the expression, with both the great parties; and if I had time, I could show the foundation of that dissatisfaction. But I will not go into it. I will, however, state the fact, that in the State of Kentucky, where the whole voting population was 163,000 in 1852, according to the official report of the State Auditor, only 111,617 went to the polls in the late presidential election, leaving 51,388 or nearly one-third who did not vote at all. I know some of the reasons which kept them at home, but will not go into that subject now. There is no ground for contending that the proportion of votes would have been the same, had all the voters gone to the polls.

RAILROAD COLLISION.—On Tuesday, a collision occured about eight miles from Amboy, New Jersey, between the trains leaving New York and Philadelphia. The baggage car of the train from New York, was forced through the ladies' car of the same train, by the violence of the concussion; nine ladies, four children and 3 or 4 men were taken from the wreck, dying or dead.

The train from Philadelphia was not materially damaged.

DISTRESSING ACCIDENT.—A letter received at Amesbury, from Georgetown, California, records the death at that place of Mr. Stephen Chadbourn, formerly of that village. Mr. S. was engaged in dressing a deer which he had shot, when from some cause or other his knife slipped, entering his leg just above his knee, severing an artery, and before assistance could be procured he bled to death.—Lowell News.

A correspondent of the Albany Journal states that in Murray county, Georgia, and near its southern boundary, at the summit of a mural precipice, 1700 feet in perpendicular height, there stands the remains of an ancient fortification, constructed of solid mason-work, covering five acres of ground. Within the enclosure, lofty forest trees, two and three hundred years old, rear their heads to the tempest, covering with their verdant foliage an ancient hearthstone, once in use by its ancient occupants; and near it a gushing stream water, of icy coldness, issues from the crevice of the rock, whence the garrison used to obtain their supply.

HISTORY OF HUNGARY.

We have received from the Boston publisher, Frederick Parker, 25 Washington St., Nos. 1 and 2, of the Illustrated History of Hungary, by Edwin L. Godkin. The work is to be completed in eight monthly parts, at 12 1-2 cts. each, and will contain 100 engravings.

The Study of Hungarian History, has an interest for many minds now, where formerly it had little or none. The portion of this work which we have received, makes us desirous to get hold of the rest of it. This History of Hungary will command a large sale, as it supplies a real want of information in regard to a country with which all American citizens ought to be acquainted.

For sale by J. P. Morse.

NATURAL HISTORY.

We have received Part 1, Vol. 1, of Cassell's Natural History of the Feathered Tribes. Twelve monthly parts make a volume, at 25 cents per part. The set will be complete in three vols. of 750 pages each,—and a valuable book of birds will it be. Sold in Boston by F. Parker; in Portsmouth by J. P. Morse.

ILLUSTRATED MAGAZINE OF ARTS.—No. 8, vol. 2., with numerous fine wood engavings, —sold in Boston by F. Parker, 35 Washington Street—in this city by J. P. Morse.

THE DAILY EVENING UNION, published at Newburyport, is a very nice little paper, and goes in for home interests with a rush. For example, in portraying the advantages offered in that city, for going into wholesale shoemaking, the editor says:

"We have the most beautiful place that God's sun shines down upon in his whole course through the heavens. It has every connection by land and water that is desirable. The houses are all built to hand. It is as healthy as any other town, and in every other way such a location as one might wish."

Rather an eligible situation that, we should say. The Union is now in its fifth volume, and has recently improved its appearance very much by a new font of type. Its enterprising publisher and spirited editor well deserve success. Newburyport has two Daily papers, but no Weekly, save the Christian paper, which is chiefly circulated abroad.

FARMING IN MAINE.

A correspondent of the Boston Chronicle, who has lately travelled over many parts of the State of Maine, says, hay has been very generally secured in good condition. The yield is not so great as the late spring indicated, but it is undoubtedly greater than last year. The showers which have fallen during the past three weeks have had a wonderful effect on the corn. Every appearance indicates a most liberal harvest. Wheat and oats, though not so heavy as less droughty seasons produce, will, on the whole, give a generous yield. The potato seems to have got over all the diseases the rot has so long "been heir to," and a very full crop is confidently calculated upon. I have not seen a solitary instance of a medium return—calculating upon present indications.

Beef cattle and lambs are rather scarce, and are held at premium rates at present; and the improvement of the pastures, caused by the recent rains, will, in all probability, confirm, if not aggravate, this state of the market, as farmers will now decide on wintering stock, which the prospect of a permanent failure of pasturage would have induced them to sell. The orchards all over the state will produce only about a tythe of their usual amount of fruit on the odd years.

CROPS IN NEW HAMPSHIRE.—A hasty trip through the fine farming region at the head of the Lake, last week, gave us an opportunity to note the appearance of the staple products in that section. Hay has generally been secured in good order, but the crop is short, having been injured by the drought.—The yield will not be greater than last year. Indian Corn looks finely, and the prospects of an abundant crop were never better. Potatoes also look promising, and if they escape the rot, the yield will be large. The apples are almost entirely cut off, by the same worm, probably, of whose ravages we have had complaints everywhere. An intelligent farmer with whom we conversed, was of the opinion that the heavy rain-storm of the last week in May, destroyed the fruit.—Dover Enquirer.

GAVAZZI'S LECTURES.—In New York City on Sunday evening, Father Gavazzi delivered a lecture to the Italian exiles in New York, on occasion of the anniversary of the martyrdom of Ugo Bassi. The Padre was an intimate friend of this Italian patriot, and occupied the time in recounting the history and services, and eulogizing the character of the deceased. Father Bassi was made prisoner by the Austrians, while serving with Garibaldi, and shot at Bologna, by order of Gaetano Bedini, now Papal Nuncio in the United States. This was in 1840. Great feeling was manifested by the Italians present at this lecture, and the disapproval which Father Gavazzi manifested could not restrain the enthusiastic applause with which his remarks were received. The Italians have not yet learned to hold the sanctity of the Sabbath in sufficient regard.

A son of Mr. Ryan, aged fifteen years, at Elizabethtown, Ky., was shockingly mangled on the 30th ult., by four bloodhounds which were kept for hunting fugitive slaves. The boy's left arm was nearly gnawed to pieces, and the flesh was torn from his right leg in several places, so as to expose the bone.

An old loyalist, named Burwell, lately died in Canada, at the age of 90 years and five months. He was born in Rocksway, N. J., in 1754. Some few years since he had a renewed head of youthful hair, and could see to read without glasses.

LOCAL.

THE NORTH CHURCH PIC-NIC.

The rural festival of the Sabbath School connected with the North Parish in this city, with numerous friends of the excursion if not of the School, at Locust Grove, Stratham, on Tuesday, passed off most happily. The company gathered at the Portsmouth & Concord Railroad station about 10 o'clock, in numbers that filled four cars at least comfortably. Soon the engine hitched on—a scream, a hurrah, and they are off! A moment's stop at Greenland, where they receive reinforcements—a second screech, a rush, and they stop at one of the prettiest of groves, on the farm of Mr. Littlefield, in Stratham, who was very attentive to the visitors throughout.

The grove borders on the shore of Great Bay; and the sloping greensward, covered with tall locust trees, from which hung several trusty swing-ropes, for the amusement of the girls and the exercise of the boys; two or three sail boats lying at the water's edge, for the pleasure of the company; the beautiful morning after the long spell of dull weather, all went to make the scene one of the most delightful for all.

The company were greeted on their arrival, by Rev. R. W. Clark, their late pastor, who is spending a short vacation at Greenland.

The party now assembled under the trees, and chose Deacon John Knowlton master of ceremonies for the day. Rev. Mr. Moore then made a most beautiful and excellent address, and Rev. Mr. Clark invoked the blessing of the Most High on all present, in their innocent recreations.

Several hymns were now sung by the multitude, and the company dispersed, each to choose the amusement which suited best,—till noon, when all collected in little groups, and dined, or pic-nicked—each family or group under its own vine and locust tree.

At three o'clock, Dea. Knowlton called them together again, and after prayer by their pastor, Rev. Mr. Moore,—Rev. Mr. Clark made a very fine address to the young. Remarks to the point were also offered by Rev. Mr. Robie of Greenland, and Rev. Mr. Hoyt of Newington. The beautiful woods and waters resounded to the music of numerous voices joined in singing "Old Lang Syne" and other kindred melodies, after which the company scattered till about half past six, when the iron horse came to take all home.

Our friend S. B. Allen, Esq., contributed largely, throughout the afternoon, to the entertainment of all, by drilling and amusing the scores of boys on the grounds, telling stories, (some of them rather like "yarns," we thought,) which the elders also were desirous of hearing; playing "follow your leader," and going through exercises of various sorts. He tried the little girls a while—and was surprised to find them much more apt scholars! Of course they are—and we only wonder he discovered it so late. The 'Squire is as valuable at a pic-nic as in a law-office.

By the good management of the officers of the Pic-nic and the railroad, everything passed off without accident,—and there will be few pleasanter days for those present to remember, than that passed at the Pic-nic in Locust Grove.

☞ The Sabbath School connected with the Methodist Church in this city, will make an excursion on the Concord Railroad to Jones's Pond, near Raymond, on Tuesday morning next.

The locality is extremely pleasant; the pond, the extensive grove, and a variety of rural scenery, will render the whole visit delightful.

Due notice will be given of the hour, and the places where tickets are to be obtained.

THE AGENT CONTROVERSY CLOSED.—The —Messenger says, "canting hypocrisy is most despicable."

"The lectures [of Dr. Boynton] were pretty extensively advertised, in newspapers and handbills, and we are assured by good judges that the lectures were well deserving of liberal patronage. * * * * But we have given too much space to a small matter."

We think so.

BODY FOUND.—The body of Mortimer Allen, the sailor who fell from the topmast of schooner Frank last Wednesday, was found on Tuesday evening washed ashore on Trefethen's Island, where it was buried yesterday.

FROM THE FISHING GROUNDS.

NAVAL.—The United States steamer Fulton arrived here at 12 o'clock on Tuesday night, in 43 hours from Halifax, bringing important despatches from the eastern squadron. Lieut. L. Paulding was en route on Wednesday morning for Washington, with the despatches.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9th.—The intelligence received from the grounds creates considerable uneasiness. Some fifteen or twenty vessels have arrived from Gloucester, Mass, Newcastle, N. H., and Kittery, Me., with muskets, cutlasses, boarding-pikes and swivels, determined to fight, if interrupted.—Heavy opperators have laid up their vessels at the wharves and employed their men on shore, and invested their money in new movements.

The Eastern people are said to be satisfied with reciprocity, but are all in arms against registry of British vessels to control the coasting trade; it seems the fishermen are certainly armed, reports to the contrary notwithstanding.

LATE FROM TEXAS.

Galveston dates to the 22, and Indianola to the 19th inst.

The Telegraph says Major Neighbors has entered upon his duties as Indian Agent for the government, and intends visiting the Texas tribes this summer, having about $150,000 to distribute among them. The amount, we are persuaded, must be greatly increased, as from all accounts the tribes are nearly in a state of starvation, owing to the great scarcity of game.

They must be supported, or nearly so, by the Government, or they will be compelled to steal and pillage for a subsistence. The sooner the government acts upon this view of the question, the better. But in order to provide for tribes permanently and enconomically, there is not a doubt that the government should set apart a suitable territory expressly for them. By adopting this measure at once, millions of dollars would be saved, and the Indians made more comfortable, and their improvement in the arts of civilized life greatly promoted.

The Victoria Advocate is informed that cotton is opening in that vicinity, and that the cotton crops are looking remarkably well.

The 175 U. S. troops recently arrived at Indianapolis, have left there for the frontier.

The Houston telegraph says:

"Mr. A. Brisbane and Mons. Victor Considerant, of France, have recently been examining the Upper Trinity and Austin, for the purpose of selecting a large tract of land, with the view to the settlement of a French Colony in that position of the State. We understand they are much pleased with the country, and it is quite probable the report will induce a large number of French emigrants to settle in the State."—New Orleans Picayune, July 27th.

CALIFORNIA NEWS.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 16.—The clipper ship Staghound got under way early yesterday morning for China, but in consequence of a number of the crew being unfit for work, she was compelled to anchor off the Presidio. She will probably proceed to sea early this morning.

Intelligence has just reached here that Captain Love, of the rangers, has captured a brother of the notorious robber Joaquin, who had promised to conduct his captors to the hiding place of the outlaws. Large numbers of robbers were reported to be concealed in the mountains back of San Juan, and near the Tulnare valley.

The steamer Uncle Sam had been lost on the Colorado river.

A fire had occurred at San Francisco on Winter, Clay, and Kearney streets. Loss about $15,000.

A trader named Ivory Ellis, from Massachusetts, was killed by the Indians near Cold Spring.

News from Tahiti is to April 24th.

The French Empire was proclaimed on the 19th.

The small pox was raging frightfully at Honolulu.

Hon. Chief Justice Read arrived at Great Salt Lake City June 5, and took the oath of office, administered by Brigham Young. The Mormon settlement was prospering, and the agricultural affairs of the place look promising.

The clipper ship Carrier Pigeon has been sold as she lies, with the portion of the original cargo on board, for $1550. The steamer Sea Bird is expected to be got off.

SAN FRANCISCO; July 16. Noon. Flour opened languid this morning. The arrivals by the Hongua and Archer are 4300 bbls none of which has been disposed of. Sales this morning of Haxall at $15a15 50; 4000 bbls Gallego per Courser on speculation, about $14. Provisions. IMPORTANT FROM CUBA.

The N. Y. Herald has the information from Cuba that a demand has been made by the British Government for a mixed Commission authorized to search estates and places in Cuba for importations of Africans; that the Spanish Government has complied; and that the Captain General received the official Commission by the last British steamer. The agreement also provides for the abolition of slavery in Cuba at the end of fifty years. Judge Sharkey, while in Havana, was aware of this scheme, it is said.

STORM IN NEW YORK.—The Tribune says that that vicinity was deluged on Saturday by a shower, or rather storm of rain, seldom equalled in severity. During the greater part of the forenoon, rain fell in most abundant quantity; but luckily there was not much wind, so the damage was not great.

At the Crystal Palace, however, much injury was done. The imperfect manner in which the roof is constructed, suffered the water to beat in, and in consequence, many of the wares (in the British Department especially) were badly damaged. Some statuary was stained by the mixed iron-rust and water, and goods of the more delicate order, were almost spoiled.

PORTSMOUTH TO THE SHOALS.
SUMMER ARRANGEMENT.

Steamer Grace Darling,
CAPT. SAMUEL BILLINGS.

THE superior steamer Grace Darling, Capt. Billings, will leave Sheafe's Wharf, daily, (until further notice) at 10 o'clock, or on the arrival of the first morning trains on the Portsmouth & Concord and Eastern Railroads—and return from the Shoals in season to take the last trains for Concord, Boston and intermediate places.

This arrangement affords a fine opportunity for persons from abroad to visit one of the most desirable Summer resorts for the Invalid, and all others who are fond of Fishing, Bathing, and other amusements conducive to health and pleasure. The temperature is never more than 80 degrees in the shade, and seldom varies more than 10 degrees in 24 hours.

Hon. Thomas B. Laighton's Hotel on Appledore Island, designed and kept particularly for the Invalid, and also for the pleasure seeker, is one of the first class, where every convenience, both for luxury and comfort can be found.

The passage out is truly delightful—the scenery unsurpassed. As you pass down the river, view after view presents itself:—The Navy Yard, Dry Dock, Forts Washington, Sullivan, McCleary and Constitution; the settlements of Kittery Point, New Castle, Rye, and many islands and Beaches along shore, present attractions that are beautiful to behold, and render the trip one of the most beautiful and pleasing nature.

PASSAGE ON BOARD STEAMER, 50 CTS.

Tickets may be obtained on board, or at the Ticket Office of the Portsmouth & Concord Railroad.

Parties from the neighboring towns can be accommodated on reasonable terms, by application to Capt. Billings on board.

MARRIAGE.

Happiness and Competence.

WHY IS IT!

That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power of the enjoyment of life at an age when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant.

Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during girlhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.

IN AFTER YEARS,

When too late to be benefitted by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the full consequences of our ignorance.

What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years! And what days and nights of anguish we might not have been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed. It is

MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING

To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for many years, from causes simple and controllable, easily remedied—or better still,—not incurred, if every

WIFE AND MOTHER

Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself

YEARS OF MISERY,

And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily devolving upon him from sickness of the wife, without giving him the opportunity of acquiring that competence which his exertions are entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.

SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS

By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands.

In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is excusable if she neglect to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—healthy bodies, with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work entitled

THE MARRIED WOMAN'S
Private Medical Companion.

BY DR. A. M. MAURICEAU,
PROFESSOR OF DISEASES OF WOMEN.

One Hundreth Edition. 18mo., pp. 250. Price 50 Cents.

[ON FINE PAPER, EXTRA BINDING, $1 00.]

First published in 1847, and it is not

SURPRIZING OR WONDERFUL,

Considering that EVERY FEMALE, WHETHER MARRIED OR NOT, can here acquire a full knowledge of the nature, character and causes of her complaints, with the various symptoms, and that nearly

should have been sold.

It is impracticable to correctly fully the various subjects treated of, as they are of a nature strictly intended for the married, or those contemplating marriages, but no female desirous of enjoying health, and that beauty consequent upon health, which is so conducive to her own happiness, and that of her husband, but either has or will obtain it, as has or will every husband who has the love and affection of his wife at heart, or that of his own pecuniary improvement.

UPWARDS OF ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND COPIES

Have been SENT BY MAIL within the last few months.

CAUTION TO THE PUBLIC.

BE NOT DEFRAUDED!

Buy no book unless "Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, 129 Liberty Street, N. Y." is on the title page, and the entry in the Clerk's Office on the back of the title-page; and buy only of respectable and honorable dealers, or send by mail, and address to Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, as there are spurious and surreptitious infringements of copy-right.

LET EVERY WIFE AND HUSBAND PONDER!

No excuse for Ignorance, when Ignorance is Misery to those we hold near and dear, and when to dispel our Ignorance is within our reach.

To enable every one to decide upon the indispensable necessity of possessing a copy, and that no wife, or mother need remain uninformed upon the many causes, which, sooner or later, are destined to make fearful ravages upon her health, unless guarded against, and that no considerate and affectionate husband have cause to upbraid himself with neglect of the welfare of his wife—a pamphlet of thirty-six pages, containing full Title-page and Index of Contents, together with extracts from the book, will be sent free of charge to any part of the United States, by addressing, post-paid, as herein.

When Knowledge is Happiness, 'tis culpable to be ignorant.

LYON'S KATHAIRON FOR THE HAIR.

CAUSING it to grow luxuriantly, and giving it a soft and curling appearance, of the most delightful character. The KATHAIRON neutralises the effects of disease, climate, and old age, in preserving and restoring the Human Hair, even after a Baldness of many years,—cleanses the scalp from Dandruff, and its natural impurities,—immediately relieves sympathetic attacks of Nervous Headache, and cures all cutaneous diseases of the skin, such as Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Itch, &c.

For giving the Hair a rich, soft, glossy and curling appearance, nothing has been discovered to compare with it in uncontested—its incontestible virtues. PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S

Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.

FOR beautifying, curling, preserving, restoring and strengthening the Hair, relieving diseases of the Skin, curing Rheumatic Pains and healing external wounds. Bounded by no geographical lines, the reputation of Barry's Tricopherous pervades the Union. The sales of the article of late years have increased in a ratio that almost exceeds belief. Prof. Barry, after a careful examination of his sales book, finds that the number of bottles delivered to order, in quantities of from half a gross upward, during the year 1852, was within a trifle of 950,000.

It is unnecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. In the cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Its merit soon advertised itself. The effects of the fluid exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was built up a wholesale business of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.

Depot at the manufactory, No. 137 Broadway, New York. Retail price 25 cents a large bottle.

Liberal discount to purchasers by the quantity, and by the principal Merchants and Druggists throughout the United States, and Canada, Mexico, West Indies, Great Britain, France, &c., and by Weeks & Potter, Brewers, Stevens & Cushing, and Wm. Brown, Boston. d&w6m je22*

AGENCY FOR BUSINESS
With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,
No. 2 3 State Street, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries; besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and hage no hesitation in recommending inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

A New, Delicious Temperance Beverage.
AMBROSIAL MEAD!

THIS excellent Compound is prepared from the best SPANISH SARSAPARILLA, without its dark, repulsive appearance, being beautifully transparent and entirely free from all impurities. CAUTION!—The proprietors of this excellent preparation have spared no expense to bring it to perfection, and would caution purchasers to buy none without the fac simile of Wilson, Fairbank & Co. on every bottle.

DR. CONINE'S

SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.

The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER,

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by its presence.

It is AEROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETIESER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom

AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even in tortions, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

"A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered! Consumption can be cured!! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fell disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted of it, DEVINES' COMPOUND PITCH LOZENGE IS THE GREAT REMEDY.

N. B.—BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS, and observe the following Promissory Note, with the fac simile signature of the proprietor, on every genuine box:

DR. HAMPTON'S VEGETABLE TINCTURE!

The Great Restorative and Invigorator of the System.

THIS article, which has made so many wonderful cures, was discovered by DR. JESSE HAMPTON, of Louisville, Ky., now in fine health in the 79th year of his age, and is acknowledged by those who have used it to be the best family medicine in use, and is WARRANTED FREE FROM ALL MINERAL SUBSTANCES. By its mild action on the STOMACH, LIVER and KIDNEYS, it will cure the diseases of those organs, with all chronic complaints, as

Dyspepsy, Cough, Asthma, Bronchial & Lung Affections, Pains in the Back, Side and Breast, Consumption, Scrofula, Fits, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Fistula, Fits, Bowel Complaint, Worms, Nervous Debility,

With all Diseases arising from Impure Blood.

As a FEMALE MEDICINE it has no equal! It will change the Complexion from a pallid to a blooming one.

Wherever introduced its success is unbounded. It has certificates from Hon. Henry Clay, Hon. R. M. Johnson, Vice President of the United States; Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore; the Spanish Consul; Judge Davis; Lund Washington; from a Chaplain of the U. S. Navy; from the State Department, Washington; from the brother of the Physician to the Emperor of France, who was cured by it after all other remedies had failed; and from hundreds of others, making up an amount of Testimony never before given to any other discovery of Medicine. A trial of it will convince the most skeptical.

We invite the public to call and get Pamphlets and see certificates of Cures. Read the following certificates of undoubted testimony:

From Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore.

MAYOR'S OFFICE, Baltimore, Aug. 23, 1852.

I take great pleasure in stating, that I have examined the names of those who have signed certificates respecting Hampton's Vegetable Tincture, and among them I recognize gentlemen of the first respectability, viz: Jos. K. Stapleton, William A. Schaffer, G. Dunan, and others. I also cheerfully testify to the high standing of the house of Messrs Mortimer & Mowbray, who, for the past twenty years, have enjoyed the entire confidence and esteem both of our merchants and citizens generally.

MESSRS. Mortimer & Mowbray—Gentlemen: The first Lieutenant of this ship, who has been suffering many years from the Dyspepsia, and who has been nearly restored to his usual health by the use of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," desires you to send him one dozen bottles of that medicine.

Lieutenant ——, of the U. S. Navy, now on board this ship, also wishes you to send him one dozen of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," by the store ship which leaves the United States in February or March, for Spezzia.

The Tincture you sent me was received in good order, and I take pleasure in informing you that it has been used with great success by several of our officers in cases of DYSPEPSIA.

LOLA MONTEZ AGAIN MARRIED.

The telegraphic report of the news from California yesterday, announced the important event of the marriage of Lola Montez, the public dancer, to a California editor, by the name of Hull. The California papers received by the steamer, give us the particulars, which we copy below for the benefit of the friends of that distinguished female in this city. It will be seen that many "distinguished citizens" of California; besides several ladies, lent their presence and countenance to the ceremonies. The School Committee of San Francisco are not mentioned as among the guests.—This is the third husband of this famous woman—the two former ones being, we believe, still alive and well; as is also the ex-king of Bavaria:

Married, this morning, at the Holy Church of the Mission Dolores, by the Rev. Father Flavel Fontaine, Curate, Madame Marie Elise Rosanne Dolores, Countess of Lansfeldt de Heald, Baroness of Rosenthal, and Chainoinesse of the Order of St. Therese, to Patrick Purdy Hull, Esq., conductor of the San Francisco Whig and Commercial Advertiser of this city.

The ceremonies were performed in strict conformity with the rules of the Mother Church, but rendered peculiarly impressive by their pure simplicity. The distinguished bride on approaching the sacred altar, deposited at feet of the Virgin, with appropriate demonstrations of devotion, a beautiful offering. There were present, to assist at the solemnities, several ladies, the Hon. Beverly C. Sanders, late Collector of the port of San Francisco, Hon. Wm. C. Hoff, James E. Wainwright, Esq, Clerk of the County, A. Bartol, Esq., ex-President of the Board of Assistant Aldermen of the city, H. M. Gray, M. D., ex-President of the Board of Aldermen, His Honor Alex. Wells, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the State of California, Alex. G. Abell, Esq., late Consul of the United States for the Sandwich Islands, Louis R. Hull, Esq., Associate Editor of the San Francisco Whig, Robert B. Hampton, Esq., P. A. Brinsmade, Esq., J. Benson, Esq., James Grant, Esq., late Alderman, and H. I. Clayton, Esq.

The marriage certificate was duly attested by James E. Wainwright, Esq., in his magisterial quality of Clerk of the County.

After the ceremonies, the bridal party was hospitably entertained by the Curate, at his apartments adjoining the church.

After the return of the party to the city, the happy pair were waited upon at their residence in the house of Mrs. Gates, by some of the most distinguished of our citizens, among whom were Hon. John B. Weller, of the United States Senate, His Honor Geo. W. Baker, City Recorder, Gregory Yale, Esq., Hon. Judge Parsons.—San Francisco Journal, 12th July.

The California papers inform us that the citizens of Sacramento received Mr. and Mrs. Hull with a serenade of tin horns, pans, pots, gongs, &c. and other like demonstrations of respect. The marriage of Mad. Lola does not interfere, it semes, with her public performances. She danced before the firemen of San Francisco on the night of the 11th, and afterwards made a speech to them from the window. At the conclusion of the speech, her husband invited the firemen "to step into the bar-room below, and take a drink at his expense," which they did.

Fanny Fern pities city children. "Here comes a group of pale-faced city children, on their way to school. God bless the little unfortunates! Their little feet should be crushing the strawberries, ripe and sweet, on some sunny hill-slope, where breath of new-mown hay and clover-blossoms would give roses to their cheeks and strength and grace to their cramped and half-developed limbs. Poor little creatures! they never saw a patch of blue sky bigger than their satchels, or a blade of grass that dared to grow without permission from the mayor, aldermen and common council. Poor little skeletons! tricked out like the fashion-prints, and fed on diluted skim-milk and big dictionaries. I pity you."

A young man by the name of John Davis, breakman on the Vermont and Massachusetts Railroad, met with a sudden death on Tuesday morning at Northfield, Mass., by being run over by a part of the freight train, on which he was employed. It appears that he was uncoupling the cars, so as to separate the train, when he fell, and five loaded cars passed over his body, mutilating it in a shocking manner. That portion of the train continued on, it being a down grade, and having nothing to check it, dashing against the other cars, smashing them up, and causing considerablo damage.

SHOE PEGGING.

The Boston Journal states that two young men in North Danvers, on Friday of last week, pegged one hundred and sixty pairs of women's spring heeled shoes—working only ten hours. This is probably the greatest performance ever recorded in this line. The names of the parties are Alexander Steele and John J. Bunker. A wager of twenty-five dollars was depending on the result of the day's work, Bunker being the challenger. Bunker pegged 78 pairs; Steele pegged 82 pairs.—Steele averaged a pair in 7 min. 19 sec. There was about 125 pegs in each shoe, or 250 in a pair. This would amount to 20,500 pegs in the 82 pairs, and would be at the rate of about 33 pegs driver in each and every minute of the ten hours. The work was done well.

This is pretty smart for a human machine—but the Scientific American, speaking of pegging boots and shoes by machinery, says:

We have now before us the first and only pair of shoes that we have ever seen, that were not pegged by a son of St. Crispin with his awl and hammer. The work is well done, as good as any hand work we ever saw,—the machine which accomplished this feat was invented by Seth D. Trip, patented on the 12th of last April, and assigned to Edward L. Norfolk, of Salem, Mass., the sole proprietor. We have learned that this machine will peg a No. 7 boot or shoe in half a minute, or 30 pairs in one hour, if the shoes could be put in and taken out in the same time they are pegged.—It can be altered to suit a different sized shoe or boot in two minutes, and it will peg any shape.

PARIS FASHIONS.—The latest accounts from Paris say, "the most fashionable dresses just now are robes nacrees, mother of pearl dresses, made of silk and wool, admirably combined, which give to that dress the varying colors which justify its name. These dresses are made with three flounces, and each flounce is arranged differently. They take the place of the Bareges, whose reign seems ended. The sleeves do not come down lower than the elbows; they are very large, and are trimmed at the elbow with a large flounce, flatly sewed on.

A MODEL LAW:—We mean a model of brevity, is the new ten hour law of New York. The whole act is as follows:

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Sec. 1. Ten hours shall be deemed a day's work, in the absence of any agreement, for mechanics and laborers on all public works of this State.

Sec. 2. This act shall take effect immediately.

THE STUYVESANT PEAR TREE.—The pear tree that was planted by Governor Stuyvesant, two hundred and six years ago, on the spot which has since become the corner of Thirteenth street and Third avenue, is still flourishing and fruitful. The present owner, Mr. W. H. Stone, has presented us a pear which was plucked from this venerable tree this morning.—N. Y. Commercial.

Morning Chronicle.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 12, 1853.

☞ The Daily Chronicle is regularly circulated by carriers in New Castle, Kittery (Navy-Yard Village and the Point,) Greenland and Epping; on the Eastern and P. S & P. Railroads, and on the Portsmouth & Concord road to Concord, and in Concord—and as advertisements are inserted in the Weekly Chronicle also, this is an excellent medium for communicating with the public.

LAW—OR GOSPEL.

The "State of Maine" newspaper contains an editorial argument or plea against the present liquor law of Maine, closing as follows:

"What, then, is to be done? While the world lasts, you will be no more likely to stop the manufacturing or the consumption of what is capable of intoxicating—than you are likely to stop lying and pilfering and cheating. The most you can do is to stop certain of the more public and larger manifestations or outbreaks, and by attempts to do more, you may defeat your own purpose, and make the law itself an outrage upon common sense and common decency. You destroy all reverence for law. You encourage hypocrisy, double-dealing, and downwright false swearing. You provoke men to evasions and tricks; to set themselves against the law for a trial of strength, or craft, or knavery. You rouse the high minded, the moral and the religious to take sides against you in their judgments, if not otherwise.

What then is to be done? Great acknowledged evils are to be cured? But how?—by imposing penalties that cannot be enforced—that engage the sympathies of the people for the offender—that lead others to shrink from their duty as witnesses, and jurors, and judges? No indeed—but by wholesome and strong legislation, so little in advance of declared opinion, that you may be sure of seeing it enforced by the whole strength of the Commonwealth—as where you punish murder by duelling at the South, not by death, but by some sort of disqualification? It is but a vulgar short-sighted policy, downright blundering ignorance indeed to suppose that where light penalties fail, stsonger and severer penalties will therefore succeed. It is not so. If penalties are unreasonable or disproportioned, they cannot be enforced. Accusers and witnesses will not appear; and if obliged to appear, will not remember. Jurors will not listen; or if they listen, will not convict. Where death was inflicted for stealing to the value of forty shillings—many a theft went unpunished—as murder went unpunished here, till the law, by giving to the Executive certain powers after the convict had been imprisoned a year, changed hanging into imprisonment for life. Let us profit by the past, and try to do more by example—more by kindness and love—more, if it be possible, in the fear of God—and less by presumptuous, bragging legislation, clamor and falschood."

We have seen no reasoning equal to this, against the law. The experience of the last century in this country, however, showed the old license laws to be the nurse of intemperance, by making the traffic and the use of intoxicating liquors, legally respectable.

A vigorous onset is to be made, this fall, against the Maine Law, in its own parent State, aided by the immensely rich liquor interest of Boston, which onset will be watched with great interest by the friends of temperance and the lovers of liquor all over New England.

The people of New Hampshire will look on through this year, and watch the progress of her sister States in this matter.

Meanwhile we have no laws on the subject that amount to much in this city—and our readers know as well as we, that intemperance is on the increase. It has not yet risen to the mark of 1810 or 1820. We have not 200 drinking places—and every mechanic, boy as well as man, is not now summoned to a public drink twice a day. But as compared with 1840, we have gone backward; no man dares deny it.

Now in the language of our Portland cotemporary, we ask—What then is to be done? We say, let the laws we now have, or may have hereafter, do any thing they can to promote temperance—but let no man who loves and practices that virtue, neglect to use all the moral means within his power to promote its spread and prevalence.

We have a Senate of twelve men in this State, and if seven of them see fit to preserve the free trade in liquors here, it is in their power to do so. If a lobby influence, monied or political, could only swerve a very small number, no new legislation can be carried through. We hope therefore, that all good citizens who do not wish to see drunkenness increase, will set themselves to work as quietly as they please, but as earnestly as possible, in doing all they can to repress so gigantic and threatening an evil—without waiting for the tardy steps of legislation, or relying too much on new laws if they were made.

"A marriage solemnized in South Carolina, is indissoluble, either by the consent of the parties, or by the judgment of any foreign tribunal or statute of any foreign legislature. No judicial tribunal in South Carolina has any authority to declare a divorce, and no divorce has ever been granted by the Legislature of South Carolina."

The assumption contained in the above paragraph, is quite remarkable. A marriage in South Carolina may be indissoluble there; but there are a few more States besides,—and if parties happen to move out and get divorced elsewhere—what then?

THE LEVIATHAN STEAMSHIP.

Mr. Betts, the great Railway contractor, who has just left for Montreal, is a director in the Eastern Steam Navigation Company, who are constructing the Leviathan Steamship, for the purpose of facilitating ocean navigation. This company have laid the keel of a monster steamer, whose dimensions are given as follows:

Length	673 feet.
Breadth	80 "
Out to out of wheel-houses	120 "
Depth of hold from combings of main deck	60 "
Power of Engines	6000 horse.

Her deck presents an area of over 1 1-2 acres of surface.

This ship is being built by Scott Russell, the greatest naval architect of England, and is constructed in separate compartments, made water tight, so that in case of her bow or her stern breaking off, she would still be able to float in separate pieces.

We have seen notices of this ship before, but have not been able to ascertain her precise dimensions till now.

All experience has tended to show that speed and steadiness have been attained in proportion to the increase of the size of a ship. The better opinion now is that 30 feet is the extreme depth of the highest ocean wave, and that a vessel drawing 32 feet of water, of a length of 600 feet or over, can ride the waves without being moved from a level. We have this opinion enforced upon our attention by several of the captains in the Cunard and the Collins lines.

It is doubtful (says the Portland "State of Maine," from which paper we get these facts,) if such a steamer could enter our harbor, and Halifax is therefore regarded as the most suitable port for this new move in ocean navigation. This steamer is to sail from Milford Haven, where she is now building—or from Holyhead Harbor, which promises eventually to become the great steamship terminus of the British Isles.

We may add, in relation to harbors, that the harbor of the Piscataqua, on which the city of Portsmouth is built, has a plenty of water to float this leviathan steamship.

And speaking of steamships, reminds us of Noah's ark, which though not exactly a steamship, was nevertheless something of a craft for Noah's day, though by no means so big as this monster whose keel is now laid.

The dimensions of Noah's Ark were

	Cubits	Feet		Feet
Length	300	450	or	480
Breadth	50	75	"	81
Depth	30	45	"	48

These different measures in feet are first calling the cubit 18 inches, which was the common cubit, and second, the sacred cubit of about 21 inces. The tonnage of the leviathan steamer is 22,459 tons. By the same rules of measurement the ark by the common or small cubit would be 9,270 tons, and by the larger 16,575.

Professor Bush calls the Ark 43,413 tons; but he must have computed her tonnage like that of a square box, to get at this result, or else have made some grand mistake. He says:

According to the measurements given, the ark, being six times as long as it was broad, and ten times as long as it was high, had nearly the proportions of a perfect human body.

A NEW CLAIM.—A despatch from Washington informs us "that several prominent bankers in Washington and New York, claim the exclusive right to all the fisheries now in controversy between the United States and England, under a title derived from the Earl of Stirling, and that the claimants intend testing the validity of their claim by fitting out a vessel, and despatching her to the grounds claimed exclusively by Great Britain. Lord Stirling is now in Washington on business connected with this matter."

On this, the Boston Courier remarks:

We think we have heard of this Lord Stirling before, and that his pretensions have all been annihilated by Mr. Sabine. It is an old story.

THE ILLUSTRATED RECORD OF THE INDUSTRY OF ALL NATIONS—Double number, part 3 and 4—is just received from Putnam's, at the Crystal Palace. This number contains 25 fine illustrations—from Gen. Washington on his horse, to a boar's head, and from Cupid to a tea cup. Double number, 25 cents.

Mrs. Pierce, the President's wife, has received as a present from Dublin a magnificent embroidered pocket handkerchief, the embroidery said to be equal to anything of the kind done in France.

That is good: our Constitution prohibits the President from receiving or keeping foreign presents; but any body may make presents to his wife.

Capt. Cochrane, of the bark Nucleus, belonging to Detroit, suddenly came off the vessel as she lay in the Detroit dock, on Saturday afternoon, went into the office, and said he came to bid them "good-bye," rushed on board of the vessel, sprang over the side into the river and sank. He is supposed to have been laboring under a temporary fit of insanity, brought on by the use of the maddening poison sold as brandy.

LOCAL.

Reported for the Chronicle.

City Council—Aug. 11.

In Board of Aldermen, petitions were presented from J. Hooper for sidewalk; from Oren Bragdon for privilege of obstructing side walk in Market street; Mr. Abbott, City Missionary, for use of one of the city rooms for depositing clothes, &c. which may be collected for distribution; all granted.

A petition from several citizens was presented, representing that great disturbances are nightly made in Penhallow street, in and about Nos. 24 and 26; the petitioners request that the ordinances applying to such cases be strictly executed—referred to the Mayor and City Marshal.

The committee on Public Buildings recommend that a stall be allowed to Wm. Goodrich, at a rent of $40; also, that Mr. Tucker be allowed $2 for repairs on stall—report adopted.

Melcher street was offered to the city for acceptance; a petition was offered to have Howard street extended to Washington st.—Referred to committee on Roads, &c.

At the Meeting of the Board last week, the referees on the controversy between the City and Charles Robinson reported, that after hearing the parties, they award that Mr. Robinson pay to the city $7.13, in full for all demands; that each party retain the posts and rails bought by them respectively; and that each pay their own costs and one-half the expense of the referees.

☞ The workmen at the Navy Yark, yesterday, were busily employed in getting the Dry Dock out of the basin, preparatory to taking up the steamer Fulton, for the the purpose of examing her copper, and replacing such as may be injured.

WARM.—Yesterday was a good specimen of dog-days. Our thermometer got up to 89 without much effort, and our pump still higher, the water constantly runing off its nose; but, thanks to our friend Lafayette Laighton, its quality was much improved by the nice Lemon Syrup sent in by him. Mr. Laighton keeps a large assortment of drinkables and delicate eatables adapted to the season—always of the best quality.

☞ Dr. Calvin M. Fitch, formerly assistant and associate of the celebrated Dr. S. S. Fitch, proposes to deliver a course of three free lectures, on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of next week, at the Cameneum, on Pulmonary Consumption. He will be at the Franklin House, for consultation and advice, from the 16th to the 29th inst. See advertisement.

MACKEREL.—The Mackerel fishermen in this vicinity have generally done well this season. The Union states that the schooner Ida, of Newburyport, has just returned from her third trip, bringing home from the Isles of Shoals 300 barrels—the catch of eleven days; makiug a total of 850 barrels in less than two months.

☞ We are indebted to Mr. Charles E. Rand, formerly of this city, now doing business in California, for San Francisco papers up to the sailing of the last steamer.

SHIP TYPHOON.—The San Francisco Herald of July 16, says it is a novel sight, to see the clipper ship Typhoon, lying flat upon her side at a wharf in that city, with her vast spars hanging like the boughs of a tree over the heads of the passers-by, and touching the eaves of the ware-house. The curious spectacle causes a universal halt to both the idle and the busy. But there she is, lying just as snugly as though in her natural position—a steam pump in a lighter, puffing away on one side, to relieve her of the water she has taken in, while on the other side is a swarm of busy workmen running along under her keel, hammering away at her seams, and replacing the copper, to keep the same element out.

Ira Goodall, Esq., of Bath N. H., fell from a load of hay and broke his wrist, besides other injuries. Dyer Hibbard, of Lisbon, N. H., fell from a building on which he was at work, on Saturday last, and was so badly injured that he died the next day. He was 65 years of age.

The express train on the railroad was thrown off the track on Tuesday night, near Port Chester, Md. The engineer was instantly killed and the fireman badly injured. The locomotive and baggage car were smashed.—No passenger was injured.

"THE DIAMOND OF THE DEEP."—This ship built at East Boston, by Robert Jackson, Esq., and which was launched with much difficulty, was taken to the Navy Yard on Saturday for repairs. She has been hogged, and consequently requires considerable labor to repair her. The expense of the work about $1500.

3 DAYS LATER FROM EUROPE.

ARRIVAL OF THE AFRICA.

Peaceful News—Riots in Italy—Another "Costa" Case.—The Royal Mail Steamship Africa, arrived at New York Thursday morning, from Liverpool July 30th, with 75 passengers.

The frigate Constitution sailed from St. Vincent 15th July, for Port Praya.

The Sultan had signed an agreement dictated by France, England and Austria, and would send an Ambassador with it to St. Petersburg. Beyond this nothing further had transpired.

The Porte's protest against the occupation of the principalities, is just at hand.

The Bourse regards peace as secured, and continues firm.

Another Hungarian, not named, escaped from Beyroot, and arrived at Smyrna, went on board Lloyd's Austrian steamer, where he was arrested by the Captain as an Austrian subject, but jumped overboard, and applied to the American Consul for protection, who forced the steamer Captain to deliver up the refugee's wife and children.

Italy is in a feverish state, especially in the Roman territories. Every symptom exists of an approaching insurrection. Several riots had taken place nominally on account of the high price of bread. Numerous assassinations had taken place. Rome is in a very excited state. It was rumored that several patriot leaders were in the city. The Police were very active. The export of breadstuffs was prohibited in Ancona.

THE MYSTERY OF THE BOAT EXPLAINED.—Some time since the community was shocked at the announcement of the discovery of a mysterious boat at the foot of 97th street, East river, New York. She was besmeared with blood, and exhibited what then appeared unmistakeable evidence of a revolting murder having been committed on board; but we are happy to be able to present the facts in regard to this misterious affair. Capt. Ditchett of the 4th ward police, has been investigating it for some weeks, and he sent the following account of the affair to the Chief of Police:—

"On the night of the 19th July, four men in a small boat boarded a vessel lying at a wharf in Williamsburg, and stole from on board a black leather trunk, parasol, umbrella, and several other articles.

As they were leaving the vessel they were discovered by the Captain who ordered them to stop and return, which they refused to do, and pulled away as fast as they could. The Captain then fired in a rapid succession, the contents of a revolver loaded with shot into the boat, wounding John Thompson, alias Reddy, severely. The shot entered the left side of his head and face, destroying the sight of the left eye. He now lies at the City Hospital, under the care of Dr. Agnew—where he was admitted at 12 o'clock the next day. He was brought in a carriage by his friends.

In the boat were Thomas Kerrigan, Daniel Darrow and John Forrest alias Strongback. Kerrigan received 19 shots in the groin, and Darrow was injured in the face by scattering shot. Strongback escaped uninjured. Policeman Duffy arrested him and brought him to the station house. It is supposed that after the Captain shot the men, fearing that he had killed some of them, he quickly left with the vessel without notifying the authorities of the robbery."

It is hoped that Capt. Ditchett's river police, together with the merchants' police, will make the river thieves scarce.—New York Mirror.

LIQUOR SEIZURES.—The Maine law men are awake in the western part of Mass. At Springfield on Tuesday, 500 gallons of spirits were seized at the store of Sheldon Webster; and at Northampton on Monday several seizures were made from among the Irish population. About 150 gallons were taken at one place, 80 at another, and 60 at a third. The contraband property was placed in the House of Correction,—perhaps to save the convicts there the reported necessity of being let out daily to get their "nippers."

MUNICIPAL RUMSELLING.—By an official advertisement in the Salem Gazette it appears that the city authorities of Salem have made new arrangements for the sale of liquor, according to the Maine Law, confiding the business to one special agent, with no other business, instead of dividing it among eight apothecaries. The City Clerk gives notices that the official sale of "wines, spirituous and fermented liquors," will take place at No. 25 Washington street, between the hours of 7 A. M. and 9 P. M.

At New Orleans, the total number of deaths for the week ending on the 6th inst. was 1130, including 950 of yellow fever.

Wanted.

1,000 LBS. Bonesett, 1,000 lbs. Pyrola,
500 lbs. Sarsaparilla Root;
500 lbs. Dandelion Root;
500 lbs. Yellow Dock Root;

For which Cash will be paid if desired. Also Sage, Horehound, Balm, Saffron and other Medical plants taken in exchange for pure Botanic Medicines.

N. B.—All Roots and Herbs should be gathered in the proper season, and dried carefully in the shade. [eodju26] S. GILBERT.

MARRIAGE.

Happiness and Competence.

WHY IS IT?

That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life at an age when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant.

Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during girlhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.

IN AFTER YEARS,

When too late to be benefitted by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the full consequence of our ignorance.

What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years! And what days and nights of anguish we might not have been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed. It is

MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING

To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for many years, from causes simple and controllable, easily remedied—or better still,—not incurred, if every

WIFE AND MOTHER

Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself

YEARS OF MISERY,

And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily deriving from sickness of the wife, without giving him the opportunity of acquiring that competence which his exertions are entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.

SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS

By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands.

In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is excusable if she neglect to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—healthy bodies, with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work entitled

should have been sold.

It is impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, as they are of a nature strictly intended for the married, or those contemplating marriage, but no female desirous of enjoying health, and that beauty consequent upon health, which is so conducive to her own happiness, and that of her husband, but either has or will obtain it, as has or will every husband who has the love and affection of his wife at heart, or that of his own pecuniary improvement.

UPWARDS OF ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND COPIES

CAUTION TO THE PUBLIC.

BE NOT DEFRAUDED!

Buy no book unless "Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, 129 Liberty Street, N. Y." is on the title page, and the entry in the Clerk's Office on the back of the title page; and buy only of respectable and honorable dealers, or send by mail, and address to Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, as there are spurious and surreptitious infringements of copy-right.

LET EVERY WIFE AND HUSBAND PONDER!

No excuse for Ignorance, when Ignorance is Misery to those we hold near and dear, and when to dispel our Ignorance is within our reach.

LYON'S KATHAIRON FOR THE HAIR

CAUSING it to grow luxuriantly, and giving it a soft and curling appearance, of the most delightful character. The KATHAIRON neutralises the effects of disease, climate, and old age, in preserving and restoring the Human Hair, even after a Baldness of many years,—cleanses the scalp from Dandruff, and its natural impurities,—immediately relieves sympathetic attacks of Nervous Headache, and cures all cutaneous diseases of the skin, such as Eruptions, Salt Rheum, Itch, &c.

AS A TOILET ARTICLE,

For giving the Hair a rich, soft, glossy and curling appearance, nothing has been discovered to compare with its incontested—its incontestible virtues. It imparts the fragrance of the most delightful and exotic flowers, and is free from all minera properties, or any substance which can color the skin, or stain a lady's hat.

FOR BALD OR GREY HEADS

It is pre-eminently beneficial. "The Kathairon restored my hair after a baldness of 12 years. A. J. COURTRIGHT, 76 Bond-st. N.Y." This admirable preparation can be had of all reputable dealers, throughout North and South America, and the Islands of the Ocean, in large bottles, for 25 cents.

PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S

Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.

FOR beautifying, curling, preserving, restoring and strengthening the Hair, relieving diseases of the Skin, curing Rheumatic Pains and healing external wounds. Bounded by no geographical lines, the reputation of Barry's Tricopherous pervades the Union. The sales of the article of late years have increased in a ratio that almost exceeds belief. Prof. Barry, after a careful examination of his sales book, finds that the number of bottles delivered to order, in quantities of from half a gross upward, during the year 1852, was within a trifle of 960,000.

It is unnecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself.—The effects of the fluid exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.

Depot at the manufactory, No. 137 Broadway, New York. Retail price 25 cents a large bottle.

Liberal discount to purchasers by the quantity, and by the principal Merchants and Druggists throughout the United States, and Canada, Mexico, West Indies, Great Britain, France, &c., and by Weeks & Potter, Brewers, Stevens & Cushing, and Wm. Brown, Boston.

DR. CONINE'S

SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.

The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER.

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S ULTIMOST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

"A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered! Consumption can be cured!! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fell disease that so often brings woe to the hearts of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE!

DR. HAMPTON'S VEGETABLE TINCTURE!

The Great Restorative and Invigorator of the System.

THIS article, which has made so many wonderful cures, was discovered by DR. JESSE HAMPTON, of Louisville, Ky., now in fine health in the 79th year of his age, and is acknowledged by those who have used it to be the best family medicine in use, and is WARRANTED FREE FROM ALL MINERAL SUBSTANCES. By its mild action on the STOMACH, LIVER and KIDNEYS, it will cure the diseases of those organs, with all chronic complaints, as

Dyspepsy, Cough, Asthma, Bronchial & Lung Affections, Pains in the Back, Side and Breast, Consumption, Scrofula, Fits, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Fistula, Fits, Bowel Complaint, Worms, Nervous Debility,

With all Diseases arising from impure Blood.

As a FEMALE MEDICINE it has no equal! It will change the Complexion from a pallid to a blooming one.

Wherever introduced its success is unbounded. It has certificates from Hon. Henry Clay, Hon. R. M. Johnson, Vice President of the United States; Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore; the Spanish Consul; Judge Davis; Lund Washington; from a Chaplain of the U. S. Navy; from the State Department, Washington; from the brother of the Physician to the Emperor of France, who was cured by it after all other remedies had failed; and from hundreds of others, making up an amount of Testimony never before given to any other discovery of Medicine. A trial of it will convince the most skeptical.

We invite the public to call and get Pamphlets and see certificates of Cures. Read the following certificates of undoubted testimony:

From Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore.

MAYOR'S OFFICE, Baltimore, Aug. 23, 1852.

I take great pleasure in stating, that I have examined the names of those who have signed certificates respecting Hampton's Vegetable Tincture, and among them I recognize gentlemen of the first respectability, viz: Jos. K. Stapleton, William A. Schaffer, G. Dunan, and others. I also cheerfully testify to the high standing of the house of Messrs Mortimer & Mowbray, who, for the past twenty years, have enjoyed the entire confidence and esteem both of our merchants and citizens generally.

MOONLIGHT SEEMINGS.

The Moon, full-orbed and radiant, rose
Up in the eastern sky;
Unveiling all her splendor rare
To many a raptured eye.
Calmly she beamed, and graceful turned
To all the stars that near her burned—
And like a queen,
Robed in bright sheen,
Commanded homage from their twinkling—
O'er their beauty, love-light sprinkling.

Along the sky, her stately round,
Seemed brighter than before;
While up beyond her, lay a cloud,
With glory gilded o'er;
The cloud lay calmly as in sleep
In the soft air's serenest deep;
And downward bending,
Caught descending,
Light and forms of faintest seeming—
Palaces and bowers lay dreaming.

Oft in my soul-dreams have I gazed
On cities glowing far
In highest skies, and giving out
Their loomings-heavenly, rare;
No moon-lit palaces are there
Nor bowers of moon-beams, fading, fair;
But suns eterne,
In glory burn
O'er loftiest mansions; happiest rest
Of Love, with heavenliest smilings blest.

H. D. M.

Portsmouth, August, 1853.

THE LATE COL. BLISS.—Colonel Bliss was a decendant from the Granite State, although himself born in the State of New York. His father was also an officer in the United States army, and married an accomplished lady of Lebanon, N. H., and afterwards moved to Troy, New York, where the late Col. Bliss was born. After the decease of the father, the widow with her son, then a youth, returned to her friends at Lebanon, and that town with a just pride claims Col. Bliss as one of its own sons. He was educated at West Point, and became early distinguished as an industrious student and fine scholar.

He gave early promise of the accomplished gentleman and brave officer, which his after life did not belie. He was attached to General Taylor's staff during the Mexican campaign, and afterwards married the only daughter of the General. When the latter was called to fill the highest office in gift of the people, he very naturally and properly appointed Col. Bliss his Private Secretay, and in that capacity he won the good opinion of all political parties by his urbanity and judicious conduct. It is stated that Col Bliss has left no children. On the decease of President Taylor, Col. Bliss resumed his position as Inspector in the army, which position he held at the time of his death. He was about forty-five years of age, and is thus called away at the period of his greatest usefulness by a summons which sooner or later must be obeyed by all mankind. So passes the world away.—Boston Journal.

There was some unconscious wit, and a deal of childish philosophy, in the reply of a little girl, (a pretty, bright child, not quite four years old,) made to her father. She was annoyed at some old shoes, which she was anxious should be replaced by new ones, and was venting her indignation in rather a more boisterous manner than her father considered proper.

What's the matter there, Cora? Have you got a fit?

'No' papa, they don't fit me at all,' said She. And then she enumerated all the faults of the shoes in set terms, and reached the climax thus:—'They are the meanest shoes I ever saw, they won't even squeak when I walk out.'

COLORED POPULATION OF WASHINGTON CITY.—The Republic states, that according to the census of 1820, there were in that city 1945 slaves; in 1850, 2113—or, during a period of thirty years, a clear increase of only 168; while the number of free negroes has increased from 1696 to 8073—a clear increase of 6387. The aggregate population was in 1820, 13,247—the free negroes constituting about one-eighth part of it. In 1850, with an aggregate of 40,001, the free colored population was about one-fifth. The colored population free and slave, is now more than one fourth that of the white.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—The N. Y. Herald informs us that Mr. Henry Stetson, a very respectable citizen of Orange, New Jersey, was instantly killed at the Hackensack Bridge on the New Jersey Railroad, about half past two o'clock on Monday afternoon, under the following circumstances:—

Mr. Stetson was a passenger in the train for Newark, and as the train approached the bridge, on the engineer giving the usual signal to break up, in order to pass slowly over the bridge, a nervous gentleman—a passenger in the train—suddenly exclaimed that the draw was off. Mr. Selah Hill, of Jersey City, who occupied the same seat with the gentleman who gave the alarm, immediately stepped to the door of the car, and seeing that the draw was all right, so announced, and begged the passengers to keep their seats; but the false alarm had spread, and a rush took place for the rear car, in which Mr. Stetson was seated, and in the excitement this gentleman sprang out of the car window, and the car being just at that moment passing the draw, his head come in contact with the timbers of the draw, and was crushed between them and the cars. Several other passengers came near sharing the same fate, but the timely interference of the brakeman on the train prevented them.—The conductor after seeing that the draw was right, had resumed his other duties in the rear car, and was not aware of the excitement in time to prevent the fatal result. A considerable sum of money was found on the person of the deceased, which was taken in charge by Justice Cutter, and together with his watch was delivered to his friends.

The Washington Star, in referring to the rumor that an American Senator, during a recent visit to Rome, had joined the Catholic Church, says:

"Letters received here by the steamer, make it evident that the Hon. Joseph R. Chandler, Member of Congress from Philadelphia, is the gentleman referred to. His wife has long been a Roman Catholic, and his own sentiments have gradually been tending the same way. He has, however, joined the Catholic Church formally, for the first time, during his current visit to Rome."

Mr. Chandler was formerly editor of the United States Gazette.

An old farmer, residing within a short distance of this city, says a Lancaster paper, paid us a visit a few days ago, and was much astonished to find that the old Court House had been torn down, and that a new one was in course of erection. He came to town on business, having disposed of a farm, and, stopping into the office of a conveyancer, requested him to prepare the necessary title papers. When asked by that gentleman for the Christian name of his wife, he gravely replied, "Well, indeed, I don't recollect what it is. We have been married for upwards of forty years, and I always call her ma'am." The conveyancer left a blank in the deed, to be filled up when "ma'am's" name was ascertained.

Rather a tough story.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 13, 1853.

THE U. S. STEAMER PRINCETON.

We are informed on good authority, (second hand from her pilot) that such improvements were made on the Princeton while here, by repairs or changes, previous to her present trip, that on the first night after she left this port, it was found she made nine knots an hour by steam alone, without sails. We call that quite an improvement.

Mr. B. F. Isherwood, a chief engineer in the Navy, publishes in the National Intelligencer an interesting comparison between war steamers and others, fast and slow. He writes the article to show that the steamer Princeton is not such a failure as has been represented.

He says:

In the first place, the Princeton is not a full-powered vessel; she is an auxiliary screw steamer and a full rigged ship; the screw power is subordinate to the sails, and occupies comparatively a small portion of the vessel; the ship has moreover the very great draught of water of 22 feet, and is 32 2-3 feet beam, presenting a very large amidship section to be driven through the water with a man-of-war model. To suppose that an auxiliary screw man-of-war steamship, enormously sparred and loaded, and with a limited consumption of fuel, can make a speed at sea equal to the Collins steamers, is preposterous, and yet such seems to be the expectation.

The Collins steamers are large vessels, sharp built, and consume 85 tons of coal per 24 hours. Their average speed is 11.4 knots per hour.

In a man-of-war steamer a certain fixed load—composed of spars, sail-boats, numerous crew, battery, ammunition, provisions, and water for a great length of time, cables and anchors, numerous and heavy enough for all emergencies, &c.; with spare sets of the above—must be carried in a given space. The vessel must be adapted to perform properly under canvas as well as under steam, and she must have sufficient stability to do this with her heavy ordnance on deck. Her lines must therefore be comparatively full, and her model of greater resistance than in merchant steamers, where capacity and stability are sacrificed to obtain speed for the transportation of passengers, where the machinery is the principal load carried, and where, from motives of saving in the first cost, strength and consequent weight of hull, spars, and all fixtures that can be safely omitted, are left out, and by that omission reduce the load.

From the last reports to the Navy Department the speed of the Princeton at sea (since the one disabled boiler out of the three was repaired at Portsmouth, N. H.) is 7.5 knots per hour. This, so far from being a failure, is fully as great a rate of speed as ought to be expected, and is above the average speed of not only British war steamers, but of our own, as I shall show from the logs of the vessels.

The speed of the following well known and celebrated vessels are their averages at sea—that is, they are the speeds that can be sustained at sea. I have selected them because they are all on which I have authentic data:

In the British navy, of paddle-wheel steamers, the speed of the Terrible is 7.9 knots; the Cyclop 7.2; the Africa 7.6; the Bull Dog 6.5; the Devastation 7.5; the Flamer 6; the Fire Fly 6.2; the Penelope 7.9; the Tartarus 5.5. Mean, 6.92 knots per hour.

All the screw steamers of the British navy have been tried at a measured mile in perfectly smooth water in the Thames river, to ascertain their maximum speed.

The vessel at light draught has its boilers fired up, and a full head of steam, as great as they can bear with safety, being obtained, then with large fires the vessel is pushed to her utmost speed for a single mile only, and the rate per hour obtained is marked for her speed. Not, perhaps, in a single case could this speed be sustained for even another mile, much less for an hour.

Carrying the comparison to our own navy, the following are the average rates of speed at sea under steam alone, obtained from a careful summary of all the logs at the Navy Department.

Mississippi 7.3 knots; Saranac 7.4 knots; Susquehanna 7.4 knots; Powhattan 9.8 knots; Fulton 9.5 knots; Water Witch 7.5 knots; Vixen 7 knots—all paddle-wheel steamers.—

The original Princeton (same engines as present Princeton) 6.7 knots; San Jacinto 6.7 knots; present Princeton 7.5 knots; John Hancock 5.5 knots; Massachusetts 4.3—all screw vessels; the latter purchased from the merchant service, in which she was reported to have gone 8 knots.

OVERLAND EMIGRATION.

The overland emigration to California is immense. Late news from the Salt Lake region, taking the most reliable accounts, give the number of immigrants for this year at 40,000, and the cattle at 100,000.

On the road from there to Sacramento were 20 bands, each of from 4 to 20 pack animals, laden with liquors and provisions destined for Humboldt and Raytown. Stations are being erected and large supplies of water are to be kept for the accommodation of the immigrants on the great desert. At Carson's Valley there are but two places of entertainment; those of Reed, a Mormon, and of Hawkins, and neither of them good.

Holiday and Warner have established a post in the Valley, and intend to keep a large and extensive assortment of goods, and to sell them at reasonable prices, to induce immigrants to come that way.

Of course there must be much suffering and loss of life and property; but roads and hotels will spring up, and the suffering and loss will consequently diminish.

The negro that was picked up on a gate in Lake Erie was not a fugitive slave, but had been fishing from a raft, which was blown off shore, and the gate was the remnant of the raft.

YELLOW FEVER IN NEW ORLEANS.

New Orleans papers of the 7th inst., say,

During the twenty-four hours ending at six o'clock yesterday A. M., there were two hundred and thirty-eight deaths, one hundred and ninety-four of which were from yellow fever; so that the total number of deaths from yellow fever alone, for the eight days ending yesterday, were one thousand and seventy-three. The number of deaths for the twenty-four hours, ending at midnight on the 5th, were two hundred and thirty-eight—of which two hundred and eight were by yellow fever, and one cemetery yet to hear from. The deaths during the present week will, from appearances, exceed one thousand by yellow fever alone. The highest number in 1847, in one day, was but seventy-seven, making the present number of deaths an increase of three hundred per cent. The city wears a truly desolate and sad appearance. A universal panic pervades the city; business of all kinds is suspended, and houses and stores are closed.

The writer of the despatch implores his friends to arouse the people of the East and North to liberality on behalf of the sufferers, and to send aid as promptly as possible, or it will be to late. Many perish for want of medical aid, and the want of physicians is painfully felt. From present appearances there will not be left living sufficient to attend the sick and bury the dead.

The Crescent City Insurance Office has given $500 to the sick fund, and the liberal H. R. W. Hill, Esq., has instructed his agent to contribute not less than $100 a week during his absence.

The whole sum collected by the committee at New York up to August 11, exceeds $13,000.

A letter just received at New York from New Orleans, states that Mr. Crenshaw, editor of the Crescent, had died from yellow fever. Mr. Breaman, one of the editors of the Delta, had recovered from the fever, but became stone blind; he was, however, slowly recovering his eyesight. The fever had been very fatal on board the steamboats one boat having lost 18 passengers.

A despatch from New Orleans Aug. 11, says:

The fever spreads with fearful rapidity, and many are attacked who have already had it.—In the dry goods store of C. A. Barriere, four clerks were attacked and died the same day.

The following is given as the opinion of Dr. McFarland, a New Orleans physician of thirty years standing:—

"So far from believing that the filth and impurites in our streets, yards and suburbs, have anything to do with the creation of a yellow fever atmosphere, I believe that to a certain extent they are calculated to retard its formation. * * * * All the filth in and around New Orleans has never created one single case of yellow fever, and cannot create one, but, on the contrary, the local malaria arising from these and other causes—and that it has done so and held it in abeyance to such an extent as to have exempted us from yellow fever, as an epidemic, for five or six years past."

The Boston Post says the city of Georgetown, Demerara, is one of the cleanest places in the world—the tide flows through it twice a day—yet it is the yellow fever's own peculiar province.

FROM THE FISHING GROUNDS.

The Picton Chronicle of the 1st inst. says: "By the arrival of American vessels yesterday, we learn that they were boarded by an officer from the U. S. sloop-of-war Decatur, who informed them that this ship was to cruise in and about the Gut of Canso during the fishing season. Two American war steamers passed down outside Cape Breton, to cruise in the Gulf. It is probable we shall be visited by one or more of these vessels during the season."

The Kennebunk correspondent of the Boston Courier, dating Aug. 8, writes as follows:

Arrived, schooner Signal, Hutchins, from Bay Chaleur, with 43,000 fish; also, 9th, sch. Arunnah, Manuel from same place, with 24,500 fish. The skipper and crew of this vessel report the intentional collision of H. B. M. steamer Devastation on the 28th July. It was clear sunlight, and the Arunnah was twelve miles from land, near St. John Island. The captain of the Devastation had spoken her on the evening previous, and ordered them to keep a light all night, which was not done; on the morning of the 28th the steamer was seen coming for them, and those on board the schooner heard the order given to "starboard" which made her course directly for the schooner—the subsequent order of "steady, steady" was given, and the steamer struck the stern of the schooner, taking off the main boom and gaft, and doing other damage. Not a word was spoken on board the steamer, which kept on her course. The captain of the schooner has noted a protest and will make a statement of his case.

The "Devastation" is likely to maintain her bad name, this year, as well as she supported it last year.

SANDWICH ISLAND PAPERS.—We are indebted to a friend for a file of the Polynesian to June 11. They give us no news later than via California. It is nevertheless a matter of interest to see from Honolulu a good large weekly paper, with two and a half pages of advertisements.

CLEAN WINDOWS.—As the train was on the move to Taunton yesterday, a passenger misled by the clearness and cleanliness of the glass in one of the windows, and supposing it open, deliberately thrust his head through the pane, to the great amusement of his fellow travellers.—N. B. Mercury.

LOCAL.

METHODIST PIC-NIC AT ELIOT.

The Sabbath School connected with the Methodist Society in Eliot, had a pic-nic on the 10th inst. The day was delightful. At half past 10 o'clock, A. M., the people assembled at the church. Exercises commenced with singing by a youthful, but disciplined choir. Fervent prayer was offered by Rev. Mr. Beadle, and appropriate remarks made by several clergymen from neighboring towns, when the school, teachers, choir, clergy, strangers and citizens were heartily invited to form in procession and walk to the splendid grove of oak and walnut, on what is known by Raitt's Hill, for refreshment and further exercises of the festival.

Here we found two long tables—with our nation's banner of stars and stripes waving in graceful folds over the tops of the trees—tastefully arranged by the hospitable ladies of the parish, and abundantly supplied with tempting eatables for more than 300 people. All ate and were filled; and many baskets full of fragments gathered up, that nothing be lost.

The best order prevailed. The good behavior of the school was highly creditable to the able and deeply interested Superintendent and teachers, as well as to the Sabbath School institution itself. We did not observe a single rude or ill-behaved child or person there. All seemed to respect themselves and the occasion. The speakers evidently attempted no affected display; but talked plain things in a plain and earnest way, adapted to the comprehension of children. A gentleman, "A Green Mountain boy," and layman, now hailing from Salmon Falls, gave us the speech of the day.

Several swings were provided for innocent amusement, which were well occupied. The singing was good throughout, and several pieces in the best style, charming. A respectable collection was taken for the improvement of the Sabbath School Library, a most worthy and important object.

Rev. Mr. Cable, the respected pastor of the church there, made some very happy remarks at the close, and dismissed us with the apostolic benediction, when we left for our homes, feeling that it was good for us to be there, many saying, it was the best Sabbath School Pic-nic they ever attended. JUSTINO.

☞ The Steamer Grace Darling made an Excursion to Dover Point last night, with a good party on board. The trip up the river is very agreeable by moon-light. This evening, if fair weather, the boat goes to the Shoals, and will return early on Monday morning.

SLAUGHTER HOUSES.

Messrs. Editors:—I wish, through your paper to call the attention of the Health Committee to the intolerable nuisance caused by the slaughter houses on South road and Auburn street. It has become so bad since the present hot weather, that with a southerly wind the stench can be smelt nearly to the south mill bridge. I would inquire whether meat slaughtered in such an atmosphere and retained during the night to cool, can be wholesome food? Animal putrefaction causes a very impure atmosphere, and of course an unhealthy one. Out of regard to the occupants of those establishments, I have forborne complaining until it has become so bad that I think the health of the inhabitants is endangered thereby, especially those living in the neighborhood. PUBLIC.

JAMESTOWN, VIRGINIA.

The New York Herad suggests to the Virginians, that they get up a celebration forthwith, of the settlement of Jamestown. It says:—

It is quite time that the Virginians should wake up on this subject, and not suffer the names and the memory of the first settlers of their State—the territory of the oldest colony, to be neglected or forgotten.

The contrast betwem these two earliest English settlements in America—Plymouth and Jamestown, is no less remarkable than the character of the two classes of Englishmen—Puritans and Cavaliers—by which these settlements were effected. Plymouth, situated on the sterile coist of Massachusetts Bay, has but few naural advantages, resources, and attractions and the inhabitants, from the earliest settlement, have depended mainly on the fisheries and the coasting trade for a subsistence. Still the town has always flourished, and sustained a considerable population, now numbering more than six thousand souls; and the territory comprised in the old Plymouth colony now contains over one hundred and sixty-five thousand souls.—Jamestown, situated on the alluvial soil of the valley of the James river, in Virginia, was supposed originally to possess peculiar advantages as a settlement on a fine navigable river, with an extensive and fertile back country, and a mild climate. But a few ruins are all that remain to mark this ancient town, and the population of that section of Virginia is is well known is sparse, and far from being the most flourishing part of the State in agriculture or commerce.

DREADFUL COLLISION ON THE PROVIDENCE & WORCESTER RAILROAD.

FIFTEEN LIVES LOST, AND A LARGE NUMBER SERIOUSLY INJURED.

A collision occurred on the Providence & Worcester Railroad Friday morning about 8 o'clock, near the Boston Junction, between the regular morning train from Providence to Worcester and an Excursion train going to Providence.

The cause of the accident is said to have been a difference of time, a vartation of two minutes in the watches of the Engineers.

The engines were totally demolished. At the last accounts 14 bodies had been taken from the ruins.

George Griffin, newsboy on the road, is said to be among the killed.

There was but one passenger car on the regular train from Providence, but on the excursion train there were seven filled with passengers.

The fireman of one of the engines and a Mrs. Plant from Uxbridge, are among the killed. Mr. Plant is mortally wounded; and cannot live the day out. A Mr. John Crane, and the Rector of Grace Church, Uxbridge, are reported killed.

There a large number wounded who cannot live through the day.

The Uxbridge train was three minutes ahead of time.

FURTHER FROM CHINA.

London, July 30. The rebels in China captured Amoy on the 19th of May, after a severe struggle. They are most friendly to foreigners, and protected the factories and British Consulate; they profess a desire to trade in all articles except opium. Any decisive success on the part of the rebels in the north would appearently cause a gradual rise, and lead to a convulsion of the empire. An attempt to retake Amoy had failed. Canton was quiet.—Trade was progressing as usual. Teas were coming down from the interior; business transactions were, however, but small. Goods of all kinds were cheap, and freights were expected to be high for first teas.

At Shanghae business was trifling. Teas were expected to rule high.

Another account says that the rebels had threatened Canton.

WASHINGTON, August 11.—Caleb Jones of Richmond is appointed Consul to Fouchow, China.

Arthur Spring, son of Spring who was recently executed at Philadelphia, has been appointed messenger in the Registrar's office of the Treasury.

The name of the engineer killed by the accident to the express train from Boston for New York, on Tuesday evening, was Theodore Humphrey, of New Haven. The train was smashed upon a mass of rock which had fallen on the track at Port Chester.

The coroner's jury on Humphrey's corpse, found "the New York and New Haven Railroad Company blameable for allowing such projections of rock to remain in their cuts, which are liable to fall on the tracks of their road."

Albany, Aug. 11th.—A steam-boiler exploded this morning at Gage & Dunham's foundery, West Troy. Two brothers named Paul were fatally scalded. Four others were badly burnt by the falling timbers.

The Dublin Nation says—"There can be no longer any question that the systematized proselytism has met with immense sucess in Connaught and Kerry. It is true that the altars of the Catholic church have been deserted by thousands, born and baptized in the ancient faith of Ireland. The west of Ireland is deserting the ancient fold.

ARMY ENLISTMENTS.—The Washington Star remarks that perhaps there never was a time before when so great difficulty existed in inducing men to enlist in the army of the United States, which is wholly attributable to the gratifying condition of things in the way of plenty for everybody who will work, and at excellent prices too.

The citizens of Manchester, by a vote of 311 to 67, have decided to annex to their present territory the adjacent villages of Amoskeag in Goffstown, and Piscataquog in Bedford. They have permission to do so by act of the Legislature.

THE LATEST CASE OF ABSENCE OF MIND. A very worthy and pious farmer residing in Rutland, in this county, arose from his bed last Sabbath morning, and under the impression that it was Saturday, proceeded to his garden and dug a quantity of potatoes; thence he proceeded to the fields, and after picking several baskets of black-berries, he harnessed up old Dobbin, and lading his wagon with the fruits of his labors, he started for the center of the town to market. He called at several places, but nobody seemed inclined to purchase, and finally called on the town constable, who very gravely remarked upon the impropriety of such proceedings on the Sabbath. It was with much difficulty that the farmer was brought to a knowledge of the fact that he was breaking one of the commadments, but when he was assured that it was really the Sabbath, and that the good people of the village had already attended divine service twice, while he had been busy with his farm and his merchandize, his mortification was great indeed. Old Dobbin's head was turned with the utmost despatch in the direction of his own barn door, and with a speed that would have done no discredit to Tacony, the sagacious animal soon brought the farmer to his home. We need not add, that the remainder of that day was spent in reading the good book, in meditation, and prayer.—Worcester Spy.

A REFORM.—The Dutch Reformed Church are considering the propriety of dropping the word "Dutch" from the name of their denomination. The word is certainly inapplicable, and it is one which frequently puzzles and misleads the uninitiated.

FEMALE SAILORS.—The British barque Euphrosyne, at New London, Ct., has a crew of Malays, male and female, the latter being the wives and daughters of the sailors, &c., and doing the same work on board the vessel.

PORTSMOUTH TO THE SHOALS.
SUMMER ARRANGEMENT.
Steamer Grace Darling,
CAPT. SAMUEL BILLINGS.

THE superior steamer Grace Darling, Capt. Billings, will leave Sheafe's Wharf, daily, (until further notice) at 10 o'clock, or on the arrival of the first morning train on the Portsmouth, by Concord, and Eastern Railroads—and return from the Shoals in season to take the last trains for Concord, Boston and intermediate places.

This arrangement affords a fine opportunity for persons from abroad to visit one of the most desirable Summer resorts for the Invalid, and all others who are fond of Fishing, Bathing, and other amusements conducive to health and pleasure. The Islands (eight in number) are about an hour's sail from Portsmouth, by Steamer, where all the advantages from a sea-voyage can be secured, subject to none of its perils. The temperature is never more than 80 degrees in the shade, and seldom varies more than 10 degrees in 24 hours.

Hon. Thomas B. Laighton's Hotel on Appledore Island, designed and kept particularly for the Invalid, and also for the pleasure seeker, is one of the first class, where every convenience, both for luxury and comfort can be found.

The passage out is truly delightful—the scenery unsurpassed. As you pass down the river, view after view presents itself:—The Navy Yard, Dry Dock, Forts Washington, Sullivan, McCleary and Constitution; the settlements of Kittery Point, New Castle, Rye and Isles of Shoals Islands and Beaches along shore, present attractions that are beautiful to behold, and render the trip one of the most beautiful and pleasing nature.

PASSAGE ON BOARD STEAMER, 50 CTS.

Tickets may be obtained on board, or at the Ticket Office of the Portsmouth & Concord Railroad.

Parties from the neighboring towns can be accommodated on reasonable terms, by application to Capt. Billings on board, or to

MARRIAGE.

Happiness and Competence.

WHY IS IT?

That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life at an age when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant.

Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during girlhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.

IN AFTER YEARS,

When too late to be benefitted by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the full consequences of our ignorance.

What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years! And what days and nights of anguish we might not have been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed. It is

MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING

To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for many years, from causes simple and controllable, easily remedied—or better still,—not incurred, if every

WIFE AND MOTHER

Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself

YEARS OF MISERY,

And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily depriving him from sickness of the wife, without giving him the opportunity of acquiring that competence which his exertions are entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.

SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS

By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of, which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands.

In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is excusable if she neglect to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—healthy bodies, with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work entitled

should have been sold.

It is impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, as they are of a nature strictly intended for the married, or those contemplating marriage, but no female desirous of enjoying health, and that beauty, consequent upon health, which is so conducive to her own happiness, and that of her husband, but either has or will obtain it, can fail to see that every husband who has the love and affection of his wife at heart, or that of his own pecuniary improvement.

Mauriceau, as there are spurious and surreptitious infringements of copy-right.

LET EVERY WIFE AND HUSBAND PONDER!

No excuse for Ignorance, when Ignorance is Misery to those we hold near and dear, and when to dispel our Ignorance is within our reach.

To enable every one to decide upon the indispensable necessity of possessing a copy, and that no wife, or mother need remain uninformed upon the many causes, which, sooner or later, are destined to make fearful ravages upon her health, unless guarded against, and that no considerate and affectionate husband have cause to upbraid himself with neglect of the welfare of his wife—a pamphlet of thirty-six pages, containing full Title-page and Index of Contents, together with extracts from the book, will be sent free of charge to any part of the United States, by addressing, post-paid, as herein.

PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S
Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.

FOR beautifying, curling, preserving, restoring and strengthening the Hair, relieving diseases of the Skin, curing Rheumatic Pains and healing external wounds. Bounded by no geographical lines, the reputation of Barry's Tricopherous pervades the Union. The sales of the article of late years have increased in a ratio that almost exceeds belief. Prof. Barry, after a careful examination of his sales book, finds that the number of bottles delivered to order, in quantities of from half a gross upward, during the year 1852, was within a trifle of 900,000.

It is unnecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations the Hair, relieving diseases action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself—The effects of the fluid exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind—The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.

Depot and manufactory, No. 137 Broadway, New York. Retail price 25 cents a large bottle.

Liberal discount to purchasers by the quantity, and by all the principal Merchants and Druggists through[illegible] the United States, and Canada, Mexico, We[illegible]ndies, Great Britain, France, &c., and by Weeks & Potter, Brewers, Stevens & Cushing, and Wm. Brown, Boston. d&wtom jc22

PATENTS.
American and Foreign Office.
AGENCY FOR BUSINESS
With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,
No. 22 State Street, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the act of 1836) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in the U. S. and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on more reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries; besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

A New, Delicious Temperance Beverage.
AMBROSIAL MEAD!

THIS excellent Compound is prepared from the best SPANISH SARSAPARILLA, without its dark, repulsive appearance, being beautifully transparent and entirely free from all impurities. Its qualities as a beverage, a single trial will give it a pre-eminence over all other preparations, by its freedom from noxious ingredients, agreeableness of flavor, and its *exceedingly cheap*ness, one bottle being sufficient to make thirty glasses of the beverage.

CAUTION!—The proprietors of this excellent preparation have spared no expense to bring it to perfection, and would caution purchasers to buy none without the fac simile of Wilson, Fairbank & Co. on every bottle.

IMPORTANT DISCOVERY.
DOCTOR ALFRED G. HALL,

AUTHOR of the New Theory of cure by the NUTRITIVE PROCESS, in Physiology and Medicine, sustaining the laws of life and removing the cause of disease, confirmed as a NATURAL SCIENCE by the Nutritive Process; expelling dead and depositing living matter at the same time in the Body, increasing its weight and strength while under treatment, being the great discovery of the constitutional power resisting disease; ample proof can be given in the person of any invalid.

Dr. H. receives visits, makes examinations, ascertains the cause of disease, describes the precise condition of the patient, furnishes prescriptions, medicines and recipes for his Nutritive Fluids and cordials.

Three months' attention and treatment is requisite in all cases, with printed instructions, for diet and washing, and the use of the Alkaline Girdle for the spine and kidneys—a restorative action is produced in all parts of the system immediately by the natural laws sustained by nutrition.

He is the inventor and sole proprietor of 12 nutritive fluids; they can be made by any family—are adapted to the several temperaments, and to every form of disease. His works, "Views of the New Theory, &c.," "Womanhood," and the "Mother's Own Book," are furnished to invalids under his supervision. It is now before Congress.

Doctor Alfred G. Hall may be consulted by letter, or in person at his rooms, No. 15 Winter St., Boston, from 10 A.M. to 5 P.M. ☞ Medicine, &c. forwarded by Express to any part.

DR. CONINE'S
SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.
The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER,

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom

AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

"A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered! Consumption can be cured!! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fell disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, stop the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE!

READ! READ! READ!
DR. HAMPTON'S
VEGETABLE TINCTURE!
The Great Restorative and Invigorator of the System.

THIS article, which has made so many wonderful cures, was discovered by DR. JESSE HAMPTON, of Louisville, Ky., now in fine health in the 79th year of his age, and is acknowledged by those who have used it to be the best family medicine in use, and is WARRANTED FREE FROM ALL MINERAL SUBSTANCES. By its mild action on the STOMACH, LIVER and KIDNEYS, it will cure the diseases of those organs, with all chronic complaints, as

Dyspepsy, Cough, Asthma, Bronchial & Lung Affections, Pains in the Back, Side and Breast, Consumption, Scrofula, Fits, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Fistula, Fits, Bowel Complaint, Worms, Nervous Debility,

With all Diseases arising from Impure Blood.

As a FEMALE MEDICINE it has no equal! It will change the Complexion from a pallid to a blooming one.

Wherever introduced its success is unbounded. It has certificates from Hon. Henry Clay, Hon. R. M. Johnson, Vice President of the United States; Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore; the Spanish Consul; Judge Davis; Lund Washington; from a Chaplain of the U. S. Navy; from the State Department, Washington; from the brother of the Physician to the Emperor of France, who was cured by it after all other remedies had failed; and from hundreds of others, making up an amount of Testimony never before given to any other discovery of Medicine. A trial of it will convince the most skeptical.

We invite the public to call and get Pamphlets and see certificates of Cures. Read the following certificates of undoubted testimony:

From Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore.

I also cheerfully testify to the high standing of the house of Messrs Mortimer & Mowbray, who, for the past twenty years, have enjoyed the entire confidence and esteem both of our merchants and citizens generally.
